Head Start program touches 200 in area

weight, vision and hearing, undressed physical exams, immunizations, dental exams and mental health screening, all of which are provided by professionals;

• Nutrition by providing assessments of daily food intake, suggestions of nutritious meals and snacks and nutrition education for parents;

• Social Services by helping families set and keep goals, making referrals for crisis situations and aiding families to become more self-sufficient;

• Parent Involvement by providing training to parents so they may be involved in the education of their children.

Head Start consists of two types of pre-school programs. One is the Home Based Program, in which a Home Base Educator visits the child's home. Children must be at least three years old for this program. Weekly visits are 90 minutes long and involve parent, educator and child (or children) doing activities and interacting together. The educator brings the ideas and materials and facilitates the learning session.

It is necessary that parents be involved with the learning sessions and help to plan goals for their child, Vigen said. "We try to involve whole families. If we don't involve parents, life will not be different for the children." The Home Base Educator provides training as much to the parents as to the child, and other children in the family also become involved in the program during Home Base visits. It is absolutely necessary that whole families are involved in Home Based education.

Jane Thibert's four-year-old daughter, Samantha, is visited by a Home Base Educator, Lynn LaCoursiere, in Red Lake Falls. Jane says Samantha looks forward to the visits all week. In fact, on the day of the visit, Samantha is checking out the window every few minutes to see if Lynn is coming.

Jane said the whole family is involved with Head Start, because "We get a theme or a topic to do together at home each week. She said that after each visit, Samantha has to tell her dad what she did and tell him how to do the weekly project. "We really enjoy Head Start — I think it's really a good program."

The Home Based Program also has two "Socializations" each month. Parents, educators and children in the programs come together to attend group sessions. At these sessions, parents are exposed to professionals who can help them deal with some of the problems they may have in their families, are educated on how to improve their parenting skills, taught proper nutrition and health, enjoy crafts and discussion time, and, most of all, enjoy a few hours of family fun and socialization.

Jane Thibert said she also enjoys the Socialization part of Head Start. "I think it is good for Samantha to get out with other children and I really enjoy the programs, too."

The other type of pre-school program is the Center Based Program. These are three and one-half hour group sessions which are held four times each week at a specific location. In order to qualify for the Center Based Program, children must have one year of Home Base education and be four to five years of age.

Again, parents are encouraged to volunteer to attend and help with the sessions, but in this program, it is not absolutely necessary. Children in this age group are getting ready to attend school and will be exposed to more school-oriented activities.

Jo Vigen of Thief River Fells is the director of the Inter-County Community Council's Head Stert Progrem. She works out of the Oklee office, coordinating progrems in Pannington, Rod Leke, Clearwater ond East Polk countios. Over 200 children ere enrolled in Inter-County's Heed Stert Progrem. For more information on the Head Stert Program, contact Inter-County Community Council Heed Start et 796-5144 or write P.O. Box 189, Oklee, MN S6742.

Eligibility in the Head Start Program is determined by federal income guidelines. Generally, anyone on public assistance is determined eligible.

All Head Start Programs are mandated to include "special needs" children as 10 per cent of their enrollment. Special needs include mental and/or physical disabilities. It is not necessary for these special children to meet any income guidelines. The Inter-County Community Council Head Start Program has 19 per cent special needs children.

In the fall, Head Start will join a team along with Early Childhood Family Education, Early Childhood Special Education, Learning Readiness and Nursery School to move to the Preschool Wing of the new Challenger elementary school. Vigen said she and the directors of the other programs have been working together for over a year to get ready for the move.

Head Start is presently taking applications for the coming year. For more information contact Inter-County Community Council Head Start at P.O. Box 189, Oklee, MN 56742, or telephone 796-5144 (Oklee), 681-7779 (Thief River Falls), 694-3927 (Bagley) or 435-6662 (Fosston).

(Suggestion for this story was submitted by Bert Vigen. It will be considered in the Northern Watch contest for Story Idea of the Month for March.)

Highway 59 in danger of exclusion from NHS

Highway 59. The 90,000 or so residents who live in the region could not financially support the overwhelming cost of a reconstruction project.

In an effort to bolster the economy of the region, many area residents worked from a grass roots organization to lobby for improved hours at the border crossing at Lancaster-Tolstoi (Canada). Their efforts were partially rewarded in the United States with hours being established at 16 hours per day (7a.m. to 11 p.m.) Only two weeks ago, the border on the Canadian side of the same border crossing was opened for 24 hours per day.

Many cities and chamber of commerce offices along Highway 59 have begun writing letters encouraging Rodney Slator of the United States Department of Transportation in Washington, DC, to include Highway 59 and 11 on the NHS.

A letter to Slator from Joe Bouvette, chairman of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, states in part that, "Highways 11 and 59 are extremely important to the economic vitality of the region, the entire state and our northern neighbor Manitoba. They should be included in the National Highway System.

Sandy Warner-Coltom, transportation planner for the Northwest Regional Development Commission, is encouraging city clerks, mayors and county commissioners in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall and Pennington counties to write to Slator.

In the face of increased emphasis being placed on the importance of Highway 59 in Canada, and international trade using Highway 59, it doesn't make sense to keep Highway 59 in the United States off the National Highway System map.

Bob Bergan, executive director of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce agrees with that sentiment 100 per cent. Began said putting Highway 59 on the NSH would benefit all of Northwest Minnesota and open the border.

Mayor Robert Reeve of Thief River Falls explained that the city council in Thief River Falls has gone on record with a resolution of support to have Highway 59 put on the NHS. "It's an important route for people to go through and from Thief River Falls," he said. He added that it's important to tourism, residents, and businesses. Mayor Reeve also pointed out that Interstate 29 is too far from Thief River Falls to be useful. "Highway 59 is our major route."

Four-vehicle accident

Warroad — Icy roads contributed to a four-car accident west of highway 313 near Warroad March 1. Khantoui Norindr of Warroad, driving a 1989 Toyota pickup, was headed west on highway 11 when he lost control and slid across the highway into the eastbound ditch. Patricia Romlas of East Grand Forks, driving a 1994 Ford pickup, entered the scene and also began to slide. She slid into an eastbound 1983 Mercury driven by Skyhavone Chantbsvongsa of Warroad. Diane Lindstrom of Warroad, driving east in a 1993 Chevrolet pickup, collided with the Romlas vehicle. The Norindr pickup sustained no damage, the Romlas pickup sustained $3,000 damage, the Chantbavongsa vehicle sustained $1,000 damage, and the Lindstrom pickup sustained $200 damage. There were no injuries; all parties were wearing seat belts.

Two car accident Sunday by Plummer

Plummer — At about 1:30 p.m. Sunday, a 1988 Chevrolet Celebrity driven by Joyce Ann Klos, 40, of Thief River Falls, collided with a 1994 Dodge pickup driven by Dean John Miller, 39, of rural Isle, at the junction of county road 1 and highway 59. Both drivers suffered minor injuries and were taken to Northwest Medical Center. Miller was wearing a seat belt. Neither driver was cited.

LOW county to recycle its glass products

Williams — Lake of the Woods county is planning to recyle its own glass instead of sending it off to Shakopee to the Anchor Recyling plant. The county will utilize existing equipment to crush the glass and build a 40 foot square pole building to store the crushed glass. The crushed product will be available free of charge to local road contractors who will mix it with gravel and use it as underlay for road-building. The best part of the local recycling effort is that all types of glass and crockery will be accepted. At this time, glass shipped to Shakopee has to be sorted by color and be pure bottle glass.

DNR considers purchasing property with rare orchid on it

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has expressed interest in purchasing land in Bray township in Pennington County. The DNR is interested in purchasing the land because of a recent discovery that the land is home to the Western Prairie Fringed Orchid, a federally protected flower.

Gordon Forester of the Minnesota department of natural resources said discovery of the Western Prairie Fringed Orchid was fairly significant in terms of population of orchids.

He also explained that after the discovery s survey was conducted in the area. That survey resulted in the discovery of nine different plants and nine different birds on the Special Concerns list in Minnesota. Plants and animals on the special concerns list are not necessarily on the endangered list, but could be. It is a list of plants and animals in Minnesota that are relatively rare in Minnesota.

Bray Township Chairman Harold Kalsness said the township board held its annual meeting Tuesday evening and one of the items discussed was the DNR's interest in purchasing private land. Kalsness said the township board is not objecting to any private landowner selling land to the DNR. He added that the township board needs to talk to the county board about Trust Fund land and tax forfeited land.

Forester said much of the land would be included in a Wildlife Management Area and some of the land would be included in the Scientific and Natural Areas Program (SNA). This is a statewide program established under the DNR to preserve and manage Minnesota's rare and/or endangered natural features.

State scientific and natural areas are open for nature observation and educational and research use. Consumptive activities such as picking plants, snowmobiling and camping are prohibited. Hunting and trapping on this particular land would be allowed. All research projects must be covered by a permit. Organized groups interested in visiting a preserve should contact the program beforehand to inform the SNA as to the date of the visit. The SNA program may be able to lead an organized group or have someone else do so if time permits. The local contact person for the SNA program would be Forester, who has an office in the city auditorium.

Forester said SNA is currently talking about purchasing 500 acres of povate land and more tax forfeited land. Specifically, SNA is looking at sections 8, 9, 16 and 17 in Bray township.

As the matter becomes more fully developed other issues will be discussed. Such issues would probably include reaching a fair price for the land, and taking land off tax rolls.

It is the policy of the DNR to hire an independent assessor to determine a fair value. If the property owner doesn't like the assessment, the state will hire an assessor of the owner's choosing.

Typically, when land is taken off tax rolls the DNR pays the county a certain amount in lieu of taxes. Typically, if the land was private, the state pays $3 per acre per year in lieu of taxes. The state pays 50 cents per acre per year for Trust Fund land. Forester was not sure of the amount paid on county tax forfeited land.

The whole matter will be brought before the Pennington county board of commissioners. If the board allows the request of the DNR and SNA, the property could be purchased as early as this spring.

TRF Stampede slated for May 6-8 at civic center

Work on arena floor next fall forces Labor Day weekend rodeo to change

Third annual Thief River Falls Stampede—the immensely popular PRCA-sanctioned rodeo—has been moved up from the traditional Labor Day weekend to May 6, 7 and 8 this year at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Change in dates has been made necessary due to the work which has to be done on the civic center floor between the end of the county fair in July and the start of the skating season next fall.

Promoters moved the rodeo indoors last year after the outdoor Stampede in 1992 was deluged by heavy rains which turned the rodeo arena into a sea of mud. The indoor event proved to be so successful that it has been determined to retain that format. It is also expected that the Stampede will be returned to the Labor Day weekend after this year.

Promoters Randy and Denese Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions in Park Rapids were in Thief River Falls Thursday to discuss the dates and other arrangements with a committee from the Thief River Falls city council and its parks and recreation department.

"We hoped to schedule the rodeo dates at a time that would permit everyone in the area an opportunity to attend at least one of the performances," Randy Jokela told the Northern Watch Thursday afternoon. "And of course that especially means the farm families who have such a busy spring schedule with seedbed preparation and planting."

Denese Jokela added that every effort is being made in scheduling to help accommodate the people who would like to attend at least one performance of this year's rodeo.

"This year we plan to make tickets available a little earlier so that those who want to be assured of a seat can purchase one early," Denese said. "Last year some who would have liked to attend were turned away at the door because there was no more room in the civic center. Pennington Square will be our local ticket outlet for the TRF Stampede this year."

Since it started three years ago, the TRF Stampede has been a good attraction for PRCA cowboys because of the amount of prize money offered and the quality of rough stock in the draw. Some of the nation's top cowboys in most of the areas of competition have performed here and been pleased with the treatment they have received. A number of the cowboys who have roped calves, ridden broncs or bulls or wrestled steers in Thief River Falls have qualified for the PRCA National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, NV.

Scott Breding of Columbus, MT, who scored 83 points with a first place ride on "Tar Baby Jr." and won $2,498.72 in prize money in Thief River Falls last year, is currently leading the PRCA world standings in bull riding for 1994 with winnings of $22,874. As of March 1 he has about a $3,000 lead over Clint Branger of Roscoe, MT,

Dead animal collection to start in March

Spring pickup of dead animals in northwestern Minnesota will get underway in March, according to the Pembina Trail Resource Conservation and Development Association.

Red Lake county has taken part in successful collections for the past two years, the association said, and plans are to expand the service area to the Canadian border.

Farmers may have to furnish a tractor to load the animals, depending on which collection truck is used. Individual farmers are also encouraged to contact their neighbors so a route can be planned to pick up a full load of animals.

A fee will be collected at the time of pickup and based on the stop and/or the number of animals removed. Anyone interested in the service is asked to call 253-2646. If no one answers, a message may be left on the answering machine.

Lawrence Aase once guarded the King of Norway

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

"Lawrence Aase has lots of stories to tell," said Solveig Swenson in her letter to The Times. "You should do a story about him. He was a personal body guard for King Olaf of Norway."

Yes, at the age of 94, Lawrence Aase is quite a story teller and yes, in his youth he was a King's Guard for the Norwegian monarchs.

Lawrence was born in Dale, Sognefjord, Norway in 1900, the fourth of eight children. His father was a captain in the Norwegian Army and the family lived on a small farm.

Lawrence said his father was very strict and he and his brothers and sisters didn't mind when their father was away in the Army for periods of time because his mother was much less strict and let the children get away with more. "Mother was softer and we could do more things, you know."

He remembers his father doing taxes for other people in the town because he was one of the few there who could write. "But he always made sure that their taxes were done honestly. A farmer would tell him to put down that he had five sheep and (father) would say, 'But you have 10 sheep!' The 10 sheep would be put down on the taxes."

Education was not compulsory in Norway at that time, but, since their parents valued education, the Aase children went to school. Lawrence even attended two years of an agricultural college to be a county agent.

The fact that his father was a captain in the Army and had "pull," may have had something to do with Lawrence becoming a member of the King's Guard. "It was a very good position," he said. "But we all had to look sharp and be 'fit.' We had to stand at attention and not talk to people or move around unless it was necessary. We could answer if visitors asked us questions, but otherwise we could not speak to people."

Lawrence particularly remembers a May 17 Norwegian Independence Day celebration when the royal family appeared on a balcony at the palace to view a four hour presentation and parade. "We had to stand at attention the whole time," he said. "And we couldn't move a muscle during that time. If a fly settled on our nose, we couldn't even swat it

Highway 59. The 90,000 or so residents who live in the region could not financially support the river without cost of a reconstruction project.

In an effort to bolster the economy of the region many area residents worked from a grass roots organization to lobby for improved hours at the border crossing at Lancaster-Tolstoi (Canada). Their efforts were partially rewarded in the United States with hours being established at 16 hours per day (7 a.m. to 11 p.m.). Only two weeks ago, the border on the Canadian side of the same border crossing was opened for 24 hours per day.

Many cities and chamber of commerce offices along Highway 59 have begun writing letters encouraging Rodney Slater of the United States Department of Transportation in Washington, DC, to include Highway 59 and 11 on the NHS.

A letter to Slater from Joe Bouvette, chairman of the Northwest Regional Development Commission, states in part that, "Highways 11 and 59 are extremely important to the economic vitality of the region, the entire state and our northern neighbor Manitoba. They should be included in the National Highway System."

Sandy Warner Colburn, transportation planner for the Northwest Regional Development Commission, is encouraging city clerks, mayors and county commissioners in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall and Pennington counties to write to Slater.

In the face of increased emphasis being placed on the importance of Highway 59 in Canada, and international trade using Highway 59, it doesn't make sense to keep Highway 59 in the United States off the National Highway System map.

Bob Bergan, executive director of the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce agrees with that sentiment 100 per cent. Bergan said putting Highway 59 on the NHS would benefit all of Northwest Minnesota and open the border.

Mayor Robert Reese of Thief River Falls explained that the city council in Thief River Falls has gone on record with a resolution of support to have Highway 59 put on the NHS. "It's an important route for people to go through and from Thief River Falls," he said. He added that it's important to tourism, residents, and businesses. Mayor Reese also pointed out that Interstate 29 is too far from Thief River Falls to be useful. "Highway 59 is our major route."

weight, vision and hearing, undressed physical exams, immunizations, dental exams and mental health screening, all of which are provided by professionals;

• Nutrition by providing assessments of daily food intake, suggestions of nutritious meals and snacks and nutrition education for parents;

• Social Services by helping families set and keep goals, making referrals for crisis situations and aiding families to become more self-sufficient;

• Parent Involvement by providing training to parents so they may be involved in the education of their children.

Head Start consists of two types of pre-school programs. One is the Home Based Program, in which a Home Base Educator visits the child's home. Children must be at least three years old for this program. Weekly visits are 90 minutes long and involve parent, educator and child (or children) doing activities and interacting together. The educator brings the ideas and materials and facilitates the learning session.

It is necessary that parents be involved with the learning sessions and help to plan goals for their child Vigen said. "We try to involve whole families. If we don't involve parents, life will not be different for the children." The Home Base Educator provides training as much to the parents as to the child, and other children in the family also become involved in the program during Home Base visits. It is absolutely necessary that whole families are involved in Home Based education.

Jane Thibert's four-year-old daughter, Samantha, is visited by a Home Base Educator, Lynn LaCoursiere, in Red Lake Falls. Jane says Samantha looks forward to the visits all week. In fact, on the day of the visit Samantha is checking out the window every few minutes to see if Lynn is coming.

Jane said the whole family is involved with Head Start, because "We get a theme or a topic to do together at home each week." She said that after each visit, Samantha has to tell her dad what she did and tell him how to do the weekly project. "We really enjoy Head Start — I think it's really a good program."

The Home Based Program also has two "Socializations" each month. Parents, educators and children in the programs come together to attend group sessions. At these sessions, parents are exposed to professionals who can help them deal with some of the problems they may have in their families, are educated on how to improve their parenting skills, taught proper nutrition and health, enjoy crafts and discussion time, and, most of all, enjoy a few hours of family fun and socialization.

Jane Thibert said she also enjoys the Socialization part of Head Start. "I think it is good for Samantha to get out with other children and I really enjoy the programs, too."

The other type of pre-school program is the Center Based Program. These are three and one-half hour group sessions which are held four times each week at a specific location. In order to qualify for the Center Based Program, children must have one year of Home Base education and be four to five years of age.

Again, parents are encouraged to volunteer to attend and help with the sessions, but in this program, it is not absolutely necessary. Children in this age group are getting ready to attend school and will be exposed to more school oriented activities.

Jo Vigen of Thief River Falls is the director of the Inter-County Community Council's Head Start Program. She works out of the Oklee office, coordinating programs in Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater and East Polk counties. Over 200 children are enrolled in Inter-County's Head Start Program. For more information on the Head Start Program, contact Inter-County Community Council Head Start at 796-5144 or write P.O. Box 189, Oklee, MN 56742.

Eligibility in the Head Start Program is determined by federal income guidelines. Generally, anyone on public assistance is determined eligible.

All Head Start Programs are mandated to include "special needs" children as 10 per cent of their enrollment. Special needs include mental and/or physical disabilities. It is not necessary for these special children to meet any income guidelines. The Inter-County Community Council Head Start Program has 19 per cent special needs children.

In the fall, Head Start will join a team along with Early Childhood Family Education, Early Childhood Special Education, Learning Readiness and Nursery School to move to the Preschool Wing of the new Challenger elementary school. Vigen said she and the directors of the other programs have been working together for over a year to get ready for the move.

Head Start is presently taking applications for the coming year. For more information contact Inter-County Community Council Head Start at P.O. Box 189, Oklee, MN 56742, or telephone 796-5144 (Oklee), 681-7779 (Thief River Falls), 694-3927 (Bagley) or 435-6662 (Fosston).

LOW county to recycla its glass producta

Williams — Lake of the Woods county is planning to recyle its own glass instead of sending it off to Shakopee to the Anchor Recyling plant. The county will utilize existing equipment to crush the glass and build a 40 foot square pole building to store the crushed glass. The crushed product will be available free of charge to local road contractors who will mix it with gravel and use it as underlay for road-building. The best part of the local recycling effort is that all types of glass and crockery will be accepted. At this time, glass shipped to Shakopee has to be sorted by color and be pure bottle glass.

DNR considers purchasing property with rare orchid on it

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has espressed interest in purchasing land in Bray township in Pennington County. The DNR is interested in purchasing the land because of a recent discovery that the land is home to the Western Prairie Fringed Orchid, a federally protected flower.

Gordon Forester of the Minnesota department of natural resources said discovery of the Western Prairie Fringed Orchid was fairly significant in terms of population of orchids.

He also explained that after the discovery a survey was conducted in the area. That survey resulted in the discovery of nine different plants and nine different birds on the Special Concerns list in Minnesota. Plants and animals on the special concerns list are not necessarily on the endangered list, but could be. It is a list of plants and animals in Minnesota that are relatively rare in Minnesota.

Bray Township Chairman Harold Kalsness said the township board held its annual meeting Tuesday evening and one of the items discussed was the DNR's interest in purchasing private land. Kalsness said the township board is not objecting to any private landowner selling land to the DNR. He added that the township board needs to talk to the county board about Trust Fund land and tax forfeited land.

Forester said much of the land would be included in a Wildlife Management Area and some of the land would be included in the Scientific and Natural Areas Program (SNA). This is a statewide program established under the DNR to preserve and manage Minnesota's rare and/or endangered natural features.

State scientific and natural areas are open for nature observation and educational and research use. Consumptive activities such as picking plants, snowmobiling and camping are prohibited. Hunting and trapping on this particular land would be allowed. All research projects must be covered by a permit. Organized groups interested in visiting a preserve should contact the program beforehand to inform the SNA as to the date of the visit. The SNA program may be able to lead an organized group or have someone else do so if time permits. The local contact person for the SNA program would be Forester, who has an office in the city auditorium.

Forester said SNA is currently talking about purchasing 500 acres of private land and more tax forfeited land. Specifically, SNA is looking at sections 8, 9, 16 and 17 in Bray township.

As the matter becomes more fully developed other issues will be discussed. Such issues would probably include reaching a fair price for the land, and taking land off tax rolls.

It is the policy of the DNR to hire an independent assessor to determine a fair value. If the property owner doesn't like the assessment, the state will hire an assessor of the owner's choosing.

Typically, when land is taken off tax rolls the DNR pays the county a certain amount in lieu of taxes. Typically, if the land was private, the state pays $3 per acre per year in lieu of taxes. The state pays 50 cents per acre per year for Trust Fund land. Forester was not sure of the amount paid on county tax forfeited land.

The whole matter will be brought before the Pennington county board of commissioners. If the board allows the request of the DNR and SNA, the property could be purchased as early as this spring.

Being bad goes from bad to worse

Bigfork — Two armed men robbed the First State Bank of Bigfork shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday morning. The men then exited the bank and jumped into a silver mini van that had been stolen in Grand Rapids Monday night. The van would not start, so one of the men jumped out and forced a man out of a passing blue mini van. In the meantime, the silver van started and the robbers then fled the area in both vehicles. Later, the blue van was found abandoned north of Bigfork and the silver van was found burned out near to a cabin five miles northeast of Bigfork. The cabin was also destroyed by the fire. Itasca county Deputy Sheriff Kirk Skelly said the robbers apparently fled from the cabin in a third vehicle that was parked there. Authorities are searching for the men, who took an undisclosed amount of money from the bank.

Teacher saves student's life in choking incident

Bagley — Bagley kindergarten teacher Julie Melander says she is still nervous when the school serves hot dogs for lunch after a near-fatal incident in which one of her students choked on a piece of hot dog. Melander returned to her classroom after lunch and noticed a student who appeared to be ill and trying to vomit. After a moment, Melander realized that little Brittany Thorson was choking. Melander tried performing the Heimlich maneuver three times, but it did not dislodge the piece of hot dog. She then picked Brittany up, turned her over, and struck her twice between the shoulder blades. The hot dog came out and Brittany could breathe. Brittany is the daughter of Dale and Terri Thorson of Bagley.

Bid to buy may have saved Winter Shows, but it was rejected

Crookston — The Red River Valley Shows board of directors, turned down an offer from Paradis, Inc. of Brooks to purchase the north arena for $230,000. The city of Crookston had been working on the proposal with the RRVS board. The north arena would have been sold to Paradis and the money obtained would have rid the Winter Shows of most of its debt. The city would have covered the $75,000 to $100,000 of remaining debt and financed a renovation of the south arena. The city's plan also included working with 11 banks on a write-down of the original loan. After 20 years, the city would have sold the building back to the Winter Shows for one dollar. Now that the purchase offer from Paradis has been rejected, Mayor Don Osborne says the city is taking a hands off approach to the Shows. "We did the best we could and now it's up to their board," he said. "They always said it was a valley project, so I guess they have to look to the valley for some added contributions."

Computer graphics class offered at Northland CC

Northland Community College in Thief River Falls will be offering a computer science course entitled "Presentation Graphics" starting March 15 and continuing on Tuesday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. Instructor will be Jack Kramer.

The two credit introductory course will use the Microsoft Windows and Microsoft Power Point 3.0 programs. Students will develop and implement a presentation of their choice and give the presentation to the class, utilizing text, clip art from magnetic, optical and video media and a scanner.

"Power Point is a well-known and powerful but easy-to-use presentation graphics software program that will run on a personal computer with Microsoft Windows," Kramer said. "The output of a presentation graphics program is somewhat like a 35mm slide show—a series of transparencies or flip charts."

"Power Point is the type of software that produces excellent results with a few hours of study and use. Students will use the PC clones in the NCC computer laboratory located in Room A39."

For more information or to register call 681-2181 or 1-800-628-9918.

SOUPCON

Sherry LeCouraiere

Everybody loves brownies. I love them because they are quick and easy to make when I am having one of those chocolate attacks. My kids are very happy when I have one of those attacks.

Use leftover sour cream to make these brownies soft. They are easy to make and the recipe makes about 3 dozen:

SWISS CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

1 cup water
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped walnuts

In a saucepan, bring butter, water and chocolate to a boil. Boil for 1 minute; remove from heat and cool.

In mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar, soda and salt. Add chocolate mixture and mix well. Add eggs, sour cream and vanilla and mix. Fold in walnuts.

Pour into greased 15x10 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes, until brownies test done. Cool for 10 minutes and then frost.

SWISS CHOCOLATE BROWNIE FROSTING

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate
3 cups powdered sugar (divided)
5 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter and chocolate. Place in bowl and add 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar.

Add milk, vanilla and remaining sugar and beat smooth. Spread over warm brownies.

4-H sponsors dinner

Pennington County 4-H Leaders Council is sponsoring a ham dinner at the American Legion on Sunday, March 13, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The proceeds will be used for County 4-H educational opportunities for our 4-H youth. The cost is $5 for adults, $3 for youth 7 to 12, and $1.50 for children age 6 and under. The public is welcome.

Public meeting on transit needs set for March 16

Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) is in the process of conducting a regional transit needs assessment. The purpose of the meeting is to gather input from service providers, users and general public as to the needs related to transit activities within the NWRDC service area.

The NWRDC plans to pursue a very comprehensive, in-depth approach to examine the needs and recommendations for transit for this region. A transit task force will be formed for the entire area. This transit task force will be responsible for the overall development of the assessment and advising on problems and progress. Maintaining strong membership on this committee will be instrumental in the successful completion of this project.

The primary goal of this assessment is to make transit opportunities available to all interested persons (if possible), and work with existing transit providers to increase the overall effectiveness of transit resources in the region.

So if you are interested in transit service or in providing transit opportunities, please attend the public meeting on March 16. The meeting will begin a 10 a.m. at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

Information may also be delivered by calling (218) 681-2637 or 1-800-450-2637 or write to: 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Why Minnesota Needs Reform To Correct Workers Compensation

Every once in awhile we hear a comment about someone being "generous to a fault." The inference is that the person is so generous in giving to or helping others that he or she endures unnecessary hardship or difficulty himself or herself.

Such is the case with the workers' compensation program in Minnesota. It is indeed generous to a fault and because of this generosity is causing hardship to itself, to Minnesota businesses and to the people of Minnesota in general. It is a major cost of doing business and one that can be controlled by where a business is located. High workers' compensation insurance premiums, along with high property taxes, are cited as the most significant reasons by most Minnesota businesses which leave the state.

In a recent column, Rep. Tim Finseth points out some of the workers compensation rates typical businesses pay per $100 of payroll in Minnesota and neighboring Wisconsin. Rates in Minnesota are higher in all cases. Some examples are: Molded Plastics, $10.59 and $4.65; Carpentry, $28.48 and $13.18; Trucking, $24.58 and $13.18; and Printing, $7.35 and $3.23.

"If you owned or managed a company in one of these industries, which state would you prefer as a location for your business?" Rep. Finseth asks.

These rates exist despite the fact that in the latest three-year reporting period Minnesota reported 222,000 fewer injury claims than Wisconsin. Major claims in Minnesota, however, were four times higher in Minnesota than in Wisconsin.

"What drives this anamoly?" Finseth asks. He then provides his own answer: "One, Wisconsin does a significantly better job of encouraging injured workers to return to the job force. In Minnesota, too many workers are too frequently designated as qualifying for a permanent total lifetime disability, with full benefits, even though many are physically capable of returning to some sort of work.

"Two, Minnesota provides an annual increase in wage replacement benefits and also pays supplementary benefits equivalent to at least 65 per cent of the average statewide weekly wage. These supplementary benefits are also increased every year. Of all the states, Minnesota is one of a handful with an annual benefit increase and also one of a few to offer supplementary benefits at all. Combined, no other state comes close to offering a benefits package that is as generous as the one offered by Minnesota.

"Three, Minnesota pays permanent wage replacement benefits beyond normal retirement age. Traditionally, workers' comp was never intended to substitute or supplement social security and traditional employer-paid benefit plans.

"Four, Minnesota's complex system generates a higher level of litigation than the simpler system in place in Wisconsin. For example, there are several thousand Minnesota attorneys specializing in workers' comp litigation, but only about 150 in Wisconsin. This undue litigiousness is encouraged by the fact that Minnesota permits lump sum compensation for certain injuries, enabling attorneys to get their money quickly when they're working on a contingency basis. Wisconsin requires periodic installment payments, lessening the allure of the potential jackpot awaiting attorneys."

Finseth says that if Minnesotans want to continue to enjoy a high quality of life with business and economic opportunities it is necessary to move workers' compensation back to the forefront of the legislative agenda.

"Minnesota has long been known for its quality of life," he said. "But that quality of life is dependent on a well-balanced and expanding economy. Everything we cherish—our schools, parks, lakes and communities—is derived from maintaining a pro-business environment. Good jobs provide families with economic stability and the means to plan for an even better future."

Aren't You Glad You Live Here?

Manager Chuck Riesen of PKM Electric Cooperative in Warren wrote the following column in a recent edition of the PKM News:

How often do we meet people we know, and while we may not be close friends, more than just a greeting is warranted (at least we think it is)? When we choose to extend the conversation beyond the greeting, more often than not we talk about the weather. Certainly, we have had a lot to talk about.

Well, just when you thought the weather, local sports and politics were all talked about, a natural disaster, human disasters and the willingness of the media to provide more information than most of us ever wanted has come to our rescue.

Unless we have loved ones that were caught in the earthquake or are willing to admit we are kinfolk to the Menendez brothers, the Bobbits or Tonya Harding, what is our investment in these events other than amusement and some curiosity? To people who have to plug in their cars and pickups at night and brave mornings that are more than 30 degrees below zero to go to school and work, the rest of the country needs to get a grip.

Certainly, a natural or human disaster that is compounded by the loss of life is a tragedy. While I wish for no one to become homeless because of Mother Nature, the citizens of the quake area are inconvenienced. The sleet storms of southern Minnesota a few years ago and nearly an annual event in the Dakotas block roads and interrupt power for days. That's real and it's life and death.

I shouldn't get so upset over this stuff. I mean, when was the last time people working together to overcome adversity was news around here? It's just what we do.

What goes on around us, it's not bad. When neighbors help neighbors or people from the opposite end of the state assist in a local disaster, it won't make national news, but....aren't you glad you live here?

We surely are, Chuck; we surely are!

who has earned $19,829.

Breding is also second in total earnings among all PRCA rodeo contestants this year. In first place is leading saddle bronc rider Dan Mortensen of Manhattan, MT—the 1993 world champion who has nearly a $14,000 lead over second place bronc rider Butch Small of Small, Idaho, who has earned $20,604.

Breding is among a number of cowboys who have done well at the TRF Stampede and indicated a desire to continue to compete here.

Ty Murray of Stephenville, TX, five-time world champion all-around cowboy who was registered for the Stampede last year but was given a doctor's release due to a riding arm injury, is in 16th place in the bull riding with earnings of $8,678.

Murray's rodeoing partner, Cody Lambert, who did ride at the Stampede last year and won the saddle bronc division despite his own injuries, is not currently listed among the leaders in bareback, saddle bronc or bull riding.

"We fully expect that with the Stampede in May this year that we may have the largest number of entries we have ever had for the Thief River Falls rodeo," Randy Jokela said. "In terms of prize money available, Thief River Falls will have the largest PRCA rodeo in the United States and Canada that weekend.

"Early in the year as we are now there are a lot of cowboys in the hunt for earnings that will qualify them for the National Finals," he added. "That increases the pool of potential riders. And we again will have livestock supplied by the David Bailey Rodeo Company, which will be an attraction for the quality of stock.

Regarding quality, the TRF Stampede this year will also feature Butch Lehmkuhler of North Platte, NE, four-time "PRCA Clown of the Year." Lehmkuhler, a school teacher when he isn't on the rodeo circuit, includes in his entertainment repertoire a trampoline act that young people especially like. He also visits hospitals, schools and other facilities between performances.

"We're really just getting geared up but it already looks like another great rodeo package," Denese Jokela said. "Top quality cowboys, top quality livestock, a great indoor facility and enthusiastic, knowledgeable rodeo fans should be another winning combination. We're looking forward to a third great TRF Stampede."

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Everybody loves brownies. I love them because they are quick and easy to make when I am having one of those chocolate attacks. My kids are very happy when I have one of those attacks.

Use leftover sour cream to make these brownies soft. They are easy to make and the recipe makes about 3 dozen.

SWISS CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

1 cup water
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped walnuts

In a saucepan, bring butter, water and chocolate to a boil. Boil for 1 minute; remove from heat and cool.

In mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar, soda and salt. Add chocolate mixture and mix well. Add eggs, sour cream and vanilla and mix. Fold in walnuts.

Pour into greased 15x10 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes, until brownies test done. Cool for 10 minutes and then frost.

SWISS CHOCOLATE BROWNIE FROSTING

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate
3 cups powdered sugar (divided)
5 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter and chocolate. Place in bowl and add 1 1/2 cups powdered sugar.

Add milk, vanilla and remaining sugar and beat smooth. Spread over warm brownies.

Public meeting on transit needs set for March 16

Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) is in the process of conducting a regional transit needs assessment. The purpose of the meeting is to gather input from service providers, users and general public as to the needs related to transit activities within the NWRDC service area.

The NWRDC plans to pursue a very comprehensive, in-depth approach to examine the needs and recommendations for transit for this region. A transit task force will be formed for the entire area. This transit task force will be responsible for the overall development of the assessment and advising on problems and progress. Maintaining strong membership on this committee will be instrumental in the successful completion of this project.

The primary goal of this assessment is to make transit opportunities available to all interested persons (if possible), and work with existing transit providers to increase the overall effectiveness of transit resources in the region.

So if you are interested in transit service or in providing transit opportunities, please attend the public meeting on March 16. The meeting will begin a 10 a.m. at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

Information may also be delivered by calling (218) 681-2637 or 1-800-450-2637 or write to: 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

North township voters pass Sunday liquor

North township voters finally approved the sale of liquor on Sunday. The issue has been defeated at least twice before at annual elections.

A total of 79 votes were cast in the election. There were 27 votes against the issue and 52 in favor.

The vote makes it possible for the Thief River Falls Golf course to serve liquor on Sundays. The issue must next pass before the county sheriff and attorney and then the county board before it can take effect.

Ken Olson, Pennington county auditor, said he expects the matter to come before the county board at its next meeting.

The issue voted on was "whether Pennington County should be authorized to issue Sunday liquor licenses in North township." Kyle Joppru, township clerk, said the Golf course representatives wanted the permit so they could sell alcohol at special occasions on Sunday.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River defenders Krissi Super (32) and Robyn Iverson (44) tried to stop Fosston's Meije Saveloje from getting off this shot during Thursday's Section 8A girls high school basketball tournament semifinal game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston. The Greyhounds came from behind to beat the Gators 53-50 in overtime.

Fosston tops B/G-MR girls 53-50 in Section 8A semifinals...

Gators lose overtime game

There were just too many rebounds and too many turnovers for Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to overcome Thursday as the Gators lost a 53-50 overtime decision to Fosston in the opening round semifinals of the 1994 Section 8A girls high school basketball tournament at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The loss snapped a 17-game winning streak for the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 champion Gators, sending them into Friday's season-ending third place game with a 21-5 record. Fosston took a 24-2 mark into Friday's finals against Climax/Fisher, an easy 55-29 winner over Walker-Hackensack-Akeley in the Thursday semifinal doubleheader opener.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 55 percent from the field (22/40) to just 31 percent for Fosston (20/64), but 21 of the Greyhounds' 28 rebounds came on the offensive end. Those extra shots, coupled with the Gators' 29 turnovers, spelled the difference.

"The key was the rebounds," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "We made some poor decisions with the basketball, but we play an aggressive style, and we're going to have some turnovers. The real difference was the boards. We told the kids all week not to give them second shots like that. We just didn't get the job done. You can't keep giving a team that many shots and expect to win."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River led much of the game. Ahead 18-12 at the end of the first quarter, the Gators enjoyed their biggest lead of the night at 24-16 when Jessica Borgen converted a Krissi Super feed under the basket with 4:50 left in the second quarter. It was 30-26 at halftime and 41-38 through three quarters.

"We could have won it," said Neibauer. "We had that eight-point lead..."

Fosston finally managed to overtake Badger/Greenbush with a 7-0 run at the outset of the fourth quarter, going ahead 44-43 on a drive to the basket by Gina Salverson with 3:36 remaining.

Borgen hit an open jumper from the side with 2:52 left and Super slipped inside for a basket to put the Gators ahead 47-45 with 1:38 showing.

Two free throws by the Greyhounds' Angie Carlin with 52 seconds to play closed out the regulation time scoring.

The final shot belonged to the Gators, but Super's shot in traffic from the side at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

Fosston's Erin Reitmeier drained a 3-point basket 57 seconds into the three-minute overtime to give the Greyhounds a major lift. An Angie Carlin free throw made it 51-47 with 1:31 remaining.

A free throw by Super and a short turnaround jumper by Robyn Iverson with 31 seconds left pulled the Gators within 51-50.

Final points came from Salverson, who made both attempts on a bonus free throw opportunity with 11 seconds showing.

Again, the final shot belonged to the Gators, and again the ball was in Super's hands on an in bounds pass following a time-out call with three seconds to go. The rushed game-tying trey attempt from the side caromed off the rim as the horn sounded.

"It was a helluva high school basketball game," said Neibauer. "It was a well-played game for a region (section) semifinal. There was a lot of emotion – a lot of pressure out there."

Super, a 5-11 sophomore, led all scorers with 22 points. Sara Melby, a 5-5 senior, netted 10. Reitmeier, a 5-4 sophomore, and Salverson, a 5-6 senior, led a balanced Fosston effort with 10 points each. Reitmeier and Salverson were part of a productive Fosston bench that produced 31 of the Greyhounds' 53 points. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River starters did all the Gators' scoring.

The Gators were 6-for-10 at the free throw line, where the Greyhounds went 11-for-19. The winners had a 28-25 rebound edge and wound up with 15 turnovers – 14 fewer than the Gators.

North township voters pass Sunday liquor

North township voters finally approved the sale of liquor on Sunday. The issue has been defeated at least twice before at annual elections.

A total of 79 votes were cast in the election. There were 27 votes against the issue and 52 in favor.

The vote makes it possible for the Thief River Falls Golf course to serve liquor on Sundays. The issue must next pass before the county sheriff and attorney and then the county board before it can take effect.

Ken Olson, Pennington county auditor, said he expects the matter to come before the county board at its next meeting.

The issue voted on was "whether Pennington County should be authorized to issue Sunday liquor licenses in North township." Kyle Joppru, township clerk, said the Golf course representatives wanted the permit so they could sell alcohol at special occasions on Sunday.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River defenders Krissi Super (32) and Robyn Iverson (44) tried to stop Fosston's Maija Sevaloja from getting off this shot during Thursday's Section 8A girls high school basketball tournament semifinal game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston. The Greyhounds came from behind to best the Gators 53-50 in overtime.

Fosston tops B/G-MR girls 53-50 in Section 8A semifinals...

Gators lose overtime game

There were just too many rebounds and too many turnovers for Badger/Greenbush-Middle River to overcome Thursday as the Gators lost a 53-50 overtime decision to Fosston in the opening round semifinals of the 1994 Section 8A girls high school basketball tournament at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

The loss snapped a 17-game winning streak for the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 champion Gators, sending them into Friday's season-ending third place game with a 21-5 record. Fosston took a 24-2 mark into Friday's finals against Climax/Fisher, an easy 55-29 winner over Walker-Hackensack-Akeley in the Thursday semifinal doubleheader opener.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shot 55 percent from the field (22/40) to just 31 percent for Fosston (20/64), but 21 of the Greyhounds' 28 rebounds came on the offensive end. Those extra shots, coupled with the Gators' 29 turnovers, spelled the difference.

"The key was the rebounds," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "We made some poor decisions with the basketball, but we play an aggressive style, and we're going to have some turnovers. The real difference was the boards. We told the kids all week not to give them second shots like that. We just didn't get the job done. You can't keep giving a team that many shots and expect to win."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River led much of the game. Ahead 18-12 at the end of the first quarter, the Gators enjoyed their biggest lead of the night at 24-16 when Jessica Borgen converted a Krissi Super feed under the basket with 4:50 left in the second quarter. It was 30-26 at halftime and 41-38 through three quarters.

"We could have won it," said Neibauer. "We had that eight-point lead..."

Fosston finally managed to overtake Badger/Greenbush with a 7-0 run at the outset of the fourth quarter, going ahead 44-43 on a drive to the basket by Gina Salverson with 3:36 remaining.

Borgen hit an open jumper from the side with 2:52 left and Super slipped inside for a basket to put the Gators ahead 47-45 with 1:38 showing.

Two free throws by the Greyhounds' Angie Carlin with 52 seconds to play closed out the regulation time scoring.

The final shot belonged to the Gators, but Super's shot in traffic from the side at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

Fosston's Erin Reitmeier drained a 3-point basket 57 seconds into the three-minute overtime to give the Greyhounds a major lift. An Angie Carlin free throw made it 51-47 with 1:31 remaining.

A free throw by Super and a short turnaround jumper by Robyn Iverson with 31 seconds left pulled the Gators within 51-50.

Final points came from Salverson, who made both attempts on a bonus free throw opportunity with 11 seconds showing.

Again, the final shot belonged to the Gators, and again the ball was in Super's hands on an in-bounds pass following a time-out call with three seconds to go. The rushed game-tying trey attempt from the side caromed off the rim as the horn sounded.

"It was a helluva high school basketball game," said Neibauer. "It was a well-played game for a region (section) semifinal. There was a lot of emotion – a lot of pressure out there."

Super, a 5-11 sophomore, led all scorers with 22 points. Sara Melby, a 5-5 senior, netted 10. Reitmeier, a 5-4 sophomore, and Salverson, a 5-6 senior, led a balanced Fosston effort with 10 points each. Reitmeier and Salverson were part of a productive Fosston bench that produced 31 of the Greyhounds' 53 points. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River starters did all the Gators' scoring.

The Gators were 6-for-10 at the free throw line, where the Greyhounds went 11-for-19. The winners had a 28-25 rebound edge and wound up with 15 turnovers – 14 fewer than the Gators.

THUGS plan fundraiser for Tonya Harding

A group of individuals have united together to show their support for a fallen Olympic star, Tonya Harding, and have organized an event in her honor.

T.H.U.O.S. or Tonya Harding United Group of Supporters, a group of individuals united in their support of Tonya Harding, has planned a fund-raising celebration Saturday, April 23 in the city of Goodridge. The purpose is to raise money in support of Tonya Harding and possibly get a special medal made for her.

Plans are still underway for "The Harding Fest" in Goodridge. Activities for the event would include a parade, various sports activities, a celebrity auction, a bake sale and a community dance. Other activities still being discussed include a Tonya Harding look-alike contest, various skating contests and many other ideas.

Al Kiesow, one of the event organizers said, "The concept has really caught on. Until now, no one has really given support to Tonya, and we also feel that the outcome of the '94 Olympics would have been different if Tonya hadn't been under the extreme stress and strain associated with the attack on Nancy Kerrigan and all of the other incidents she experienced prior to the Olympic competition."

Ed Leeper of St. Hilaire, another event organizer, said, "Anyone with that amount of pressure upon them certainly would not be able to perform their best, and we hope more Americans will understand this."

The idea for T.H.U.O.S. was a result of an unfortunate incident involving the Goodridge-based musical group "The Outcasts". Members of the group, which includes Leeper, Kiesow, Richard Jadeke, and Lonnie Waine, recently showed up to perform at a bar in Drayton, ND, only to be turned away because of an error. During the depressing long ride home, someone said they really felt like an outcast. The drummer replied, "Now I know how Tonya Harding Feels!" Some said they should start a benefit for Harding and the idea stuck.

For more information about the group and the event being planned in Goodridge call (218) 378-4625.

LAND
When you are considering land, either buying or selling – Call us First! We know our Real Estate business and appreciate yours. We are locally owned, and have lived, hunted, farmed, rented and owned land. We have custom combined and sold land all over our area for over 30 years. We know and understand the uniqueness land in our area has, and its potential, having actually farmed it.

LAND: YOU can't move it or haul it away, you always want to look at it before buying it. Buyers don't go to California, Florida or North Dakota if they want to buy land in our area. Buyers like to do business with a land company that has invested in their community with an office, staff & pays local taxes, people who will be available at a convenient place to stop in and visit with you on your questions and concerns. Is it more likely a real estate salesman would rather drive 10 or 20 miles to show a property in a high demand area or 60 to 150 miles to show property in MN area that has a lesser demand requiring more showings per completed sale. If you would like your property sold and not just listed, call your locally owned real estate professional, Northland Realty, Farm Sales, 101 East 2nd Street, Thief River Falls, 218-681-6036. 20tfc away because we had to stand at attention — and we had to do that for four hours, all the while the family was there."

Lawrence Aase was not happy when this picture was taken because his suit is missing a button. He is the fourth oldest of the five children shown, and is standing in the center of the front row. The picture was taken in Norway and shows the Knut Aase family about 1904. Knut Aase was a captain in the Norwegian Army.

Obviously, the King's Guard not only guarded the palace grounds and stables, but the royal family consisting of the King, Queen and Crown Prince.

King Haakon VII was king of Norway at the time Lawrence was a Palace Guard. He was the second son of King Frederick VIII of Denmark and was invited to become king of Norway in 1905 after Norway declared its independence. His wife, Queen Maude, was the youngest daughter of Edward VII of England.

According to an article in the March, 1991, Sons of Norway Viking magazine, Crown Prince Olaf was born Alexander Edward Christian Frederik in England in 1903 and came to Norway at the age of two when his father became king. The Norwegian name, Olav, was given to him when his father accepted election as king of Norway.

The Crown Prince was only 18 when Lawrence was a King's Guard and he liked motorcycles. "He liked the motorcycles and he also liked to ski," Lawrence said. The Crown Prince was known to participate in ski jump competitions in his youth and continued to ski until he was in his eighties.

The Viking article said Prince Olaf became King Olav V in 1957, after his father's death. He was known as "The People's King" because of his friendly, open style of reigning. He displayed this friendliness as crown prince, too, and often visited and chatted with the King's Guards.

Queen Maude was rather difficult to guard, Lawrence stated. "She liked to ride the horses and it was hard to guard her when she rode. She did not want to see us watching her so we were not supposed to let her see us. Yet we were to watch her all of the time, so we would hide behind trees and buildings and peek around them to be able to watch her without being seen. It wasn't easy, I can tell you."

In 1923, at the age of 23, Lawrence told his family that he wanted to come to America. Like so many others, he had heard it was "The Land of Opportunity." His father was not happy about it, but [illegible]. But he gave Lawrence one piece of advice, "You will find that money doesn't grow on trees there, either."

"And I sure found out it didn't," Lawrence said. "I came to America on July 3, 1923, and shortly after that the country started to go into the depression. There was no work for anyone and people were starving. Even the animals were starving to death. Many times I wondered why I had left Norway. We took any job we could get and were happy to make a little money at it."

Lawrence Aase, at the age of 94, at91 has stories to tell about his youth in Norway and being a King's Guard there. Although his future looked bright in Norway, he chose to come to "The Land of Opportunity" to seek his fortune at the age of 23. Instead of money growing on trees, he found his bride, Ethel Holtan, and settled in Thief River Falls.

Lawrence settled in Williams county, North Dakota, where he worked and farmed for 15 years. One evening he came to a dance in Thief River Falls and met Ethel Holten. They were married in 1935 and have lived in Thief River Falls since then.

During the Depression years, everyone had to scratch to make a living. According to Lawrence's friend, Millard Nelson, when the Aases were first married, they were quite poor, like nearly everyone else. They lived on Dewey Avenue and had a cow and came up with a way to make ends meet. They formed their own milk delivering business and many people came to know Lawrence as their "Milk Man." He charged his customers the "outrageous" price of five cents for a half gallon of milk.

According to Nelson, in the early [illegible] Lawrence, like so many others in the area, began working on the Soo Line Railroad. He worked as a car inspector and was also chairman of the local railroad car inspectors' union. He and Nelson were fellow members of the Odd Fellows and Sons of Norway organizations. After his retirement, Lawrence spent many years as custodian at Trinity church.

Lawrence and Ethel have visited his relatives in Norway four times, the first time 40 years after he left to come to America. They have been married for 59 years and continue to live on their own.

(Suggestion for this story was submitted by Solveig Swenson of St. Hilaire. It will be considered in the Northern Watch contest for Story Idea of the Month for March.)

Lawrence and Ethel Aase are shown on their wedding day in 1935. Ethel's parents were Nels and Oliva Holten, who lived in Thief River Falls. Lawrence met Ethel at a dance in Thief River Falls and decided to make his home here after their marriage.

Garbage catches fire

Fire caused damage to a semi trailer at Future Fuel Tuesday evening.

At about 8:50 p.m. Tuesday, March 8, Thief River Falls Fire department received a report of a fire on a semi-trailer loaded with garbage at Future Fuel. Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said when fire department personnel arrived, the garbage in the trailer was completely involved. Using the semi attached to the trailer they were able to dump the garbage, spread it out and put out the flames.

Bjorkman said damage to the specialized trailer was moderate to extensive. No one was hurt.

It took fire department personnel about two hours to smother the fire. Bjorkman said he didn't know how the fire started. He said that with that amount of garbage coming from many different locations it could have been caused by any number of things — ashes, fiberglass, and even instantaneous combustion could not be ruled out.

Bjorkman said he believed the trailer belonged to Les's Sanitation of Thief River Falls and had been loaded in anticipation of hauling the garbage to a landfill in the morning.

Calves are larger this year

Greenbush — Veterinarian Lyle Mattson of Greenbush says that he has had to perform more cesarean sections than usual on cattle this year because calves are larger than normal. He said the largest calf he has delivered this year weighed 130 pounds. Mattson attributes the larger size of calves this year to the fact that poor weather reduced the abundance of good hay and cattle were given extra supplements to make up for the poor forage.

Lincoln choir concert a 'soulful celebration'

Lincoln high school choirs under the direction of Darcy Reese will present a "Soulful Celebration" concert Monday, March 21, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. There is no admission and entire families are invited to attend.

Mrs. Reese said the choirs have been preparing music since January for this celebration, which opens with the "Swingsations" jazz choir performing "Route 66," "The More I See You" and "You're Just In Love." Four members of the Lincoln jazz band will accompany the "Swingsations" in two of their selections.

Soloists Jordan Goldesberry and Jacob Jacobson will be featured with the Freshman Choir which will present a hearty sailor ballad entitled "Coasts of High Barbary," a spiritual entitled "The Promised Land," a Latin classic entitled "Mirabile Mysterium" and a contemporary selection entitled "Comfort Ye My People."

"The concert choir has been working with a superb pianist from the community, Cathy Hagen," Mrs. Reese said. "She will also be performing with the Varsity Singers, an all-female group."

Concert choir will perform "4 Slovak Folk Songs" by Bela Bartok, four different songs which weave the moods of sadness, joy and celebration. This will be followed by the a cappella spiritual "All My Trials" and the last number will be "Hark, I Hear the Harps Eternal."

The Varsity Singers will present two mountain ballads, followed by a classical selection by Antonio Vivaldi. "Their last selection will surely make concert-goers sit on the edge of their seats to hear their crisp words," Reese added, "but they will have to be alert because the number doesn't last long."

Next on stage will be a group called Truly Trebles which includes all the girls from each choir in an arrangement from the movie "Sister Act." "These girls will dance and sing to the hottest songs from that hit movie," Mrs. Reese said. "It's gotta get your toe tapping!"

Soloists will include Jackie Flynn, Camie Twomey, Jill Dekkers, Rachel Lee, Carrie Rude, Anne Padilla and Lisa Swanson.

Ending the Soulful Celebration will be a different arrangement of Handel's famous "Hallelujah," performed by the mass choir. "Be prepared to end the celebration with the hottest "Hallelujah" you've ever heard!" the director warned.

"The Potato Bug" brought prosperity to Goodridge

Old Electric Train depot returns to remind residents of Goodridge and other small towns of years of prosperity

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

One quiet morning on October 12, 1914, in the peaceful village of Goodridge, a tranquil Lutheran Sunday service was interrupted by the toot-toot of a train whistle. The pastor stopped his sermon and he and the congregation put their devotions on hold for a moment to watch the train, pulled by a bright orange engine, pass by. It was the Minnesota Northwestern Electric train, making its first run from Thief River Falls to Goodridge.

Exciting as it was, people watching that first train had no idea of what prosperity it would bring to the village of Goodridge. They had no idea that the village would become a thriving town by Christmas of that year, with streets and cement sidewalks, businesses and homes.

Like so many other small towns in the early 1900's, the coming of the railroad was the beginning of a population explosion that would bring homesteaders, tradesmen, laborers, and merchants to the town, as well as all types of freight and mail. Melvin Stephenson, early Goodridge entrepreneur, in Pennington County History, stated that "Goodridge was the village that grew, like a mushroom, over night."

The railway started preparing rails from Thief River Falls to Goodridge in the early summer of 1914. The incorporation of the city followed shortly after the railroad, in 1915. Three hundred people lived in Goodridge at this time.

Lumber was hauled for construction of the first building in July of 1914 by G. C. Gulrud. He built a hardware store, which later became a drug, stationery and grocery store, which sold roller skates for $1.49 a pair.

By 1915, the city had several businesses. There were three churches, two livery stables, a harness shop, three blacksmith shops, a newspaper, a meat market, two hotels, two banks, two telephone companies, two lumber companies, a movie theater, a confectionery store, a millinery store, two oil companies, several restaurants, hardware stores and general merchandise stores, feed mills and elevators, a doctor's office and a barber shop.

The eight-page newspaper was called "The Eleven Towns." Later it was purchased by S.V. Arneson and renamed "The Banner." Subscriptions were $1.50 per year.

According to town clerk notes, P.O. Palmer was granted a license for a pool hall in May of 1917. The pool playing was short-lived fun for Goodridge residents, however, because on November 4, 1918, Mayor Gulrud requested "all pool hall and card playing businesses be closed to prevent the spread of the flu," which had reached epidemic proportions.

In 1924, it was a sign of the "horseless carriage" times that the city council requested hitching posts be removed from in front of the lumber yard.

According to Melvin Stephenson, Goodridge came to be known as "The White Village," because all of the homes and businesses were painted white. No one seems to know why.

By 1922, 41 buildings in Goodridge had electricity. Lights would come on at dusk and stay on until 10:30 p.m. They would be dimmed once, as a warning, and then shut off. People had to use whatever electric appliances or lights they had between those hours.

"The Old Depot" looks pretty good after eighty years. The depot was built in 1914, during Goodridge's "Boom Years." It was closed when the railroad pulled out of town because of financial difficulties and then moved to Grygla to become the Grygla Post Office for several years. This winter, the depot came back to Goodridge to be a part of Tvedt Historical Park. It will be repainted its original color and renovated and will become a major attraction at the Historical Park.

Yet we were to watch her all of the time, so we would hide behind trees and buildings and peek around them to be able to watch her without being seen. It wasn't easy, I can tell you."

In 1923, at the age of 23, Lawrence told his family that he wanted to come to America. Like so many others, he had heard it was "The Land of Opportunity." His father was not happy about it, but grudgingly gave his permission. But he gave Lawrence one piece of advice. "You will find that money doesn't grow on trees there, either."

"And I sure found out it didn't," Lawrence said. "I came to America on July 3, 1923, and shortly after that the country started to go into the depression. There was no work for anyone and people were starving. Even the animals were starving to death. Many times I wondered why I had left Norway. We took any job we could get and were happy to make a little money at it."

Lawrence Aase, at the age of 94, still has stories to tell about his youth in Norway and being a King's Guard there. Although his future looked bright in Norway, he chose to come to "The Land of Opportunity" to seek his fortune at the age of 23. Instead of money growing on trees, he found his bride, Ethel Holten, and settled in Thief River Falls.

Lawrence settled in Williams county, North Dakota, where he worked and farmed for 15 years. One evening he came to a dance in Thief River Falls and met Ethel Holten. They were married in 1935 and have lived in Thief River Falls since then.

During the Depression years, everyone had to scratch to make a living. According to Lawrence's friend, Millard Nelson, when the Aases were first married, they were quite poor, like nearly everyone else. They lived on Dewey Avenue and had a cow and came up with a way to make ends meet. They formed their own milk delivering business and many people came to know Lawrence as their "Milk Man." He charged his customers the "outrageous" price of five cents for a half gallon of milk.

According to Nelson, in the early forties Lawrence, like so many others in the area, began working on the Soo Line Railroad. He worked as a car inspector and was also chairman of the local railroad car inspectors' union. He and Nelson were fellow members of the Odd Fellows and Sons of Norway organizations. After his retirement, Lawrence spent many years as custodian at Trinity church.

Lawrence and Ethel have visited his relatives in Norway four times, the first time 40 years after he left to come to America. They have been married for 59 years and continue to live on their own.

(Suggestion for this story was submitted by Solveig Swenson of St. Hilaire. It will be considered in the Northern Watch contest for Story Idea of the Month for March.)

Lawrence and Ethel Aase are shown on their wedding day in 1935. Ethel's parents were Nels and Olive Holten, who lived in Thief River Falls. Lawrence met Ethel at a dance in Thief River Falls and decided to make his home here after their marriage.

Garbage catches fire

Fire caused damage to a semi trailer at Future Fuel Tuesday evening.

At about 8:50 p.m. Tuesday, March 8, Thief River Falls Fire department received a report of a fire on a semi-trailer loaded with garbage at Future Fuel. Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said when fire department personnel arrived, the garbage in the trailer was completely involved. Using the semi attached to the trailer they were able to dump the garbage, spread it out and put out the flames.

Bjorkman said damage to the specialized trailer was moderate to extensive. No one was hurt.

It took fire department personnel about two hours to smother the fire. Bjorkman said he didn't know how the fire started. He said that with that amount of garbage coming from many different locations it could have been caused by any number of things — ashes, fiberglass, and even instantaneous combustion could not be ruled out.

Bjorkman said he believed the trailer belonged to Les's Sanitation of Thief River Falls and had been loaded in anticipation of hauling the garbage to a landfill in the morning.

Calves are larger this year

Greenbush — Veterinarian Lyle Mattson of Greenbush says that he has had to perform more cesarean sections than usual on cattle this year because calves are larger than normal. He said the largest calf he has delivered this year weighed 130 pounds. Mattson attributes the larger size of calves this year to the fact that poor weather reduced the abundance of good hay and cattle were given extra supplements to make up for the poor forage.

Roseau needs a city planner

Roseau — A group of concerned citizens asked the Roseau City Council to consider hiring a city planner to help in planning the community's future. The person should be someone with experience working with city government and who can also work with Polaris, said group member Norm Hayes. "We are now at the size of a town where we probably need some kind of planner," he said.

Lincoln choir concert a 'soulful celebration'

Lincoln high school choirs under the direction of Darcy Reese will present a "Soulful Celebration" concert Monday, March 21, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. There is no admission and entire families are invited to attend.

Mrs. Reese said the choirs have been preparing music since January for this celebration, which opens with the "Swingsations" jazz choir performing "Route 66," "The More I See You" and "You're Just In Love." Four members of the Lincoln jazz band will accompany the "Swingsations" in two of their selections.

Soloists Jordan Goldesberry and Jacob Jacobson will be featured with the Freshman Choir which will present a hearty sailor ballad entitled "Coasts of High Barbary," a spiritual entitled "The Promised Land," a Latin classic entitled "Mirabile Mysterium" and a contemporary selection entitled "Comfort Ye My People."

"The concert choir has been working with a superb pianist from the community, Cathy Hagen," Mrs. Reese said. "She will also be performing with the Varsity Singers, an all-female group."

Concert choir will perform "4 Slovak Folk Songs" by Bela Bartok, four different songs which weave the moods of sadness, joy and celebration. This will be followed by the a cappella spiritual "All My Trials" and the last number will be "Hark, I Hear the Harps Eternal."

The Varsity Singers will present two mountain ballads, followed by a classical selection by Antonio Vivaldi. "Their last selection will surely make concert-goers sit on the edge of their seats to hear their crisp words," Reese added, "but they will have to be alert because the number doesn't last long."

Next on stage will be a group called Truly Trebles which includes all the girls from each choir in an arrangement from the movie "Sister Act." "These girls will dance and sing to the hottest songs from that hit movie," Mrs. Reese said. "It's gotta get your toe tapping!"

Soloists will include Jackie Flynn, Camie Twomey, Jill Dekkers, Rachel Lee, Carrie Rude, Anne Padilla and Lisa Swanson.

Ending the Soulful Celebration will be a different arrangement of Handel's famous "Hallelujah," performed by the mass choir. "Be prepared to end the celebration with the hottest "Hallelujah" you've ever heard!" the director warned.

"The Potato Bug" brought prosperity to Goodridge

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

One quiet morning on October 12, 1914, in the peaceful village of Goodridge, a tranquil Lutheran Sunday service was interrupted by the toot-toot of a train whistle. The pastor stopped his sermon and he and the congregation put their devotions on hold for a moment to watch the train, pulled by a bright orange engine, pass by. It was the Minnesota Northwestern Electric train, making its first run from Thief River Falls to Goodridge.

Exciting as it was, people watching that first train had no idea of what prosperity it would bring to the village of Goodridge. They had no idea that the village would become a thriving town by Christmas of that year, with streets and cement sidewalks, businesses and homes.

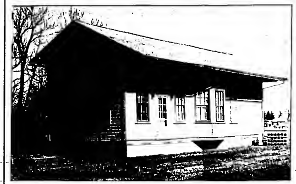
Like so many other small towns in the early 1900's, the coming of the railroad was the beginning of a population explosion that would bring homesteaders, tradesmen, laborers, and merchants to the town, as well as all types of freight and mail. Melvin Stephenson, early Goodridge entrepreneur, in Pennington County History, stated that "Goodridge was the village that grew, like a mushroom, over night."

The railway started preparing rails from Thief River Falls to Goodridge in the early summer of 1914. The incorporation of the city followed shortly after the railroad, in 1915. Three hundred people lived in Goodridge at this time.

Lumber was hauled for construction of the first building in July of 1914 by G. C. Gulrud. He built a hardware store, which later became a drug, stationery and grocery store, which sold roller skates for $1.49 a pair.

By 1915, the city had several businesses. There were three churches, two livery stables, a harness shop, three blacksmith shops, a newspaper, a meat market, two hotels, two banks, two telephone companies, two lumber companies, a movie theater, a confectionery store, a millinery store, two oil companies, several restaurants, hardware stores and general merchandise stores, feed mills and elevators, a doctor's office and a barber shop.

The eight-page newspaper was called "The Eleven Towns." Later it was purchased by S.V. Arneson and renamed "The Banner." Subscriptions were $1.50 per year.



According to town clerk notes, P.O. Palmer was granted a license for a pool hall in May of 1917. The pool playing was short-lived fun for Goodridge residents, however, because on November 4, 1918, Mayor Gulrud requested "all pool hall and card playing businesses be closed to prevent the spread of the flu," which had reached epidemic proportions.

In 1924, it was a sign of the "horseless carriage" times that the city council requested hitching posts be removed from in front of the lumber yard.

According to Melvin Stephenson, Goodridge came to be known as "The White Village," because all of the homes and businesses were painted white. No one seems to know why.

By 1922, 41 buildings in Goodridge had electricity. Lights would come on at dusk and stay on until 10:30 p.m. They would be dimmed once, as a warning, and then shut off. People had to use whatever electric appliances or lights they had between those hours

"The Old Depot" looks pretty good after eighty years. The depot was built in 1914, during Goodridge's "Boom Years." It was closed when the railroad pulled out of town because of financial difficulties and then moved to Grygla to become the Grygla Post Office for several years. This winter, the depot came back to Goodridge to be a part of Tvedt Historical Park. It will be repainted its original color and renovated and will become a major attraction at the Historical Park.

The first intercontinental bomb fell on ND

Warsaw, ND — A Japanese balloon bomb landed in a field in Warsaw, ND, the evening of March 30, 1945. Alex Czapiewski saw the unfamiliar object bounding across farm fields. Thinking the balloon might hold Japanese soldiers, Clarian Orabanski shot it six times with a .22. The Walsh County Sheriff called the FBI and military authorities. The balloon bomb was made up of an explosive little box with batteries and wires that was carried underneath a large, 30-foot balloon. The bombs were launched into the jet stream by the Japanese during World War II in hopes that they would travel 6,200 miles to land on unsuspecting American farms and cities. Those who saw the balloon were asked to keep it a secret so that the Japanese would not know how successful their balloon bombs had been. A balloon bomb had also landed in Ashley, ND, a few days prior to the landing in Warsaw.

At the abortion clinic, they didn't tell me my baby had tiny hands and feet, brain waves, and a beating heart.

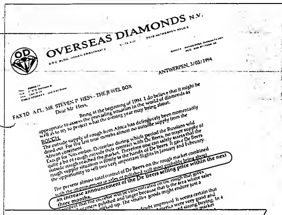
They didn't say there were people who would help me through my pregnancy and couples eager to care for my baby if I couldn't.

They said the abortion would be quick and easy. I didn't know my heart would hurt so much...and that the pain would go on and on and on.

A woman has a right to know!

A woman considering abortion is facing a life-or-death decision. She needs information so she can make an informed choice.

The "Woman's Right to Know Bill" would make sure she is told:



- The name of the doctor who will do the abortion
- The medical risks of the abortion procedure and the risks of carrying the child to term
- The age of her unborn child

The "Woman's Right to Know Bill" would also make sure she's told:

- That medical assistance benefits may be available and that the father is liable for child support
- That she has a right to information on fetal development, on abortion procedures and on agencies that offer alternatives to abortion

OVERSEAS DIAMONDS N.V.

ANTWERPEN, 3/03/1994

FAX TO ATT. MR STEVEN P. HESS - THE JEWEL BOX

Dear Mr Hess,

Being at the beginning of 1994 I do believe that it might be appropriate to assess the prevailing situation in the world of diamonds as well as to try to project what the coming year may bring about.

ROUGH

The outside supply of rough from Africa has definitively been momentarily dried out. For the last four months almost no outside supply from the African continent ... December during which period the Russians sold ... Except for November ... their contract with De Beers, no major supply of quite a bit of rough outside ... Therefore one can safely assess that the outside rough reached the market ... firmly in the hands of De Beers. It gave De Beers rough supply situation is ... very important Sights in January and February the opportunity to sell two ...

The present almost total control of De Beers on the rough market combined with the improvement in sales of polished will most probably bring about an increase announcement of the De Beers selling price within the next three months.

"Our sources in Belgium have informed us of an anticipated price increase in rough diamonds. This means that you, the consumer, will probably pay higher diamond prices in the very near future.

To beat the price increase, I am going to Antwerp immediately. If you are considering purchasing a diamond before Fall, please contact us by April 2. With a commitment, I will personally select a magnificent diamond just for you with savings we will not be able to offer after the increase."

To The Editor:

America's agricultural sector has done an outstanding job in meeting the demands of consumers for wholesome, nutritious food that is reasonably priced. It is also a large part of the U. S. economy, providing up to 15 per cent of the labor force with jobs.

A serious threat to this success is emerging in the form of environmental and food safety concerns. Farmers and the food industry are afraid that new regulations, based on emotions rather than facts, will harm the economy while generating few environmental or food safety benefits. It is crucial that the public and the policy makers understand the potential costs of these regulations.

Although there have been instances of detrimental effects of modern agriculture to the environment, over all, data indicates environmental improvement. One of the most serious problems facing American agriculture, soil erosion, has actually decreased due to improved soil management practices. U. S. agriculture has also become less energy intensive.

Sometimes the image of U. S. agriculture is a nasty abuser of natural resources, a voracious user of chemicals and energy. That's very misleading. I'm not saying that problems don't exist, or that there should be no government regulation, but I would ask: To what lengths should regulatory policies go, at what costs, and for what benefit?

The studies of chemical use regulation agree that U. S. consumers will pay a large part of the costs of chemical restrictions in the form of higher food costs. The studies also point to strong adverse impacts to rural communities. Over-regulating biotechnology also carries the threat of delaying the development of chemicals that are environmentally preferable to the ones they replace.

I urge consumers to consider all the facts before jumping to conclusions concerning more stringent regulation of the agricultural industry.

Sincerely,
LuAnn Carow, president
Minnesota Agri-Women

Heinze to be presenter at National Amputee Conference in Tenn.

Art Heinze, director of Occupational Therapy at Northwest Medical Center, will be one of the presenters at the national Amputee Coalition of America conference in Nashville, TN, on March 23 through 26. The theme of the national conference is "Empowerment Through Outreach and Education." Heinze's topic will be "Things That Work for the Upper Extremity Amputee." He will also be showing his video entitled "the Use of Upper Extremity Prostheses."

The Amputee Coalition of America (ACA) is composed of individuals, support groups, health professionals, and others striving to improve the lives of persons who have lost a limb.

The conference will provide much information from experts in the field of amputee rehabilitation. Some of the areas to be covered will be the latest in technical developments of prosthetics, recreational adaptations, adaptive equipment, driving aids, self-esteem, parenting, health care reform, ADA, and self empowerment.

The Amputee Coalition of America maintains a large database of information, resources, and educational materials regarding amputee related topics. The ACA is a strong, unified voice to government and regulatory agencies, the insurance industry, and the general public. For more information about the ACA, you may contact Heinze at 681-1624.

Heinze is a bilateral amputee as a result of a farm power circle saw accident at the age of 19. He has 36 years experience using his body powered prostheses. He has been a frequent speaker on amputee rehabilitation. His teaching video entitled "the Use of Upper Extremity Prostheses" is used by 85 per cent of the occupational therapy schools in the United States and Canada. Many rehabilitation centers and limb manufacturers also use it as a resource.

Recognizing Agriculture Is Easy In Farm Country

If any people should be able to recognize the value that agriculture provides in our nation and the world it should be the people of our area. How could anyone living in the heart of farm territory fail to recognize the role of farmers in providing healthful, natural foods?

We probably all recognize the importance of farming, but we don't often enough make that recognition known. And even if we are familiar with agriculture in general, many of us are not fully aware of how farming practices and products have changed and are changing over the years.

About the only thing that hasn't kept pace with change in agriculture has been the prices paid for farm products. Equipment is more refined and complicated (and expensive), technology is more advanced and applicable to more areas of farming and units of labor to volume of product have been reduced to fractions of what they were only a generation or two ago.

Changes have been made that most people would consider to be impossible. For instance, 30 years ago it took from 120 to 160 days to raise a broiler chicken. The average person would be content to say that's just how long it takes a chicken to grow. Application of genetic experimentation during that time has now created chickens that reach market weight in only 60 days.

Milk production of dairy cattle has increased markedly in the last couple of decades. Hogs and cattle have been bred to have leaner meat. Plant breeders have developed small grain varieties that have greater yields and are more resistant to disease. In California alone, 145 varieties of peaches are grown that provide the country with fresh peaches from April to September.

"Agriculture on the American scale—one farmer producing enough to feed 128 people—takes years to evolve," points out the North Central Chapter of the National Agri-Marketing Association. "Products we take for granted—milk and cream, butter, ice cream and fresh meat—are luxuries for the people of many other nations."

A nationwide network of laws, regulations, procedures and professionals provides a basis for consumer confidence. "We have developed instrumentation and methodology that is so much more sensitive today than 20 years ago," says James V. Chambers, professor of food science at Purdue University.

"In the 1970s, detection sensitivity was measured in parts per million. Today, it's parts per billion and even per trillion. That is like finding grains of sugar in an Olympic-size swimming pool."

"Consumers need to understand that our food is the result of the efficient use of land, capital, labor and many other inputs," says Dr. Joanne L. Slavin, professor of nutrition at the University of Minnesota's department of food science and nutrition. "Few people in this country can afford to spend the extra 25 per cent of money needed to purchase foods produced without chemicals, especially since there is no evidence that such foods are superior to conventionally grown foods in quality or nutrient content."

Observance of National Agriculture Day causes us to make a conscientious effort to stop a minute and think about what agriculture has done and has become. We should all be thankful that there are people dedicated enough to till the soil and raise the grains, fruits, vegetables, livestock, poultry and fiber that keeps our nation strong and our people healthy. Our feed cap is off to every one of them.

Congress Simply Must Permit An Amendment To Balance The Budget

"The question whether one generation has the right to bind another by the deficit it imposes is a question of such consequence as to place it among the fundamental principles of government. We should consider ourselves unauthorized to saddle posterity with our debts, morally bound to pay them ourselves."

As Congress considers the authorization of a Constitutional Amendment requiring a balanced budget, the words above could have come from any number of proponents. Instead, they came from Thomas Jefferson and were made nearly 200 years ago. Jefferson was right, and so are those pushing for the amendment.

Senators Larry Craig of Idaho, a Republican, and Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois, a Democrat, are united in favor of a balanced budget amendment. They point out that the federal government has spent more than it has taken in for 55 of the last 63 years. The budget hasn't been balanced since 1969 and the result is a federal debt totaling $4.4 trillion, or more than $17,000 for every man, woman and child in America.

While almost all Americans want a balanced budget, there's no way to put this general public interest on a level playing field with the specific demands of mobilized, organized interest groups, the two senators report. The unlimited ability (of Congress) to borrow naturally leads to unlimited demands to spend beyond our means.

Every dollar borrowed incurs interest costs which already result in significantly fewer dollars for high-priority programs and in higher taxes. In fact, if no federal debt ever had been accumulated in the first place, the government would run a $200 billion surplus over the 1995-1999 period.

"Some worry if the budget must be balanced that is will be done fairly," Sen. Craig and Sen. Simon state. "However, the government's escalating interest payments—with gross interest totaling $294 billion in 1993—are blatantly regressive. These represent a transfer of funds from the working middle class—who pay the bulk of federal taxes—to the large banks, corporations and wealthy individuals who hold Treasury securities. About 15 per cent of these payments go to rich investors or governments overseas.

"The greatest unfairness is for the government to live off a giant credit card and send the bill to the next generation, amounting to a massive taxation without representation.

".....Without a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution, it is unlikely we will ever find the discipline to restore this rationality to our budget decisions."

Polaris announces profit sharing totaling $13.9 million

Polaris Industries today announced profit sharing totaling $10,482,588 in recognition of the company's record-setting performance in 1993, which included record sales of more than on-half billion dollars and record earnings of more than $45 million. This distribution compares to $6,817,425 or an increase of 54 per cent over 1992.

Employees in the Minneapolis suburb of Plymouth and at the company's manufacturing facilities in Roseau, Osceola, WI, and the Canadian subsidiary in Winnipeg will receive checks.

In addition, under the Polaris Employee Ownership Plan, employees were awarded some 92,000 ownership rights with a value of $3,243,000 and a $2.51 cash distribution for each ownership right held through 1993, a total of $169,435.

For the year just ended, 1,769 employees participated in the profit sharing plan valued at a total of $13,895,023.

In a letter to employees, Polaris Chief Executive Officer Hall Wendel said, "1993 was an outstanding year. We experienced record sales, lowest field inventory levels in history and continued market strength for all products." Wendel congratulated employees on a job well done and encouraged them to become active team leaders and participants in their on-the-job problem solving efforts which will result in improved productivity, efficiency and lower costs.

He pointed out that the company's desire to manage growth of the employee base has a direct positive impact on the size of the profit sharing pool: The more employees the fewer profit sharing dollars per person.

Wendel added, "These distributions are made possible by the profits generated from this team of dedicated, loyal employees who design, build, sell and provide service in support of the highest quality products in the industry."

Polaris is the world's largest snowmobile manufacturer, and the largest U.S. manufacturer of ATVs and personal watercraft.

Beef management seminar Friday at TRF Courthouse

Beef management seminar will be conducted Friday, March 25, at 7 p.m. in the courthouse meeting room in Thief River Falls, according to Howard Person, Pennington county extension educator. It is sponsored by the Northern Lites extension cluster.

Dr. Alfredo Disconstanzo, beef cattle nutrition and management specialist with the Minnesota extension service, will discuss optimizing cow size and efficiency to maximize profitability and Dr. Jeff Kearman, Stearns county extension educator, will discuss situations when synchronization may be advantageous to beef cattle producers.

Dale Carter, Roseau county extension educator, will also discuss progress of the beef carcass merit and feedlot profitability study used by some area producers for their calves.

All beef cow-calf producers are encouraged to attend to get some new viewpoints from extension personnel who have not previously been in this area. For further information contact the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116.

Training to be required on FmHA loans

Charles J. Phillips, Pennington county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), has announced implementation of a training program for FmHA's farm program customers.

The local FmHA county committee will evaluate each applicant's level of knowledge and experience in production and financial management, Phillips said. "Anyone requesting an FmHA loan, loan guarantee or servicing assistance will be considered to possibly enhance his or her skills in goal setting, financial management, information systems, income statements, balance sheets, cash flow budget and records."

M. Howard Bostman, acting state director of FmHA, said that the agency in Minnesota is looking forward to forming strong partnerships with learning institutions in providing farm management training state-wide.

The program is expected to further enhance a farm family's chance of success by ensuring the basic concepts of farm management are integrated in the farming operation. A waiver for training can be granted by the county committee, otherwise the training must be completed in two years as a condition of loan approval and to retain eligibility for FmHA assistance.

Cost of the training will be the responsibility of the farmer but such cost will be an authorized use of FmHA loan funds. A list of approved institutions offering farm management training will be available in local FmHA offices. FmHA is presently soliciting proposals from potential public and private training vendors. Approved trainers will be expected to offer training sessions beginning next fall.

Scouts will collect for TRF Food Shelf

As a national Good Turn Project, the cub and boy scouts in Thief River Falls will be collecting food on a door-to-door basis Saturday, March 26, beginning at 10 a.m. Scouts will be placing a plastic food collection bags on each household doorknob early in the week. The bag contains instructions as to the types of foodstuff that is needed.

All the collected food will be brought to the Thief River Falls food Shelf, which, in turn, will distribute the food to people in need. Since March is declared Minnesota Food Share Month, Minnesota Food Share will provide matching funds based on the amount of food collected and distributed.

Thief River Falls residents are asked to place their filled food bags on their front door knobs or front steps by 10 a.m. Saturday, March 26. Scouts will collect the bags and bring them to the Food Shelf. Everyone is asked to please have the bags in a visible place that can be seen from the street. If anyone accidently gets missed or will be out of town, they may bring their food bag to the local Food Shelf in the basement of the Falls Mall between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Saturday or any Thursday between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m.

Last year the scouts collected close to 4,000 pounds of food items which greatly allowed the Food Shelf to help people in need. The scouts and leaders express their appreciation to the public for their excellent past generosity through the local churches and the scout drive.

St. Hilaire blood drive is success

Robert Wald, blood drive coordinator, reports a good turnout for the blood drive sponsored by the St. Hilaire Lions club on March 10. A total of 50 people volunteered to donate and 39 were able to do so. Nine of the donors gave blood for the first time.

The need for blood is ongoing. Each day, healthy volunteers donate so that those in need may have another chance at life. Without the support of communities like St. Hilaire, this precious fluid would not be available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Others who assisted with the drive were Lloyd Noreen, Ron Anderson, Ione Scott, Karen Young, Gloria Johnson, Julie Desrocher, St. Hilaire Community club and MoonLighters Lioness club. Robert Miller provided space to hold the drive at the new elevator office.

Donations will help meet the blood needs of many patients in 46 area hospitals served by United Blood Services. Blood is for sharing, truly the "Gift of Life."

Track team begins TRF spring sports

Thief River Falls' 1994 high school spring sports schedule opens today (Saturday) with the Prowlers' appearance at the 1 p.m. Bemidji State University Lions Invitational.

Working under a single head coach this year, the combined squad features 22 returning letter winners among the 46 boys and girls who reported for the start of practice March 7. And it's a strong group, according to Tim Olson, who coaches both the boys and girls this spring.

"There's some real talent there," said Olson. "We will be competitive."

Boys on hand who lettered last year include seniors Eric Dahl, Rob Bakken and Jon Hendrickson; juniors John Davis, Arlen Stenvik, Nathan P. Anderson, Steve Lyman, and Steve Burslie; along with sophomores Nick Dee, Chris Tsukichi and Adam Fulton.

Returning letter winners among the girls are seniors Allison Myers, Carly Dee and Jenny Nicholson; juniors Nicole Torblaa, Kelly Skeim, Erika Jensen, and Jessica Bugge; sophomores Leah Helgenset, Kamie Twomey and Lisa Swanson; along with eighth grader Jennicca Gallagher.

Rest of the boys out for track this year include senior Brent Fuller; juniors Eric Jensen, Martin Dahlen, Nathan G. Anderson, and Cory Grochowski; sophomores Jason Breiland, James Jorgenson, Matt Lawrence, David Jones, Kyle Miller, and Billy Fogarty; plus freshmen Cari Dahlen, Benji Marquis, Paul Kopari, Josh Clark, Nick Donarski, Jared Brandt, Jason Curfman, and Billy Lubitz.

Senior Toni Chiodo, a state track meet qualifier before turning to softball last spring, is running again this year. Rest of the girls on the squad include junior Sally Hagen and freshmen Kate Ihle, Jocelyn Helgeland, and Alicia Bakken.

"It's going to be a fun year," said Olson, who directed the boys in the past before the additional responsibility of coaching the girls was added to his job description this spring. Glenn Chiodo, who was head coach of the girls, stepped down as two positions merged. "We've got some good kids. They're great workers. We know what our seniors can do. We hope some of the juniors can step forward and the sophomores...you never really know."

Seven squad members are from Goodridge and Grygla-Gatzke as part of a cooperative sponsorship program.

Assistant coaches are Mitch Skeim, Caara Holmstgtom, Tom Roncheoi, and Jeff Loe.

Wallberg is All-America

John Wallberg of Thief River Falls, a sophomore track and field team member at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), earned NCAA Division III All-America honors during the national indoor championships held recently at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

Wallberg competed in the weighted ball event – an indoor version of the hammer throw. The chain length is shortened and the ball weight increased to 35 pounds for the indoor competition.

A throw of 54 feet netted Wallberg a sixth place finish. Top six places earn All-America designation.

Wallberg qualified for the national outdoor meet in the hammer throw last year at Spokane, WA. He broke the MIT school records as a freshman in both the hammer throw and weighted ball events.

Baseball fund-raiser

Thief River Falls American Legion baseball coach Howard Dalager has been encouraged by the response received by players and parents who face the task of raising funds to keep the summer baseball program going for 16-18-year-olds.

A significant drop in charitable gaming revenue – the primary money-producer for the program – created the possibility that Thief River Falls Legion baseball would be a budget fatality. But refusing to give up without a fight, Dalager and others decided to try saving the summer pastime by undertaking fund-raising efforts.

A major part of that effort will be a baseball lotto in the fashion of the successful hockey lotto operated by the Blue Line Club.

The baseball lotto features a $20 ticket. There will be 20 $250 drawings throughout the course of the Legion baseball season – two drawings at each Post 117 home game. Tickets are available from team members and coaches.

All players ages 16-18 planning to be part of the Thief River Falls baseball program this summer are being asked to sell 10 lotto tickets each. Players who have not yet received their tickets are asked to contact Dalager as soon as possible.

Additional fund-raising activity is also planned.

TRF plans Skater Appreciation Day activities Monday

Seventh annual Thief River Falls Park & Recreation-sponsored Skater Appreciation Day will be held Monday, March 21, at the Hock Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Free skating sessions, food and door prizes will be offered to boys and girls preschool through grade 12.

Preschool through grade 5 skaters will be on the ice from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Grades 6-through-12 will skate from 5:15 to 6:45 p.m.

Chiodo is selected Prowlers' MVP

Stephanie Wold; seventh grader Nicola Kopari; plus student managers Richard Lyman, Vicki Bitzegaio, Angeline Gunstad, Tracy Koivisto, Lori Risdal, Kelly Olson, and Jessica Pream.

The Prowlers struggled through a 3-19 season this winter, beating only Warroad, Marshall County Central and Detroit Lakes.

A 27.3 percent shooting figure from the floor as a team was the main culprit, said Thief River Falls coach Sally Wiltse. "When you look at the numbers, it's pretty apparent where the problem and solution is," offered Wiltse. And the only way to turn it around, she said, is a committment to off-season work on proper shooting technique.

However, lack of success in the won-loss department shouldn't take away from the positive benefits of participation in an extra-curricular activity, explained Wiltse. "Our record wasn't so good, but there were a lot of good things that happened during the year," she said. "The kids worked really hard. The effort was there. They kept a very positive practice attitude."

Caps pick Bergland on waivers from Lightning

Washington claimed Thief River Falls' Tim Bergland, a right wing, on waivers from Tampa Bay in a National Hockey League transaction announced Thursday.

Bergland was originally drafted by the Washington organization after completing his high school hockey career with the Prowlers. He played four years at the University of Minnesota before signing with Washington, where he spent most of his time in the minor leagues.

Selected by Tampa Bay in the NHL expansion draft two years ago, Bergland alternated between the Lightning and their International Hockey League Atlanta team in 1992-93, and at the start of the 1993-94 campaign before he finally settled into a regular Tampa Bay shift a month or so into the current season.

March was scheduled as National Kidney Month

Many Americans are unaware of how important two small organs — the kidneys — are to good health. The kidneys perform many vital functions such as filtering waste products and excess fluid from the blood. Diseased kidneys may lose their ability to clear the blood of wastes, which then build up in the body, causing sickness and even death. While treatments such as dialysis and kidney transplantation are avilable to help people who have lost their kidney function, in many cases, kidney disease can be prevented.

"During March, National Kidney Month, the National Kidney Foundation encourages all Americans to learn about how their kidneys keep them health and about how they can help to prevent serious kidney disease from affecting their health or the health of a loved one," said Dr. Thomas K. Slack, president of the National Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest.

The two leading causes of end-stage kidney failure, which requires dialysis treatments or kidney transplantation to maintain life, are diabetes and high blood pressure. However, these two disorders can be treated, and in many cases, the associated kidney disease can be prevented or slowed down.

"The National Kidney Foundation encourages all Americans to have their blood pressure checked every six months," recommended Dr. Slack. It is also important to know the early warning signs of kidney disease: burning or difficulty during urination; the need to urinate more often, especially at night; blood in the urine; puffiness or swelling of hands or feet or around eyes; pain in the back or side blow the ribs; high blood pressure.

"Not everyone who has one or more of these symptoms has kidney disease," commented Dr. Slack. "However, it is important to check with your doctor if you do have any of them." More than 20 million Americans have some type of kidney or urologic disease, and millions more are at risk. Your doctor can tell whether you have kidney disease by doing simple blood and urine tests.

"While medical scientists have learned a great deal about the kidneys and kidney disease, there is still much to learn and a need for continued support of research," said Dr. Slack. For additional information about the kidneys and about kidney and urologic diseases, contact the National Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest at (612) 337-7300 or write to 920 South 7th Street, Minneapolis, MN 55415.

The National Kidney Foundation of the Upper Midwest is one of 52 Affiliates of the National Kidney Foundation, Inc., which helps more Americans prevent, treat and cure kidney and urologic diseases than any other voluntary health organization through its programs in research, patient and community services, public and professional education and organ donation. The work of the Foundation is funded entirely by public donations.

Achievement of students noted at St. Bernard's

To recognize St. Bernard's school students for their achievements in several areas, a spaghetti supper with awards program was recently attended by more than 300 parents and parishioners in the church basement.

Among those recognized were the entire fourth, fifth and sixth grade classes for having 100 per cent of those class members named to the school's honor roll. Names of the honor roll students as provided to The Times were published in a separate story in the March 2 issue.

Dr. Dixie Klein, principal at the school, attributed the high percentage of achievement to the limit on class sizes and individualized attention that students get from each teacher.

"There is some good teaching happening, giving students some excellent opportunities for learning," she said. "The students, parents and teachers involved in the program should be very proud of this success."

Shelly Hammer, religion and social studies teacher, described the success of the departmentalized fourth, fifth and sixth grade program as "amazing."

Sarah Altepeter was recognized for having the largest number of sales in the recent pizza drive conducted as a fund raiser for the school with Joanna Brunkhorst and Tate Sorvig in second and third places. Nearly 1,000 of the total 5,000 pizzas sold were sold by the high-selling trio. They will have their names engraved on a plaque to be hung in the school hallway.

Mary Walseth, whose son Brian was winner of the school spelling bee, was presented with his trophy.

Recipients of Student of the Month awards—selected in pre-kindergarten through sixth grades by their classroom teachers—were introduced. They include: Pre-kindergarten, David Barry and Elizabeth Cox; Kindergarten, Kjelsy Loeffler; Grade 1, Kurt Stalboerger, Taylor Breitenfeldt and Zachary Skalsky; Grade 2, Bethany Hermanson, Corey Thorstad and Logan Kalinowski; Grade 3, Rebecca Delmore, Ashley Olson and Laura Bruggeman; Grade 4, Beth Padilla, Tommy Greelis, Jeremiah Hunt, Cheryl Schob and Stacy Harbott; Grade 5, Laura Schmitz and Katy Hook; and Grade 6, Jessica Schmaltz and Rebecca Leach.

The sixth grade won the Spirit Award for Catholic Schools Week. Class members are Jessica Altendorf, Lance Butler, Jeanette Hasby, Rebecca Leach, Jessica Schmaltz, Brian Walseth and Cody Wichterman.

The Potato Bug brought prosperity

The orange colored engine was utilized on the Goodridge run for the entire length of time the railroad was in Goodridge. The engine, perhaps because of its color, was nicknamed the "Potato Bug."

By 1917, there were three trains a day running between Goodridge and Thief River Falls. The first train would arrive in Goodridge about 8:30, tooting its whistle to warn people off the crossroads and also to make sure they were "up and at 'em." Other runs were made at noon and in the evening.

The train took about an hour to travel between Thief River Falls and Goodridge, stopping four miles out of Thief River Falls and then every mile along the way. The Mavie and Silverton elevators were stopping places. Young people would often take the train to go to school in Thief River Falls in the morning and then return to Goodridge on the evening run.

The train depot came to be a hub of activity in the town of Goodridge. Charles Josephson grew up about a block away from the depot. "I walked past it for 40 years," he said. Both he and Oliver McEnelly remember that the depot had the best magazine and book selection in Goodridge. "I used to buy western books there. There was no other place to buy those type of books in town," said McEnelly.

Josephson told the story of a "near robbery" at the depot in the gangster years of the 1930's:

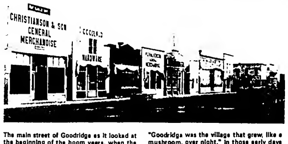
"Two men tried to hold it up. They came in a model A and I saw those two guys standing around. I wondered about them but I just figured they were waiting for something.

"The depot agent was up on the roof, under the eaves, and they stood around and waited. But he didn't come down — he was doing something up there.

"I saw that the front license plate on the car was turned up and then I looked and saw the back one was covered with mud. I didn't think much about that until afterward.

"Finally the guys left and later we heard that Korstad's Grocery store in Highlanding had been held up later that day by two guys in a Model A. Korstad said they had a .45 revolver they pointed at him. He said, 'That was the biggest gun I ever saw!'"

R. H. "Mac" McDonald was the second depot agent to serve in Goodridge, taking over from William Vaughan who vacated the post in February of 1916. McDonald then remained as depot agent until the railroad line closed on March 15, 1940.



The closing of the railroad line was the end of the boom years in Goodridge. Goodridge Area Historical Society President, Norma Hanson, said, "Goodridge was a very flourishing town, but when the railroad terminated, it went down."

After the railroad was discontinued, the depot was sold to the city of Grygla. Grygla Postmaster F.A. Brown bought the depot to be Grygla's post office.

This winter, the old Goodridge depot came back to Goodridge. The symbol of the town's thriving railroad years is once again a part of the town. The depot now has a permanent home in Tvedt Historical Park (named after Goodridge's first mayor, A. C. Tvedt).

Norma Hanson said the Historical Society plans to fix up the building as soon as possible, painting and cleaning it inside and out. The Society is in the process of gathering ideas on how the building should be used, but has not decided anything yet. Plans are that the building will be ready in time for the big Fourth of July celebration this summer in Goodridge.

(Suggestion for this story was submitted by Norma Hanson of Goodridge. It will be considered for the Northern Watch Contest for Story Idea of the Month for March.)

The main street of Goodridge as it looked at the beginning of the boom years, when the railroad brought a population explosion and prosperity to the town. Melvin Stephanson, early entrepreneur in the town, said that "Goodridge was the village that grew, like a mushroom, over night." In those early days According to Stephenson, Goodridge was nicknamed "The White Village" because all buildings and houses were painted white.

This picture shows "The Potato Bug" standing in front of the depot about 1915, the year that Goodridge was incorporated as a town. The potato bug engine was nicknamed for its bright orange color. The brightly colored engine was used for the Thief River Falls to Goodridge run for all of the 26 years the railroad was active in Goodridge. The depot was returned to Goodridge this winter after being used as the Grygla post office for nearly 50 years. It will be renovated and repainted and become an attraction at Tvedt Historical park in town.

Jury finds Goodridge man not guilty of assault charges

At about noon Thursday, a jury of seven women and five men found Richard Shane Paulson of Goodridge not guilty on all three counts of second degree assault.

Trial for Paulson began Tuesday in a Ninth District courtroom in Pennington county. Paulson was charged with three counts of second degree assault in connection with an incident in Goodridge on November 13, 1993. It was alleged that during an altercation between Paulson's friend and another man, Paulson pulled out a rifle and fired a shot into the air and then pointed it in the direction of another man. All but one of the witnesses at the trial testified that they had observed Paulson in a wrecker, but weren't sure where the gunshot came from. In addition to the evidence presented, the jury had to deal with issues of Paulson's intent, and whether the alleged victims feared harm.

Paulson's attorney was Neil McEwen and Shaw McCabe of Thief River Falls. Assistant County Attorney Al Rogalla prosecuted the case.

Rogalla was disappointed in the outcome, but added that he will continue to vigorously prosecute cases that involve the use of a weapon to settle a dispute.

Stolen pickup goes for quite a ride

Alvarado — A 1985 Chevrolet pickup stolen from the Gary Rivard residence in rural Alvarado was found burned up in a ditch near Munich, ND. The pickup was stolen February 25 and driven to Webster, ND, where the driver hit a stop sign, a grain truck, an automobile and a grain evacuator, causing about $2,500 in damages. The Ramsey county sheriff's department said the driver of the pickup apparently lost control on a curve and went into the ditch. The pickup caught fire when the driver tried to drive it out of the ditch. Investigators are looking into a report that a woman in a light-colored vehicle was seen driving behind the pickup in Webster. They believe that the second vehicle may be somehow involved in the incident.

Immunization clinics slated

Immunization clinics will be held by Marshall County Nursing Service at five locations in Marshall county in early to mid April, according to Nancy Maurstad, RN, at the nursing service office in Warren.

Clinics will be held Tuesday, April 5, at the Newfolden Community Center; Friday, April 8, at the Middle River Community Center (please note change from normal first Wednesday of the month); and Thursday, April 14, at the Grygla Civic Building, all from 9 to 11 a.m.

Clinics will also be held Friday, April 15, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Marshall County Nursing Service office in Warren (this is a newly-added clinic) and Monday, April 18, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren.

The vaccine used is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community based clinics. There will be a $4 fee for administering the vaccine but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

Parents are to bring their infants to their family physicians for the initial DTP and oral polio immunization or bring a signed referral from the physician indicating the immunization is to be given at one of the nursing service clinics.

"We also want to make it known that immunization services given at these public clinics should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician," Maurstad said.

"Please bring your child's immunization record with you each time you bring your child for a shot. Immunizations will not be given unless the immunization record is presented or it is the first immunization to be received."

Shown plotting coordinates for a training mission called a Blue Cap S.A.R. (search and rescue) are members of the Northwest Minnesota Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol located out of Thief River Falls. The CAP members will attempt to locate transmissions from an emergency locator transmitter placed in an ultra light airplane after being told only the section number where the plane was "downed." Above are Civil Air Patrol members (left to right) Wayne Schindler, Roland Wold and Hal Waale.

Civil Air Patrol squadron responds to area needs

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

"An emergency locator transmitter is going off in northern Minnesota. We need the Civil Air Patrol to respond."

Dave Odette, Squadron Commander of the local Civil Air Patrol (CAP) unit, received the call in Thief River Falls at 7:45 p.m. from the Emergency Services Coordinator in Minneapolis. The Minnesota coordinator had received notification of the emergency from the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois, who received the radio signal from a satellite that picked up the emergency locator transmitter (ELT) signal from the Roosevelt-Swift area.

Odette immediately notified the Communications Officer, Hardy Hodge, who called members of the local Civil Air Patrol to see who could answer the emergency call. He notified the Emergency Services Coordinator that four members of the local Civil Air Patrol would be responding.

The men left their homes and families and rushed to the airport, one to pilot the airplane, another to read the directional instruments, and a third to be a visual ground observer.

An ELT is used to locate downed aircraft. All aircraft carry ELTs, which emit radio signals when they are disturbed. The radio signals beam to a satellite and the satellite signal is received at the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center at Scott Air Force Base, IL.

In a short time, the ELT was located, but it was inaccessible to the aircraft. The sheriff's department was contacted and a ground search was instigated according to directions from the CAP plane.

The ELT was found, still firmly attached to a farmer's ski plane. The farmer had landed the ski plane in a field and the hard landing had set off the delicate locator mechanism of the ELT.

Yes, as you can see, there is a Civil Air Patrol in the Thief River Falls area and it is active. It is called the Northwest Minnesota Composite Squadron and has 25 members. The squadron organized in March of 1992 and became a chartered CAP national organization July 1, 1992.

The national Civil Air Patrol was created as part of the Civil Defense Department by formal order on December 1, 1941. It was the product of the tense international situation prior to World War II when Axis forces were taking over much of the world.

Civilian aircraft flights were curtailed during the pre-war years from 1939 to 1941. Civilian pilots were concerned. They felt that civil air strength could be used to great advantage in a war. They wanted to help in the defense of the nation and many could not serve in the armed forces because of age or physical condition or perhaps for some other reason.

In 1938, Gill Robb Wilson, an aviation writer, saw a need for and

Athletic trainer serves college, high school

George Judd will cover athletic events and assist with evaluation and treatment during scheduled hours

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Athletes and coaches at Northland Community College and in School District 564 have access to an athletic trainer to assist in prevention, evaluation and treatment of athletic injuries with the recent arrival of George Judd.

Judd has been hired by Northwest Medical Center and Dakota Clinic Thief River Falls to join the Thief River Sports Medicine team which also includes Dr. James Langland and physical therapist Bonnie Davidson.

His responsibilities will include coverage of varsity athletic events at the college and high school as well as scheduled hours at these two sites for evaluation and treatment of athletic injuries.

A graduate of Valley City State University in the early 1970s with a degree in education, Judd taught school and served as a coach in football, track and wrestling at several North Dakota schools over a 12-year period.

The Potato Bug brought prosperity

[illegible]

The [illegible] engine was utilized on the Goodridge run for the entire length of time the railroad was in Goodridge. The engine, perhaps because of its color, was nicknamed the "Potato Bug."

By 1917, there were three trains a day running between Goodridge and Thief River Falls. The first train would arrive in Goodridge about 8:30, tooting its whistle to warn people off the crossroads and also to make sure they were "up and at em." Other runs were made at noon and in the evening.

The train took about an hour to travel between Thief River Falls and Goodridge, stopping four miles out of Thief River Falls and then every mile along the way. The Mavie and Silverton elevators were stopping places. Young people would often take the train to go to school in Thief River Falls in the morning and then return to Goodridge on the evening run.

The train depot came to be a hub of activity in the town of Goodridge. Charles Josephson grew up about a block away from the depot. "I walked past it for 40 years," he said. Both he and Oliver McEnelly remember that the depot had the best magazine and book selection in Goodridge. "I used to buy western books there. There was no other place to buy those type of books in town," said McEnelly.

Josephson told the story of a "near-robbery" at the depot in the gangster years of the 1930s.

"Two men tried to hold it up. They came in a model A and I saw those two guys standing around. I wondered about them but I just figured they were waiting for something."

"The depot agent was up on the roof, under the eaves, and they stood around and waited. But he didn't come down — he was doing something up there.

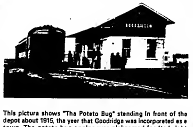
"I saw that the front license plate on the car was turned up and then I looked and saw the back one was covered with mud. I didn't think much about that until afterward.

"Finally the guys left and later we heard that Korstad's Grocery store in Highlanding had been held up later that day by two guys in a Model A. Korstad said they had a .45 revolver they pointed at him. He said, 'That was the biggest gun I ever saw!'"

R. H. "Mac" McDonald was the second depot agent to serve in Goodridge, taking over from William Vaughan who vacated the post in February of 1916. McDonald then remained as depot agent until the railroad line closed on March 15, 1940.

The closing of the railroad line was the end of the boom years in Goodridge. Goodridge Area Historical Society President, Norma Hanson, said, "Goodridge was a very flourishing town, but when the railroad terminated, it went down."

After the railroad was discontinued, the depot was sold to the city of Grygla. Grygla Postmaster F.A. Brown bought the depot to be Grygla's post office.



This winter, the old Goodridge depot came back to Goodridge. The symbol of the town's thriving railroad years is once again a part of the town. The depot now has a permanent home in Tvedt Historical Park (named after Goodridge's first mayor, A. C. Tvedt).

Norma Hanson said the Historical Society plans to fix up the building as soon as possible, painting and cleaning it inside and out. The Society is in the process of gathering ideas on how the building should be used, but has not decided anything yet. Plans are that the building will be ready in time for the big Fourth of July celebration this summer in Goodridge.

(Suggestion for this story was submitted by Norma Hanson of Goodridge. It will be considered for the Northern Watch Contest for Story Idea of the Month for March.)

The main street of Goodridge as it looked at the beginning of the boom years, when the railroad brought a population explosion and prosperity to the town. Melvin Stephanson, early entrepreneur in the town, said that "Goodridge was the village that grew like a mushroom, over night." In those early days According to Stephenson, Goodridge was nicknamed "The White Village" because all buildings and houses were painted white.

This picture shows "The Potato Bug" standing in front of the depot about 1915, the year that Goodridge was incorporated as a town. The potato bug engine was nicknamed for its bright orange color. The brightly colored engine was used for the Thief River Falls to Goodridge run for all of the 26 years the railroad was active in Goodridge. The depot was returned to Goodridge this winter after being used as the Grygla post office for nearly 50 years. It will be renovated and repainted and become an attraction at Tvedt Historical park in town.

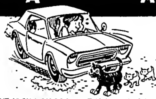
Jury finds Goodridge man not guilty of assault charges

At about noon Thursday, a jury of seven women and five men found Richard Shane Paulson of Goodridge not guilty on all three counts of second degree assault.



Trial for Paulson began Tuesday in a Ninth District courtroom in Pennington county. Paulson was charged with three counts of second degree assault in connection with an incident in Goodridge on November 13, 1993. It was alleged that during an altercation between Paulson's friend and another man, Paulson pulled out a rifle and fired a shot into the air and then pointed it in the direction of another man. All but one of the witnesses at the trial testified that they had observed Paulson in a wrecker, but weren't sure where the gunshot came from. In addition to the evidence presented, the jury had to deal with issues of Paulson's intent, and whether the alleged victims feared harm.

Paulson's attorney was Neil McEwen and Shaw McCabe of Thief River Falls. Assistant County Attorney Al Rogalla prosecuted the case.

Rogalla was disappointed in the outcome, but added that he will continue to vigorously prosecute cases that involve the use of a weapon to settle a dispute.

Stolen pickup goes for quite a ride

Alvarado — A 1985 Chevrolet pickup stolen from the Gary Rivard residence in rural Alvarado was found burned up in a ditch near Munich, ND. The pickup was stolen February 25 and driven to Webster, ND, where the driver hit a stop sign, a grain truck, an automobile and a grain evacuator, causing about $2,500 in damages. The Ramsey county sheriff's department said the driver of the pickup apparently lost control on a curve and went into the ditch. The pickup caught fire when the driver tried to drive it out of the ditch. Investigators are looking into a report that a woman in a light-colored vehicle was seen driving behind the pickup in Webster. They believe that the second vehicle may be somehow involved in the incident.

Immunization clinics slated

Immunization clinics will be held by Marshall County Nursing Service at five locations in Marshall county in early to mid April, according to Nancy Maurstad, RN, at the nursing service office in Warren.

Clinics will be held Tuesday, April 5, at the Newfolden Community Center; Friday, April 8, at the Middle River Community Center (please note change from normal first Wednesday of the month); and Thursday, April 14, at the Grygla Civic Building, all from 9 to 11 a.m.

Clinics will also be held Friday, April 15, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Marshall County Nursing Service office in Warren (this is a newly-added clinic) and Monday, April 18, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren.

The vaccine used is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community based clinics. There will be a $4 fee for administering the vaccine but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

Parents are to bring their infants to their family physicians for the initial DTP and oral polio immunization or bring a signed referral from the physician indicating the immunization is to be given at one of the nursing service clinics.

"We also want to make it known that immunization services given at these public clinics should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician," Maurstad said.

"Please bring your child's immunization record with you each time you bring your child for a shot. Immunizations will not be given unless the immunization record is presented or it is the first immunization to be received."

Shown plotting coordinates for a training mission called a Blue Cap S.A.R. (search and rescue) are members of the Northwest Minnesota Composite Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol located out of Thief River Falls. The CAP members will attempt to locate transmissions from an emergency locator transmitter placed in an ultra light airplane after being told only the section number where the plane was "downed." Above are Civil Air Patrol members (left to right) Wayne Schindler, Roland Wold and Hal Waale.

Civil Air Patrol squadron responds to area needs

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

"An emergency locator transmitter is going off in northern Minnesota. We need the Civil Air Patrol to respond."

Dave Odette, Squadron Commander of the local Civil Air Patrol (CAP) unit, received the call in Thief River Falls at 7:45 p.m. from the Emergency Services Coordinator in Minneapolis. The Minnesota coordinator had received notification of the emergency from the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois, who received the radio signal from a satellite that picked up the emergency locator transmitter (ELT) signal from the Roosevelt-Swift area.

Odette immediately notified the Communications Officer, Hardy Hedge, who called members of the local Civil Air Patrol to see who could answer the emergency call. He notified the Emergency Services Coordinator that four members of the local Civil Air Patrol would be responding.

The men left their homes and families and rushed to the airport, one to pilot the airplane, another to read the directional instruments, and a third to be a visual ground observer.

An ELT is used to locate downed aircraft. All aircraft carry ELTs, which emit radio signals when they are disturbed. The radio signals beam to a satellite and the satellite signal is received at the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center at Scott Air Force Base, IL.

In a short time, the ELT was located, but it was inaccessible to the aircraft. The sheriff's department was contacted and a ground search was instigated according to directions from the CAP plane.

The ELT was found, still firmly attached to a farmer's ski plane. The farmer had landed the ski plane in a field and the hard landing had set off the delicate locator mechanism of the ELT.

Yes, as you can see, there is a Civil Air Patrol in the Thief River Falls area and it is active. It is called the Northwest Minnesota Composite Squadron and has 25 members. The squadron organized in March of 1992 and became a chartered CAP national organization July 1, 1992.

The national Civil Air Patrol was created as part of the Civil Defense Department by formal order on December 1, 1941. It was the product of the tense international situation prior to World War II when Axis forces were taking over much of the world.

Civilian aircraft flights were curtailed during the pre-war years from 1939 to 1941. Civilian pilots were concerned. They felt that civil air strength could be used to great advantage in a war. They wanted to help in the defense of the nation and many could not serve in the armed forces because of age or physical condition or perhaps for some other reason.

In 1938, Gill Robb Wilson, an aviation writer, saw a need for and

Athletes and coaches at Northland Community College and in School District 564 have access to an athletic trainer to assist in prevention, evaluation and treatment of athletic injuries with the recent arrival of George Judd.

Refresher in fractions at Goodridge

A refresher course in the use of fractions will be presented in three one-hour sessions from 7 to 8 p.m. March 29, April 5 and 12 at Faith Lutheran Church in Goodridge.

There is no charge for the course which is offered through Northwest Educational Cooperative Service Unit (NWECSU) and will be instructed by Ruby Sundberg of Grygla. It is open to anyone 16 years of age or older who is not currently enrolled in high school.

"We don't use fractions as much as we do addition and multiplication, so we tend to forget how to use them," Sundberg said. "Students also seem to have a hard time learning fractions in school.

"This three-week course will help solve these problems by helping adults to learn or re-learn skills with fractions. It will provide new ideas and activities to help learn and remember these skills. They can also be used at home to help children or grandchildren understand fractions better."

First class will be on getting reacquainted with fractions, the second class on adding and subtracting fractions and the last on multiplication and division of fractions.

For more information call Rudy Sundberg at 294-6514.

CORRECTION

Charles Josephson noticed an error in last week's story about the Goodridge depot. He said students riding the train came from the Mavie area and rode the train to attend school at Goodridge, not Thief River Falls. He said they would arrive in Goodridge at 8:30 a.m. and leave on the 4:30 p.m. train, an ideal schedule for them since school ran from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Times regrets the error.

SOUPCON

– Sherry LaCoursiere

Believe it or not, I usually write three or four recipes each week for this column. However, often the recipes will not get printed because of space problems in the Watch. That is also the reason that Soupcon is sometimes somewhat mixed up. This week I'll try to give you a couple of new Spam recipes, along with the rest of last week's Spam recipes and hope they don't get too muddled.

Here's an all-in-one dish that is loaded with good things for you:

SPAM SKILLET CASSEROLE

2 baking potatoes, cut into 1/8 inch slices
1 (12 ounce) can Spam lite luncheon meat, cubed
1 cup thinly sliced carrots
1 cup thinly sliced onions
1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon pepper
3/4 teaspoon dried whole thyme
1 (16 ounce) can no-salt-added green beans, drained
1 (16 ounce) can no-salt-added whole tomatoes, drained and chopped
1 (5 1/2 ounce) can no-salt-added V-8
Butter flavor cooking spray

Cook potatoes in boiling water 3 minutes or until crisp-tender. Drain.

In skillet, cook Spam until browned; remove from skillet. Add carrots to skillet and saute 4-5 minutes, stirring frequently.

Add onion, celery and garlic and saute until vegetables are tender.

Combine flour, pepper and thyme. Stir into vegetable mixture and cook 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Add Spam, green beans, tomato and V-8. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Remove skillet from heat. Arrange potato slices over mixture to cover completely. Spray potato slices with cooking spray.

Broil 6 inches from heat for 10 minutes or until golden.

(Recipe serves 6 with each serving containing 245 calories, 13-g protein, 8 g fat and 683 mg sodium.)

SPAM PINWHEELS

1 (1 pound) loaf frozen bread dough, thawed

1/4 cup pizza sauce
1 (7 ounce) can Spam, cubed
2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pepperoncini Pizza sauce

Roll bread dough out on lightly floured surface to 12 inch square. Brush pizza sauce over dough.

Sprinkle Spam, cheese and pepperoncini over dough. Roll, jelly roll fashion, pinching seam to seal (do not seal ends). Cut roll into 16 slices.

Place slices, cut side down, on greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise in warm place 45 minutes.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Bake 20-25 minutes or until golden. Serve immediately with pizza sauce.

This Spam soup makes a hearty meal:

SPAM CORN CHOWDER

1 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups diced, peeled potatoes
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 (17 ounce) cans cream style corn
2 cups milk
1 (12 ounce) can Spam

In 3 quart saucepan, saute onion in butter over medium heat 5-10 minutes, until golden. Add potatoes and green pepper and cook and stir 2 minutes.

Add corn and milk. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender, stirring occasionally. Stir in Spam and simmer 2 minutes longer.

CHEESY COUNTRY SPAM PUFF

6 slices white bread, torn into small pieces
1 1/4 cups milk
3 eggs
1 tablespoon spicy mustard
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 (12 ounce) can Spam luncheon meat, cubed
2 cups shredded sharp Cheddar cheese, divided
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Heat oven to 375 degrees.

In large bowl, combine bread, milk, eggs, mustard, garlic powder and paprika. With electric mixer, beat at medium speed 1 minute or until smooth.

Stir in Spam, 1 cup shredded Cheddar and onion.

Pour into greased 12x8 inch baking dish. Bake 25 minutes. Top with remaining Cheddar and Monterey Jack and bake 5 minutes longer until cheese is melted.

Let stand 10 minutes before serving.

A reader has asked for crock pot recipes and I would like some too. Does anyone have some good crock pot recipes they would like to share? Send them to me at P.O. Box 100, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

To The Editor:

Maybe Minnesota should change its motto from land of 10,000 lakes to land of 10,000 gods. Apparently you seem to think you're better than your fellow countrymen.

I moved here not long ago from northern California in hopes of finding a place with a sense of community, caring and understanding and without the fast pace where money and prestige are more important than family and friends.

After reading your opinion in the March 12 editorial, and hearing enough comments from the Minnesotans I run into every day, I am not so sure I have found such a place. Mr. Riesen stated that the citizens of the quake zone are inconvenienced while Minnesota and Dakotas have blocked roads and interrupted power for days and that's real and it's life and death.

I have enclosed some clippings from the "inconvenienced" quake zone. I have yet to see this kind of inconvenience here. You're right, the snow and sleet is real, it's hard and it is life and death. It's also expected and dealt with every winter. Major earthquakes are not. There is no way you can expect and deal with a "big one."

You're talking roads out for months or even years. You're talking about so many homes destroyed that even if everyone with a livable house took in someone without one there would still be homeless people left over.

I'm not saying you should run out and make out a check or send a box of food, but a derogatory article in the paper is not called for either. You are right, unless you have family there it doesn't matter, but understanding and compassion does. I bet you felt the same with the flooding in Mississippi and Missouri last year, too. I am afraid of that kind of attitude.

Maybe if push came to shove, and an unexpected disaster hit, the compassion you claim to have for your state and community might shrink even more to only include immediate family or even just yourself. Californians are really no different than you, and you're no different from them. Minnesotans we run into here now don't know we're from California until we tell them. Think about it.

Sincerely,
Jessie Lambert

Making the case for Highways 59 and 11

by David Hill
Associate Editor

The United States Department of Transportation has proposed designation of a National Highway System (NHS). It will be composed of the nation's most important highways, approximately 158,700 miles. It will include just four per cent of all U.S. roads; yet, it will carry 40 per cent of all highway traffic and 75 per cent of heavy truck traffic. Development of this program will help Congress and transportation officials direct billions of dollars annually to these important roads.

Highway 59 and Minnesota Highway 11 have been left off this important map. This leaves a large chunk of northwestern Minnesota without any roads on the NHS map. If the current NHS designation map passes through Congress, as is, it will leave northwestern Minnesota without a way to make the kind of repairs needed to provide a safe and efficient mode of travel.

There doesn't seem to be any clear indication of who left those roads off the map of NHS designated roads or why they were left off the map. My personal feeling is that someone was faced with making a difficult decision and decided to make cuts where the political backlash wouldn't be severe.

It's time to stop looking for someone to blame, however, and start looking for ways to make sure the two roads are put on the NHS map. Congress is expected to begin hearings on the NHS proposal this spring. Time is growing short.

These two roads are major arteries to the region, carrying farm and manufacturing products to markets, commuters to work, raw materials to factories and tourists to recreational destinations. Without safe and accessible roads, the adverse impact on jobs in an already poor economy could be devastating.

It is of international importance that Highway 59 be put on the NHS map. Canadians are currently making plans to expand and improve Highway 59. About three or four weeks ago Canada also made the border crossing on Highway 59 at Lancaster-Tolstoi a 24-hour crossing. The United States border crossing is open only 16 hours a day, and that was achieved only after a difficult struggle by residents of the area. It doesn't make sense to leave Highway 59 off the NHS designation and the border crossing at 16 hours a day when Canadians are interested in trade and making improvements to the road.

One of the goals of the NHS is to create a new trade corridor running from Mexico to Canada. Highway 59 is an important route in that trade corridor. A large part of the road is on the NHS map. Why isn't a road so important to trade in the United States connected to Canada?

Individuals who feel as I do about Highways 59 and 11 being left off the designated NHS map should write:

Justice demands a price

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Anyone who has any dealings with the justice system is aware of the special challenges involved with providing that justice. This year, the state judicial system is proposing that more judges be appointed to handle the burgeoning caseload.

Because the number of judges has not kept pace with the growing caseload, judges are spending significantly less time per case in virtually all areas of criminal, juvenile and family law. A recent study of how judges spend their time raises many questions about whether citizens are really getting the justice they demand and deserve from the courts. In 1992, for example, judges spent, on the average, only 11.3 minutes on each misdemeanor DWI case, 20.5 minutes on each domestic abuse matter, and five minutes per juvenile traffic case.

Chief Justice A.M. Keith suggested in a letter to police chiefs across the state that, if judges spent the same amount of time per case today on criminal and juvenile matters as they did in 1986, 22 more judges would be required to handle the increased caseload.

The courts are asking for eight new judges and enough funding to hire eight retired judges to help reduce the caseload. The request targets districts in the "greatest distress" — the First, Fourth, Tenth and Seventh judicial districts. Northwestern Minnesota is in the Ninth judicial district.

Personally, I agree with the proposal, but would also like to see more judges assigned to the Ninth judicial district. The Ninth judicial district is the largest in the state. People from the Twin Cities tend to forget the kind of distances involved. These are not the years of judges riding from community to community by horseback, but judges in the Ninth judicial district spend a great deal of time driving from community to community. I would rather see judges being paid for sitting behind the bench rather than the wheel of a car. And if the state does not wish to provide the district with more judges, I would like to see the state implement some of the innovative techniques being proposed, such as linking courts to interactive television systems.

In the past several years citizens have been demanding tougher penalties for individuals convicted of crimes and more police officers to address the perceived need for additional law enforcement. Now it's time to step forward and provide the judiciary with the tools it needs to handle the increased caseload.

CAP squadron ready to serve the needs of northwest Minnesota

Texas where the wolf population had reached dangerous proportions and was killing beef cattle that a rationing nation needed.

Not all of CAP's activities were in the air. Members guarded airfields and other installations and patrolled power lines and waterways against saboteurs. When natural disasters occurred, they helped the Red Cross and others to evacuate people and administer aid.

May 26, 1948, the Civil Air Patrol became an official auxiliary of the United States Air Force. It is presently the only congressionally mandated auxiliary of the military in the United States.

At the present time, the Civil Air Patrol is organized into eight geographic regions, in which each state is classifed as a wing and then subdivided into groups, squadrons and flights, according to the organizational need. It is headed by a national board whose head is the National Commander. The Executive Director of the board is an active duty Air Force officer and all other members are civilian CAP officers.

The Civil Air Patrol provides voluntary, benevolent and noncombatant services to the country. Specially trained volunteer members work with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the American Red Cross, the Salvation Army and other state and local emergency management offices in civil defense and national disastes relief.

Dave Odette said the local squadron has three goals or jobs. The first is to provide search and rescue, the second is to form a Cadet program, and the third is to provide aerospace education to schools and the community, as well as to members and Cadets.

Members may be called anywhere in the United States to help in disasters or catastrophes such as floods, earthquakes, tornadoes or hurricanes. Pilot members may be asked to perform courier and light corgo transport, carry blood or organ transplants or provide patient transportation and evacuation. Some units fly surveillance to assist customs in control of drug traffic.

Odette said the area unit does a lot of work with law enforcement. It flies searches for persons missing on land or water, and has helped search for elderly people, fishermen and a trapper who were missing. Members also helped in a search for a missing part from an airplane accident, as well as the Emergency Locator Transmitter in the Roosevelt area.

was instrumental in the formation of Civil Air Defense Services, formed to guard uninhabited stretches of coastline and vital installations against sabotage.

December 1, 1941, the Director of Civilian Defense, Fiorello LaGuardia, former New York City Mayor, signed the formal order creating the Civil Air Patrol. The day after the attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese, the CAP was placed under the command of the U.S. Army Air Corps with Gill Robb Wilson as executive offices.

During and after the World War II years, the CAP was active in locating and eliminating enemy submarines off the coast of the United States. It also helped to escort ships, flew search and rescue missions, carried cargo and mail for the air forces, transported military passengers, patrolled borders for spies, towed targets for air-to-air gunnery practice by fighter aircraft and anti-aircraft batteries and acted as night targets for searchlight and radas units.

At the same time, other CAP pilots and crews were flying missions which assisted the war effort either directly or indirectly. They flew blood bank mercy missions for the American Red Cross and other civilian agencies, looked for forest fires and suspected arsonists, flew mock raids to test blackout practices and air raid warning systems, supported bond drives, assisted in salvage collection drives and were even utilized in a "wolf patrol" in Hardy Hodge said the squadron was put on alert for the floods in the midwest last year, as well as for the California earthquake. Several CAP members from Minnesota responded to the call for help in fighting floods and left families and jobs to lend a hand in Missouri and Iowa.

Members also help with controlling traffic in times of disaster, bot at other times, as well. CAP members were active in tracking and counting the snowmobiles during last winter's snowmobile races. CAP members also helped to make last year's Triathlon safe by driving monitor vehicles and holding safety checks along the route. The local Triathlon was allowed to be sanctioned by the Triathlon Federation because trained CAP personnel were involved.

"I guess you can say that we do anything that will help fellow human beings," Odette said, "especially things that will help them and relieve suffering."

Odette pointed out that members of the Civil Air Patrol come from all walks of life. "We have members who work at all sorts of jobs. We have a dentist, an optometrist, a farmer, a Senator, businessmen, a clergyman, and many others from all types of professions. People think they have to be pilots to join the organization, but that isn't so. Only one-third of the members are pilots."

Although one would think it would be the case, CAP squadrons do not receive funding from the Air Force. The Air Force aids some units with donations of excess aircraft, motor vehicles, communications equipment, spare parts, rescue and safety equipment and office equipment and there is some funding available for training programs, but CAP members pay their own way. They use their own airplanes or use one that is shared with the Bemidji CAP (which they help pay insurance on) and pay their own way to meetings and training sessions, as well as their lodging and food. Nor are they paid for being members of the organization, Odette said. "We are a 100 percent volunteer organization."

The local CAP is in need of more members and Odette said there is room for anyone who wants to be a member. "The main thing for anyone who would like to be a member is that they have some time," he said. "Of course we can always use men and women with private pilot certificates, and right now we really need people who like to work with young people so we can start a Cadet program."

There are plans to start a CAP Cadet youth program in the future, if leaders can be found. Cadets are young members ages 13 (who have finished sixth grade) to 18. Emphasis is on individualized study, instruction and attainment.

Cadets learn to function in a military-type environment. They take part in all squadron activities, as well as physical fitness and moral leadership programs. Later they concentrate on subjects related to flight and aerospace and attend a CAP encampment. Many Cadets go on to college and pursue aerospace careers. By the time they have finished the four phases of the Cadet program, many have earned pilot certificates and all are advisors.

Odette said the squadron is looking for more people who are interested in helping the community. "We'll take anyone who can walk and breathe and can get around," he said. "There are [illegible] for everyone."

Anyone who is interested in learning more about the Civil Air Patrol or the Cadet program is invited to contact Hardy Hodge at 681-8386 or Dave Odette at 681-7729.

Judd becomes athletic trainer

tion.

Judd is the third person to work with the athletic training program since it was started in September of 1989. Tracy Bronken was the first trainer, followed by James Wedell in March of 1992. He left in early January this year.

Services of the athletic trainer are provided to Lincoln high school vasslty athletes and Northland Community College athletes free of individual charge. If they are referred for medical treatment or therapy the normal chasges for those procedures apply.

Judd says his services will apply to athletes participating in events such as high school varsity and college games and tournaments held at the schools.

Scheduled hours for the trainer are from 1 to 3 p.m. at Northland and 3 to 5 p.m. at Lincoln. He is at Northland most mornings from 8 a.m. to noon, although those hours are flexible. He is also frequently on duty during athletic contests.

The other Thief River Sports Medicine team members—Bonnie Davidson and Dr. Langland—make regulas visits to Lincoln high school from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and Northland from 5 to 6 p.m. each Monday. These visits are also free to the student athletes.

Decisions are made at these sessions on the most appropriate means to deal with injuries—either supervision by the trainer or therapy at the medical center. The trainer also is involved with recovery programs after the athletes leave the medical center.

Dr. Langland is also in attendance at varsity hockey games and both Lincoln and Northland football games.

Paul said in Romans 1:16 "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: For it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth."
The Word "Gospel" means Good News. Jesus preached good news to the people. He told them about salvation, healing, protection, deliverance, safety and a host of other good things.
If you believe in Christ, and are not ashamed of the Gospel, you will receive the good things of God.

Davis named top TRF wrestler

John Davis was the top award winner Tuesday as Thief River Falls capped its 1993-94 high school wrestling season with the Prowlers' annual recognition banquet.

Davis, a junior, was selected as the most valuable wrestler, earned a plaque as one of the Thief River Falls co-captains this winter, and was recognized for leading the Prowlers in wins, pins and takedowns.

Jon Parish, the lone senior on the roster, served as co-captain with Davis and was presented with a plaque.

Junior Jason Homme was named hardest worker.

Two other special awards went to junior Philip Nelson and sophomore Nick Dee.

Nelson was the recipient of the Oil Can Award, designed, said Thief River Falls coach John Anderson, for the wrestler who always has a smile on his face and is easy to work with.

Dee was named winner of the Irv Wilson Award, for the individual, said Anderson, with "wrestling in his blood; maybe not the most talented wrestler on the team, but someone who is hard-working and dedicated."

Participation certificates were presented to sophomore Justin Brunkhorst; freshmen Matt Homme, Adam Kuck and Jay Tanner; eighth graders Ryan Olson, Jay Radniecki, Joshua Stinson, Eric Thayer, and Ryan Viktora; seventh graders Greg Homme and Jeremy McClendon; plus sixth graders Jake Anderson, Nate Bierman, Daniel Grembowski, Tim Hruby, Dustin Miller, Jeff Lendobeja, Brent Nelson, Brock Nelson, Randy Nelson, Jonathan Pream, and Kyle Walseth.

The Prowlers were 4-14 in dual meet competition this year, but Anderson said the program's ongoing building process continues.

"We had a successful year," he said. "Just because we didn't have the wins doesn't mean we didn't work hard at it and make progress. The kids never quit. They never complained that they were being worked too hard. We weren't that far away in a lot of things. With all the juniors, sophomores and freshmen we have returning, we should be better next year."

The key to increasing the Thief River Falls win total, and improving the program image, explained Anderson, still rests with the younger wrestlers.

"We have to get over the stigma that wrestling is a second-class sport," said Anderson. "Wrestling might not be for everybody; but hockey isn't for everybody, either, and not everybody is built to be a basketball player. We have to get the kids into wrestling at a younger age, and have them work at it. We have enough good athletes in Thief River Falls to go around. Some of those good athletes have to realize, however, they may have to change sports. We want them in wrestling."

Special award winners at Tuesday's Thief River Falls wrestling banquet included, left to right, Nick Dee, Irv Wilson Award; Philip Nelson, Oil Can Award; Jason Homme, hardest worker; Jon Parish, captain's plaque; and John Davis, who was named most valuable, received a captain's plaque and was recognized as the team leader in wins, pins and take-downs.

Lokstad leads MCC seniors

Led by school scoring recordholder Sara Lokstad, a group of five seniors made the Marshall County Central girls title contenders in North Border Conference and Section 8A Sub-Section 4 high school basketball this winter.

The Nordics finished 19-5, sharing the conference title with Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, then reaching the sub-section tournament finals before losing to the Gators 54-50.

The 5-5 Lokstad, 5-8 Shanon Magner, 5-11 Wendy Inman, 5-7 Tara Underdahl, and 5-7 Jenny Taggart were the five seniors who were the backbone of the 1993-94 Nordics.

"It's the best bunch of seniors I've ever had an opportunity to work with," said Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde, who completed his 16th year in coaching. "I've had some very good kids over the years, but not five good basketball players like these kids. They're all great kids, and easy to work with. We'll definitely miss them."

Lokstad was the leader. Despite her short stature, she played inside, where her strength produced 1,443 career points – a school record. Breaking into the starting line-up near the end of her freshman season, Lokstad netted 98 points as a ninth grader, 448 as a sophomore, 463 as a junior, and 434 as a senior, despite near-constant double and trip-team coverage.

"Sara was really tough inside," pointed out Mjelde. "She had a real nice move to the basket. She took the ball to the basket real hard. One-on-one, there weren't many people who could stop her. If she would have been 4-5-inches taller, we would have been playing in the state tournament."

Lokstad was also a strong rebounder, and an excellent free throw shooter, noted Mjelde. Her inside game drew fouls and produced a bundle of opportunities at the free throw line – where she made 100 of 135 attempts this winter.

"Sara worked well with her teammates," mentioned Mjelde. "They got her the ball, and she got them a lot of assists."

A strong student-athlete, Lokstad was the Section 8A Sub-Section 4 girls Triple A Award winner for arts, academics and athletics.

"We had a very successful season," said Mjelde. "We were competitive in every game we played. Every coach sets preseason goals. I really thought we had a chance to play for a sub-section championship, and I thought we had a good shot at a conference title – something we hadn't accomplished in three years. We were able to meet those goals. We shared first place in the conference, and we were in the championship game right to the end. I think the kids advanced as far as they could."

While the seniors were the leaders, the Nordics also received big-time play from 5-10 sophomore Tricia Pederson, whose 11.7 scoring average ranked second to Lokstad's 18.1 points per game. Darlene Nelson a 5-9 sophomore, also played a key role off the bench.

"We certainly won't be the favorite next year, but we do have some talent coming back, and some younger kids have some promise," said Mjelde. "The key – and the key to any successful program – is how hard the kids work in the off-season."

Cota is named swimming MVP

Brad Cota picked up an arm-full of awards Tuesday at the 1993-94 Thief River Falls boys high school swimming banquet.

Cota, a state meet qualifier and the Prowlers' leading point-producer this winter, was voted most valuable, was selected hardest worker, received the Coaches Award, and was presented with a captain's plaque.

Ryan Browning also received a captain's plaque.

Aaron Sjaaheim was named most improved and Charley Follett was voted most spirited.

Special recognition on the junior varsity went to Zach Olson, Coaches Award; Wade Cota, most improved; and William Packard, hardest worker.

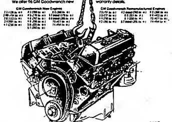
Athletic letters went to Browning and Cota; juniors Scott Fogarty, Tom Stumpf and Lyman; sophomores Chris Efta and Adams; freshmen Jason Curfman, Jarohmia Efta, Josh Engevik, Matt Gustafson, Mickey McEnelly, Chris Pribula, Follett, and Sjaaheim.

Participation certificates were presented to freshmen Alex Morken and Packard; eighth graders Nate Keller and Nick Tveitbakk; seventh graders Colin Browning and Eddie Swantek; sixth graders Bryan Bolstad, Cota and Olson; and student managers Sarah Harger and Amanda Clark.

The Prowlers were just 1-6 in dual-meet competition this winter, but the swimmers made consistent season-long improvements.

"It was a very successful season," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "We lost some real strong swimmers from the year before, but we still qualified the same number (8) of swimmers for section. We were young, but we made some radical improvements throughout the year – maybe the most I've ever seen. They became very competitive swimmers."



With just the two seniors on the 1993-94 roster, a bulk of the squad will be back next winter, but they'll still be young, warned Lokken. "The younger kids will be more experienced, but we're still a year or two away," he explained.

The graduation losses of Cota and Browning will be felt, noted Lokken. "We had two tremendous captains," he said. "Brad had an outstanding season. Ryan gave us some real versatility and was very competitive."

Mustangs put points on the board

Red Lake County Central played a lot of offense this year, but sometimes at the expense of defense, acknowledged Mustangs head coach Todd Fore as he looked back at the recently-completed 1993-94 boys high school basketball season.

Hitting the 70 point figure regularly and scoring in the 80's on occasion, the Mustangs started strong, winning 7 of their first 8 games and going 12-3 through early February. But a 3-5 finish, including a first round 62-59 Section 8A Sub-Section 3 loss to Warren-Alvarado, left the Oklee/Plummer cooperative 15-8 overall.

"The season went fairly well," said Fore. "There were a few more games we should have won, including the last one, but I suppose there were a few games we won where we could have lost, too."

The Mustangs averaged 67 points per game, led by 6-2 sophomore Aaron Chaput (19.4), 6-2 senior Ryan Salberg (11.8), 6-3 junior Aaron Rosten (11.1), and 6-0 sophomore Bryce Huotari (10.2).

"We could score," said Fore. "Our inside game was strong. But we had a little trouble with D. (defense)."

Fore was pleased with the effort from each player, but did cite performances of Huotari, who averaged less than two turnovers per game as a first-year varsity point guard; the season-long improvement shown by Rosten; and a strong finish by Chaput.

Graduation will take four seniors (Darrin Hofstad, Paul Melby, Aaron Olson, Salberg), but a pool of returning talent should keep the Mustangs going. "We've been competitive," noted Fore, "and we should be all right again next year. We'll have 4-5 good ball players to build around."

Seamless Aluminum Guttering, Heating, Air Conditioning
Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew...saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Making history fun

McIntosh — Marilyn Malmanger, a teacher at the Win-E-Mac school, brought Laura Ingalis Wilder's "Little House" books to life for Crookston's Highland elementary school children by dressing in the clothing of a pioneer woman as she presented the books at a special program sponsored by the Focus on Literacy Program. She also brings items from the past to show to children and provides old time songs and entertainment by Lloyd Wold of Fosston with his mandolin and Vernon Wold of Trail on guitar.

Five times two plus.. maybe more?

Detroit Lakes — Five sets of twins have been delivered so far in 1994 at St. Mary's Regional Health Center in Detroit Lakes. "We're having an interesting year," said Dr. Mary Oroth, an obstetrician with Dakota Clinic. "It does come in streaks." She remembers eight sets of twins born during a nine month period 20 years ago.

Rescheduled for May . . . if the snow is gone by then Fosston — The Easter Egg Hunt at the East Polk Heritage Center grounds in Molland Park on Highway 2 has been cancelled because of the 13 inches of snow that fell in the area last weekend. The event is tentatively rescheduled for the weekend prior to May Day.

She hasn't lost her buttons at all

Minto — Effie Rolzinski has a button-covered jacket. She sewed favorite buttons from her button box on an old jacket while she was incapacitated with a broken wrist because, she said, "I was fit to be tied. I wanted to have something to do." The 14-pound jacket has now become a memory jacket, filled with buttons that bring back memories for Effie.

Warren/Alvarado, Oslo vote on consolidation

Last year, voters in Warren and Alvarado school districts approved a resolution to consolidate the school districts. This year, voters will be given the opportunity to decide on whether the Warren/Alvarado school district and the Oslo school district should consolidate.

Oddly enough, residents in the Oslo school district will vote on the issue on April 12, while residents of the Warren/Alvarado school district [illegible] at their school election on May 17.

If residents of either school district vote down the proposal, the issue will fail.

One of the important issues of this election has to do with teachers that could be let go because of the consolidation. In anticipation of what this will do to the school district, special legislation has been introduced by Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and Rep. James Tunheim. This legislation would provide $200 per pupil unit aid the first year and $100 the second year. This would provide the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo District about $270,000 that could be used to pay severance and unemployment. By May 17, the results of the attempt to obtain special legislation will be known.

The Warren/Alvarado district has 58 tenured teachers and 13 non-[illegible] district has 1[illegible] tenured and 13 non-tenured teachers. Unemployment costs to the district are projected to reach $6,000 per teacher and an estimated $35,000 for severance. The special legislation would also allow the school board to offer licensed and non-licensed staff an additional service year, extended leaves or continued health benefits to age 65. Employees accepting the offer may purchase up to five years of additional service credit.

The legislation requires any remaining revenue to be used to reduce operating debt. Districts are exempt from the fund balance reduction the year before consolidating and the two year's aid received.

The Oslo School District has between 125 and 130 students. Administrators expect about 80 to [illegible] in the new school district if consolidation is approved by voters.

A special public meeting will be held in Warren on April 7. The meeting will be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 7 in the Warren/Alvarado school. Issues pertaining to the consolidation and special legislation will be discussed.

TRF and Warren in running for new home for NWRDC

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Wanted: between 2,700 and 3,000 square feet of space to house regional development commission.

Just about everyone is aware of the growth taking place at Arctco in Thief River Falls. This may be good news for the region, but it's not so good news for the Northwest Regional Development Commission, which has had office space in the Arctco complex for the past seven years or so. They knew that someday they would have to move and recently they learned that that day has arrived.

Want ads, advertising the specifications needed by the NWRDC were sent to area newspapers and offers were investigated. Far from uproar caused by the NWRDC's move from Crookston about seven years ago, the search for new office space has gone without so much as a peep in the local press and media.

There were a lot of hard feelings caused in the last move and perhaps no one wants to re-live the last battles.

Leon Heath, executive director of the NWRDC, said the issue has been one primarily of cost and space. If there has been some political maneuvering, it's been quiet and behind the scenes, he said.

Originally, there were 17 proposals. Using a list of criteria, the board of directors narrowed the list down to four — one each in Warren, Red Lake Falls, Crookston and Thief River Falls. On March 22, the board narrowed their choice to locations in Warren and Thief River Falls.

Heath said the decision is tougher now because the two offers are very comparable.

A final decision is anticipated on April 5 when the two proposals are presented to the entire 35-member commission. The commission is still free to consider proposals from

Housing survey goes to homes in east Pennington

Residents in Reiner, Star, Deer Park, Hickory, Highlanding, Mayfield and Goodridge townships in eastern Pennington county will receive a "Housing Condition Survey" in the mail during the next two weeks, according to Joan Abercrombie of the Northwest Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority at Mentor.

"I urge these residents to take a few minutes to complete the survey and enter the drawing for a $100 credit on their Red Lake Electric Co-op bill."

Abercrombie said that Pennington county is considering applying for grant funding to repair housing in the townships mentioned. If the county applies and receives the funding, low interest loans and grants would be available to eligible homeowners for rehabilitating housing in those townships. Rental housing could be included if landlords express an interest in the program early in the application process.

"Eligible improvements include health, energy, safety and accessibility items such as electrical, plumbing, roofs and shingles, windows, doors, siding, heating systems, water heaters, foundation improvements and similar repairs or replacements," Abercrombie added.

Basis for the application will be the results of the "Housing Condition Survey" mentioned above.

"It is very important that everyone in the survey area takes a few minutes to complete the survey in its entirety," she said. "A return rate of 70 per cent is needed for a

School referendums set

Grygla and Newfolden school districts will hold special referendums in April that seek permission from voters to raise additional capital for the construction of buildings.

In Grygla, School District 447, a referendum will be held on April 19. The issue before voters is whether to allow the school district to issue general obligation bonds in the amount of $950,000. The money would allow the school district to construct a new gymnasium and classroom north of the present elementary building. It would also give the school handicapped accessible restrooms. If approved construction could begin this summer.

Public hearings on the bond referendum will be held April 7 and 13 at 7 p.m. in the Grygla gymnasium.

Polls for the election will be at the old school in Gatzke, Gold Valley township hall in Skime, and the school in Grygla, from 1 to 8 p.m. on April 19.

Newfolden School District 441, will hold a referendum on April 26. The school district proposes to demolish, repair and reconstruct a portion of the Newfolden elementary school building.

The new addition would include a music room, media-technology center, mechanical room with a boiler, teacher work room and handicapped accessible restrooms. The hallway will also make the entire building handicapped accessible.

If approved, the district will issue general obligation bonds in the amount not to exceed $575,000. The funds would be used to replace a portion of the school building built around 1915. That part of the building will have to be vacated by September 1994 due to its deteriorating condition.

If approved by voters on April 26, demolition could begin early in June and construction would have to be completed by the Fall.

Leitz twins qualify as a group project

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

QUESTION: If the radiation treatments Anne (Dondelinger) Leitz received as a cancer patient cause sterility, why is she the bright and beaming mother of a healthy and thriving set of twins?

ANSWER: Thanks to a loving family, an understanding husband, a determined desire for parenthood and a genetic engineering process called invitro fertilization.

(Invitro literally means in glass, but is more liberally interpreted to mean outside the living body and in an artificial environment. In the context of this article, it refers to the fertilization of human eggs in a laboratory petri dish and their implantation in the human body.)

In the case of Anne Leitz, a combination of factors makes the modern miracle story especially intriguing—and particularly during this Easter season when the gift of life is celebrated. Consider that:

(1) Anne was diagnosed with non-Hodgkins lymphoma at age 26, just a year after her marriage to Jon Leitz;

(2) Through chemotherapy and full body irradiation she beat the cancer but lost the capability for reproduction;

(3) Her youngest sister became the donor of the eggs used in the invitro process;

(4) She didn't become pregnant until the third attempt, was sick throughout the pregnancy, confined to bed rest for six weeks before delivery and gave birth naturally five weeks early;

(5) Her son and daughter were born on December 24—Christmas Eve.

Anne is the daughter of Robert and Bunny Dondelinger of Thief River Falls, a 1980 graduate of Lincoln high school and holds a bachelor of science degree in economics from Bemidji State University. For the past two and a half years she has been employed at Personnel Decisions, Inc., a firm of organizational psychologists, as an operations manager. She is presently on a six-months leave.

In October of 1989 she woke up with chest pains, had been losing consciousness, and went to see a doctor in Rice Lake, WI, where she was visiting at the time. An x-ray there revealed a large black mark in her chest which proved to be a tumor pressing against her heart. She went to the University of Minnesota hospitals in Minneapolis on a Tuesday and on the following Monday started aggressive treatment with chemotherapy. She was told that if the tumor had not been discovered when it was, it would have been fatal in two months.

For three months she underwent large weekly doses of chemotherapy and at the end of that time the results looked good. Doctors believed the tumor was gone. But later a CT scan showed that the area of the tumor was larger than expected and a bone marrow transplant was prescribed. This meant total body radiation which, in both men and women, causes sterility.

Because her own bone marrow was healthy, it was not necessary to find a matching donor. She became her own donor. Two liters of her own bone marrow were extracted and stored. She underwent two days of intense chemotherapy and four days of total body irradiation. A day later about half of the bone marrow which had been extracted was injected back into her body through a catheter. The remainder was saved in reserve in case some-

Little Beauty beats the odds

Red Lake Falls — A little Pomeranian dog named Beauty went out the door one January morning and never came back. Her owners, Vern and Vi Knaack, searched for five days and were sure she was gone for good. But their other dog, Sparky, found Beauty under the Knaack's deck, barely alive, but frozen into the snow. The Knaacks cut a hole in the deck and thawed Beauty out of the snow with a hair dryer. After several warm baths and a very long nap in an electric blanket, Beauty was on the road to recovery. The Knaacks say Beauty is now back to normal and acting like she always did, although she has a part of her tail missing as a reminder of the incident.

Benefit for Nick Dokkin

Benefit breakfast for Nick Dokkin, infant son of Brenda and the late Dean Dokkin, has been scheduled for Sunday, April 10, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Eagles Hall in Thief River Falls, sponsored by AAL Branch 7984 of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Nick was born Oct. 7, 1993, with a cleft lip and palate and had his first surgery on his lip and nose at four days of age. His next surgery will be in April when more work is done on his nose and lip and he will have a number of other surgeries until about the age of 15.

At about 10 to 12 months he will have palate repair before he starts to talk. As he grows older he will require dental work and bone grafting from his hip to his gum area and tubes placed in his ears to prevent fluid build-up—an expected condition with cleft palate babies.

The benefit April 10 is to assist with expenses for transportation, lodging, dental work and loss of work time for Brenda to provide care for Nick.

Training held for medical forms

Medical forms assistance program volunteer training was completed on March 24 and 25 at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls. Volunteers trained were Doloris Bilenek of Warren, Alan Dalen of Thief River Falls, Beverly Holm of Thief River Falls, Beverly Hewitt of Lancaster, Rose Carriere of Thief River Falls, Louis Gelen of Crookston, Robert Petersburg of Kennedy and Helen Jurchen of Crookston.

They will receive a certificate of completion from the Minnesota board on Aging. This training was sponsored by the Medical Forms Assistance Program, Tri-Valley Opportunity Council and the Northwest Area Agency on Aging.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

What to serve with that Easter ham or how to serve those ham leftovers? Here are some yummy ideas from the 100th Anniversary Cookbook from Trinity Lutheran Church.

This recipe is easy to fix with that leftover ham - it will be great for the crowd after the holidays:

HAM AND SWISS NOODLE
Mavien Ready
1 (8 ounce) package noodles, precooked and drained
8 ounces Swiss cheese (2 cups), cubed or grated
2 cups cooked chopped ham
1/4 cup onions, chopped
1/4 cup green pepper, chopped
1 can peas, drained
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup milk

Mix all ingredients together. Place in greased casserole.

Bake at 325 degrees for 25-30 minutes. (Serves 6-8.)

How about this one for lunch the day after Easter - it makes a bunch so freeze them for future quick meals:

HOT HAM AND CHEESE SANDWICHES
Kathy Bolstad
1 stick margarine or butter
6 tablespoons horseradish mustard
6 teaspoons poppy seed
6 tablespoons chopped onion
24 sesame seed buns
Ham cut to desired thickness
Swiss cheese

Mix margarine, mustard, poppy seed and onions. Layer ham, mustard mixture and cheese on buns.

Wrap in foil and bake 1/2 hour at 350 degrees.

SAUCE FOR HAM
Murray Melgaard
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup plum jelly
1 tablespoon flour
1/3 cup honey
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/3 teaspoon cloves

Melt butter and add flour, orange juice, honey, brown sugar, spices and jelly.

Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Serve hot over ham or baste ham with sauce while it is baking.

RAISIN SAUCE
LaVonne Haraldson
1 cup raisins
2 cups water
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Dash of each: salt, pepper, cloves and cinnamon
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
3 teaspoons butter

Boil raisins in water until soft (add water if necessary).

Mix sugar, salt, pepper, cloves and cinnamon. Add to raisins. Mix cornstarch with a little water and add to raisin mixture. Add vinegar and butter.

Mix well and cook until thickened. Add more cornstarch and water, if necessary. Serve with ham.

Special activities begin Tuesday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. in Kingdom Hall on highway 59 south. Area weekly Bible studies will combine to form one study group on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Kingdom Hall. It will be followed by Shoffner's presentation entitled "Continue in the Things Learned."

Sunday, April 10, at 9:30 a.m. Shoffner will present the Bible topic "Human Creation's Groaning —When Will It End?" After a shortened study from Watchtower magazine, he will conclude his visit with a Bible talk to the congregation.

To The Editor:

I am pleased that the efforts to save and restore the historic Thief River Falls Soo Line depot are continuing successfully. The city council should be applauded. I would encourage participation in the special fund raising and donation efforts and providing help when the restoration is under way.

I would also like to ask area residents to submit ideas on what to do with the depot building, grounds and the steam engine on display to the city and to the Save the Depot committee. I feel that the depot has some tourism potential.

I would like to see the establishment of a summer weekend dinner train or a coach car passenger train with runs to Viking and Warren, Newfolden and Karlstad, Plummer, Oklee and Clearbrook, Middle River and Greenbush—four different trips on alternate weekends. Perhaps arrangements could be made for runs to casinos.

Engines that could be used are already located at the local roundhouse and there are a number of retired railroad workers who could operate the engine equipment. A dining and/or coach car would have to be acquired.

An area train in the summer may encourage people of all age groups to visit Thief River Falls. I have read brochures about dinner trains in other towns and they are successful and filled to capacity.

I would also suggest adding a two or three-story high tower similar to a small light house on top of the depot with a glass-enclosed observation deck where tourists could view and take pictures of the city. An effort should be made to acquire a coach car to couple to the steam engine on display so people could walk through it. Souvenirs could be sold inside the depot.

I wish continued good luck with the Soo Line depot efforts.

Sincerely,
Charlie Bedard
Thief River Falls

Only Individuals Can Prevent AIDS Spread

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

"I've been wanting to send you this clipping for a long time," stated the unsigned note in the envelope left on this editor's desk. "Watching the TV movie last night made me do it. After losing a very dear loved one from AIDS, my heart is still bleeding."

As a minimal watcher of television, I must plead ignorance to what TV movie the writer was writing about, but it really doesn't matter. Apparently it was about AIDS and moved the note writer to act. The clipping enclosed was a newspaper column by Joan Beck of the Chicago Tribune, printed in July of 1993 under a six-column headline proclaiming "individuals, not the government, can stop AIDS."

It is one of the best, straight-forward, honest and insightful presentations of the AIDS situation that I have seen in the daily press. Its message is so true and so simple that there is no reason for it to get lost in all the rhetoric and hand-wringing and advocacy we constantly see and hear, but it so often does.

Beck points out quite simply that "The government isn't going to guard you from getting AIDS. It can't. President Bush couldn't. President Clinton can't. The White House's new AIDS coordinator, Kristine Gebbie, can't either, no matter how urgently AIDS groups pushed for that post to be created. Neither can the governors, mayors, members of Congress, corporate executives or community and religious leaders the commission's report blames for not doing more."

The report she referred to was published by the National Commission on AIDS—a report which Beck believes "concentrates so hard on blaming political leaders for not doing more about the epidemic that a life and death message is lost between the lines of anger and frustration.

"No cure for AIDS is in sight. A vaccine is years away. HIV continues to be a slow, inexorable killer, mostly of adults in the prime of life. 'But as the report should have stressed in language strong enough to burn into the brains of us all, you can generally protect yourself from getting AIDS," she writes.

"Prevention is now the only way to stop the epidemic from continuing to spread widely and rapidly throughout the world, scientists repeatedly emphasized at an international conference on AIDS in Berlin.

"HIV does not infect humans easily, like the common cold. It is not genetic, the result of an unlucky mistake in DNA coding. Its cause is known, unlike most forms of cancer. AIDS, like it or not, is an infection acquired by having sex with an infected partner (anal-receptive sex is particularly risky) or sharing a needle with an infected intravenous drug user.

"Exceptions include babies of HIV-positive mothers, people inadvertently transfused with HIV-positive blood, accidentally infected health-care workers and a few cases for which the cause has not been established," she continues.

"The hard fact is that those who want to protect themselves against HIV infection and AIDS can almost certainly do so by not sharing intravenous drug needles with an infected person and by having sex only within an established monogamous relationship with a partner who is free of HIV. Why is it so hard to push this message clearly and explicitly?"

Beck answers her own question in part by noting that, "For one reason, it's widely assumed that changes in sexual behavior in the past three decades have made the message of premarital abstinence and marital fidelity naive and obsolete. Never mind that two generations ago it was considered the social norm (whatever the exceptions in practice)."

She correctly observes that "most AIDS activist groups are much more concerned about people who already have AIDS than about preventing others from becoming infected. Most laws dealing with AIDS are intended to help and shield the HIV-positive, not to safeguard others. Protecting yourself from getting AIDS is something you have to do for yourself."

It also seems that most of the activism regarding the AIDS problem comes from those whose personal lifestyles, or the lifestyles of those with whom they associate and identify, has placed them or those they associate with at high risk to contract AIDS. They don't want to change the lifestyle, just make it safer and lament its results. The entertainment industry is a prime example.

Columnist Beck agrees that more research, support and care for those infected, treatment facilities for drug abusers and other things are needed.

"But while we are working on all these difficult things," she concludes, "it would help to broadcast clearly and loudly the message of individual responsibility for avoiding HIV and individual power to do so, instead of blaming the government for not doing more."

Fire damages welding shop in TRF Tuesday

Tuesday evening, fire caused considerable damage to Wennberg's Inc., a welding shop in Thief River Falls.

Fire department personnel received a report of a fire at Wennberg's on Oakland Park road at about 9:35 p.m. March 29. When they arrived there was fire on the south wall and into part of the roof.

Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said his initial investigation leads him to believe that the fire started behind a welding bench. Bjorkman said an air arc (cutting torch) was being used toward the end of the day. The air arc is such that it blows slag away from the cut and some of it could have gotten onto the wall.

Bjorkman said there was quite a bit of smoke and water damage. A hole had to be cut into the roof to get at some of the fire. He said he didn't know if there was any damage to machinery.

Tuesday night, fire caused considerable damage to Wennberg's Inc., a welding shop on Oakland Park road in Thief River Falls. Fire started near the back of the shop and caused damage to a south wall and part of the ceiling. There was also smoke and water damage.

Thief River Falls has offered to renovate Washington Elementary school for the NWRDC and would charge $10,200 per year, which would include utilities and janitorial service.

Don Stewart, Jobs Inc. director, said that it should be made clear that taxpayers will not be supporting any subsidy. Any subsidy, he said, will come from Jobs Inc. He later added that Jobs Inc. has offered to pick up one year's rent.

School District 564 Superintendent Bob Duncan explained that when working on preparations for the bond referendum over a year ago, they had looked at Washington and realized that there would be more space available even after putting administration, community education and other school district offices in the building. They decided that they would make the space available for lease to other similar organizations. Duncan said even if NWRDC and the school district reaches an agreement on a lease, there will probably be more space available for lease.

The proposal from Warren involves building a new building to meet the NWRDC's requirements. The building would be within the city limit and would be built within 12 months from the end of June 1994. Rent would be equal to or less than what the NWRDC pays at its current site, including janitorial service and utilities. PKM Electric of Warren has offered to let NWRDC use its second level for up to 12 months, free of charge, while the new facility is being built.

The NWRDC serves the counties of Marshall, Kittson, Roseau, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington and Norman. The programs it administers include: Area Agency on Aging, Northwest Regional Arts Council, Community Development program, Economic Development program, Transportation program and Northwest Regional Enterprise Loan Fund.

The NWRDC has nine full-time staff and two temporary staff members.

Spring burning regulations

Minnesota department of natural resources has announced that permits for burning are now required. In the five townships in the Thief River Falls fire district, permits can be obtained at the Thief River Falls fire department.

Permits can be obtained from any Forest officer, township fire warden or local fire department. These individuals will be aware of what the regulations are at the time of the request to burn.

Under no circumstances will permits be issued to burn such things as: peat, railroad ties, tar paper, tires, plastics or garbage.

Permits must be obtained to conduct any burning. Burning is not allowed within the city of Thief River Falls, except during a certain period of time in the fall. Permits are issued for the townships of North, Norden, Rocksbury, Silverton and Smiley at the Thief River Falls fire department.

Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said that at this point, permits will be issued in the five-township district for up to three days and residents can burn all day. Burning is usually limited to early mornings or evenings, but currently there is enough moisture to allow burning during daylight hours. In any event, residents are asked to use common sense and not burn under windy conditions.

Someone must be in attendance whenever a fire is burning. Bjorkman reminds permit holders that whoever sets a fire is responsible for any damage caused by negligence.

Permits in the five-township district must be obtained in person. Bjorkman said permits need to be signed and he likes to know where the fire(s) will be set. He also asks that residents of the area not in the five-township district to notify his department whenever doing some burning, so that his department is not called out unnecessarily.

For more information about fire permits contact the Thief River Falls fire department at 681-3943. Questions can also be directed to Minnesota department of natural resource offices in Warroad (386-1304), Wannaska (425-7793) or Grygla (294-6151).

Leaf pick up.

Thief River Falls Sanitation department will conduct a spring leaf and yard refuse pick up. Sanitation department director, Bob Jabilnske, said he isn't sure when the spring pick up will be because of the weather. Residents will be given at least one week's notice.

20 to be inducted into Prowler Hall of Fame

Twenty selections have been made from a number of nominations for initial induction into the Prowler Hall of Fame at Lincoln high school, according to Lee Alger, activities director for School District 564.

Induction ceremonies will be held at the first Prowler Hall of Fame banquet to be held Saturday, April 23, at 7 p.m. at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls. The banquet is open to anyone who would like to attend and tickets at $12 each are available at the Lincoln high school activities office.

According to the criteria listed on the nomination form, membership in the Prowler Hall of Fame will consist of distinguished alumni, athletic letter winners, coaches/directors and members at large who have made exceptional contributions to School District 564.

Distinguished Alumni nominees must be out of school at least seven years and have made significant contributions to society or accomplishments in their chosen field. Athletic letter winners must have distinguished themselves as a "Prowler Great" and a period of seven years must have lapsed since the nominee last participated.

Coaches/directors will be considered on the basis of leadership, length and quality of coaching record, program growth and achievements of the individual. A special category is reserved for members of the community who have made significant contributions to School District 564.

Pictures and information about inductees will be displayed on a wall near the new gymnasium at Lincoln high school and nominations will be received on a continuing basis with voting on additional selections to be held each year.

The Times and Northern Watch will publish biographical sketches of each of the initial inductees in this and forthcoming issues. A list of those to be inducted April 23 and the area of their selection includes the following:

Ralph Engelstad

Ralph Engelstad
Athlete Selection

Born Jan. 28, 1930 in Thief River Falls, Ralph Engelstad attended St. Bernard's elementary school and graduated from Lincoln high school in 1948.

While attending Lincoln high school, Ralph was a four-year hockey letter winner, two-year football letter winner and two-year track letter winner. He was named to the all-conference football team as a guard in 1948 and was a member of the 1945 high school hockey team that played in the first Minnesota State High School Hockey Tournament, in which Thief River Falls lost to Eveleth 4-3 in the championship game.

After graduating from Lincoln, Ralph attended the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks on a scholarship and played as a goalie on the UND hockey team. He is a recipient of the Sioux Award, the highest award presented by UND; a member of the UND Hall of Fame; and has had Ralph Engelstad Arena on the UND campus named for him.

Engelstad entered the construction business and built many buildings in Minnesota and North Dakota before moving the business to Las Vegas, NE, in 1959. He married Betty Stocker of East Grand Forks in 1954 and they have a daughter, Kris Ann, born in 1958.

He has continued to be a general contractor in the Las Vegas area while entering other business areas. He purchased the North Las Vegas air terminal in 1965 and in the fall of 1967 sold it to Howard Hughes.

In 1971 he purchased the property on which is now constructed the 2,700-room Imperial Palace Hotel and casino—the world's largest individually owned hotel and eighth largest hotel in the United States. Engelstad employs people with disabilities at 13 per cent of his work force and in 1990 the Imperial Palace was named National Employer of the Year by the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities.

In 1981 he started an auto collection which is now one of the largest in the world and part of which is on display at the Imperial Palace. Engelstad also owns many large, Class A office buildings throughout the United States and is developing additional casinos in Mississippi and other states at the present time. The businesses he owns employ approximately 4,000 people.

Ralph abides by two mottos: "The harder I work the luckier I get" and "No dream comes true until you wake up and go to work."

Ralph Skay

Ralph Skay
Coach/A.D. Selection

Ralph Skay was born at Braham, the youngest of six children. His father died when he was 13 months old and his mother managed to keep the family together, even through the Depression years of the 1930s. She emphasized the importance of eduction for all of the children.

Ralph graduated from high school at Howard Lake and later from the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis where he played baseball for two years until his work schedule did not permit enough time for both study and baseball.

Skay began teaching and coaching at Blackduck and later taught and coached at Spring Grove, Preston and Milaca before coming to Thief River Falls where he was with the local school system for 26 years. For many of those years he was attendance director and athletic director.

During his years in education he coached football, basketball and baseball—including 34 years as a baseball coach. He took five high school and American Legion baseball teams to state tournaments and coached two all-state football players and one all-state baseball player. He retired from teaching after the 1977-78 school year.

Ralph served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He is a member of the Minneapolis Star Tribune 25-year coaches Club and the Minnesota State Coaches Hall of Fame.

Ralph and his wife Senora continue to live in Thief River Falls. They have three children, Sandra, Linda and Richard.

Leitz twins qualify as group project

thing went wrong

Because her immune system had been destroyed by the radiation, the spent two months in virtual isolation in the hospital. During that time her husband visited her during his lunch hour and after work every day and spent his weekends with her. Her mother and father took turns driving from Thief River Falls to Minneapolis, each spending half of the week with her.

Released from the hospital after the two months, she returned for weekly and then bi-weekly checkups. It took six months after release before she began feeling very well.

But the treatments had worked. At her two-year check-up in April of 1992 there was no sign of the cancer and she was told to "come and see us in three years." Doctors say her chances of getting the same type of cancer are now no greater than those of anyone else without her cancer history.

Following the two-year check-up and the all-clear declaration, Anne and Jon started plans for adoption. They signed on with three different adoption agencies, aware that the process takes a long time under normal circumstances and may well be complicated by Anne's record of cancer. But they never pursued adoption beyond the sign-up stage.

Anne had heard about invitro fertilization and made a call to the University of Minnesota, learning that there was a small program available there. A five-month wait was necessary to get an appointment.

During that interim Anne and Jon weighed the pros and cons of the process and the moral and religious issues which it presents. Anne is from a Roman Catholic background and Jon from a Lutheran background. Together they reached their own conclusion that the creation of human life outweighed all other considerations. They decided that if the process was available to them, they would go ahead with it.

The doctor they met with was sure that it was entirely physically possible for Anne to carry and deliver a child although she could not conceive one. Both of her sisters, 28-year old Mary Beth and 21-year-old Kaye volunteered to be egg donors. Neither was married. Kaye, a student at St. Thomas University, was selected as the most likely donor because of her age.

Jon, Anne and Kaye were given thorough psychiatric examinations as well as a battery of physical tests. When all was considered ready, Kaye was given hormone injections in the leg and upper hip to induce production and release of extra eggs.

For a three-week time period—which also included finals week at St. Thomas during the time of retrieval—Kaye was checked by a doctor every other day until a peak time for extraction of the eggs was determined. The first extraction produced 17 eggs, 12 of which were fertilized with Jon's sperm in a petri dish in an incubator in the laboratory. Four were implanted in Anne and the remainder were frozen.

No pregnancy resulted, so a second attempt was made using the frozen embryos. Again there were no results.

The determination was made that the hormone dosage had been too great and the result was production of a quantity of eggs with low quality. The dosage was changed and the next effort produced eight eggs. Six were fertilized and all six were implanted.

Anne learned she had become pregnant 12 days after the implant. At five weeks the doctor discovered the two heartbeats.....but only two. There was always the possibility that three, four, five or all six eggs could have developed, which would have created more decision-making. Anne had to have hormone shots every day until the placenta was capable of providing for the babies' needs.

"During the pregnancy I was sick most of the time," she said. "There wasn't a woman at the place where I worked who didn't hear me throwing up in the ladies' room at one time or another. At first I had trouble gaining weight, but after the first trimester I put on 40 pounds. I wondered how I was ever going to get all that weight off."

After six weeks of bed rest and five weeks prematurely, Anne's labor was induced and she delivered four pound, 15 ounce Erik Jonathan and four pound, 14 ounce Allison Kaye on Christmas Eve at Methodist Hospital four blocks from her home in St. Louis Park, a suburb of Minneapolis.

The babies were strong and healthy with well-developed lungs and after seven days in the hospital were ready to go home and join their parents. They are now 14 weeks old and at their three-month check-up last week weighed within two ounces of each other—Eric at 11 pounds two ounces and Allison at an even 11 pounds.

Several weeks ago Anne and the twins visited at the Grandpa Bob and Grandma Bunny home in Thief River Falls—demonstrating for the Dondelingers how twins can help a new mom shed what was left of her 40-pound weight gain.

Anne also recalled several events from her cancer treatment and recovery:

- Deciding to make her "great escape" from the hospital following the bone marrow transplant, being discovered and scolded by a nurse who told her "you would have died if you walked out of here."
- Riding in a car with her husband in Uptown Minneapolis on a hot August day and having a young man in an adjacent car at a stop light mistake her hair loss baldness for a punk head shaving and call her a name. When her husband pulled into a nearby fast food restaurant and Anne noticed the young man's car had stalled at the stop light, she marched back and "reamed him out," giving him the full benefit of her pent-up feelings—all of which he, and his girlfriend in the stalled car, took without comment.
- The time when she drove to the university for spot radiation, then became disoriented, forgot where she parked her car and wandered for a couple of hours around the campus. She finally sat down on a curb and a parking lot attendant, alerted to watch for her, noticed her there, asked if she was Anne, and led her back to the hospital where her mother picked her up.

She spent a week back in the hospital for all kinds of neurological and other tests—including one in which, with her eyes closed, she was asked whether she was being touched on the cheek or on the leg.

"What really had me worried," her husband told her later, "was when you gave the wrong answers." Anne had not been told that she had been wrong in identifying where she had been touched and believed all along she had answered correctly.

Anne praises her husband for his devotion and stability throughout her illness, noting she had heard of many other men who had been unable to cope with similar situations. And she thanks the local community people for their caring, cards and prayers. Students in Sister Caroline's class at St. Bernard's school sent letters to her on a regular basis, including one from a boy who wrote: "Don't worry, we are praying for you."

There will be continuing debate and probably criticism of man's tinkering with human genetics and the legal, moral and ethical questions which that experimentation will raise. But for now, Jon and Anne Leitz have a couple of pretty good reasons for being thankful that type of work is being done. Their names are Erik and Allison.

Anne Jeeger, representing the City of Plummer, visited with Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls in his office in St. Paul during the League of Small Cities Day on Capitol Hill.

strong application. As an added incentive for people to take the time to fill out the survey, respondents will be entered into a drawing for the $100 credit on their electric service through Red Lake Electric Cooperative."

To assure confidentiality, survey will be returned directly to the Northwest Multi-County HRA in Mentor where the names will be immediately separated from the surveys and responses will then be entered into the Multi-County computer system.

Persons in the townships mentioned who do not receive a survey form by April 16, are asked to contact Joan Abercrombie at 637-2431 or one of the local township officials in their townships.

Grygla students raise, donate $1,344 to Henry "Bo" Brawley

Proceeds of a penny drive during the annual Spring Fling at the Grygla school have been donated to Henry "Bo" Brawley, a resident of the Grygla community being treated for cancer.

The inter-class competition which ended on Friday, March 25, resulted in a total collection of $1,344, including $860 in pennies, according to Loren Lusignan, principal at the school.

In the inter-class competition for kindergarten through sixth grade the fourth grade class won with a collection of $301.30. In the high school the eighth grade topped the list with $177.78 in donations.

A fund-raiser sponsored by the Grygla Jaycees was also held Friday evening as a benefit for Brawley.

Eileen Kelley on President's list

She is enrolled in the bookkeeping/clerk program at the college.

NWRDC will move offices to Warren

20 members of 35-member board vote 11 to nine Tuesday to make second move in eight years

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) is moving to Warren. The NWRDC with its 9 full-time and two part-time employees has been located at the Arctco complex in Thief River Falls for the past seven years. As a result of a 9 to 11 vote Tuesday night that all changed.

NWRDC Director Leon Heath said he could not speak for everyone, but said he thought the commission voted the way it did because they viewed the issue as a economic development issue for Warren and only a real estate issue for Thief River Falls.

The NWRDC received notice last year that Arctco was terminating the lease agreement because it needed space for expansion. The NWRDC then prepared an advertisement requesting proposals. It received 17 proposals, which was then reduced to four and then to two. The final two proposals came from the cities of Warren and Thief River Falls.

Both proposals were close in terms of cost. The proposal from Thief River Falls offered renovation of part of Washington Elementary school, and $10,200 rent per year, which included utilities and janitorial service. Jobs Inc. of Thief River Falls offered to pay for one year's rent.

The proposal from Warren involved construction of a new building designed to meet the needs of the NWRDC. The building would be within the city limits and would be built within 12 months. Rent would be equal to or less than what the NWRDC pays at its current site and would include janitorial service and utilities. Between the time the new building was ready for occupation and the present time, NWRDC would be allowed to occupy the second level of the PKM Electric building in Warren, rent free for 12 months.

During the meeting before the board of commissioners Tuesday evening, representatives of both cities were allowed to present their proposals. There are 35 members on the board, but there was only 20 present. The final vote, which was by secret ballot, was 9 to 11.

Commissioners present included: Kittson county — Dr. Joe Bouvette, Janice Hanson, Charles Lindberg, Duane Lyberg; Marshall county — Bruce Anderson and Delray Larson, Marville Magnuson; Norman county — Glen Brookshire, Herb Mauntson, Earl Visser; Pennington county — Kermit Finstad, Don Howe, Roy Jorgenson; Polk county — Marlene Baatz, Wallace Jorgenson, Duane Knutson; Red Lake county — Virgil Benoit, Genevieve Knott; Roseau county — Rudee Anderson, Glenn Darst.

Commission members not present were: Kittson county — Kimberley Johnson, George Wikstrom Jr.; Pennington county — David Hoefer, Daniel Johnson, Oliver Swanson; Polk county — Don R. Cavalier, Dan Chapa, Bernie Solberg, Harold Thomforde; Red Lake county — Robert Melby, Milton Peterson, Kenneth Tischart; Roseau county — Thora Abrahamson, Bernie Burggraf, Jon Heggedal.

Heath said the NWRDC will be attempting to re-negotiate an extension at the Arctco complex so that it doesn't have to move twice — once to the PKM building and then to the new building. What happens after that depends on how well renegotiations proceed.

In any event, the NWRDC should be in a new building in Warren within 12 months.

Dan Evans, economic development coordinator for Warren and Argyle, said they were very pleased with the decision of the commission. For Warren, its an economic development issue, he said.

Evans made the analogy that getting the NWRDC was like Thief River Falls getting Arctco.

Evans said a site for the new building has been identified, but they weren't ready to identify it publicly yet because it needs to be approved by the city council.

Evans said they hope to make the transition for staff of the NWRDC as easy as possible. For example, they hope to avoid moving twice. They are in the process of attempting to renegotiate an extension at Arctco. In addition they have offered to help staff by providing day care and helping them find housing.

Evans said that although he wasn't present when the NWRDC moved from Crookston to Thief

Jonathan Headley has hip surgery to allow him to walk

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

The story on Jonathan Headley, the little boy who needed Campbell soup labels for computers, continues.

Today Jonathan, who has cerebral palsy, is in United hospital in Grand Forks where he underwent surgery Wednesday. The surgery was done to reconstruct both of Jonathan's hips in order to allow him to walk. He will be in the hospital for at least two weeks and in a body cast for eight weeks.

Rose Headley, Jonathan's mother, said that she feels this was a good time for him to have the surgery. "He is in the best shape he has ever been in right now. His lungs are clear and he is in really good physical condition."

The surgery took five hours and was performed by Dr. Hogart at United Hospital. Rose was told the surgery would take eight to ten hours, so the fact that it took less than that time is encouraging.

Rose got hourly updates on the progress of the operation and called The Times when it was over to say that Jonathan was doing "real well." The surgery went better than planned because the doctors had to do less than they thought they would to fix Jonathan's hips.

Jonathan was a little apprehensive about having surgery again, and well he may be, because he has had 46 different surgeries since he was born. When he realized that this time the surgery would be to help him walk, however, he said it would be all right and he didn't mind having it if it would make him feel better.

If you are one of the thousands of people who sent labels to Jonathan, you will be happy to know that all 538,000 labels were sent off from the old Humboldt school on March 30 in a UPS truck. There were just too many boxes to keep at home, so the school was an ideal storage spot.

The cost of transporting the 35 boxes to the company in Monticello was absorbed by UPS, arranged by Roger Lundstrom, the UPS man who had delivered so many Campbell's labels to the Headleys' home over the past year.

"The Campbell's Soup Company has been just great," Rose said. "They extended the deadline from March 15 to the end of March when I told them about the surgery, and they said I should call them if I needed more time than that."

The two Macintosh LCIII computers, Laser Writer NTR printer and three local talk locking connecter kits may arrive any time after June 1.

If you sent labels to Rose and Jonathan, you will also be happy to know that any labels that are left over will be put to good use because the soup company has another offer for Rose and Jonathan. If they can collect 795,000 of the same type of labels in the next year, the company will provide Jonathan with a van equipped with a special lift.

"We're going to try for it," said Rose. "It would sure make getting around a lot easier for us. I guess that means we're still collecting labels so tell everyone to please keep saving them if they can."

Rose also said that she wants to thank everyone for all the help she and Jonathan received with the collection of the labels. "People were

No doubt about it, Jonathan Headley, the little boy with cerebral palsy, is the "Campbell's Soup Boy." He and his mother, with the help of friends throughout the region and the nation, have collected 538,000 labels to get Jonathan two computers and a printer. The labels were mailed off March 30 and the computers should arrive at Jonathan's home in Humboldt some time after June 1. Photo courtesy of Kittson County Enterprise

Benefit dinner to help Viking boy

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Spaghetti dinner and live entertainment will be provided at a benefit for 7-year-old Steve Umber. The rural Viking youth was diagnosed with leukemia a little over three years ago and is still undergoing chemotherapy. The benefit will be held at the Seventh-day Adventist school auditorium from noon until 3 p.m., April 10. Free will donations will be accepted.

Steve is the son of John and Gloria Umber. Since the diagnosis of leukemia, Steve has fought a variety of illness, much of which came about as a result of his chemotherapy. He takes a chemotherapy drug orally daily, intravenous chemotherapy drugs once a month, and spinal tap chemotherapy once every three months.

Despite the gruelling treatment during the past three years, Gloria Umber said Steve likes to remain active. He likes to ride bikes and play baseball and soccer. However, he has been ill so often in the last year that he participates in the home school program. Three times per week, a first grade teacher from Viking works with Steve.

The illness has also been a struggle for the family. Gloria wrote the following poem "Miracle of Faith", about the experience:

As life began you were a miracle of faith.
10 little fingers and 10 little toes, two blue eyes and a little button nose.
You grew and were active; your first word was "go!"
There was no fear as you waddled
so.
You wandered and hid under trees so tall, or down in the barn where the turkeys were small.
You were always so happy, smiling and giggling. Then along came a sister to join in your wigglin'
At first she could not move too well on her own, so you thought you might help as you dragged her along.
Oh! What a sight as she dangled upside down!
Then I praised the Lord as you gently set her down
She grew and she grew so she could toddle with you
And now I know this friendship will grow as I watch in amazement the love you both show.
Sometimes things happen that brings sadness about.
Our dear little boy became very sick.
The doctors couldn't tell what brought about this.
Nothing we did could put a smile on your face. Your legs hurt, your head hurt, and you were pale in the face.
We soon found a doctor who gave us the answer. "It's leukemia," he said, "a form of cancer."
Although I suspected it all along, I couldn't stop the tears as I cried

Karlstad and area firemen kept busy on Easter weekend

Karlstad — Karlstad fire fighters were called out four times over Easter weekend and the Monday afterward, including three times on Easter Sunday. The Dave Fox Repair Shop was destroyed in a 5 a.m. fire, the Colleen Pendleton home was damaged by fire just before noon, and a grass fire was reported two miles west of Karlstad about 5:58 p.m., all on Easter Sunday. Monday's fire call came at 8:48 a.m. from the Merrill Stennis farm six miles south of Strandquist where a shed located on an unoccupied farmstead burned to the ground. Fire departments from Kennedy and Lake Bronson also helped with the repair shop blaze.

Keep this recipe on hand for stinky summer accidents

Roseau — Stan Wood, wildlife area manager of the Roseau River WMA, wrote a letter to the editor of the Roseau Times-Region with the following recipe for deodorizing pets that have been sprayed by a skunk: One quart of three per cent hydrogen peroxide, one-fourth cup of baking soda and one teaspoon liquid soap. Directions: Bathe the animal in the above mixture and rinse well with tap water. Wood says "the solution worked like magic" on a house cat.

With the intent to identify and designate routes of outstanding scenic, natural, cultural and recreational interest, the State of Minnesota is implementing a multi-agency Scenic Byways program.

The program is expected to make it easier to find scenic routes for a one-day or partial day drive.

Nominations for byways will be received through public participation whereby communities may nominate their most outstanding scenic roads for designation. All categories of public roadways are open to nomination.

A public informational meeting for north central and west Minnesota communities will be held from 1 to 2 p.m. Thursday, April 14, at Breezy Point resort at Pequot Lakes. Those attending will be informed of the history, key points, nomination process and benefits of the Minnesota Scenic Byways program and the components of the federal scenic byways program and funding opportunities.

Anyone interested in learning more about designating their favorite scenic roadway is welcome to attend. For more information call 218-828-2334.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

In a letter to the Minneapolis Star Tribune, State Treasurer Mark Dayton praised Senator Wellstone for his honesty and integrity.

Senator Wellstone campaigned from an old green bus that was reminiscent of the old time medicine man who went from town to town peddling his snake oil panacea that would cure all of our ills. Many people believed his socialist propaganda and were taken in.

Don Larson in his Minnesota Business Newsletter of February 1st has an article entitled "A BIG BIG Spender." He said Minnesota can be proud of Senator Wellstone, a big spending Democrat. Although a relatively new member of the Senate, Senator Wellstone is getting a reputation that is in keeping with Minnesota policy of tax-spend-tax-spend, etc.

A new study by the National Taxpayers Union shows Senator Wellstone as the second biggest spender of all 100 Senate members, next to Senator Inouye of Hawaii.

Senator Wellstone has sponsored or co-sponsored bills that, if passed, would have cost the taxpayers a cool $546 billion. Sen Inouye sponsored bills that would cost $561 billion if passed.

Senator Wellstone is promoting the disastrous Canadian health care system and proposes to pay for it with an 8.4 per cent tax on business and individuals that would raise a cool $1.2 trillion (estimated) in three years, $2 per pack tax on cigarettes and a 50 per cent excise tax on guns and ammunition, which combined would bring in an additional $59 billion.

Congratulations, Senator Wellstone. Minnesota is proud of you.

Yours truly,
Arnold Honl
Roseau, MN

To The Editor:

Gun owners, deer hunters, private citizens, you better wake up! There are presently 34 bills pending before Congress to do away with private ownership of firearms in America.

Handgun Control Incorporated (HCI) is pushing and using all power at their disposal to influence Congress to pass these bills and make private gun ownership a thing of the past. Members of this movement are Sarah Brady, Charles Schumer, Dennis Deconini, Pete Stark, Diane Feinstein, Bill and Hillary Clinton, Howard Metzenbaum and others. There is a five year plan to accomplish all this. It could come sooner. It will start this way:

(1) 1,000 to 2,000 per cent increase in tax and cost of ammo;

(2) Anything over 500 rounds in a home would be considered an arsenal;

(3) Make it illegal for more than four armed people to assemble;

(4) Repeal the Second Amendment;

(5) An inspection force to go around and check the number of guns in households;

(6) Ban all handguns;

(7) Ban all loading equipment;

(8) Ban all repeating and semi-auto rifles and shotguns. (Note: Banning assault weapons is a smokescreen—they're used in less than one-half of one per cent of crimes).

To quote the authors of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights:

Thomas Jefferson: "No free man shall ever be debarred the use of arms."

John Adams— "Arms in the hands of citizens may be used at individual discretion...In private self-defense."

Thomas Paine: "....arms discourage and keep the plunderer at bay, and preserve order in the world as well as property. Horrid mischief would ensue were the law abiding be deprived of them."

George Mason—"...To disarm the people is the best and most effectual way to enslave them."

We must act now! The vote will be taken shortly on these bills. Join the NRA (1-800-915-4672 or 1-800-887-4672). Call and write your Congressman, Rep. Collin Peterson at 202-225-2165 and Sen. Paul Wellstone at 612-659-0103.

Sincerely,
Myron Bolek

Mock tornado drill set

Governor Arne Carlson has proclaimed the week of April 10-16, 1994, to be "Tornado Awareness Week in Minnesota".

The annual observance is designed to educate all Minnesotans about the dangers of tornados and provide information on how to prepare for and respond to the threat of a tornado.

A statewide tornado drill has been scheduled for 1:45 p.m. on Thursday, April 14. A complete "fan out" by the state warning point will occur for the start of the tornado watch at 9 a.m. through the use of the Tornado Warning Calling Tree. The same "fan out" will occur for the mock warning alert at 1:45 p.m. Residents should exercise emergency plans for a tornado at that time.

Special emphasis is being placed on emergency planning for residents of mobile homes in Minnesota. State law requires that mobile home communities have an adequate shelter or an evacuation plan for its residents. In 1992, 51 per cent of those people who died in tornados in the United States were in mobile homes.

The following schedule for the tornado drill has been announced:

- 9 a.m. The National Weather Service will issue a mock Tornado Watch. The State Patrol will "fan out" the Tornado Watch message to the Emergency Management Director in communities throughout the state. In Thief River Falls, the Emergency Management Director is Sheriff Gerald E. Moe. The Tornado Calling Tree will be activated.
- 1:45 p.m. The National Weather Service will issue a mock Tornado Warning. Outdoor warning systems will be activated. Sirens should sound for one minute.
- 2 p.m. The mock Tornado test will end.

Holt cemetery ass'n. to hold meeting

Annual meeting of the Holt Cemetery Association will be held Saturday, April 16, at 2 p.m. in Nazareth Lutheran Church of Holt. Coffee will be served.

The Case For Going Slow With MinnesotaCare

Health care legislation is the popular activity for politicians this year and many in this state appear to be rushing to expand MinnesotaCare, the state's attempt to reform health care.

But Ryan Burt of Communicating for Agriculture suggests that they may unnecessarily be in too big a rush.

"For all the accomplishments brought about by private innovation and MinnesotaCare, many questions about the future of the state's health system remain unanswered," Burt writes. "Instead of pausing to see where we've been and where we are going, some legislators are offering proposals to MinnesotaCare that have more to do with election-year politics than with good health care policy.

"The fact of the matter is this: The framework for the most important health care reforms already is in place. There is nothing that the legislature must do in 1994 to keep MinnesotaCare on track. Provisions to expand coverage and control costs are working. The marketplace is responding to the principles of reform."

Burt believes MinnesotaCare should be removed from the "politically-charged election-year cycle," noting that doing so would give Minnesota the time needed to answer the following important questions:

- Will greater Minnesota citizens be assured access to the same level of quality care as residents of the Twin Cities? Will financially stable health care organizations be willing and able to serve greater Minnesota?
- Will the rapid consolidation of the health care industry that has occurred in Minnesota support health care reform or will it create a state of health care "haves" (residents of the metro area, employees of large businesses, the wealthy) and "have nots?"
- Is MinnesotaCare being expanded too quickly, going beyond taxpayers' ability to pay for politically popular, but very expensive provisions?

"Minnesota is accomplishing what just a few years ago seemed to be impossible (and what Congress still finds impossible): Access to health care is being expanded while costs are managed and quality maintained," Burt adds. "Stepping back and allowing time for MinnesotaCare to work won't jeopardize health reform accomplishments, it will protect them. It will allow the innovative efforts of the private marketplace to move forward without being undermined by government intervention."

Burt recalled that some years ago Congress passed a luxury tax on the theory that taxing the rich for their perceived excesses would help poor and middle class families. The result was that the purchase of such items declined drastically and thousands of people involved in their sales and manufacture lost their jobs and the tax had to be repealed.

"There is an adage that if you don't know where you are going, any road will take you there," Burt writes. "Taking time to understand the consequences of public policy is good public policy in itself. Just ask thousands of unemployed workers who were going to benefit from a luxury tax."

Some People's Profound Thoughts On Spending By Government

It was John Adams, one of the Founding Fathers of our Republic, who warned over two centuries ago: "We must consider the possibility that too many Americans want other things more than they want freedom....."

Such seems to be the case as our government is not only being permitted to drift toward socialism but encouraged by the attitude of the citizens to move in that direction. Philip C. Clarke of America's Future offers some other quotations with food for thought on America as it was, as it is and as it may turn out to be.

Former Minnesota Congressman Walter Judd, who died recently at the age of 95, said that "My years in public life have taught me that politicians and citizens alike invariably claim that government spending should be restrained—except where the restraints cut off federal dollars flowing into their cities, their businesses or their pocketbooks...."

British historian Alexander Tytler observed, "A democracy....can only exist until the voters discover they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on, the majority always votes for the candidates promising the most benefits from the public treasury—with the result that democracy collapses over a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a dictatorship."

That frightening thought has a distinct ring of truth as we observe recent actions and efforts at the federal level to control individual thinking and actions.

"If freedom is to be preserved," observes Allan Brownfeld, "Americans must rediscover the values upon which it rests—self-reliance, individualism and a jealous preservation of the natural rights which government does not bestow but which (in a free system) it should respect and with which it should not interfere. If we insist upon asking government to do things for us, we will soon learn that it is, instead, doing things to us."

To those who are willing to let others make their decisions for them and who believe that people in government will always act in their best interest, Brownfeld has a challenge.

"Can freedom survive into the future?" he asks. "Our answer must be, yes, it can, but only if we work very hard at seeing to it that the conditions and prerequisites for freedom continue to exist."

Pioneers beat Fergus Falls 15-0, 7-1

Northland starts year with sweep

Strong pitching highlighted the Northland efforts Wednesday as the Pioneers opened their 1994 baseball season with a 15-0, 7-1 Minnesota Community College Conference sweep at Fergus Falls.

"Our pitchers threw strikes," reported Northland coach Terry Wiseth. "Things go a lot better when you keep the ball around the plate and stay ahead on the count. They did a nice job."

Early success at the plate also played a key role in the outcome, explained Wiseth. "We came out and scored right away in both games," he pointed out. "It's really important to put some quick runs on the board when you're on the road – even if its just one or two."

The Pioneers were scheduled to make their home debut today (Saturday) with a 1 p.m. MCCC doubleheader against Vermilion at the Northland diamond, located behind the school.

Fergus Falls 0

Josh Stromlund, a freshman from Roseau, made his college pitching debut a memorable one – a five-inning, two-hit shut-out as Northland rolled to a ten-run rule 15-0 Game 1 rout of Fergus Falls.

Stromlund struck out seven and walked two.

In contrast, six Fergus Falls pitchers issued 18 walks. The six Northland hits included a 2-for-2 game by Marc Haugen, who scored three times, and a 2-for-4 effort by Corey Poole, who drove in three runs.

Northland grabbed a 1-0 first inning lead, then broke it open with an eight-run second that included five hits and four walks. A two-run double by Poole ignited the outburst against Fergus Falls starting and losing pitcher Kelly Pulju, who did not make it out of the inning.

Fergus Falls 1

Another solid pitching performance, this one a combined job by starter Mike Steen and reliever Mitch Bernstein, carried Northland to a 7-1 second-game win and a sweep against the host Spartans.

Steen, a freshman from Lancaster, struck out four and walked three in four innings of work for the win. Bernstein, a sophomore from Grygla, turned in three shutout innings for a save. He struck out one and did not walk a batter.

Most of the Northland offense came in a five-run top of the first when Brandon Morgan had an RBI single, Rob Burley had a two-run single and Corey Graves came up with a two-run double.

Fergus Falls' Joel Hopper pitched well after that first inning, but still took the loss.

TRF fielding young softball team in '94

A young Lincoln High School softball team opens its 1994 season Tuesday, April 12, with a 4:30 p.m. doubleheader against Bemidji at the fairgrounds diamond.

Only one senior and just three returning letter winners are on the 42-player roster.

"A lot of sophomores are going to be playing for us this year," said John Anderson, who begins his second year as head coach of the 5-year-old program. Former head coach Ken Fletcher is his assistant.

Odetta Blomker is the only senior on the team. Junior Sarah Huschle and sophomore Nicole Burns are the other returning letter winners.

Pitching is a key to success in softball, acknowledged Anderson, who said he would be using a "pitching by committee" philosophy while trying out the arms of Blomker, Huschle, sophomores Jaime Femrite, Cami Sorenson, and Tara Nesland, along with freshman Amanda Hruby.

"Defensively I don't think we'll be too bad," said Anderson. "We've got some good athletes with some good arms."

However, offense might be a question mark, Anderson admitted. Hitting was not the Prowlers' strength last spring during a 6-12 campaign. "We'll be looking for some free-swingers – kids who will be aggressive at the plate and get in their cuts," he said.

Other squad members include Jennifer Gaffaney, Cori Walseth, Erica Haglund, Lisa Vettleson, Anna Halverson, Kelsie Steiger, Angela Haugen, Kelly Clark, Rachael Stusnyski, Natalie Loeffler, Joni Larson, Erica Owen, Amy Peterson, Jayme Smith, Traci Rendulich, Jenni Flynn, Lisa Hovet, Jacki Flynn, Melissa Meyer, Erin Liden, Jana Johnson, Missy Hoffard, Bobbi Jo Telken, Kara Boughton, Traci Koivisto, Kelly Newton, Lisa Risdal, Lori Risdal, and Carrie Rud.

Vacura also led the Gators' offense with a 3-for-4 day at the plate that included two triples and a double. Casey Anderson and Eric Heggedal had two hits each for the visitors.

Tollef Olson was the starting and losing pitcher for Tri-County/Marshall County Central. Brandon Borg and Jason Blomquist pitched in relief.

515 attend co-op meeting

Fifty-sixth annual meeting and customer appreciation day was attended by 515 members and guests Wednesday, March 30, at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls.

Theme for the meeting was "A Vision for Your Future," referring to the cooperative's delivery of Direct Broadcast Satellite (DBS) television programming and other utilization of electro-technologies in the near future.

"The reason we became involved in DBS television programming is to make the rural area a more attractive place in which to live," stated Ron Kennedy, general manager of the cooperative.

Kennedy said this is an all new venture, not only for Red Lake Electric but for everyone involved. DBS television programming will soon be available to Red Lake Electric customers and everyone across America.

Roger Johanneck, manager of finance and administration, noted that 1993 was a record year for energy sales for the cooperative. "This record sale of 99.2 million kilowatt hours provided excellent margins of $579,116 for the year."

Kelly Lundeen of Trail was elected a new director from District 7, succeeding 20-year board member Verner Arveson who did not seek reelection. Reelected for three-year terms were Kermit Finstad of Thief River Falls from District 8 and Robert Olson of Middle River for District 2.

Safe worker awards were presented to three employees who had served without lost time accidents for five-year increments. Included were Ron Keea, 30 years; Dave DeHaan, 20 years; and Mike Raymond, five years.

Guest speaker Jerry O'Connor, an educator from Grand Forks, ND, entertained the audience with his command of dialects and belief that laughter is good medicine and people should pass their life's stories and heritage on to their children and grandchildren.

Local student among graduates

Valerie Kaye Prestegaard Zahara of Thief River Falls was among the students who graduated from St. Cloud State University during winter commencement ceremonies March 4. A total of 627 students were graduated at the conclusion of winter quarter. She graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor of science degree.

NWRDC votes to move its offices to Warren

River Falls, he was thankful that the process did not degenerate to the political blood bath that occurred then. He said the staff handled the process professionally and believes that everyone else wanted to avoid what happened in the past.

Don Stewart, community development director for Thief River Falls, said he thought the board and staff were surprised at the decision.

Despite the fact that it represents a loss of jobs for Thief River Falls, Stewart said it isn't the end of the world. Thief River Falls has a lot of things going for it.

Evans who only became the economic development coordinator for the communities of Warren and Argyle six months ago, gives credit for their success to many people.

He added that there seemed to be some sympathy on the part of the commissioners for small towns. He said he believes they made a good decision — a decision that supports their mission of helping small communities with economic development.

Evans said he hopes that the communities served by the NWRDC can continue to cooperate to achieve common goals.

Don Stewart also released the following statement:

"Jobs Incorporated and, I am sure, our City Council and Pennington County Board of Commissioners are obviously unhappy with the decision made by the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) to relocate their offices from Thief River Falls to Warren. The proposal prepared by School District 564 for offices and shared conference spaces in the remodeled Washington Elementary school was an excellent one and in terms of annual cost was equal to the Warren proposal. We believe, however, there are other hidden costs associated with the relocation to Warren that were possibly not seriously considered.

"There will be people out there who will say that we did not do everything we could have or should have to retain the RDC in Thief River Falls. I am personally willing to accept any responsibility for that. We were given authorization by the Jobs Board of Directors and the City Council's Finance Committee to use, within reason, whatever resources were necessary. First, people must know that in terms of available office space, with the time lines we were facing, we were very limited. Times have changed in Thief River Falls since 1986.

"We have followed the RDC's space needs and the potential for a relocation very closely for the past three years. We were involved in renegotiating their lease with Arctco a little over two years ago and worked to obtain an extension to allow time for the remodeling of Washington school so the RDC could become a tenant when that remodeling is completed late this year.

"We were advised that it was the expressed desire of the Board of Directors of the Regional Development Commission to avoid the sort of events that took place exactly eight years ago when the RDC moved from Crookston to Thief River Falls. We relied on that in putting together the incentives that were offered. The School District's proposal included an offer by Jobs Incorporated to pay the $10,200 rent for the first year and provide $25,000 to assist in remodeling the space that would have been leased by the RDC. We could have "upped the ante," but in doing so could very well have precipitated a "bidding war" and ill feelings.

"Regions and Communities within those Regions must work together and no city can afford to stand alone. It has taken many years to smooth over the ill will that was generated by the last move by the RDC. It would have served no one within our Region well to have had a reoccurrence of those events.

"We have made a number of good friends and enjoyed the working relationships with our counterparts on the RDC staff. We are very sorry that they will be uprooted again and that some of them may have to resign from their positions.

"We must also point out that any community's resources and the dollars available for economic development are limited. At this point in time Thief River Falls has more positive things going for it than we have had at any time in the past 20 years. A number of our industries such as Arctco, Digi-Key, Bridgeman's, Northern Woodwork and Independent Machine Service are showing positive, substantial growth. There are others such as Hartz Foods and Hydra-Mac who are trying to turn things around and will, possibly, require our assistance. We believe that our economic development dollars are better spent assisting local, private industry in job retention and job creation than going to a public entity such as the RDC."

Jonathen and Rose Headley filled plenty of boxes with 538,000 Campbell's soup labels. In fact, their house was so full of boxes of labels that they stored them in the old Humboldt school. The labels were mailed to Campbell's in Monticello on March 30 by UPS. The Headley's UPS driver, Roger Lundstrom, arranged that the UPS company absorb the costs of the mailing. Now it is just a matter of waiting for the computers to arrive, which they will some time after June 1.

just wonderful. They sent cards and gifts for Jonathan. He even got a mini computer from someone in Connecticut. They said he could sell it when he gets his own." She went on to say, "Tell everyone 'thank you' from the bottom of our hearts and God bless everyone."

For those of you who wish to send cards and letters to Jonathan, they can be sent to United Hospital, Grand Forks, ND 58201 until June 20, and then to his home at P.O. Box 39, Humboldt, MN 56731.

$10.2 million in highway projects set this summer

Fourteen highway construction projects totaling $10,187,000 have been designated for northwestern Minnesota for the 1994 construction season, according to Steve Baker, district engineer for the Minnesota Department of Transportation in Bemidji.

About 75 miles of trunk highways will be resurfaced or reconditioned, one bridge built and another repaired, and three railroad crossings upgraded. Three traffic signals will be added and one upgraded in Bemidji for a total of $180,000 and handicapped-accessible sidewalks and curbing added on highway 197 at a cost of $46,000.

According to Mark Anderson, Mn/DOT transportation planner in Bemidji, this is the first year that transportation project decisions were made exclusively by local staff and elected officials participating in an area transportation partnership, a coalition of transportation agencies, local government and planning agencies.

"The local control over transportation resources is essential as transportation agencies are asked to meet growing needs with less money. There is not enough money to provide the level of service on all systems that people have come to expect, which means that some hard choices have to be made," Anderson said.

The 1994 construction program for the trunk highway system is $4,813,000 less than the $15 million program which was characteristic of past years. Investment on the county systems remains about the same.

Two projects in the northwest district were added when Gov. Arne Carlson recently announced an increase of $95 million in funds available statewide.

The first of these two added projects is road repair on 14 miles of highway 72 south of Baudette. The highway 72 project was not previously programmed, but the sudden and unexpected breakup of the road this spring has necessitated spending $700,000 to repair a 14-mile segment.

Restoration of burial mounds where highway 1 crosses the Red Lake River is a mitigation project necessitated when a new bridge was constructed at the site in 1992 and 1993. The restoration project was programmed for 1995 but has been moved up to 1994 due to the availability of funds. Cost has been placed at $75,000.

Second in a series of improvement projects on highway 75 between Crookston and Hallock will be completed this summer when the segment between Stephen and Donaldson is reconditioned at a cost of $2,353,000 and the segment between Halstad and Shelly reconditioned at a cost of $1,225,000. If funding is available, the segment from Warren to Stephen will be reconditioned in 1995.

Pending availability of funding, the four-lane project on highway 2 from Bemidji to Cass Lake is projected to begin in 1995 with construction from Bemidji to the Grace Lake store as the first segment to be built.

Other projects for 1994 include resurfacing 11 miles of highway 1 to the junction with highway 75 in Warren at a cost of $664,000; installation of railroad signals in Warren at a cost of $125,000; railroad signals on highway 2 at the Soo Line tracks in Erskine, $75,000; resurfacing of 18 miles of highway 59 from Newfolden to Karlstad, $969,000; bridge repair on highway 59, 4.5 miles north of Newfolden, $150,000; a bridge over the Little Fork River on highway 11 in Koochiching county, $2,175,000; and resurfacing of 14 miles of highway 71 from Menahga to Park Rapids, $1,350,000.

Oklee is hungry to replace restaurant

Second fire this year destroys second eating place; residents rally to find way to fill the void

Oklee has been left without a restaurant after the Farmer's Club Cafe burned Tuesday morning. The fire was discovered about 7 a.m. and under control in about an hour, but the inside of the building was gutted. The brick exterior scarcely shows the damage. Kai and Frances Havaas had been running the cafe since last November. A large group of concerned citizens met Wednesday evening to discuss what to do about a new restaurant and it is hopeful that Oklee residents will soon have another place to gather for their coffee.

The city of Oklee is without a restaurant after an early morning fire Tuesday at the Oklee Farmer's Club Cafe. The Farmer's Club has been the only restaurant in town since the Copper Kettle, a part of the Oklee Recreation and Bowling Alley, was destroyed in a fire in January.

The Oklee Fire Department received a report of the fire at the cafe around 7 a.m. Tuesday, April 12. According to the Oklee Herald, Donna and Bob Sherman, owners of Bob's NAPA south of the cafe, noticed the smoke and called the fire department.

Randy Magnell, Oklee Fire Chief, said the inside of the brick building was heavily damaged. The building exterior is still standing, but the interior and roof are in bad shape. Magnell said the building is not considered a total loss, but he would say it has certainly been gutted.

No one was inside the cafe at the time of the fire. New owners, Kai and Frances Havaas, took over the cafe in November of last year. Cafe hours were normally 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, but it happened that the cafe was closed Tuesday to enable the owners to prepare their taxes.

Contacted by The Times on Thursday, Dale Volstad, State Fire Marshall, stated that there was nothing suspicious about the fire and that the furnace located in the utility room was definitely the cause. He said the owners had been having trouble with the furnace in the past and had complained of gas leaks. The Oklee fire chief said that he was also aware of a recent incident in which the furnace motor seized up.

Magnell said that the insurance investigator inspected the fire site on Wednesday and also concluded that the fire was not suspicious in nature.

The Oklee Fire Department received help fighting the blaze from the Plummer Fire Department. Magnell said the fire was brought under control in about an hour.

The Times was unable to contact Mr. and Mrs. Havaas, but according to Magnell, the Havaases are making plans to rebuild the cafe, if possible.

Wednesday evening, an open meeting was held in Oklee at the instigation of the city council to discuss what to do about the lack of a cafe in the town and find out just how townspeople felt about the need for a new eating establishment.

George Lee, Vice President of the Security State Bank of Oklee, was at the meeting. He said the meeting was very well attended and it was obvious that "the concern is there." People want a cafe in Oklee.

He said that the Havaases attended the meeting and would like to rebuild, but they are not sure that they will be able to do so very soon.

Lee said he is afraid that the insurance company will be just as slow in reimbursing the Havaases for this fire as it has been in the case of the bowling alley fire. The owners of the bowling alley cafe have not yet received the insurance settlement for their fire in January and Lee does not anticipate that the settlement on the Farmers Club will be any faster. He said it might be some

ODC merges with CWDC facility in Grand Rapids

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Occupational Development Center has announced a merger with Community Work and Development Center of Grand Rapids. The merger increases the amount of business the Occupational Development Center does in northern Minnesota by about one-third.

Peter Lavalier, director of the Occupational Development Center (ODC), which has divisions in International Falls, Roseau, Hibbing, Virginia, Crookston, Bemidji and Thief River Falls, said he is very pleased with the acquisition and merger. "Some people may ask why the ODC was interested in moving into Grand Rapids," he said, "but there are very good reasons for the move."

Lavalier explained that the ODC began managing the interests of the Community Work and Development Center (CWDC) two years ago, when the ODC was asked to help the company extricate itself from a difficult financial situation.

Basically, Lavalier explained, after eight years of mismanagement CWDC had lost its funding, had no cash or access to cash, had closed two facilities and was required to pay back to the State of Minnesota $75,000 because of obligations it could not meet.

It just so happens that the ODC was in the exact opposite position and could respond to CWDC's needs. After working out an agreement with the State of Minnesota, which allowed the ODC's excess to be swapped for the CWDC's shortfall, without any money being exchanged, the ODC agreed to manage the CWDC.

To be quite honest, some of the CWDC's problems were created because it was tied to the mining industry and another company which no longer needed its services.

The ODC did not agree to a merger two years ago because of non-business related tax problems with the IRS. Those problems were resolved within two years and a merger was eventually approved. The merger was approved by the board of directors for both businesses.

Lavalier said he felt comfortable with the merger proposal because he is originally from the Grand Rapids area, knew the "players" and had developed a good relationship with individuals in a position to assist in the merger.

The merger also became ideal for the ODC because the ODC was in the midst of rapid growth.

Gone are the times when the ODC made bird houses, picnic tables, lawn furniture, bee hives and bean bags. Now the ODC and their clients and employees, who include persons with handicaps working side by side with persons without handicaps, manufacture crates for snowmobiles, personal watercraft, die cut molds, and piece work. Lavalier said the CWDC fits nicely into production because of its ability to accept overflow work.

Growth at the ODC has practically exploded in the past year. Lavalier said they reported a growth of about 28 per cent. He expects that growth rate will continue to increase at about the same pace for next year.

Growth at the ODC is made up of two factors — programs and production. Production work involves, for example, making wood crates for Arctco and tool pouches for Polaris and Arctco. For several years, in-house production was the single most important factor at the ODC. Community Based Employment, one of its more recent programs, however, has dramatically increased.

Simply stated, Community Based Employment involves clients being hired outside of the factory site. Job work could include anything from piece work at other factories to janitorial work at local businesses. Lavalier expects this kind of work to increase by 25 to 30 per cent in 1994. By 1997, he expects this type of work to exceed work levels at the ODC factory.

Community Based Employment has created some interesting challenges for the staff at the ODC.

Nine organizations receive funds from Operation Round Up

Nine area community organizations were recent recipients of Operation Round Up funds when the Red Lake Electric Cooperative Trust Board awarded grants totaling $8,800 at its March 15 meeting.

Operation Round Up is a program administered by the cooperative in which energy customers voluntarily "round up" their monthly billing to the next highest dollar amount. These additional amounts are then transferred to Red Lake Electric Trust, a non-profit corporation formed to make donations to area community organizations and charities. More than 80 per cent of Red Lake Electric customers participate in the program.

Goodridge Area Fire Department was awarded $1,500 to be used to purchase a portable exhaust fan to clear smoke from buildings. West Central Chapter of the Alzheimers Association was given $1,500 to provide education and support for those caring for Alzheimers patients, both immediate families and health care

Four-time "Clown of the Year" to work Stampede May 6-7-8

"Butch" Lehmkuhler looking forward to "seeing that everybody has a good time"

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Here's a personal message to pro rodeo fans planning to attend the Thief River Falls Stampede May 6, 7 and 8 from PRCA "Clown of the Year" in 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1993, Alan "Butch" Lehmkuhler of North Platte, NE:

"I'm just looking forward to being there and seeing that everybody has a good time."

While that may sound short and simple and maybe even a little trite, it borders on religion for the dedicated Lehmkuhler. When he contracts to work a rodeo, he considers it his personal responsibility to put customers in the seats and be sure they are given full entertainment value.

As evidence of that belief, he said he plans to arrive in Thief River Falls early in the week to do public relations work even though the performances don't begin until Friday night, May 6.

Although the TRF Stampede has been held on the Labor Day weekend in September for its first two years, work on the floor of the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center after the county fair in July will make it impossible to hold the rodeo indoors in September. To use the indoor arena—which was packed during the three performances last year—it became necessary to move the rodeo dates ahead.

"By offering four performances (two on Saturday) and scheduling in early May, we hope to make it possible for everyone who would like to attend at least one performance of the rodeo to do so," states Randy Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions, producer of the rodeo sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.

"We feel exceptionally fortunate to be able to get Butch Lehmkuhler to be the clown and barrel man for this year's Stampede," added Randy's wife Denese. "Not only is he a hilarious performer and an active participant in all the rodeo events, he is a great guy and serious about maintaining the quality and spirit of what professional rodeo is all about. The fans are going to love him."

Tickets for the Stampede will go on sale Thursday, April 21, at Pennington Square with a $2 discount offered on all general admission tickets purchased by May 5. Reserved seat tickets and one-half price Kid's Day tickets will also be available there. In view of the sell-out crowd last year when people had to be turned away at the door, early ticket purchase is advised.

Although the spring rodeo is a change from what had become a local Labor Day weekend tradition in two short years, the timing does have its advantages. Among these is that there are fewer rodeos that weekend from which PRCA cowboys may choose. There are also more cowboys still in the hunt for points which could put them into the top 15 in their event and qualify them for competition at the 10-day, $3.3 million National Finals Rodeo.

Because of the quality of rodeo stock provided by rodeo contractor David Bailey and the big purse offered in Thief River Falls, many in the top ranks of PRCA events are expected to come here to compete.

For "Butch" Lehmkuhler, being targeted by a bull with an attitude problem is all in a night's work. PRCA "Clown of the Year" in 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1993 and Coors Man in the Can award winner in 1989 and 1992, Lehmkuhler will bring his talent for comedy and survival to the third annual Thief River Falls Stampede May 6, 7 and 8 in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Fire permits allow burning during evenings

Fire permits from the DNR are only being issued for evening hours only, according to Thief River Falls Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman.

The permits being issued are only for the burning of grass and crop fields. Previously, fires were permited during daylight hours. Now, the permits allow fires only between 6 p.m. and 8 a.m.

River Falls, he was thankful that the process did not degenerate to the political blood bath that occurred then. He said the staff handled the process professionally and believes that everyone else wanted to avoid what happened in the past.

Don Stewart, community development director for Thief River Falls, said he thought the board and staff were surprised at the decision.

Despite the fact that it represents a loss of jobs for Thief River Falls, Stewart said it isn't the end of the world. Thief River Falls has a lot of things going for it.

Evans who only became the economic development coordinator for the communities of Warren and Argyle six months ago, gives credit for their success to many people.

He added that there seemed to be some sympathy on the part of the commissioners for small towns. He said he believes they made a good decision — a decision that supports their mission of helping small communities with economic development.

Evans said he hopes that the communities served by the NWRDC can continue to cooperate to achieve common goals.

Don Stewart also released the following statement:

"Jobs Incorporated and, I am sure, our City Council and Pennington County Board of Commissioners are obviously unhappy with the decision made by the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) to relocate their offices from Thief River Falls to Warren. The proposal prepared by School District 564 for offices and shared conference spaces in the remodeled Washington Elementary school was an excellent one and in terms of annual cost was equal to the Warren proposal. We believe, however, there are other hidden costs associated with the relocation to Warren that were possibly not seriously considered.

"There will be people out there who will say that we did not do everything we could have or should have to retain the ROC in Thief River Falls. I am personally willing to accept any responsibility for that. We were given authorization by the Jobs Board of Directors and the City Council's Finance Committee to use, within reason, whatever resources were necessary. First, people must know that in terms of available office space, with the time lines we were facing, we were very limited. Times have changed in Thief River Falls since 1986.

"We have followed the RDC's space needs and the potential for a relocation very closely for the past three years. We were involved in renegotiating their lease with Arctco a little over two years ago and worked to obtain an extension to allow time for the remodeling of Washington school so the RDC could become a tenant when that remodeling is completed late this year.

"We were advised that it was the expressed desire of the Board of Directors of the Regional Development Commission to avoid the sort of events that took place exactly eight years ago when the RDC moved from Crookston to Thief River Falls. We relied on that in putting together the incentives that were offered. The School District's proposal included an offer by Jobs Incorporated to pay the $10,200 rent for the first year and provide $25,000 to assist in remodeling the space that would have been leased by the RDC. We could have "upped the ante," but in doing so could very well have precipitated a "bidding war" and ill feelings.

"Regions and Communities within those Regions must work together and no city can afford to stand alone. It has taken many years to smooth over the ill will that was generated by the last move by the RDC. It would have served no one within our Region well to have had a reoccurrence of those events.

"We have made a number of good friends and enjoyed the working relationships with our counterparts on the RDC staff. We are very sorry that they will be uprooted again and that some of them may have to resign from their positions.

"We must also point out that any community's resources and the dollars available for economic development are limited. At this point in time Thief River Falls has more positive things going for it than we have had at any time in the past 20 years. A number of our industries such as Arctco, Digi-Key, Bridgeman's, Northern Woodwork and Independent Machine Service are showing positive, substantial growth. There are others such as Hartz Foods and Hydra-Mac who are trying to turn things around and will, possibly, require our assistance. We believe that our economic development dollars are better spent assisting local, private industry in job retention and job creation than going to a public entity such as the RDC."

Jonathan and Rose Headley filled plenty of boxes with 538,000 Campbell's soup labels. In fact, their house was so full of boxes of labels that they stored them in the old Humboldt school. The labels were mailed to Campbell's in Monticello on March 30 by UPS. The Headley's UPS driver, Roger Lundstrom, arranged that the UPS company absorb the costs of the mailing. Now it is just a matter of waiting for the computers to arrive, which they will some time after June 1.

just wonderful. They sent cards and gifts for Jonathan. He even got a mini computer from someone in Connecticut. They said he could sell it when he gets his own." She went on to say, "Tell everyone 'thank you' from the bottom of our hearts and God bless everyone."

$10.2 million in highway projects set this summer

Fourteen highway construction projects totaling $10,187,000 have been designated for northwestern Minnesota for the 1994 construction season, according to Steve Baker, district engineer for the Minnesota Department of Transportation in Bemidji.

About 75 miles of trunk highways will be resurfaced or reconditioned, one bridge built and another repaired, and three railroad crossings upgraded. Three traffic signals will be added and one upgraded in Bemidji for a total of $180,000 and handicapped-accessible sidewalks and curbing added on highway 197 at a cost of $46,000.

According to Mark Anderson, Mn/DOT transportation planner in Bemidji, this is the first year that transportation project decisions were made exclusively by local staff and elected officials participating in an area transportation partnership, a coalition of transportation agencies, local government and planning agencies.

"The local control over transportation resources is essential as transportation agencies are asked to meet growing needs with less money. There is not enough money to provide the level of service on all systems that people have come to expect, which means that some hard choices have to be made," Anderson said.

Magnell said that the insurance investigator inspected the fire site on Wednesday and also concluded that the fire was not suspicious in nature.

The Oklee Fire Department received help fighting the blaze from the Plummer Fire Department. Magnell said the fire was brought under control in about an hour.

The Times was unable to contact Mr. and Mrs. Havaas, but according to Magnell, the Havaases are making plans to rebuild the cafe, if possible.

Wednesday evening, an open meeting was held in Oklee at the instigation of the city council to discuss what to do about the lack of a cafe in the town and find out just how townspeople felt about the need for a new eating establishment.

George Lee, Vice President of the Security State Bank of Oklee, was at the meeting. He said the meeting was very well attended and it was obvious that "the concern is there." People want a cafe in Oklee.

He said that the Havaases attended the meeting and would like to rebuild, but they are not sure that they will be able to do so very soon.

Lee said he is afraid that the insurance company will be just as slow in reimbursing the Havaases for this fire as it has been in the case of the bowling alley fire. The owners of the bowling alley cafe have not yet received the insurance settlement for their fire in January and Lee does not anticipate that the settlement on the Farmers Club will be any faster. He said it might be some

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Occupational Development Center has announced a merger with Community Work and Development Center of Grand Rapids. The merger increases the amount of business the Occupational Development Center does in northern Minnesota by about one-third.

Peter Lavalier, director of the Occupational Development Center (ODC), which has divisions in International Falls, Roseau, Hibbing, Virginia, Crookston, Bemidji and Thief River Falls, said he is very pleased with the acquisition and merger. "Some people may ask why the ODC was interested in moving into Grand Rapids," he said, "but there are very good reasons for the move."

Lavalier explained that the ODC began managing the interests of the Community Work and Development Center (CWOC) two years ago, when the ODC was asked to help the company extricate itself from a difficult financial situation.

Basically, Lavalier explained, after eight years of mismanagement CWDC had lost its funding, had no cash or access to cash; had closed two facilities and was required to pay back to the State of Minnesota $75,000 because of obligations it could not meet.

It just so happens that the ODC was in the exact opposite position and could respond to CWDC's needs. After working out an agreement with the State of Minnesota, which allowed the ODC's excess to be swapped for the CWOC's shortfall, without any money being exchanged, the OOC agreed to manage the CWDC.

To be quite honest, some of the CWDC's problems were created because it was tied to the mining industry and another company which no longer needed its services.

The ODC did not agree to a merger two years ago because of non-business related tax problems with the IRS. Those problems were resolved within two years and a merger was eventually approved. The merger was approved by the board of directors for both businesses.

Lavalier said he felt comfortable with the merger proposal because he is originally from the Grand Rapids area, knew the "players" and had developed a good relationship with individuals in a position to assist in the merger.

The merger also became ideal for the ODC because the ODC was in the midst of rapid growth.

Gone are the times when the ODC made bird houses, picnic tables, lawn furniture, bee hives and bean bags. Now the ODC and their clients and employees, who include persons with handicaps working side by side with persons without handicaps, manufacture crates for snowmobiles, personal watercraft, die cut molds, and piece work. Lavalier said the CWDC fits nicely into production because of its ability to accept overflow work.

Growth at the ODC has practically exploded in the past year. Lavalier said they reported a growth of about 28 per cent. He expects that growth rate will continue to increase at about the same pace for next year.

Growth at the ODC is made up of two factors — programs and production. Production work involves, for example, making wood crates for Arctco and tool pouches for Polaris and Arctco. For several years, in-house production was the single most important factor at the ODC. Community Based Employment, one of its more recent programs, however, has dramatically increased.

Simply stated, Community Based Employment involves clients being hired outside of the factory site. Job work could include anything from piece work at other factories to janitorial work at local businesses. Lavalier expects this kind of work to increase by 25 to 30 per cent in 1994. By 1997, he expects this type of work to exceed work levels at the ODC factory.

Community Based Employment has created some interesting challenges for the staff at the ODC.

Nine area community organizations were recent recipients of Operation Round Up funds when the Red Lake Electric Cooperative Trust Board awarded grants totaling $8,800 at its March 15 meeting.

Operation Round Up is a program administered by the cooperative in which energy customers voluntarily "round up" their monthly billing to the next highest dollar amount. These additional amounts are then transferred to Red Lake Electric Trust, a non-profit corporation formed to make donations to area community organizations and charities. More than 80 per cent of Red Lake Electric customers participate in the program.

Goodridge Area Fire Department was awarded $1,500 to be used to purchase a portable exhaust fan to clear smoke from buildings. West Central chapter of the Alzheimers Association was given $1,500 to provide education and support for those caring for Alzheimers patients, both immediate families and health care

Four-time "Clown of the Year" to work Stampede May 6-7-8

"Butch" Lehmkuhler looking forward to "seeing that everybody has a good time"

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Here's a personal message to pro rodeo fans planning to attend the Thief River Falls Stampede May 6, 7 and 8 from PRCA "Clown of the Year" in 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1993, Alan "Butch" Lehmkuhler of North Platte, NE:

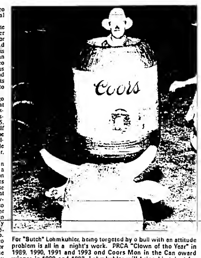
"I'm just looking forward to being there and seeing that everybody has a good time."

While that may sound short and simple and maybe even a little trite, it borders on religion for the dedicated Lehmkuhler. When he contracts to work a rodeo, he considers it his personal responsibility to put customers in the seats and be sure they are given full entertainment value.

As evidence of that belief, he said he plans to arrive in Thief River Falls early in the week to do public relations work even though the performances don't begin until Friday night, May 6.

Although the TRF Stampede has been held on the Labor Day weekend in September for its first two years, work on the floor of the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center after the county fair in July will make it impossible to hold the rodeo indoors in September. To use the indoor arena—which was packed during the three performances last year—it became necessary to move the rodeo dates ahead.

"By offering four performances (two on Saturday) and scheduling in early May, we hope to make it possible for everyone who would like to attend at least one performance of the rodeo to do so," states Randy Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions, producer of the rodeo sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.



"We feel exceptionally fortunate to be able to get Butch Lehmkuhler to be the clown and barrel man for this year's Stampede," added Randy's wife Denese. "Not only is he a hilarious performer and an active participant in all the rodeo events, he is a great guy and serious about maintaining the quality and spirit of what professional rodeo is all about. The fans are going to love him."

Tickets for the Stampede will go on sale Thursday, April 21, at Pennington Square with a $2 discount offered on all general admission tickets purchased by May 5. Reserved seat tickets and one-half price Kid's Day tickets will also be available there. In view of the sell-out crowd last year when people had to be turned away at the door, early ticket purchase is advised.

Although the spring rodeo is a change from what had become a local Labor Day weekend tradition in two short years, the timing does have its advantages. Among these is that there are fewer rodeos that weekend from which PRCA cowboys may choose. There are also more cowboys still in the hunt for points which could put them into the top 15 in their event and qualify them for competition at the 10-day, $3.3 million National Finals Rodeo.

Because of the quality of rodeo stock provided by rodeo contractor David Bailey and the big purse offered in Thief River Falls, many in the top ranks of PRCA events are expected to come here to compete.

For "Butch" Lehmkuhler, being targeted by a bull with an attitude problem is all in a night's work. PRCA "Clown of the Year" in 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1993 and Coors Man in the Can award winner in 1989 and 1992, Lehmkuhler will bring his talent for comedy and survival to the third annual Thief River Falls Stampede May 6, 7 and 8 in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Fifty-one pounds of marijuana with a street value of $160,000 were seized at 302 Sixth Street Northwest in East Grand Forks. Gacobo Hernandez, 41, was arrested in the incident. Hernandez lives near Central Middle School in East Grand Forks, and he is also being charged with eight counts of endangerment of children, some of whom were living in the residence at the time of the arrest. Each of the the endangerment charges carries a charge of a year in prison and/or a $3,000 fine.

Hernandez was also charged with failure to affix tax stamps as required by Minnesota Statue 297D, which states that if more than an ounce and a half of marijuana is possessed by an individual they need to apply for a tax stamp. This charge carries a charge of seven years in prison and/or a fine of $14,000.

SOUPCON
Sherry LaCoursiere

Today we'll have quick and easy main dish meals for busy beautiful spring days (not rainy or snowy days).

This tasty casserole is about as easy as you can get:

CHICKEN CRUNCH
1/2 cup chicken broth or milk
3 cups cubed chicken
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/3 cup slivered almonds
2 cans mushroom soup
1 cup diced celery
1 can water chestnuts, drained and thinly sliced
1 (3 ounce) can chow mein noodles

Blend all ingredients together. Bake in greased casserole dish at 325 degrees for 40 minutes.

BAKED CHICKEN 'N' BUTTER 'N' CREAM
1/2 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cut up frying chicken
1/4 cup butter
1 1/2 cups hot water
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk powder

Dip chicken into water (not water mentioned in ingredients). Coat with mixture of flour and seasonings.

Place skin side down in 9x13 inch baking pan. Dot with butter.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until golden brown.

Mix the hot water and powdered milk together. Pour around chicken. Cover with aluminum foil and bake 1 1/4 hours or more until chicken is tender.

PORK CHOPS FOR WORKING WOMEN
3 to 4 pork chops
1 can mushrooms
1 can cream of mushroom or celery soup
1 soup can water
Minute Rice
Dry onion, minced
Green pepper (optional)
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown pork chops on both sides in electric skillet. Drain.

Layer pork chops, mushrooms, onion and Minute Rice in skillet.

Spread soup over all and pour water at the side of the mixture. Cover and cook at 300 degrees for 45 minutes to 1 hour.

(Chicken may be used instead of pork chops.)

Walter Bros. dairy herd leads Pennington DHIA in February

Walter Bros. Farm had the top average production in the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for February, according to Randy and Margaret Rasmussen, supervisors.

Walter Bros. herd of 130 cows, 87 per cent of which were in milk, averaged production of 69.6 pounds of milk and 2.28 pounds of butterfat during the month.

Herds in second through third place were all on a schedule of three times per day milking. They included Mark Hanson (55 cows, 87%, 69.5 and 2.23 pounds), Kevin Kalt (65 cows, 86%, 67.9 and 2.73 pounds) and L & R Dairy (125 cows, 90%, 65.9 and 2.20 pounds).

Other herds in the top 10 included the following with number of cows in the herd, percentage in milk, pounds of milk and pounds of butterfat listed respectively:

Ben Kleinwachter, 42, 90%, 62.3 and 2.16; Andy and Karen Peterson, 34, 91%, 55.4 and 1.93; Dale and Sherri Rupprecht, 5, 80%, 54.4 and 1.97; Bob Schindler, 50, 78%, 54.3 and 1.89; Lyle Swanson, 49, 80%, 53.0 and 1.86; and Steve Nelson, 56, 91%, 51.4 and 2.02.

Herd production is averaged over all cows in the herd, so the percentage of dry cows adversely affects the herd average. There were 24 official DHIA herds on test in the month of February.

Area cities receive awards

Nine area cities were recognized by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency for top operation of their wastewater treatment plants during 1993 at the 57th annual wastewater operations seminar recently.

There were 174 facilities in the state which received the awards, including the cities of Clearbrook, Goodridge, Greenbush, Grygla, Karlstad, Lancaster, Middle River, Thief River Falls and Warren.

To be eligible for the 1993 awards, the facilities had to perform within their permitted discharge limits from January to September, submit all monitoring reports correctly and on time, show no problems in compliance monitoring or in operations and maintenance surveys and be run by certified operators.

From The Outside, Looking In....

They must make perfect sense to people who deal with legislation on a day to day basis, but some of the decisions made by legislators seem a little strange from the outside looking in.

For instance, the House of Representatives recently passed an amended version of Senate File 819 which was previously passed by the Senate. The bill provides that telephone customers would not have to pay for calls to 1-900 services if the calls were made by minors without permission. The law would also apply to the 1-800 numbers which cost money.

Under the bill, a telephone company could block a customer's access to these phone services without permission if the customer fails to pay these bills two months in a row or runs up a $500 or higher tab in a single month. The House vote on this measure was 132-0.

Now, it is well known that a state legislator and those who tried to cover up for him were in hot water after the legislator's son and others used his legislative number to run up thousands of dollars in phone calls. But it would seem there should be at least one House member who might question the authority of the legislature to tell a private business that private parties don't need to pay the bills they incur for service the business provides.

It seems to us that one of the problems in society today is that parents don't take enough responsibility for the actions of their minor children. Legislation like SF 819 certainly makes it appear that the legislators are encouraging even more irresponsibility by taking parents off the hook for the actions of their children—and they are doing it by unanimous vote.

And remember all the furor over when to start the school year in Minnesota? The legislature finally settled on starting school after Labor Day, which seemed to make good sense. If the local option had to be removed. We never could understand the educational value of two or three days of classes before a holiday even if students attended. For a number of young people, whose families were involved in resort and other tourism businesses or agriculture, or were 4-H club members who attended the State Fair, absenteeism for the school days before Labor Day was rampant.

So after reaching that decision several years ago, for the 1994-95 school year the legislature has returned the option to local districts to start early if they elect to do so. The reason? Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, starts on what would normally be the first day of school after Labor Day. According to the April 8 issue of "Session Weekly," a legislative news publication, "Jewish children do not go to school on Rosh Hashanah; the two days are traditionally set aside for confession and introspection." Allowing districts to begin school before Labor Day would allow these students to attend the opening day of classes.

It would make sense to us, from the outside looking in, to stay with the adopted system of no classes before Labor Day and allow school districts which find the Jewish New Year to be an attendance problem to begin classes two days later. If they couldn't pick up the slack during the school year, allow them to add two days to the end of the year.

Some people might even say, with all the flap about separation of church and state, that juggling public school schedules for a religious holiday is improper. It has been said about Christmas.

Oh, the vote on allowing the schedule change? 129-0 in the House and 65-1 in the Senate. That shows how little someone on the outside knows.

And then there's the matter of a bill by Rep. Thomas Pugh of South St. Paul that would remove the $4.50 refund option which persons over age 65 can request from purchase of a Minnesota fishing license, and make a change in the fishing license surcharge. The state loses $4.70 in federal matching funds for each $4.50 refund. We think the refund was always a bad idea. Not only do many people over age 65 have more time to fish and therefore do more fishing, those who can't afford $4.50 for a full year's license can't afford to go fishing anyway.

But another portion of the bill would eliminate the $2.50 fishing license surcharge paid by most non-senior anglers and raise the license fee by the same amount. The switch would divert the surcharge money from smaller dedicated accounts for fish rehabilitation programs and place it in the larger game and fish fund.

This is a case of changing the rules instead of refining the system and amounts to a simple license fee increase. Surcharges are added for specific purposes. If there is no longer a need for funds for those purposes, the surcharges should be removed. The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has been taken to task for using dedicated funds for purposes other than the specified uses. This change, in effect, would legalize what had been misuse.

There is a reason for dedicated funds, and it is simply to make sure they are used for the purposes they are provided. Legislators and administrators in agencies of government don't like dedicated funds very well at all. They restrict tinkering and game playing. Politicians and bureaucrats like big lumps of "general fund" money that can be used as "discretionary" financing with minimal accountability. It gives them more "freedom" to give consideration to "special needs." It places, as the old saying goes, the fox in charge of the chicken coop.

Of course, this is just a view from the outside looking in.

Clients are paid by how much work they complete when compared to other individuals without handicaps. This rate is determined by averaging a number of time studies. Time studies determine an average time by actually using a stop watch to time an "average" person when he or she performs a specific function in a specifically defined area numerous times. This has to be done at every site because each site is unique. This is where the ODC has had some difficulties, but some of those difficulties have been a result of federal and state laws trying to catch up with a changing job market.

This job market has changed the lives of many individuals with handicaps. Lavalier said practically any person with a handicap who wants to work can find work. Currently, the ODC has 550 clients and 200 staff.

The ODC does not house clients or provide transportation but it does work with a number of agencies to coordinate both. Handicapped accessible buildings have also not been a problem. Lavalier said they had to remodel a bathroom at one division, but it wasn't expensive beyond reason. He also said businesses have been very accommodating.

Lavalier noted that the ODC has just hired a consultant to perform a comprehensive needs survey of persons with handicaps in the area.

In terms of finance, the merger with CWDC means that the $4.5 million a year business of the ODC will increase by about $2 million per year.

There will be some changes at the ODC as a result of the merger. They are currently studying a proposal to increase the size of the 12-member board to 18 members. That change alone could figure in other changes.

Power of attorney presentation planned at Heritage Center

Sherry Gruehagen, certified trainer and paralegal from Legal Services of Northwest Minnesota (LSNM) from Moorhead will be at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls Friday, April 22, to speak on the new Minnesota Health Care Power of Attorney. The presentation will begin immediately following the luncheon meal. All senior citizens are invited to share in the meal, which begins at 11:45 a.m., and to attend the presentation. There is no charge for the presentation.

The legal seminar is sponsored by Legal Services of Northwest Minnesota, the Northwest Area Agency on Aging and the Heritage Center.

LSNM is a federally funded, non-profit organization established to provide free legal services to low-income people and senior citizens. Services are provided by legal staff and private attorneys in the local area who are reimbursed by LSNM. LSNM is partially funded with federal Older Americans Act dollars through the Area Agency on Aging and the Minnesota Board on Aging.

For further information, contact LSNM on the toll-free WATS line, 1-800-450-8585.

"JESUS IS KING MINISTRIES"

Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. Mark 11:24

What a great promise! God has laid out principles for the Christian to make use of. We sometimes complain about the problems we have, instead of using those principles to work for us.

Let's ask God to remind us of the the next time we want to complain about things that happen in our lives. When we seek the Lord in prayer, we will see the mighty arm of God move on our behalf.

Seamless Aluminum Guttering
Heating, Air Conditioning
378-4641 378-4585

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.

Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Winter's not over.

Not for most of the trees and shrubs at Bergeson Nursery. We keep trees and shrubs bare root and dormant in a cool storage building at 35 degrees until the end of May. Why? They are easier to plant. They require less watering and no staking. And they cost much less. Call or write for a complete catalogue, or bring your jackets and browse.

NORTHWEST REGIONAL LIBRARY

Northwest Regional Library is your independent learning center. Northwest Regional Library serves our population, from the youngest pre-schooler to the oldest adult. We provide a variety of services for you, depending on your needs and wants.

As an independent learning center, we try to provide you with what you need to learn a new skill, or to brush up on an area of interest. If you need to learn how to fix that leaking plumbing in your home, we have books on plumbing for you. If you need to learn how to sew, we have books that will teach you how. If you want to learn how to build a deck onto your home, we have not only books, but also videos that will guide you in your efforts.

The materials we have for your use are varied. We have print materials such as books, magazines and newspapers. We also have videos, cassette tapes, and compact discs. We have IBM computers in each of our branch libraries for the public to use. We have computer access to the collections of the academic libraries throughout Minnesota as well as the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, North Dakota.

The materials which we have in Northwest Regional Library are entered into a computer database. This database, called AURORA, includes the collections of the libraries of three regional libraries, including Lake Agassiz Regional Library (Crookston, Moorhead, Detroit Lakes), Kitchigami Regional Library (Bemidji, Brainerd), and Northwest Regional Library. The libraries of these three regional libraries share their materials with one another (58 libraries in all). So, if you are in need of a particular book by your favorite author, we can search the materials of three library systems and try to find the book for you. For those books or subjects that are not found in the three regional libraries, we have access to the larger libraries of the Twin Cities for you. All you need to do is ask, and we will try to find what you need.

The libraries across the State of Minnesota participate in reciprocal borrowing. That means if you have a library card from your local library, you may use that library card to borrow materials in any library in Minnesota. So, wherever your travels may lead you in our fair state, remember to take your library card along and check out the library in the town in which you are visiting.

Our libraries have materials to meet many of your needs. Those of you who are parents will find help in learning how to raise your children from the parenting books of our libraries. We have videos, as well as books, with parenting hints. For those of you contemplating a trip across America or around the world, check out our travel videos as well as our travel books. Do you want to learn how to cook? Check out a cookbook from our collection. Are you planning a wedding? We have wedding books as well as how-to-make wedding flowers books in our libraries. Those of you who have an interest in history will find books and videos with an historical perspective. Do you like to read about the lives of people, famous or not so famous? You will find biographies in our libraries that may interest you. Do you like to read poetry? We have books of poems just waiting for you to discover.

Our libraries provide you with a place to find out information about a product before you buy. Are you thinking about buying a new car, or a new refrigerator? Come to the library, we have magazines that will tell you which will meet your needs the best. Are you interested in setting up your own business? The library has informational books as well as videos and cassettes to help you. Do you travel many miles? Try listening to books on cassette to help wile away the miles.

The library has not only the materials for you to learn a skill, but is also the place to come and find a book to read simply for relaxation. We have mysteries and love stories. We have adventure books and westerns. We have classics as well as new books. If you haven't just relaxed with a good book in a while, go to your local library and find a book to read. We have something for just about everyone's likes. And, if we don't have the book you would like to read, remember to simply ask your librarian and we will try to find it for you.

Do you have trouble seeing the words in a typical book? Our libraries have large-print books for you. These books cover a variety of subjects. You will find stories to read, as well as inspirational books in large print format.

Our libraries have materials for all ages. Each of our libraries have special books just for pre school children. The "board" books are easy for a little one to hold and "read." For the beginning reader, our libraries have picture books as well as beginning-to-read books. Our libraries also have books on cassettes just for children. Are you looking for a video for your children to watch? Our libraries have videos just for children. Each of our libraries has a special story hour for pre-school children to attend and listen to stories being read to them.

Older children and young adults also have materials at our libraries just for them. There are stories as well as informational books for each of these age groups. So, if your child wants to learn how to play baseball or tennis, come to your library to check out books to show him how. If your young adult wants recreational reading material, direct your young person to the library, we have many titles to meet a variety of interests.

Our libraries are neighborhood centers. If you want a comfortable spot to sit a bit and read a newspaper, or work on homework, or simply think, your local library may be the place for you. If you need to hold a meeting, our libraries have places for your group to meet.

Northwest Regional Library has much to offer. If you haven't visited one of our branches recently, now is a good time to check out your local library. Three of the five counties we serve have not only the services of a library, but also our library on wheels. Our Bookmobile travels to Kittson, Marshall and Red Lake counties, stopping at regularly scheduled times in the communities to provide library services.

If you have questions or need library materials, and you can't go to one of our Branches or the Bookmobile

Track teams have solid outing

Both Thief River Falls teams had strong showings Tuesday at the annual Crookston Northwest Indoor high school track meet – a four-team event held inside the Winter Shows Building.

East Grand Forks boys won with 82 points, followed by Thief River Falls with 73 2/3, Crookston 53 1/3, and Bemidji 35. Bemidji girls were winners with 73 points, followed by East Grand Forks with 58, Crookston 57, and Thief River Falls 36.

Smaller numbers for the girls spelled the difference in the two Thief River Falls point totals, explained Prowlers coach Tim Olson.

"It was a fun," said Olson. "The kids ran well. They did a nice job. I was extremely pleased with their performances."

Steve Burslie was a double-event winner for the Thief River Falls boys in the 200 and 400-meter races. Jon Hendrickson won the 800 and David Jones took the 1600, while Jason Breiland, Rob Bakken, Burslie, and Hendrickson combined on a first place sprint medley relay team.

Jessica Bugge led the Thief River Falls girls with a first place effort in the 400.

It was the third and final indoor meet of the 1994 season for the Prowlers, who will be outside for the first time Monday at the Park Rapids Invitational.

Tennis team opens with two 6-1 losses

Strong East Grand Forks and Moorhead teams handed Thief River Falls a pair of 6-1 setbacks Thursday in double-dual season-opening boys high school tennis action at East Grand Forks.

"The kids were thrown into high-level competition right from the get-go," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney. "East Grand Forks is one of the top ten teams in the state in Class A, and Moorhead will be challenging Fergus Falls in (North Sub-Section 8AA) in Class AA. I thought our veterans (Derek Dahlstrom, Tony Miramontes, Kyle Jordet, Keith Anderson, David Johnson) played well, and we saw some good things from our first-timers (Brock Walseth, Scott Fogarty, Tom Stumpf, Scott Grand, Kent Larson). We're only going to get better."

Anderson and Johnson combined for a win at No. 1 doubles against East Grand Forks, while Dahlstrom picked up a win at No. 2 singles vs. Moorhead for the Prowlers' only points of the day.

T-C/MCC batters struggle in early season contests

For the second straight game, Tri-County/Marshall County Central was limited to one hit Tuesday in an 11-0 high school baseball loss to Warroad at Karlstad.

Tri-County/Marshall County Central lost a 13-1 season-opener to Badger/Greenbush-Middle River the previous Thursday.

Tuesday, a fourth inning single by Jason Blomquist was the only hit off Warroad lefthander Troy Mattern, who struck out 15 in the six-inning contest.

Blomquist was the starting and losing pitcher for Tri-County/Marshall County Central. Shawn Leach was solid in three innings of relief, with Brandon Borg appearing on the mound in the final frame.

Seniors Jeff Twomey, Eric Dowers, Scott Grand, and Jeff Lundgren were varsity special award winners Tuesday at the annual Thief River Falls high school hockey banquet.

Twomey and Dowers were named co-winners of the Don Breiland Memorial Most Valuable Player Award. Grand was selected as the most dedicated player and Lundgren was presented with the Coaches Award.

Twomey and Grand are forwards. Dowers and Lundgren are goalies.

Junior Tim Barry was voted as the Prowlers' 1994-95 captain, succeeding Twomey, Marc Seaverson and Brent Kleinvachter, who served as tri-captains this winter.

At the junior varsity level, Jared Lee was named most valuable and Corey Jenkins was tabbed most dedicated.

Athletic letters went to seniors Joby Looker, Corey Olson, Dowers, Grand, Kleinvachter, Lundgren, Seaverson, and Twomey; juniors Tony Halsa, Brian Howe, Barry, and Lee; sophomores Keith Anderson, Jason Breiland, Nick Chiodo, Aaron Ehrenstrom, Andy Furuseth, Paul Gonsorowski, Chad Hanson, Kaine Martell, and Steve Rambeck; along with student managers Ryan Skibicki and Brent Johnson.

Participation certificates were presented to juniors Matt LeMoine and Jenkins; sophomores Kyle Cedergren, Adam Fulton, Craig Huot, Brad Inglis, Chane Keefe, Josh Melby, Brandon Poole, Ryon Poole, and Rob Slock; plus freshman Bryan Cleven.

Thief River Falls went 9-15 this winter, reaching the Section 8A semifinals before losing to eventual Class A state champion Warroad 5-1.

"It was a young team." Although the roster included eight seniors, nine sophomores played extensively.

"We knew we would take some lumps," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Glenn Chiodo, "but from a personal standpoint, I was happy with our season. I was satisfied. The kids played hard all the way to the end. The record is not the difference between a good year and a bad year. It was a good group of kids to work with. It was as much fun as I've ever had with a group of kids."

Highlighting the 1993-94 season was a school-record seven overtime games played by the Prowlers, who went 4-3 in those extended outings.

Chiodo stepped down as head coach at the end of the season.

Bemidji swept Thief River Falls 20-3 and 7-1 Tuesday in a pair of five-inning season-opening North Sub-Section 8AA high school softball games at the fairgrounds diamond.

Bemidji	20
Thief River Falls	3

Thief River Falls pitcher Odetta Blomker went through the Bemidji line-up in smart 1-2-3 fashion to start the doubleheader, but then ran into control problems as the Lumberjacks chopped down the Prowlers 20-3 in Game 1.

The winners combined eight hits with 12 walks and three hit batters. Eight of the first 15 Bemidji runs crossed the plate on wild pitches. A nine-run Bemidji third inning brought Jami Fremstad on in relief of Blomker.

Lisa Hovet was 2-for-2 and Caml Sorenson went 2-for-3 in the seven-hit Thief River Falls offense against winning pitcher Jody Stebe.

Peter S. Prichard is Editor of USA TODAY, the nation's largest circulation daily newspaper. He is also Senior Vice President/News and Chief News Executive of Gannett Co., Inc., the nation's largest newspaper company.

Prichard has been editor of USA TODAY since Oct. 1, 1988. At the end of 1988, the national newspaper's circulation was 1,656,467. In his more than five years as editor, the newspaper's average daily circulation has climbed to 2,035,000, an increase of more than 378,000 copies per day, or 23 percent.

Born in Auburn, California on Dec. 18, 1944, Prichard grew up in Thief River Falls. He served 13 1/2 months in Vietnam with the U.S. Army in 1968-69 as an intelligence adviser to the South Vietnamese Army in the Mekong Delta. He was awarded the Bronze Star, and the South Vietnamese Army Staff Service Medal.

A 1966 graduate of Dartmouth College, Prichard began his journalism career in 1970 at the Greenwich (Conn.) Time, where he was a copy editor and then assistant to the editor. In 1972, he joined Gannett as a reporter at the Rochester (NY) Democrat and Chronicle, where he was the first journalist to win two first place awards in one year from the New York State Bar Association, for reporting on drugs and the criminal justice system.

He joined WOKR-TV, the ABC affiliate in Rochester in 1975 as Associate News Director and producer of the 6 p.m. newscast. In 1976, he returned to the Rochester newspapers as a reporter and television columnist. He joined the Gannett corporate staff in 1978 as an assistant to Gannett President and CEO Allen H. Neuharth, and later became Director of Communications for Gannett's Office of the Chief Executive.

When USA TODAY was launched in 1982, Prichard was named columns editor of the editorial page. He was promoted to Deputy Editorial Director in March 1983 and then Associate Editorial Director in August 1984.

In 1987, Prichard wrote "The Making of McPaper, The Inside Story of USA Today." The book sold 28,000 copies in hardcover and was named one of the best journalism books of 1988 by Kappa Tau Alpha, the National Journalism Scholarship Society. It has been translated into several languages and is used in journalism courses at universities.

Prichard then returned to USA TODAY where he held a succession of management jobs, and in 1988, as Senior Editor/News, he directed the newspaper's coverage of the campaign and election. He was named Editor Oct. 1, 1988 and Chief News Executive for Gannett April 26, 1990.

A member and chairman of several boards and committees, Prichard has served twice as Pulitzer Prize juror.

He is the recipient of several professional awards, including distinguished service award from the National Association of Secondary School Principals for USA TODAY's contribution to education coverage; an alumni award for distinguished service in journalism and public affairs from The Dartmouth, the daily newspaper serving the college community in Hanover, NH; and a distinguished professional achievement award from the University of Maryland Journalism School.

– Tony Dorn, Sr. –

Marlyn (Tony) Dorn was born and raised in Thief River Falls, graduating from Lincoln High School in 1944.

He was a three-year letterman in football, hockey and track for the Prowlers, serving as captain of the team that won the 1942 invitational state hockey tournament. He was named in the Minnesota State High School League handbook as one of the outstanding football players in the state.

Dorn was invited to the Chicago Blackhawks' 1944 training camp, and played that season in the East Coast League – the first Thief River Falls player to sign a pro contract.

In 1945, Dorn enlisted in the Navy. He intended to return to the Blackhawks following his service committment, but his father died and family circumstances dictated a change in plans. He remained in Thief River Falls, playing hockey in the States-Dominion and Northwest Hockey Leagues for many years. During that time he was named to numerous all-star teams, including a squad representing Crookston that went on to win the U.S. Senior hockey championship.

Business prohibited Dorn from accepting an invitation from the U.S. Olympic team. He was employed by Grundy's Office Supplies, and eventually bought the business, transforming it into a large, and still-growing area operation with stores in Thief River Falls and Grand Forks, ND. He has been recognized by the Canon Corporation as one of the most successful distributorships in their company.

Dorn, the first youth hockey coach in Thief River Falls, who helped organize the program which evolved into the present Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association, continues to be a big supporter of all community projects.

Pioneers, split twinbill vs. BSU JV

A Tuesday baseball doubleheader matching Northland Community College and the Bemidji State University junior varsity turned into a run-scoring slugfest as the Pioneers and host Beavers combined for 47 hits and 47 runs – and a twinbill split.

Bemidji won the opener 14-9. Northland took the nightcap 14-10.

Not surprisingly, Northland coach Terry Wiseth has been more than satisfied with the offensive production to date for the Pioneers, who have scored 67 runs in winning five of their first six games, reaching double figures four times.

"We're not displeased at all with the kids at the plate," he said. "They're hitting the ball well."

Bemidji State JV	14
Northland	9

Bemidji scored five times in the bottom of the fifth to break open a one-run game and went on to beat Northland 14-9 in the first half of the doubleheader.

Corey Graves, Ray Reinhart, Josh Stromlund, and David Blazek had two hits apiece for the Pioneers. Reinhart drove in three runs.

Errors and some tough luck kept Northland starting pitcher Jeremy Olson in hot water throughout his three-inning stint. Rick Ostby struggled in middle relief and took the loss. Greg Lien pitched the final inning.

Northland built an 8-2 built, then held on for a 14-10 second-game win and the split.

Marc Haugen had a 3-for-5 game at the plate, while Brandon Morgan, Rob Burley and Aaron Zimmerman had two hits apiece for the winners.

Mitch Bernstein turned in four innings of work as the Northland starting pitcher. Mike Steen, Josh Stromlund and Morgan all pitched an inning in relief, with Stromlund getting the win and Morgan picking up a save.

Buckled vents show the evidence of heat and smoke that poured out of the Farmer's Club Cafe in Oklee Monday morning. The cafe interior was gutted by the blaze, which was brought under control by the Oklee and Plummer Fire Departments. The State Fire Marshall said that there was nothing suspicious about the cause of the fire and that a faulty furnace was to blame.

A charred wooden beam looks almost artistic, but the damage caused to the Farmer's Club Cafe Tuesday morning was anything but. The inside of the cafe was left in ruins, even though the brick exterior scarcely shows the effects of the fire. Oklee residents are in the process of planning how they can get another cafe in town as soon as possible.

time before the Havaases have the money to rebuild, even if they want to do so.

In the meantime, Oklee needs a cafe and all of the townspeople seem to be in favor of it. "Everyone war really upbeat about something good happening. A lot of good ideas came up last night," Lee said.

Lee added that the group discussed funding of some kind and the possibility of obtaining a grant to pay some of the costs of building a permanent restaurant in Oklee. There was also discussion on the formation of a development corporation to look into creating an eating establishment for the city. He said, "The city is very interested in getting something going."

As far as tomorrow's breakfast coffee and rolls and luncheon soup and sandwiches, Lee said that there is talk of some sort of temporary eating place in Oklee that would provide meals for a few months or however long it took to establish a new cafe. He did not want to elaborate, but said there are "a couple of real good items that I hope will materialize."

According to the Oklee Herald, the Farmers Club fire is the sixth in the town since 1964. Oklee Recreation was destroyed by fire in March of 1964, the Oklee elevator and warehouse burned in 1967, a large part of the Oklee Manufacturing Company was gutted by fire in 1970, the Arcady Inn was destroyed in 1985 and the Oklee bowling alley and Copper Kettle in January of 1994.

After overcoming the effects of five other major fires in the past 30 years, it would appear that Tuesday's blaze is just another little hurdle to the citizens of Oklee. No doubt, from the sound of it, the determined, innovative townspeople will work together to have another cafe up and running in no time.

Elect area men to commodity council posts

Several area men were elected to farm commodity research and promotion councils at the elections held recently, according to the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

Incumbents James Thompson of Kittson county and Ronald Tommerdahl of Norman county were elected to the barley council. Gary Purath of Red Lake county was reelected to the beef council, and Arthur Brandli of Roseau county and incumbent Charles Swanson of Kittson county were elected to the wheat council.

Terms begin July 1 and persons elected serve for three years. A total of 31 people were elected to six different statewide councils with a total of 1,385 ballots cast.

"Clown of the Year" to be at TRF Stampede

In the bull riding event the largest purse offered in any rodeo in the United States or Canada that weekend is in Thief River Falls.

Lehmkuhler Interview

In a telephone interview Thursday evening, Lehmkuhler said that he started rodeo clowning and bullfighting at the age of 20 while a student at Chadron College in Nebraska. He had grown up on a farm and been awed by rodeo performances from the time he was a small boy.

Although he was a capable saddle bronc rider, he competed in a circuit with some of the top riders in the nation and wound up adding to their take-home pay instead of earning much himself. Working on a degree in education, it didn't take too long for him to figure out that wasn't a paying proposition.

Clowning was. It gave him a chance to be part of the sport and life he loved and get paid every time out. At first it was a summer supplement to his teaching job, but as he worked his way up from high school and college rodeos into the pro ranks, he made another educated decision.

"In 1988 I quit teaching and went into rodeo full time," he said. "It says something about American values that I could leave teaching and triple my salary by running fast and acting goofy."

As good a teacher as he might have been—and might be again—he is a better clown. Not only was he selected in a vote by the top 100 PRCA contestants in each event and all of the other categories involved with the PRCA as "Clown of the Year" in four of the last five years, he was the "Coors Man in the Can" award winner as the world champion barrelman in 1989 and 1992.

"When I went to full-time clowning in 1988, one of my goals was to work the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas by 1990. And it turns out that war the year I did get to perform there," he said. Selected by the bull riders themselves, being named one of the two barrelmen to work the NFR is the most prestigious job a man in the rodeo clown profession can get.

"Butch" has also worked six separate circuit finals, the 1989 Dodge National Circuit finals and the Wrangler Bullfight finals in 1989, 1990 and 1992. He har also performed at major rodeos in Calgary, Alberta; Cheyenne and Cody, Wyoming; and Fort Worth and San Antonio, Texas.

In 20 years of working rodeos, the 40-year-old Lehmkuhler has earned his diploma from the "School of Hard Knocks." Rodeo is America's most dangerous sport, and "Butch" explains that winners and losers are determined by who can walk out of the arena. If you want to perform in pro rodeo, you better learn your job quickly and do it well.

"I suppose you could say that if we didn't get hurt we wouldn't be doing our job," he says of the role he—as the barrelman—and the bullfighter play in the rodeo arena. It is their responsibility to protect the cowboys in the bull riding event. How well does "Butch" do his job?

"Other than knee ligament damage....dozens of sprained ankles, wrists and fingers....dislocated shoulders....two crushed vertebrae ....a broken rib or two....and a crushed cheek bone, eye socket and upper jaw...I have been fairly lucky to get by with only three to four hundred stitches and the normal bumps and bruises," he said. "But nothing serious has happened yet."

For about a dozen years "Butch" was a bullfighter himself. He began concentrating on clowning and being the barrelman about eight years ago.

Lehmkuhler's bullfighting barrel weighs 170 pounds. It has half an inch of padding on the inside for him and three inches on the outside for the bull.

"If the bull hurts his head on the barrel, he won't want to play with it any more," Lehmkuhler explains, "so we make it nice and soft for him."

"Butch" said he has developed a reputation based on three performance areas: (1) Spontaneous comedy in talking with the announcer; (2) his trampoline act; and (3) his actions that provide entertainment even if the spectator can't hear what is being said.

At the peak of his career he is making 80 to 125 performances at 25 to 35 rodeos a year from coast to coast, border to border, into Canada and even to Hawaii—where he says there are some good bucking horses and tough bulls.

He is now being selective on when and where he performs and intends to work more at his own pace in the future, probably some day returning to teaching—the job for which he was educated.

But that's some other day, not right now. First he har to come to Thief River Falls for the Stampede in May....to see that everybody has a good time.

Fire threatens RLF elementary school

Red Lake Falls — A grass fire south of the J.A. Hughes Elementary School in Red Lake Falls was heading toward the school after it bypassed the school fence last Wednesday. Red Lake Falls volunteer firefighters got the blaze under control after it burned a path of about 300 feet.

MN Dehydrated Vegetables, Inc. may move from Fosston

Fosston — The owners of Minnesota Dehydrated Vegetables, Inc. (MDV, Inc.) have informed the Polk County Commissioners that they may have to move the plant out of the county because of the high cost charged for the steam used in the dehydration of their vegetables. MDV, Inc. is the owner of the Mr. Carrot vegetable processing plant in Fosston. The owners say that possible investors have told them the steam costs are 40 per cent too high. Polk County Commissioners agreed to meet with MDV, Inc. owners to work out a steam contract. Officials from MDV, Inc. will also be meeting with the Fosston City Council and the Fosston Economic Development Commission to discuss the steam contract and sources of short-term financing for working capital for the company.

July 4 weekend festival to have 3 days of events

Dozens of potential activities were outlined and an invitation extended to Thief River Falls communities and organizations to get in on the action when a meeting on plans for a Fourth of July weekend celebration was held Thursday evening, April 21, at the C'mon Inn of Thief River Falls.

Events are planned for all three days of the holiday weekend, July 2, 3 and 4. A number of suggestions were presented at the Thursday evening meeting, although all may not be organized and others may take place instead or in addition to those suggested.

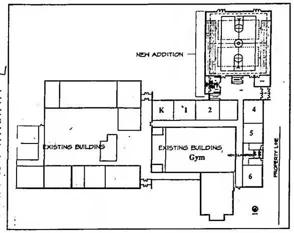
Paul Nelson, CEO of Hartz Foods, Inc., chaired the meeting and the community steering committee promoting the festival. He said that a budget of $20,000 to $25,000 for promotion and production of the weekend events will be underwritten by local business interests and will include a large fireworks display tentatively planned for Sunday evening, July 3.

Local non-profit organizations are being encouraged to conduct activities which can help raise funds for their groups or provide them with greater public attention. Various food sales operations are being suggested among other things as it is expected the festival will draw attendance from a wide area.

Organizations interested in operating food concessions during the festival are asked to call Hartz Foods at 681-3450, extension 246, and talk to Larry Hagman about the type of food they have an interest in serving. Hagman will help coordinate the concessions to assure a variety of food items being available for the public.

It was emphasized at the meeting that non-profit groups setting up concessions for the weekend will not be charged a fee for participation and will retain their profits. These organizations will be given the first opportunity to provide food sales. Commercial food operations may be allowed to operate if it is deemed necessary to provide variety or meet the expected demand, but will be required to pay a participation fee.

The committee is also looking for organizations and groups to sponsor individual activities during one or more of the three-day festival. The activities may be those suggested on a list of possibilities or other activities which organizations may be interested in promoting. Representatives of interested groups may contact Bob Bergan or Julie Olson at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce office, 681-3720.



Activities listed as possibilities, some of which are already confirmed and in the further planning stages, include the following:

Saturday, July 2—10K or 5K running event, parade, food stands, beer garden, art in the park with craft show and events, Bingo, dog show, band concerts, square dancing and line dance lessons;

Sunday, July 3—Pancake breakfast, ecumenical church service, speaker on Americanism, beer garden, food stands, bands, Bingo, milk carton races, log rolling, personal watercraft races, scuba diving demonstrations, sand castle contest, "Take a Hike" on the Riverwalk, softball tournament, canoe races, bicycle races, volleyball tournament and fireworks;

Monday, July 4—Memorial service at Friendship Gardens, welcome home ceremony for Lincoln high school marching band, family picnic, games for all ages (trike, 3-legged and wheelbarrow races, cow chip toss, watermelon seed spitting, balloon toss, croquet), Pioneer Village demonstrations and ice cream social.

General membership of the chamber of commerce is being invited to meet with the steering committee next week and weekly meetings are being planned by the committee each Thursday to monitor development of the festival and make changes where needed.

Voters in School District 447 voted 382 to 111 on Tuesday in favor of a bond issue to add a new gymnasium to the school in Grygla and make other modifications at a cost not to exceed $950,000. The new addition will be constructed to the north of the northeast corner of the present building and will include a new entryway for the school.

Grygla voters approve gym

By more than a three to one margin Tuesday, voters in School district 447 approved a general obligation bond issue of $950,000 to build a gymnasium addition and make related improvements in the Grygla school.

Total vote was 382 (78%) in favor and 111 (22%) opposed, with the issue carrying at all three polling places in the district.

At Grygla the vote was 310 to 67 (82% to 18%). At Gatzke the voters approved the bond sale 59 to 34 (63% to 37%) while at Skime the vote was closer with 13 in favor and 10 opposed (57% to 43%).

Supt. Sal Hoffert said the school board and administration were pleased with the turnout of voters and the election result. The 92x100 addition will be constructed north of the present entryway to the school, with the present entryway to be converted into a classroom. A new entryway to the school is included in the plans for the addition.

According to information provided to residents of the school district in a mailing and at two public information meetings, the school district qualifies for sparsity aid from the State of Minnesota which is expected to pay about 62 per cent of the cost of the addition with the district's taxpayers to pay the remaining 38 per cent.

The bonds would be financed over a 20-year period with a larger repayment after the district's existing debt of $270,000 is retired in 1999, thereby equalizing the tax impact of the new issue.

According to Supt. Hoffert, the new gymnasium will have a regulation size basketball floor with roll-out bleacher seating for about 600 people. This will accommodate crowds for games, graduation, concerts and other events. When the bleachers are rolled back, the floor will be of sufficient size that two basketball courts side by side will be available for practice and physical education programs.

In addition to the gymnasium, the building project will include a new room in the current mini gym for parents and children in early childhood education. The weight room will be moved to the former third grade room and will be accessible from the new gym corridor, resulting in better supervision for the gym and weight room.

Two new restrooms which are handicapped accessible will be constructed, replacing existing restrooms which will be combined with the present entryway into a new fifth grade classroom.

With passage of the bond issue, architects for the project expect that construction will begin as soon as excavation can get underway. It is projected that all phases of the new construction will be completed by Jan. 1, 1995.

Garden club tradition remains alive

Membership falls over the years but many clubs continue to serve social and horticultural needs

For nearly fifty years, area garden clubs have produced more than flowers and vegetables for their families. Many area garden clubs like the one above were formed in 1948 and the clubs have done much to beautify their communities and generate public interest in wildlife and the environment since that time. Many area towns owe their communities' beautiful flower gardens and stately trees to members of local garden clubs. Members have formed fast friendships through the clubs and several clubs beautify public parks and other areas.

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

Spring has sprung and throughout the area many fingers are itching to dig into the earth and plant little seeds which will become big blossoms. The fertile soil of northwestern Minnesota produces plentiful flowers and vegetables so it is no wonder that garden clubs abound in the area.

For years, The Times has printed notices of meetings of groups with rather strange-sounding names, like Moccasin, Sow and Hoe, Deer Park, Campanula, Town and Country, Sun-Brite, Forget-Me-Not. These are the names of area garden clubs. Some are no longer active, but some of the names can still be seen in the community pages of The Times.

In an area that runs southeast from Red Lake county, north to the Canadian border and as far west as Kittson county, approximately 15 regional garden clubs are presently members of the 13th District Horticultural Society. The 13th District Society began as the Ninth District Horticultural Society in 1948. When the Ninth District Society became too large it was divided, and the present area became the 13th District Society in September of 1959, with Inga Geving as president. The first workshop put on by the new 13th District Society in April of 1960 was at the Badger Lutheran church, attended by 20 different garden clubs with a total of 322 members.

The 13th District Society is a member of the Minnesota State Horticultural Society, started in the Twin Cities area in 1868 by a group of apple growers. In the 126 years since the Society was founded, horticulture has changed. From apple trees to necessary kitchen gardens during the depression, through the Victory Gardens of the war years and the white picket fenced flower gardens of the 1950's, garden clubs have kept pace with the changing horticultural interests of the country.

Buckled vents show the evidence of heat and smoke that poured out of the Farmer's Club Cafe in Oklee Monday morning. The cafe interior was gutted by the blaze, which was brought under control by the Oklee and Plummer Fire Departments. The State Fire Marshall said that there was nothing suspicious about the cause of the fire and that a faulty furnace was to blame.

A charred wooden beam looks almost artistic, but the damage caused to the Farmer's Club Cafe Tuesday morning was anything but. The inside of the cafe was left in ruins, even though the brick exterior scarcely shows the effects of the fire. Oklee residents are in the process of planning how they can get another cafe in town as soon as possible.

time before the Havaases have the money to rebuild, even if they want to do so.

In the meantime, Oklee needs a cafe and all of the townspeople seem to be in favor of it. "Everyone was really upbeat about something good happening. A lot of good ideas came up last night," Lee said.

Lee added that the group discussed funding of some kind and the possibility of obtaining a grant to pay some of the costs of building a permanent restaurant in Oklee. There was also discussion on the formation of a development corporation to look into creating an eating establishment for the city. He said, "The city is very interested in getting something going."

As far as tomorrow's breakfast coffee and rolls and luncheon soup and sandwiches, Lee said that there is talk of some sort of temporary eating place in Oklee that would provide meals for a few months or however long it took to establish a new cafe. He did not want to elaborate, but said there are "a couple of real good items that I hope will materialize."

According to the Oklee Herald, the Farmers Club fire is the sixth in the town since 1964. Oklee Recreation was destroyed by fire in March of 1964, the Oklee elevator and warehouse burned in 1967, a large part of the Oklee Manufacturing Company was gutted by fire in 1970, the Arcady Inn was destroyed in 1985 and the Oklee bowling alley and Copper Kettle in January of 1994.

After overcoming the effects of five other major fires in the past 30 years, it would appear that Tuesday's blaze is just another little hurdle to the citizens of Oklee. No doubt, from the sound of it, the determined, innovative townspeople will work together to have another cafe up and running in no time.

Elect area men to commodity council posts

Several area men were elected to farm commodity research and promotion councils at the elections held recently, according to the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

Incumbents James Thompson of Kittson county and Ronald Tommerdahl of Norman county were elected to the barley council. Gary Purath of Red Lake county was reelected to the beef council, and Arthur Brandli of Roseau county and incumbent Charles Swanson of Kittson county were elected to the wheat council.

Terms begin July 1 and persons elected serve for three years. A total of 31 people were elected to six different statewide councils with a total of 1,385 ballots cast.

In the bull riding event the largest purse offered in any rodeo in the United States or Canada that weekend is in Thief River Falls.

Lehmkuhler Interview

In a telephone interview Thursday evening, Lehmkuhler said that he started rodeo clowning and bullfighting at the age of 20 while a student at Chadron College in Nebraska. He had grown up on a farm and been awed by rodeo performances from the time he was a small boy.

Although he was a capable saddle bronc rider, he competed in a circuit with some of the top riders in the nation and wound up adding to their take-home pay instead of earning much himself. Working on a degree in education, it didn't take too long for him to figure out that wasn't a paying proposition.

Clowning was. It gave him a chance to be part of the sport and life he loved and get paid every time out. At first it was a summer supplement to his teaching job, but as he worked his way up from high school and college rodeos into the pro ranks, he made another educated decision.

"In 1988 I quit teaching and went into rodeo full time," he said. "It says something about American values that I could leave teaching and triple my salary by running fast and acting goofy."

As good a teacher as he might have been—and might be again—he is a better clown. Not only was he selected in a vote by the top 100 PRCA contestants in each event and all of the other categories involved with the PRCA as "Clown of the Year" in four of the last five years, he was the "Coors Man in the Can" award winner as the world champion barrelman in 1989 and 1992.

"When I went to full-time clowning in 1988, one of my goals was to work the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas by 1990. And it turns out that was the year I did get to perform there," he said. Selected by the bull riders themselves, being named one of the two barrelmen to work the NFR is the most prestigious job a man in the rodeo clown profession can get.

"Butch" has also worked six separate circuit finals, the 1989 Dodge National Circuit finals and the Wrangler Bullfight finals in 1989, 1990 and 1992. He has also performed at major rodeos in Calgary, Alberta; Cheyenne and Cody, Wyoming; and Fort Worth and San Antonio, Texas.

In 20 years of working rodeos, the 40-year-old Lehmkuhler has earned his diploma from the "School of Hard Knocks." Rodeo is America's most dangerous sport, and "Butch" explains that winners and losers are determined by who can walk out of the arena. If you want to perform in pro rodeo, you better learn your job quickly and do it well.

"I suppose you could say that if we didn't get hurt we wouldn't be doing our job," he says of the role he—as the barrelman—and the bullfighter play in the rodeo arena. It is their responsibility to protect the cowboys in the bull riding event. How well does "Butch" do his job?

"Other than knee ligament damage....dozens of sprained ankles, wrists and fingers....dislocated shoulders....two crushed vertebrae ....a broken rib or two....and a crushed cheek bone, eye socket and upper jaw...I have been fairly lucky to get by with only three to four hundred stitches and the normal bumps and bruises," he said. "But nothing serious has happened yet."

For about a dozen years "Butch" was a bullfighter himself. He began concentrating on clowning and being the barrelman about eight years ago.

Lehmkuhler's bullfighting barrel weighs 170 pounds. It has half an inch of padding on the inside for him and three inches on the outside for the bull.

"If the bull hurts his head on the barrel, he won't want to play with it any more," Lehmkuhler explains, "so we make it nice and soft for him."

"Butch" said he has developed a reputation based on three performance areas: (1) Spontaneous comedy in talking with the announcer; (2) his trampoline act; and (3) his actions that provide entertainment even if the spectator can't hear what is being said.

At the peak of his career he is making 80 to 125 performances at 25 to 35 rodeos a year from coast to coast, border to border, into Canada and even to Hawaii—where he says there are some good bucking horses and tough bulls.

He is now being selective on when and where he performs and intends to work more at his own pace in the future, probably some day returning to teaching—the job for which he was educated.

But that's some other day, not right now. First he has to come to Thief River Falls for the Stampede in May....to see that everybody has a good time.

The weight room will be moved to the former third grade room and will be accessible from the new gym corridor, resulting in better supervision for the gym and weight room.

Two new restrooms which are handicapped accessible will be constructed, replacing existing restrooms which will be combined with the present entryway into a new fifth grade classroom.

With passage of the bond issue, architects for the project expect that construction will begin as soon as excavation can get underway. It is projected that all phases of the new construction will be completed by Jan. 1, 1995.

Garden club tradition remains alive

Membership falls over the years but many clubs continue to serve social and horticultural needs

For nearly fifty years, area garden clubs have produced more than flowers and vegetables for their families. Many area garden clubs like the one above were formed in 1948 and the clubs have done much to beautify their communities and generate public interest in wildlife and the environment since that time. Many area towns owe their communities' beautiful flower gardens and stately trees to members of local garden clubs. Members have formed fast friendships through the clubs and several clubs beautify public parks and other areas.

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

Spring has sprung and throughout the area many fingers are itching to dig into the earth and plant little seeds which will become big blossoms. The fertile soil of northwestern Minnesota produces plentiful flowers and vegetables so it is no wonder that garden clubs abound in the area.

For years, The Times has printed notices of meetings of groups with rather strange-sounding names, like Moccasin, Sow and Hoe, Deer Park, Campanula, Town and Country, Sun-Brite, Forget-Me-Not. These are the names of area garden clubs. Some are no longer active, but some of the names can still be seen in the community pages of The Times.

In an area that runs southeast from Red Lake county, north to the Canadian border and as far west as Kittson county, approximately 15 regional garden clubs are presently members of the 13th District Horticultural Society. The 13th District Society began as the Ninth District Horticultural Society in 1948. When the Ninth District Society became too large it was divided, and the present area became the 13th District Society in September of 1959, with Inga Geving as president. The first workshop put on by the new 13th District Society in April of 1960 was at the Badger Lutheran church, attended by 20 different garden clubs with a total of 322 members.

The 13th District Society is a member of the Minnesota State Horticultural Society, started in the Twin Cities area in 1868 by a group of apple growers. In the 126 years since the Society was founded, horticulture has changed. From apple trees to necessary kitchen gardens during the depression, through the Victory Gardens of the war years and the white picket fenced flower gardens of the 1950's, garden clubs have kept pace with the changing horticultural interests of the country.

Area garden clubs today are keeping pace with modern issues such as healthy eating, protecting the environment and finding medicinal uses of plants, as well as something they have been doing for years, making communities beauti-

MN Auditor is not happy about decision

Crookston — Minnesota Auditor Mark Dayton said he is very disappointed in a Revenue Department investigation which cleared the Polk County Assessor Dale Halos of misconduct charges that Dayton raised in December. Dayton's office had outlined five incidents in which its investigation found that Halos acted improperly as county assessor. Dayton's report also said it found poor morale and "extremely disruptive" attitudes among staff in the office. After investigation, the Revenue Department found no impropriety in any of the actions and concluded that "no disciplinary action of any kind" was called for. Dayton said his office will take no further action, despite the fact that he feels the revenue Department "made up excuses" for the alleged inappropriate action by Halos.

Vacant house destroyed by fire near TRF

The cause of a fire that destroyed a vacant house northeast of Thief River Falls in North township is still under investigation.

Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman said the fire department received a report of the fire at 3:10 p.m. April 21. The old vacant house was engulfed in flames when they arrived. Indications are that the fire spread from a grassy area nearby. There was no other property damage.

Marshall history society receives $5,000 memorial

Marshall County Historical Society has received a $5,000 donation from Mrs. Eunice Hagen of Gatzke in memory of her husband Delmar who died Sept. 2, 1988. The gift is to be used at the discretion of the board.

In observance of the Minnesota Statehood Centennial in 1958, Delmar Hagen drove his ox "Napoleon" pulling an oxcart from Pembina, ND to St. Paul, following as much as possible the original fur traders' route of the Pembina Trail. He arrived in St. Paul in time for the Minnesota State Fair.

The oxcart used on that journey has been donated to the Marshall County Historical Society and is on display at the museum at the Marshall county fairgrounds in Warren.

The museum will officially open for the season on Monday, May 2, and be open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. During June, July and August the museum will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from noon to 4 p.m. Sundays.

At the historical society's board of governors meeting April 12 in the Spruce Valley community center in Middle River, several ideas were discussed as to how to make the donation from Mrs. Hagen a lasting memorial. The board also expressed appreciation for this and other gifts which enable the society to continue to grow.

The Red Wing raspberry has revolutionized the old berry patch. It bears from the last week in August through the first hard frost. Its plump berries are gathered in easy-to-reach clusters at the end of each branch. At the end of the season, just mow the patch over. Next year's crop will bear on new growth. No trimming. Easy picking. No wonder some old-timers think the Red Wing hurts our work ethic. Available for $2.50 per plant or 10 for $20.00

To The Editor:

The Fairness in Broadcasting Act or Fairness Doctrine is a bill being proposed in Congress that would regulate radio and television broadcasts in regard to program content and subject matter. And Congress is quietly trying to sneak the bill through by attaching it to an unrelated bill.

The Fairness Doctrine would force stations to give free, equal time to both sides of any controversial issue. Politicians and government regulators would then have the power to decide what issues were too controversial and if the coverage of those issues was fair. This would not only be costly for some stations (especially smaller ones), but it would also censor coverage of issues.

The Fairness Doctrine was found to be unnecessary and possibly unconstitutional in the 1980s by the Federal Communications commission when it decided that it interfered with broadcasters' abilities to freely discuss issues of public importance.

But now, politicians are trying to revive the bill by quietly attaching it to another bill: possibly a campaign finance reform bill.

An organization to which I belong, Citizens United, did a poll of House members asking if they would support or oppose the Fairness in Broadcasting Act. While most said they opposed it, many would undoubtedly vote for it if it were attached to another bill with which they agreed.

If the Fairness in Broadcasting Act is such a good idea that our Congressional leaders will knowingly impose it on the American people, then it should be able to stand on its own, rather than being quietly attached to another bill. but if the idea is so bad that most members of Congress oppose it, then why will they vote for it in any form?

Congress needs to be sent a clear message. The Fairness Doctrine is a bad idea, and the American people do not want legislation passed that is so questionable that it must be passed secretly.

Sincerely,
Ms. Alma Peterson

To The Editor:

As an American citizen who has served in the military and who tries to live within the laws of the land, I'm very worried about the pending gun legislation not only in Washington but also on the state level.

Time and again studies have shown that gun control has no effect on crime control. This was really evidenced by the recent Rossi-Wright studies as well as others.

What I see happening here is a total disregard for the Constitution and rights of the American citizens. It's not crime control I see happening as much as people control.

Why is it we never see statistics showing how many lives have been saved because people were armed? For example, we hear a lot about the Kileen, Texas shooting but nothing about the other incident in another town where a man armed legally saved about 27 lives because he shot the potential killer.

According to a recent Gleck Study, handguns are used at least 650,000 times a year for personal protection. So, how many lives have been saved here?

Criminals openly admit they fear the armed citizen more than the police. Records show armed citizens shoot potential criminals three times more than the police do. Why should citizens be deprived of this right to defend life and property?

With a 95 per cent chance of never doing any jail time, criminals really have nothing to lose. In addition, four out of five state prison inmates are there as repeat offenders. What does this tell us about any lesson learned?

Seventy per cent of all violent crimes are committed by only six per cent of all violent criminals. Why penalize the rest of the citizenry and neglect attention to that fact?

In conclusion, I want to say we're moving fast toward a socialistic police state where only criminals and the elitist police squads will have guns. This is no laughing matter—there are 34 pending gun bills waiting to be passed to disarm the honest American citizen and thus open the door for criminals to really go to work......Yes, we better wake up!

Sincerely,
Gerald Gonshorowski

To The Editor:

The time for a vote on health care is getting closer each day, but how much does one hear about health care rationing or abortion funding? Not much, thanks to the media, especially TV.

There seems to be an apathetic stand being taken in this country toward anything pro-life. We need to continually let our Representatives in Congress know that we do not want our health care rationed.

For example, if a person 65 to 70 years old would need a heart bypass and he or the would be judged by a government health worker as not worth saving because of some other life-threatening condition, the operation would not be performed due to rationing of funds available. This also applies to other handicapped adults and children if the handicap is "judged" not appropriate.

President Clinton's health plan prevents anyone from buying more health care than a specifically limited amount. This will do nothing to limit waste. When rationing would become effective, less and less care would be given.

Rationing of health care in Sweden means that parents of a premature baby must watch him or her die—not because the baby couldn't be saved, but because medical treatment is denied by rationing.

Funding for abortion is another request in the Clinton Health Plan. Where can anyone using common sense see a connection with health care and killing babies? President Clinton and Hillary have an obsession for abortion unlike anything we have ever seen and will pull the wool over our eyes to accomplish their end.

A month or two ago, Mother Teresa, while attending the National Prayer Breakfast in Washington, DC, said: "By abortion the mother does not learn to love, but kills her own children—and by abortion the father is told he does not have to take responsibility." Bill and Hillary Clinton attended the event, but did not applaud when 3,000 others applauded.

When Hitler ruled Germany the people there were apathetic to his demands. Finally, it was too late to do much about the situation. Please don't let that happen here in this country.

Keep writing letters to your Congressional leaders. If you have written, write or call again. They have a tendency to forget us.

They've Gone About As Far As They Can Go....

Minnesota Senator Roger Moe of Erskine is probably right that the state legislature has "gone about as far as we can go" when it comes to passing laws about ethics. The most recent act was the passage of a bill—unanimously in the Senate—which bans virtually all meals and gifts given to legislators by lobbyists.

Most Minnesotans outside the legislature would be hard pressed to find fault with the bill. And that prevailing attitude among the electorate was most likely the major motivating factor in the unanimous vote. Legislators who insist their votes can't be bought with a meal or a gift—and that attitude must be close to unanimous as well—voted for the restrictive bill in an attempt to pacify their constituents.

Sen. Moe notes that in his approximately two decades in the legislature the process has undergone considerable change. Access to the legislature has been opened more widely to the media and the public and the power of a small and elite group of insiders at the State Capitol has been dissipated—although positions of power certainly remain. One of the costs of that openness has been the exposure of legislators as human beings with human frailties and failings instead of all-seeing and all-knowing and all-wise decision makers with only the best interests of the entire state at heart.

The senator quotes Abraham Lincoln as having advised his colleagues in policy-making that "If you once forfeit the confidence of your fellow citizens, you can never regain their respect and esteem." This is recognition of truth in the adage: "Fool me once, shame on you; fool me twice, shame on me."

Sen. Moe also quotes from the Josephson Institute of Ethics in California: "In today's cynical environment, conduct is viewed in the worst possible light; you will be presumed guilty until you prove your innocence; and all public officials are considered no better than the worst."

Although Sen. Moe obviously voted for the most recent ethics bill if the vote was unanimous, he also obviously isn't all that thrilled about it nor optimistic about its value.

"Most of my colleagues in the legislature believe that the latest ethics reforms reflect a presumption that most legislators are inherently unethical. By passing a total ban on gifts and meals from lobbyists, we are giving credence to the perception that votes can be bought.

"Although it is not fashionable," he adds, "I'm going to stick up for my colleagues. Virtually all of them hold the public trust in highest regard, acting in the interests of their constituents."

Apparently one of those acts was adoption of the ethics bill.

We think passage of the ethics bill was good. It serves as a reminder to elected officials that the highest conduct is expected of them. And if it doesn't alter the already high ideals which Sen. Moe ascribes to his colleagues, there is no harm done by putting the bill on the books.

"The laws set high standards, and that's certainly appropriate," Sen. Moe states. We agree. "It would be a mistake to say that these laws assure the public of ethical conduct, though," he adds. We agree again.

"It's time to move the debate to the next level. Legislators should be held accountable for their actual conduct. The media should be held accountable when they don't report fairly or accurately about what is happening in state government," Sen. Moe says. "The public also must take a role in restoring trust in the governing of our state. None of this will come easily. It takes a whole lot more than passing a law."

Once more we agree. We have said the same thing about a number of laws that have been passed as if the mere passage would solve problems. In this case, however, all it takes to make the letter of the ethics law work is for the lawmakers to obey it. That will be the first step in restoring public confidence in its officials.

What We Really Meant To Say Was....

Headline writing is one of the more challenging aspects of newspaper work—and one of the most frightening as well. Errors made in stories are bad enough, but they don't stand out like mistakes made in the large and bold type of headlines. It continues to be a mystery how obvious errors can escape detection until the press run is nearly completed or the papers are in the mail and on the newsstand.

And while we have made our share of errors, it is somehow comforting to know that we don't make them all. Evidence of that is the sample of headline "bloopers" published in a recent issue of the Minnesota Newspaper Association Bulletin. We thought you might enjoy a laugh at someone else's expense, as we did, so here they are:

- Bush gets briefing on drought; says rain needed to end it
- Mayor says D.C. is safe except for murders
- Wall Street: Experts are sure the Dow will either rise or decline
- Searchers find Big Ugly child (Dateline: Big Ugly, WV.)
- Engine falls off plane, lands safely at O'Hare
- Bush orders Army troops to U.S. Virgins
- Tribal council to hold June meeting in June
- Helicopter powered by human flies
- Screwdrivers were made to tighten, loosen screws
- Three ambulances take blast victim to hospital
- Teacher dies; board accepts his resignation.

"Pamper Yoursell" workshop and luncheon April 29

"Pamper Yourself" is the title of a Workshop and Luncheon to be held during Secretaries' week Friday, April 29, from 12 noon to 4:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls. All office support professionals are invited. Cost of the event is $15 per person.

Registration will begin at 12 noon and lunch will be at 12:30 p.m. Following the lunch, participants can choose to attend any two of the following sessions: "True Colors" presented by Beth Kuehera, "Line Dancing" taught by Helen Anderson, "A New You for Spring" presented by Amy Vandestreek, and an "Entertaining with Class" demonstration by Merlin Schroeder and Zak Ibrahim.

Co-sponsors of the workshop are the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Education Committee and the Northwest Technical College Customized Training Division.

Pre-registration is requested by Wednesday, April 27. To register, contact the Chamber of Commerce, 1027 South Highway 59, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or call 218-681-3720.

Associate Editor David Hill is shown presenting the first $25 prize for the March Northern Watch Story of the Month idea to Norma Hanson of Goodridge. She suggested a story about the Goodridge Depot. It appears that the story contributed to the total depletion of the supply of the Northern Watch for that date. The Watch is offering a $25 cash prize each month to the person who submits the idea for the best news or feature story used that month. Suggestions from outside the Thief River Falls community are especially welcome. Send in your own or someone else's story today.

CORRECTION

In last week's "Keeping Watch Around the Region," the price paid for the purchase of the Harry Howard property by the City of Warren was stated incorrectly. The correct price was $12,500. The amount of $125,000 in the story, "New NWRDC home," was incorrect. The Northern Watch regrets the error.

Fires destroy buildings

Goodridge fire department responded to two fires in which buildings were destroyed last week.

On May 19 at about 4 p.m. they received a report of a fire in Kratka township, section 14. Fire Chief Dale Hanson was not sure how the fire started, but noted that a house was saved. The shed, which contained a couple of snowmobiles, was destroyed, however. No one was home at the time of the fire.

On May 20 at about 12:30 p.m. the fire department responded to a report of a fire at the junction of Highway 1 and 28. A grass fire had gotten out of control and had spread to an trailer home. The trailer was destroyed in the fire. Hanson said no one was injured in the fire, and it was put out in less than an hour.

Hanson is concerned about the number of fires that have been reported. Conditions are dry and windy, and residents should use common sense when setting fires to burn off fields.

Newfolden man dies in accident

Robert Earl Johnson, 61, rural Newfolden, died in a one vehicle accident Thursday evening.

Marshall County sheriff's department received a report at about 6 p.m. Thursday, April 21, that a vehicle had gone off a bridge on a township road. The accident was located two miles south and two miles west of Middle River. When officers arrived they found a vehicle partially submerged in water. Johnson was taken from the vehicle and transported to Northwest Medical Center where he was pronounced dead.

According to the sheriff's department, preliminary indications are that Johnson may have drowned. Personnel assisting at the scene were the Middle River Fire department and ambulance. The accident is still under investigation by the Marshall county sheriff's department.

Northland runner Marc Heugen completed a head-first slide across the plate as the ball bounced away from Brainerd catcher Bill Oelrich in the first inning of the second game in Wednesday's community college baseball doubleheader at Northland. Umpire Louis Oeere was in position to make the call on the play as Heugen scored from third on an infield ground-out. Brainerd won the first game 7-3, but Northland won the second game 11-1 in six innings.

Prowlers lose '94 home opener, 5-4

Blaise Larson had a big day at the plate Thursday as Red Lake Falls/Plummer/Oklee beat Thief River Falls 5-4 in high school baseball.

Larson was 3-for-3 with a double and two singles, a walk, and five runs-batted in. He also stole three bases as the Red Lake County spring cooperative went to 3-1 for the year.

The loss spoiled the 1994 Irv Wilson Field debut for the 1-3 Prowlers.

A quick start staked the winners to a 2-0 first inning lead as Shane Myhre reached base on a game-opening error, Brian Gervais walked and Larson sent a two-run double over the head of the centes fielder.

An opposite field double down the left field line by Nick Chiodo and a two-out bloop single into short centes field by Steve Burslie put Thief River Falls on the board in the bottom of the first.

The Prowlers went ahead 3-2 in the second on a first-pitch two-run Eric Bjorgaard home run over the left field fence.

Red Lake Falls/Plummer/Oklee went back on top 4-3 in the top of the fourth when Jessie Barbot was hit by a pitch. Myhre singled up the middle and Oervais walked to load the bases for Larson, who greeted relief pitches Jayson Olson with a two-run single through the left side of the infield.

Thief River Falls tied it 4-4 in the bottom of the inning on a lead-of walk issued to Chanc Keefe, a sacrifice bunt by Nathan Anderson and a two-out RBI single up the middle by Olson.

But the same set of circumstances broke the tie in the sixth when Myhre walked to start the inning, advanced to second on a sacrifice by Gervais and scored on a single down the right field line by Larson, the only player on either side with two or more hits.

Bjorgaard worked 3 1/3 innings before leaving after loading the bases in the fourth. He gave up four runs and three hits, walked five and struck out four. Olson went the final 3 2/3 innings and took the loss. He surrendered three hits, struck out three and walked one.

Winning pitcher Ryan Ulrich worked five innings, giving up four hits while striking out four and walking three. Aaron Chaput pitched two perfect innings in relief for a save, striking out two.

Pioneers in middle of divisional race

Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division baseball leaders Brainerd and Northland retained their positions Wednesday following a doubleheader split in Thief River Falls.

Brainerd won the opener 7-3, but Northland answered with an 11-1 second-game decision. Results left the Raiders 8-2 and the Pioneers 6-2 in MCCC play. Brainerd is 9-2 overall; Northland is 7-3.

Top two teams in both the MCCC Northern and Southern Division standings at the mid-way mark of the season earn berths in the May 13-15 National Junior College Athletic Association Region 13 tournament in the Twin Cities area. At season's end, the top three divisional finishers qualify for the MCCC state tournament, again in the Twin Cities area.

At 4-2 Itasca and Hibbing are both competing with Brainerd and Northland for a Northern Division regional berth, while Fergus Falls is a long shot at 4-6. UMC and Vermilion trail the field at 0-8.

Northland will close out the first half of its 1994 Northern Division schedule this weekend with 12-noon doubleheaders against area rival University of Minnesota-Crookston today (Saturday) in Thief River Falls and vs. Itasca Sunday in Grand Rapids.

After starting the year with sweeps against Fergus Falls and Vermilion, Northland has split three straight twinbills in similar fashion – losing Game 1 and winning Game 2.

"We would have liked to swept Brainerd," said Northland coach Terry Wiseth. "And I think we could have if we would have been a little sharper in the first game. But we seemed to have developed a pattern where we don't play that well in the first game, then come back and get the job done in the second game."

Brainerd	7
Northland	3

Defense spelled the difference in Brainerd's 7-3 Game 1 win. Simply put, the Raiders made the plays. The Pioneers, who had four errors, didn't.

Two first-inning Northland misplays helped stake Brainerd to a quick 3-0 lead against Pioneers starting pitcher Greg Lien.

A third inning Mitch Becker home run, a fourth inning high-bouncing RBI single over third by Jon Cerney and a pair of fifth inning errors made it 6-1. Mitch Bernstein, the scheduled second-game startes, came on in relief in the fifth. He gave up a two-out walk and then a run-scoring single by Bill Oelrich in the sixth.

Northland runs came on a bases-loaded fielder's choice ground ball by Corey Graves in the fourth, a RBI single by Bernstein in the fifth and on a seventh inning error.

Bernstein was 2-for-4 for the Pioneers. Oelrich was 2-for-3 for the Raiders.

Winning pitcher Tim Shereck struck out three and walked four before giving way to Paul Cckalla after issuing two seventh inning walks.

Corey Graves, a freshmen from Red Lake, hit a fourth inning grand slam home run to lead Northland past Brainerd 11-1 in a 10-run rule six-inning second game.

Graves' shot snapped a 1-1 tie. The Pioneers added a pair of runs in the fifth and wrapped it up with four more in the sixth.

Rick Rivera was 2-for-3 with two doubles and two RBI for the winners, while Marc Haugen went 2-for-3 with a pair of stolen bases and Corey Poole was 2-for-4.

Mitch Bernstein struck out three and did not walk a batter in a five-hit complete game pitching performance for the win.

TRF girls face strong field in first golf meet

How tough was the competition the Thief River Falls girls faced in their 1994 high school golf season opener? Very. The Prowlers began the year Tuesday at the Fosston Invitational, where they ran into the two-time defending Class A state champion Greyhounds and 1993 Class A individual state medalist Amy Dahle of Red Lake Falls/Plummer/ Oklee.

Fosston dominated play, taking the top three individual spots and the team title by a 29-stroke victory margin over runner-up East Grand Forks. Thief River Falls was fifth in the 10-team field.

"We were pleased for our first time out," reported Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell. "Fosston is unbelievable. They're the best team in the state, Class A or Class AA. They have a real golf dynasty."

Despite high winds, the Greyhounds' Angie Carlin had an impressive 39 for medal honors. Teammates Kris Hanson and Kathy Larson finished second and third, respectively, followed by Dahle.

NCC basketball bounces back

Northland Community College men's basketball is on the rebound, according to second-year Pioneers head coach Mark Dannhoff.

State champion in 1991-92 under Chet Engelman, Northland struggled through a 4-18 campaign with Dannhoff a year ago. That won-loss figure improved to 8-14 this winter when a 5-5 Minnesota Community College Conference record kept the Pioneers in the Northwest Division race until the very end.

"I have a lot of respect for the 14 guys we had on last year's team," said Dannhoff, "but we put a more talented group of kids on the floor this year. Offensively we were very esplosive. We increased our (field goal) shooting from 30 to 44 percent and our scoring average went from 60 to 85 points per game. That took a lot of pressure off our defense."

And the Pioneers did it with a team that relied hesvily on freshmen. Seven first-year players were in the starting line-up at one time or another, and four of them were full-time starters.

"With all of our freshmen, I don't think anyone expected us to finish where we did this year," said Dannhoff. "That was a real credit to the players. We had some kids who could play the game, and they worked hard. It was a fun year – one of the most enjoyable years I've had in coaching because of the kids' hard work and dedication to basketball."

While the freshmen played well, they did at time play like...freshmen, admitted Dannhoff. "Our freshmen were asked to play like sophomores, and at times they did," he explained. "But at times our inconsistency was frustrating – inconsistency that comes with playing that many freshmen."

Three Pioneers carried double figure scoring averages this winter as 5-10 Scott Burton (Canton, Ohio) scored 19.8 points per game, 5-10 Demond Watson (Chicago, Illinois) averaged 15.5 and 6-0 Chad Kujava (Warren) finished at 13.8.

Burton and Watson earned Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northwest Division honors, and Burton was an MCCC All-State honorable mention pick.

The ball arrived in plenty of time for Northland catcher Corey Graves to make the tag on Brainerd runner Dan Rocheleau in the first inning of Wednesday's community college doubleheader opener in Thief River Falls. Umpire Mike Drury watched the action as Rocheleau tried to score from first on a bases-loaded double off the center field fence by Tim Shereck. The Raiders won the game 7-3, but the Pioneers won Game 2 by an 11-1 margin.

Mickelson, Malwitz lead RLCC

Heading into the 1993-94 season, Angel Mickelson and Meckenzie Malwitz figured to be the leaders for the Red Lake County Central girls high school basketball team. And they were.

Malwitz, a 5-9 sophomore, led the team with a 12.7 points-per-game scoring average, 7.9 rebounds per game and a team-leading 43.7 percent shooting figure from the field.

Mickelson, a 5-10 senior, averaged 11 points and a team-high 11 rebounds per game as the Oklee/Plummer cooperative put together an 8-14 season.

"Realistically, that's about the number of games we thought we would win considering the people we had back and the teams we faced," said Rick Koivisto, who has been a head coach for 17 years.

Three of the Mustangs' setbacks were by a single point.

"We had trouble facing pressure defense, and our free throw shooting percentage (42.9) wasn't very good," pointed out Koivisto, "but we did play better basketball toward the end of the year."

Mickelson, Karlene Jolly, Farrah Brantl, and Amy Arlt will all be lost to graduation this year.

Roseau River Wilderness Drive area open to public

Seven-mile wildlife drive for vehicular access to the Roseau River Wildlife Management Area, 20 miles north of Roseau, is open to the public from one hour before sunrise to one hour aftes sunset each day April 23-May 1.

The drive completely encircles the Pool One East Wildlife Sanctuary. Ducks, geese and other marsh waterfowl can be observed, along with a variety of other wildlife.

A portion of the drive is one-way traffic only. The recommended entry point is the main dike road, located 1 3/4 miles south of the headquarters on Roseau County Road 3. Motorists are urged to use caution because of narrow roads, soft shoulders and deep ditches. Speed limit on all wildlife management roads is 20 miles per hour.

Inclement weathes may require closing the drive if roadways deteriorate.

Some of the roadways do not have a gravel surface, and they become very softball and slick with moisture. Also, emergency spillway in the dikes may have six inches of water or more running over them, and vehicles with low clearance could easily become stuck.

TRF, Grygla teams advance

Sjoberg. The team earned 89 points for its second place finish.

Crookston earned first place with 108 points. The team is coached by Brian Follette and includes Kevin Capistran, Tim Dudley, Jeff Olson, Matt Saari and Tyler Vandermay plus computer operator Rachel Hanson.

Grygla placed third after a tie-breaker round with Greenbush/Middle River. Each of the teams had 88 points at the end of the standard rounds, and Grygla emerged victorious by one point following the tie-breaker round.

Members of the Grygla team, coached by Orvis Haugen, included Kurt Englund, Brian Haugen, Jamie Lunsetter, Carlye Schuler and Ben Saurdiff.

Thief River Falls started well with 45 points in the written round, second only to Crookston's 47. The team scored 11 points in the first oral round, tied for third in that round behind Crookston and Bemidji with 14 each; 12 in the second round, fourth behind Crookston and Grygla with 15 each and Win-E-Mac with 13; fell to a three-way tie for last in the third round with eight points; then rallied for 13 points in the fourth oral round to hold second place by one point over the Grygla team which also scored 13 points in that final round.

Greenbush/Middle River made its rush to tie for third with an 18-point fourth round after scoring 42 in the written round, then faltering slightly to 9, 8 and 11 in the first three oral rounds.

Other teams competing at the regional competition and their point totals in the Knowledge Bowl were as follows: Roseau, 87; Bemidji, 86; East Grand Forks, 82; Little Fork/Big Falls, 82; Win-E-Mac, 77; Clearbrook/Gonvick, 77; Northome, 76; and Warroad, 70.

Minnesota ECSU high school Knowledge Bowl competitions are interdisciplinary academic contests designed for secondary high school students in grades 9-12. During the contests, teams of students participate in written and oral rounds by answering questions related to all areas of learning typical of secondary educational programs.

Questions test students' recall, problem solving and critical thinking skills. The competitions consist of a written round of 60 questions and four oral rounds of 45 questions each. Teams consist of four members and one alternate. Schools may field more than one team.

Thirty school districts are represented in Region 1 and 2 Knowledge Bowl. Weekly competitions were scheduled in February and March at the University of Minnesota in Crookston and at the aviation center in Thief River Falls. Fifteen to 18 teams participated in each of these competitions. Team advisors also hosted some additional meets in their own school districts.

Schools participating in the Knowledge Bowl other than the 12 competing in the regional event were Ada/Borup, Badger, Baudette, Blackduck, Fertile/Beltrami, Fisher, Fosston, Goodridge, Kelliher, Lancaster, Nevis, Oklee, Oslo, Park Rapids, Plummer, Tri-County, Twin Valley and Waubun.

AAUW to meet

The Thief River Falls branch of the American Association of University Women will meet Monday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Franklin Middle School Library. Guest speaker is Karen Pietras, psychologist for the Mental Health Division of Northwest Medical Center, who will address women's mental health issues. AAUW will also present scholarships to local college students.

Four members of the Campanula Garden Club are shown planting a tree at the Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls. For nearly 50 years, area garden clubs have supported and beautified their communities. The Campanula Club is one of 15 clubs that form the 13th District Horticultural Society, which includes an area from Red Lake county to the Canadian border and west as far as Kittson county. The District Horticultural Society was formed in 1948. In 1960, there were 20 different garden clubs with 322 members in the Society. Shown above are (left to right) Ruth Holmes, Maxine Wicklander, Pat Hohnstine and Bernice Knutson.

Area Garden Clubs have been active in communities for nearly 50 years

ful. Area clubs are even concentrating on educating youth in the benefits of gardening and teaching city dwellers how to grow attractive flowers and organic vegetables in urban settings with pot and patio gardens.

Garden clubs of the 13th District have many things in common. All meet monthly with a meeting format that includes a program and lesson of some kind. Each club concentrates on a specific flower, bird and project each year and prepares a booklet telling what they plan to do during that specific year.

Most clubs meet in members' homes, and not just during the summer months, but all through the year. Programs include videos and guest speakers on such up-to-date subjects as small fruits and vegetables, container gardening, raised bed gardening, prairie preservation, how to dry flowers, raising natural and medicinal plants and vegetables, city gardens and others.

You may think that all garden club members have large flower and/or vegetable gardens, but this is not so. Many live in apartments and have house plants or window gardens. Some simply belong to garden clubs for the camaraderie, fellowship and pleasure of enjoying other members' gardens.

Fellowship is a big part of the garden clubs. Members become fast friends over the years. Birthdsy celebrations, holidays and other special events become a part of the monthly meetings. Several of the clubs commemorate deceased members by planting trees in their honor in public parks and other places.

The Campanula Garden Club of Thief River Falls celebrated its 46th anniversary this year. It was organized in 1948 with eleven charter members, some of whose names you may recognize. Those first members were Mrs. Ella Brokke, Mrs. Herman Christopherson, Miss Olga Johnson, Mrs. Martha Matheson, Mrs. O.L. Monson, Mrs. Adolph Nyhagen, Miss Geneva Overum, Mrs. Mary Sorum, Mrs. Hulda Swanson, Mrs. Victor Swanson and Mrs. Basil Westacott.

Marie Fischer, long time Campanula member, recalled the club in 1967, when it was very active. There were 16 members and two "social" charter members. As well as the typical president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, members were elected Good Cheer Treasurer, Calling Committee, Publicity Chairman and Historian.

"We used to be very active," said Fischer. "We planted flowers at the courthouse and other buildings, and on the street dividers. And then we took care of them after they were planted. We used to do so many things."

Even though the Campanula club is not as active as it once was, the 10 members are still meeting every month and taking part in District events. Fischer said they take trips to see gardens in the area and even took a trip to ride on the Dakota Queen river boat. Last year they planted a tree at the Pioneer Village.

"Garden club members do not sit around drinking tea and gossiping," said Gladys Krohn, member of the Williams Garden Club.

Throughout their history, garden clubs have been actively involved in the community. Nearly every community in the 13th District has flower gardens, trees and shrubs beside highways and streets, around public buildings and in area parks that have been planted and cared for by garden club members.

Several of the clubs make community involvement their projects. They do things like clean ditches, help with county fairs, give gardening advice to people who have questions, put on gardening contests for elementary school children and help with 4-H and Scouting activities.

LaVonne Radniecki, Vice President of the 13th District Horticultural Society and member of Oeer Park Garden Club of the Goodridge area, said several of the rural garden clubs have been putting up bluebird houses and planting shrubs and trees to attract wildlife for years. "We strongly believe in wildlife and protecting the environment," she said.

Krohn said the Williams club is active with a Wild Flower Route along highway 11 from Baudette to Karlstad. "This area always has wdd flowers along it from spring to fall," She said. "We have a Wild Flower tea in June with wild flowers marked along a four-mile route. People will be able to come and walk or drive along the route and see the different varieties of wild flowers. This year we will have 38 different kinds of wild flowers marked along the route." She said people have come to attend the event from all over Minnesota and North Dakota.

The 13th District Society held its annual Spring Workshop March 19 at the Badger Community Center. This is one of three yearly events put on by the district society. Sixty-four members and their guests from 11 garden clubs attended the workshop and tea. Main speaker was Gordon Hallrah of Warroad, who spoke about his success with apple trees in northern Minnesota.

Awards were presented to Outstanding Gardeners, Orville Nelson of the Baudette North Stars, Lenora Ubel of the Williams Gardeners, and Ethel Wiseth of the Goodridge Deer Park club. Gold Medal awards were given to Ruth Ann Helgeson of the Roseau Four Seasons group and Betty Johnson of the Roseau Garden Club.

The 13th District Horticultural Society will have its largest event, the Horticultural Show, August 20 in Goodridge. At this show, garden clubs from around the area will exhibit their best flowers, vegetables, fruits and floral arrangements. The best of each will be awarded first, second and third prizes by certified judges.

Any of the garden clubs in the 13th District would welcome new members. Marie Fischer said "We just love to have new members. We welcome them with open arms and treat them like royalty."

Do you need to be a great gardener or have a green thumb to join a garden club? Not at all. You just have to enjoy seeing things grow and not mind getting your hands a little dirty. According to LaVonne Radniecki, "Even if you like to grow just one little thing, you would enjoy belonging to a garden club. We don't have green thumbs: we just have dirty fingernails."

Radniecki has just one word of warning for those who might be considering joining a garden club. "You'd better be careful, because once you start gardening, it gets in your blood."

Perhaps the spirit of the garden clubs and their members is best presented in one of the Club Creeds that are read before each meeting:

Whoever has a garden
Has never walked alone;
The rain has always found it.
The sun has always shone.
The wind has blown across it.
And helped to scatter seeds;
Whoever makes a garden
Has, ah, so many friends.
The glory of the morning,
And dew when daylight ends,
The winds, and rain and sunshine,
And dew, and fertile sod,
And he who makes a garden
Works hand-in-hand with God.

160+ tons of dead animals are collected

About 100 farmers from the northwestern part of Minnesota and one county in North Dakota took advantage of the spring 1994 farm pick-up of dead animals with seven semi-trailer loads totaling more than 160 tons collected and hauled to a rendering plant in southern Minnesota.

The collection ran from March 17 to April 11 and was arranged through the Pembina Trail Resource Conservation and Development Association. Red Lake county was the main sponsor and provided leadership for the project.

Animals delivered to the rendering plant go through a cooking process with the end product used in the livestock feed industry for bone meal and feed fat. The hides are sent to a tannery for use in production of leather goods.

Plans for next year are to start earlier and run later if the weather permits, according to Al Gustafson of the Pembina Trail RC&D group.

"The cost to farmers this year was $25 per stop, which was a 'real deal' according to most farmers," Gustafson said. "Because there has not been any on-farm collection the past few years, the options to farmers for dead animal disposal included burning, burying or hauling out to the 'back 40' for predators and varmints."

Water quality and spread of disease were concerns expressed by several livestock owners. Dead animal collection was adopted as a project by the association. After several options were reviewed, it was decided to find an individual to provide this service on a seasonal basis. More study is needed before it could be expanded to a year-around service.

Counties involved in the collection included Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk and Clearwater in Minnesota and Pembina in North Dakota.

Top cowboys meet top stock at rodeo

David Bailey Rodeo Company to bring National Finals livestock to challenge TRF Stampede riders

Returning to Thief River Falls for his third appearance this year will be "Copenhagen Tar Baby Jr.," one of 30 bucking bulls to be brought by the David Bailey Rodeo Company for the Thief River Falls Stampede. He provided the top score winning rides at the Stampede in both 1992 and 1993.

by Marvin Lundin
Northern Watch Editor

Not only are some of the world's top cowboys registered to take part in the Thief River Falls Stampede May 6, 7 and 8, they will meet some exceptional challenges in the stock provided for the third annual event. The David Bailey Rodeo Company of Tahlequah, OK, will again provide the bucking stock for the Stampede.

It should be emphasized that this will be the PRCA rodeo for Thief River Falls this year. The rodeo normally held in the fall is being moved up to May because of work to be done on the hockey arena floor following the Pennington County Fair in July.

Four performances are scheduled this year—one more than a year ago—and the Sunday rodeo on May 8 will be an afternoon rather than an evening event. Rodeo times will be 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 6; 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 7; and 1:30 p.m. Sunday, May 8.

General admission and reserved seat tickets are available in advance at Pennington Square in Thief River Falls or by calling the Rodeo Hotline at 1-800-436-4277 between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. General admission tickets are being sold at a $2 discount price of $7 for adults and $5 for children 11 and younger through May 5. Reserved seat tickets for the sections nearest the bucking chutes are $10 for adults and $8 for children 11 and younger.

Speculation that a May rodeo may attract even more and better riders, calf ropers and steer wrestlers than have performed here in the past has proved to be true. Among the entries for the TRF Stampede this year are 70 bull riders—including five of the top 10 in the PRCA standings as of April 14—and good numbers in the saddle bronc, calf roping, steer wrestling and cowgirls barrel racing as well. Fewest entries are in the bareback event where injuries seem to take one of the largest tolls of any riding event.

Not all of the cowboys who have registered and paid their entry fees to compete here will participate, but promoters Randy and Denese Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions expect most of them to compete here.

"The added money is good in all events," Randy Jokela said, "and in the bull riding event the purse in Thief River Falls is the largest of any PRCA rodeo in the U.S. or Canada that weekend. Since PRCA contestants gain points toward the National Finals Rodeo by the amount of money they win at PRCA sanctioned events, we expect some of the top competitors to be after the prize money available here."

Those top contestants include bull riders Clint Branger, Roscoe, MT, a close second in the current PRCA standings to five-time World Champion All-Around Cowboy and 1993 World Champion bull rider Ty Murray. Murray of Stephenville, TX, has earned $29,248 and Branger has won $28,050.

Also entered in the Stampede are Scott Breding, Columbus, MT (third), Jerome Davis, Archdale.

Miss Rodeo Minnesota at Stampede

Lisa Ann Vinatieri of Eagan, 1994 Miss Rodeo Minnesota, will participate in the annual Thief River Falls Stampede May 6, 7 and 8 at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Miss Vinatieri said she will arrive in Thief River Falls Wednesday and join in school and other visits in the area to explain rodeo to students and others. Education is one of the primary responsibilities of the Miss Rodeo America program, she said.

She will also be assisting during the rodeo by riding in the Grand Entry and herding calves and steers out of the arena during calf roping and steer wrestling events at all four rodeo performances.

An article about Miss Rodeo Minnesota and the Miss Rodeo America program will be published in next week's Northern Watch.

LHS marching band cancels St. Louis trip due to numbers

Due to a number of band members who will be unavailable due to work and other reasons, the Lincoln high school band trip to compete in marching band competition in St. Louis, MO, this year has been canceled.

When's the last time your baby had a checkup?

April 23 through 29 was National Infant Immunization Week. The goal of the observance was to promote better childhood immunization practices in the United States.

Last week Governor Carlson issued a proclamation marking National Infant Immunization Week in Minnesota. In his proclamation, Governor Carlson notes that "immunizing our children against vaccine-preventable diseases has been one of our most important and effective tools in the continuing effort to protect and promote the good health of Minnesota's people."

Immunizations are important because they protect children from many childhood diseases, including measles, mumps, German measles (Rubella), polio, diptheria, tetanus (lock jaw), pertussis (whooping cough), haemophilus influenza type B (meningitis and other serious infections) and hepatitis B (liver infections).

Barbara Coeterier of the Marshall County Nursing Service, said that overall immunization levels are very good in Minnesota, but there are still some children who are not getting all their immunizations on time during the pre-school years.

"Because of Minnesota's school immunization law, almost all children in Marshall county have been properly immunized by the time they start school," said Coeterier. "However, many children tend to fall behind schedule during the first few years of life at a time when it is especially important to protect children against disease."

Coeterier said that children should ideally be immunized against a whole range of vaccine-preventable diseases by the time they reach two years of age. She said, "Although children usually start out getting their immunizations on time as infants, they often start falling behind as they grow older."

The United States as a whole has one of the worst immunization rates in the Western Hemisphere. One in four children in this country has not been fully vaccinated against polio and nearly half of the measles cases in the epidemic of 1989 occurred among unvaccinated minority children under the age of five.

Many parents are not aware that children need several immunizations to be fully protected against diseases and that most of the shots should be administered by the time the child is two years old and not delayed until the child enters kindergarten.

A 1993 national Gallup poll showed that nearly half of all parents did not know that polio is contagious or that hemophilus influenza B is the leading cause of childhood meningitis. More than a third did not know that measles can be fatal.

Less than 60 per cent of the children in Minnesota have completed their primary immunization series on time by the age of two. Some have not received any of their shots while others are behind on one or more. Pockets within the state have significantly lower immunization rates than others.

Barbara Coeterier stated that in a study completed last year, it was found that 44 per cent of Marshall county Kindergarten students in the 1992-93 school year had not received their third dose of DTP vaccine within two months of the recommended age. "The first three doses of DTP are critically important in protecting a child against whooping cough during the first year of life," she said. "And the third dose is normally given at six months of age."

Getting a child to the clinic for his or her immunization on a timely basis in this day of busy schedules and working parents can be difficult. According to Anita Cardinal, Immunization Director at Inter-County Nursing Service, attempts are being made to hold immunization clinics at times that are more convenient for parents.

"Pennington County has Saturday immunization clinics," she said. "In fact, we are the only county in the entire state that has a Saturday immunization clinic."

She stated that Inter-County offers immunizations for everyone, from newborn infants to adults, and they are available at a reduced price of four dollars per immunization. "But no one is refused immunization because they cannot afford it. If they are unable to pay, we will make sure they receive immunizations anyway. At Inter-County Nursing Service, we serve people no matter who pays."

Four members of the Campanula Garden Club are shown planting a tree at the Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls. For nearly 50 years, area garden clubs have supported and beautified their communities. The Campanula Club is one of 15 clubs that form the 13th District Horticultural Society, which includes an area from Red Lake county to the Canadian border and west as far as Kittson county. The District Horticultural Society was formed in 1948. In 1960, there were 20 different garden clubs with 322 members in the Society. Shown above are (left to right) Ruth Holmes, Maxine Wicklander, Pat Hohnstine and Bernice Knutson.

ful. Area clubs are even concentrating on educating youth in the benefits of gardening and teaching city dwellers how to grow attractive flowers and organic vegetables in urban settings with pot and patio gardens.

Garden clubs of the 13th District have many things in common. All meet monthly with a meeting format that includes a program and lesson of some kind. Each club concentrates on a specific flower, bird and project each year and prepares a booklet telling what they plan to do during that specific year.

Most clubs meet in members' homes, and not just during the summer months, but all through the year. Programs include videos and guest speakers on such up-to-date subjects as small fruits and vegetables, container gardening, raised bed gardening, prairie preservation, how to dry flowers, raising natural and medicinal plants and vegetables, city gardens and others.

You may think that all garden club members have large flower and/or vegetable gardens, but this is not so. Many live in apartments and have house plants or window gardens. Some simply belong to garden clubs for the camaraderie, fellowship and pleasure of enjoying other members' gardens.

Fellowship is a big part of the garden clubs. Members become fast friends over the years. Birthday celebrations, holidays and other special events become a part of the monthly meetings. Several of the clubs commemorate deceased members by planting trees in their honor in public parks and other places.

The Campanula Garden Club of Thief River Falls celebrated its 46th anniversary this year. It was organized in 1948 with eleven charter members, some of whose names you may recognize. Those first members were Mrs. Ella Brokke, Mrs. Herman Christopherson, Miss Olga Johnson, Mrs. Martha Matheson, Mrs. O.L. Monson, Mrs. Adolph Nyhagen, Miss Geneva Overum, Mrs. Mary Sorum, Mrs. Hulda Swanson, Mrs. Victor Swanson and Mrs. Basil Westacott.

Marie Fischer, long time Campanula member, recalled the club in 1967, when it was very active. There were 16 members and two "social" charter members. As well as the typical president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, members were elected Good Cheer Treasurer, Calling Committee, Publicity Chairman and Historian.

"We used to be very active," said Fischer. "We planted flowers at the courthouse and other buildings, and on the street dividers. And then we took care of them after they were planted. We used to do so many things."

Even though the Campanula club is not as active as it once was, the 10 members are still meeting every month and taking part in District events. Fischer said they take trips to see gardens in the area and even took a trip to ride on the Dakota Queen river boat. Last year they planted a tree at the Pioneer Village.

"Garden club members do not sit around drinking tea and gossiping," said Gladys Krohn, member of the Williams Garden Club.

Throughout their history, garden clubs have been actively involved in the community. Nearly every community in the 13th District has flower gardens, trees and shrubs beside highways and streets, around public buildings and in area parks that have been planted and cared for by garden club members.

Several of the clubs make community involvement their projects. They do things like clean ditches, help with county fairs, give gardening advice to people who have questions, put on gardening contests for elementary school children and help with 4-H and Scouting activities.

LaVonne Radniecki, Vice President of the 13th District Horticultural Society and member of Deer Park Garden Club of the Goodridge area, said several of the rural garden clubs have been putting up bluebird houses and planting shrubs and trees to attract wildlife for years. "We strongly believe in wildlife and protecting the environment," she said.

Krohn said the Williams club is active with a Wild Flower Route along highway 11 from Baudette to Karlstad. "This area always has wild flowers along it from spring to fall." She said. "We have a Wild Flower tea in June with wild flowers marked along a four-mile route. People will be able to come and walk or drive along the route and see the different varieties of wild flowers. This year we will have 38 different kinds of wild flowers marked along the route." She said people have come to attend the event from all over Minnesota and North Dakota.

The 13th District Society held its annual Spring Workshop March 19 at the Badger Community Center. This is one of three yearly events put on by the district society. Sixty-four members and their guests from 11 garden clubs attended the workshop and tea. Main speaker was Gordon Hallmh of Warroad, who spoke about his success with apple trees in northern Minnesota.

Awards were presented to Outstanding Gardeners. Orville Nelson of the Baudette North Stars, Lenora Ubel of the Williams Gardeners, and Ethel Wiseth of the Goodridge Deer Park club. Gold Medal awards were given to Ruth Ann Helgeson of the Roseau Four Seasons group and Betty Johnson of the Roseau Garden Club.

The 13th District Horticultural Society will have its largest event, the Horticultural Show, August 20 in Goodridge. At this show, garden clubs from around the area will exhibit their best flowers, vegetables, fruits and floral arrangements. The best of each will be awarded first, second and third prizes by certified judges.

Any of the garden clubs in the 13th District would welcome new members. Marie Fischer said "We just love to have new members. We welcome them with open arms and treat them like royalty."

Do you need to be a great gardener or have a green thumb to join a garden club? Not at all. You just have to enjoy seeing things grow and not mind getting your hands a little dirty. Radniecki has just one word of warning for those who might be considering joining a garden club. "You'd better be careful, because once you start gardening, it gets in your blood."

Perhaps the spirit of the garden clubs and their members is best presented in one of the Club Creeds that are read before each meeting:

Top cowboys meet top stock at rodeo

David Bailey Rodeo Company to bring National Finals livestock to challenge TRF Stampede riders

Returning to Thief River Falls for his third appearance this year will be "Copenhagen Ter Baby Jr.," one of 30 bucking bulls to be brought by the David Bailey Rodeo Company for the Thief River Falls Stampede. He provided the top score winning rides at the Stampede in both 1992 and 1993.

Not only are some of the world's top cowboys registered to take part in the Thief River Falls Stampede May 6, 7 and 8, they will meet some exceptional challenges in the stock provided for the third annual event. The David Bailey Rodeo Company of Tahlequah, OK, will again provide the bucking stock for the Stampede.

It should be emphasized that this will be the PRCA rodeo for Thief River Falls this year. The rodeo normally held in the fall is being moved up to May because of work to be done on the hockey arena floor following the Pennington County Fair in July.

Four performances are scheduled this year—one more than a year ago—and the Sunday rodeo on May 8 will be an afternoon rather than an evening event. Rodeo times will be 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 6; 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 7, and 1:30 p.m. Sunday, May 8.

General admission and reserved seat tickets are available in advance at Pennington Square in Thief River Falls or by calling the Rodeo Hotline at 1-800-436-4277 between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. General admission tickets are being sold at a $2 discount price of $7 for adults and $5 for children 11 and younger through May 5. Reserved seat tickets for the sections nearest the bucking chutes are $10 for adults and $8 for children 11 and younger.

Speculation that a May rodeo may attract even more and better riders, [illegible] ropers and steer wrestlers than have performed here in the past has proved to be [illegible]. Among the entries for the TRF Stampede this year are 70 bull riders—including five of the top 10 in the PRCA standings as of April 14—and good numbers in the saddle bronc, calf roping, steer wrestling and cowgirls barrel racing as well. Fewest entries are in the [illegible] event where injuries seem to take one of the largest tolls of any rodeo event.

Not all of the cowboys who have registered and paid their entry fees to compete here will participate, but promoters Randy and Denese Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions expect most of them to compete here.

"The added money is good to all events," Randy Jokela said, "and in the bull riding event the purse in Thief River Falls is the largest of any PRCA rodeo in the U.S. or Canada that weekend. Since PRCA contestants gain points toward the National Finals Rodeo by the amount of money they win at PRCA sanctioned events, we expect some of the top competitors to be after the prize money available here."

Those top contestants include bull riders Clint Branger, Roscoe, MT, a close second in the current PRCA standings to five time World Champion All-Around Cowboy and 1993 World Champion bull rider Ty Murray. Murray of Stephenville, TX, has earned $29,248 and [illegible] $28,650.

LHS marching band cancels St. Louis trip due to numbers

Due to a number of band members who will be unavailable due to work and other reasons, the Lincoln high school band trip to compete in marching band competition in St. Louis, MO, this year has been canceled.

Director Bruce Felt said that money collected for the trip would be set aside and used for a trip in 1995. He said the withdrawals would leave a very young band not prepared for the strength of competition in the St. Louis parade and the decision was therefore made to cancel the trip.

Franklin band concert reset for Monday

Postponed when Thief River Falls public schools closed early due to adverse weather last Tuesday, the concert by Franklin middle school bands has been rescheduled for Monday, May 2, at 7 p.m.

Mandi Halvorson and Jim Strandlie rehearse a scene from Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park." They are cast members in the Northland Community College Theatre production to be performed May 5-7 at 7:30 p.m. and May 8 at 2 p.m. in the college theatre in Thief River Falls.

When's the last time your baby had a checkup?

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

April 23 through 29 was National Infant Immunization Week. The goal of the observance was to promote better childhood immunization practices in the United States.

Last week Governor Carlson issued a proclamation marking National Infant Immunization Week in Minnesota. In his proclamation, Governor Carlson notes that "immunizing our children against vaccine-preventable diseases has been one of our most important and effective tools in the continuing effort to protect and promote the good health of Minnesota's people."

Immunizations are important because they protect children from many childhood diseases, including measles, mumps, German measles (Rubella), polio, diptheria, tetanus (lock jaw), pertussis (whooping cough), haemophilus influenza type B (meningitis and other serious infections) and hepatitis B (liver infections).

Barbara Coeterier of the Marshall County Nursing Service, said that overall immunization levels are very good in Minnesota, but there are still some children who are not getting all their immunizations on time during the pre-school years.

"Because of Minnesota's school immunization law, almost all children in Marshall county have been properly immunized by the time they start school," said Coeterier. "However, many children tend to fall behind schedule during the first few years of life at a time when it is especially important to protect children against disease."

Coeterier said that children should ideally be immunized against a whole range of vaccine preventable diseases by the time they reach two years of age. She said, "Although children usually start out getting their immunizations on time as infants, they often start falling behind as they grow older."

The United States as a whole has one of the worst immunization rates in the Western Hemisphere. One in four children in this country has not been fully vaccinated against polio and nearly half of the measles cases in the epidemic of 1989 occurred among unvaccinated minority children under the age of five.

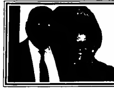
Many parents are not aware that children need several immunizations to be fully protected against diseases and that most of the shots should be administered by the time the child is two years old and not delayed until the child enters kindergarten.

A 1993 national Gallup poll showed that nearly half of all parents did not know that polio is contagious or that hemophilus influenza B is the leading cause of childhood meningitis. More than a third did not know that measles can be fatal.

Less than 60 per cent of the children in Minnesota have completed their primary immunization series on time by the age of two. Some have not received any of their shots while others are behind on one or more. Pockets within the state have significantly lower immunization rates than others.

Barbara Coeterier stated that in a study completed last year, it was found that 44 per cent of Marshall county Kindergarten students in the 1992-93 school year had not received their third dose of DTP vaccine within two months of the recommended age. "The first three doses of DTP are critically important in protecting a child against whooping cough during the first year of life," she said. "And the third dose is normally given at six months of age."

Getting a child to the clinic for his or her immunization on a timely basis in this day of busy schedules and working parents can be difficult. According to Anita Cardinal, Immunization Director at Inter-County Nursing Service, attempts are being made to hold immunization clinics at times that are more convenient for parents.



"Pennington County has Saturday immunization clinics," she said. "In fact, we are the only county in the entire state that has a Saturday immunization clinic."

She stated that Inter-County offers immunizations for everyone, from newborn infants to adults, and they are available at a reduced price of four dollars per immunization. "But no one is refused immunization because they cannot afford it. If they are unable to pay, we will make sure they receive immunizations anyway. At Inter-County Nursing Service, we serve people no matter who pays."

Marshall County Nursing will give immunizations

Marshall County Nursing Service will hold immunization clinics in the area. Vaccine is provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community based clinics. There will be a four dollar fee for administering the vaccine, but no one will be refused because of inability to pay.

Clinics will be held on the following dates and places:

• Tuesday, May 3, 9 to 11 a.m. at the Newfolden Community Center;
• Wednesday, May 4, from 9 to 11 a.m. at Middle River Community Center;
• Thursday, May 12, from 9 to 11 a.m. at Grygla Civil Building;
• Monday, May 16, from 9 to 11 a.m. at Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren;
• Monday, May 23, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Marshall County Nursing Service office in Warren.

Parents are asked to take their infants to family physicians for the initial DTP and oral polio immunizations or bring a signed referral from the physician indicating the immunization is to be given by the immunization clinic.

Immunization services given at the public clinics should not be substituted for the child's usual well-child visit with his or her physician.

Parents are asked to bring the child's immunization record each time they visit the clinic for vaccination. Immunizations will not be given unless the immunization records are presented unless it is the first vaccination.

For more information, contact Nancy Maurstad, RN, at the Marshall County Nursing Srvice, 218-745-5154.

PASTOR CURTIS JACOBSON "COMMUNITY CHURCH"

Luke 24:32 And they said one to another, "did not our heart burn within us, while He talked with us by the way, and while He opened to us the scriptures?"

Jesus sent the Holy Spirit to lead us into all truth. This truth is an inward fire that burns in our hearts. It keeps us on track, walking as God walked on this earth. This fire is kindled by prayer, meditation and reading the Bible.

As the Holy Spirit speaks to you, allow Him to kindle the fire that has been started in your heart. This is my hope for you.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Yes, their goal is to get our guns! However, I don't think the average person knows exactly what our battle to preserve the Second Amendment really encompasses.

To be sure, the recent letters written to the papers by concerned gun owners and other citizens are exactly on target. Their points and statistics really hit home and show us why we must act quickly and diligently to stop this unconstitutional act by the gun grabbers. However, there's even more we should know that will make us realize the extreme urgency here.

What other weapons are the anti-gun people using to further their cause? Money behind their cause is a very important and almost scary point. For example, consider this:

(1) For TV time, radio, etc., the anti-gun lobby spends about $200 million.

(2) In contrast to the above, the National Rifle Association spends $2 million.

(3) For every dollar that NRA spends for advertisement, the anti-gun people get $100 in free media time.

(4) Bill Clinton spent about six times more in his campaign than the pro-gun lobby spends to preserve our rights (TV, etc.).

(5) Some of the other "big" push behind the anti-gun lobby includes Cummins, Time Warner, Newsweek, Time, AARP, 20th Century Fox, Clorox, CBS, NBC, ABC, HBO, AFL-CIO, ACLU, National Education Association (NEA), American Bar Association, Johnson & Johnson, A & M Records, Better Homes and Gardens, Knight-Ridder Newspapers, McCall's magazine, PBS television, Auduben Society, New York Times, Baltimore Sun, Washington Post and many others.

Individual people (celebrities) with millions to spend include Steve Allen, Lloyd Bridges, Jackie Cooper, Michael Cross, Shirley Knight, Jack Lemmon, Patrick Murphy, Paul Newman, Victor Palmenti, Gregory Peck, Rod Steiger, Andy Williams, James Whitmore, Jane Fonda and many, many others too numerous to mention.

The bottom line here is that the anti-gun lobby has a lot of power, money and influence behind it to get something done as is well evidenced by the passage of the Brady Bill and support for another 34 bills waiting to be passed to disarm the American citizens.

Gun owners and non-gun owners better wake up! Now is the time to get up and do something about this violation of our Constitutional right. This could very well be our last shot at preserving this precious right of ours. The anti-gun people are NOT waiting.

Call your elected federal officials, Sen. Paul Wellstone (202-224-5641, Sen. Dave Durenberger (202-224-3244) and Rep. Collin Peterson (202-225-2165).

Recently between 7,000 and 10,000 people in Florida marched on the state capitol to demonstrate their feelings on gun control. They said they were AGAINST gun control and any gun ban simply because it has nothing to do with crime control. Their Congressman, Ronald Klein, tried to force through a gun ban but the people made him change his mind and stopped it. Yes, you can make a difference! Act now!

Sincerely
Sidney W. Joslyn

U.S. Military To Fight.... ...Global Warming?!?

While Americans remain critical of some prices paid for military equipment, few would be willing to give up our nation's defense. A strong military, with highly trained and superbly equipped personnel, is essential to maintaining the freedom and quality of living we enjoy in the United States.

Military spending is constantly under fire in the Congress, on the street corners and in the malls and coffeeshops of the country. And if it deserved criticism before, there are new areas which are certainly worthy of critical discussion now.

Over the opposition of the Department of Defense, Deputy Secretary of State Strobe Talbott has White House approval to "lead the charge" in re-casting the role of the nation's military. Specifically, the move is to increase involvement by the military in humanitarian and social missions that Talbott calls "soft power."

Under Talbott's plan, the military would be involved in combat against such ill-defined transnational problems as refugee relief and natural disasters around the world and increasingly take part in United Nations peacemaking operations as well as "peacekeeping" missions.

According to Philip C. Clarke of America's Future, the plan calls on the U.S. military to engage in future diplomatic and humanitarian missions, acting not as a global cop but as a sort of global social worker.

Implementation of the plan is already underway. Nearly $6 billion already has been allotted to the Pentagon for environmental operations. Sherri Goodman, in the newly created position of Deputy Undersecretary of Defense for Environmental Security, recently moved into new offices in the Pentagon. She has a larger operating budget than the Environmental Protection Agency and is charged with making the military "environmentally friendly."

In addition to overseeing the clean-up of the nation's military bases, Clarke reports, the Office of Environmental Security will see to it that the military uses ecologically compatible technologies such as converting many army vehicles to natural gas, replacing ozone-damaging coolants in nuclear warheads and protecting endangered species found on military bases. Future roles for the new office may include conducting global warming research.

"This is a case of the Clinton Administration supporting the 'Greens,' this time with defense money," states retired U.S. Army General Daniel O. Graham, director of a Washington-based pro-space defense think tank called High Frontier. "It is supporting 'pop-culture' social causes at the expense of our nation's security. The military should not be used as a laboratory for social experimentation.

"Clinton spent $20 million on creating something called the 'National Defense Center for Environmental Excellence,' another $57 million on AIDS research and millions more on frivolous environmental programs. Is that really what we should be spending our defense dollars on? The military's role is to defend this nation against military threats, not against global warming.

"Taking money and resources away from the military's core tasks," Graham adds, "hurts our men and women in uniform. Every defense dollar spent on global warming research takes a dollar away from giving our people good training or state-of-the-art equipment to ensure their success in combat. This diversion of resources not only endangers their lives, but the security of this nation."

It is unfair to the military and to the people of the United States to dilute the defense mission with environmental responsibilities. It is unscrupulous to spend funds allocated for defense on causes which have virtually no relationship to defense. And it seems a bit strange to be concerned about ozone damage in something as destructive as a nuclear warhead or being careful not to run over an endangered lizard while on maneuvers practicing how to annihilate people.

Attention does need to be paid to the environment, but such concerns should stand on their own and not be routed through the defense budget. And the military has enough responsibility with preparing for defense against aggressors. It doesn't need any more "environmentally friendly" assignments.

And after last winter in Minnesota, a little global warming in this part of the globe might be appreciated.

To The Editor:

I see no end of the intrusions into every American's life by the leadership of Congress and the current administration. Our rights are being taken away slowly with every passing day of inaction and unconcern with the affairs of our government.

Senator Patrick Leahy (D-VT) has proposed a bill that would restrict Coca-Cola and other items that don't meet a "minimal nutritional value." There is a movement underway which would present school children with a choice of meals. In certain test markets throughout the country, Pizza Hut, McDonald's and other food outlets have already invaded our schools. Students go without eating at times when cafeteria food is their only option, so by providing an alternative to school menus it will attract those students who find cafeteria food inferior.

If students find cafeteria food inferior they should be allowed to exercise their choice and still eat a meal whether nutritional or not. The choice should be left to the students' and/or parents' discretion.

The opportunity for these food and beverage industries to make money and provide their services is a good example of our free enterprise system at work. By providing an alternative, competition for the students' dollar would ensue. The wonderful thing about competition is that it raises the level of quality of the inferior service or product, thereby providing—to the student in this case—a greater quality meal for less money.

The honorable Senator from Vermont believes that Coca-Cola and other food or beverage outlets that don't meet his "minimal nutritional value" put profits ahead of the students' health and that we need his bill to aid us in our choices of food. Are we so dumb that we need Sen. Leahy and other do-good liberals to decide through legislation what we should eat or drink, what is nutritional and what isn't, to aid us in these individual, private and personal choices as to our diet?

I would like to help in the honorable Senator's quest of empowering government and disabling the citizen. I wonder if he knows about the effect of movie popcorn? This popcorn is being prepared in coconut oil which everybody knows contributes to heart disease, the number one killer in the U.S. This would not meet the "minimal nutritional value," so let's ban all popcorn prepared in coconut oil and serve air popped so the Senator will feel he no doubt did his job.

This is a gradual attempt by the liberals in Congress to empower themselves and government and by so doing create a dependency class. I would like to be so bold as to say that we are more than able to decide what foods and beverages we have in our diet.

As the Democrats so often state when it comes to abortion, "freedom of choice and it's the woman's body, let her do with it as she sees fit." Just as long as she doesn't drink Coca-Cola or eat anything that doesn't meet with Patrick Leahy's "minimal nutritional value." You liberal democrats can't have it both ways.

Let the hypocrisy continue.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

With the coming of spring (so to speak), more people are getting together for meetings and socializing. Today's recipes would be great for lunch for a bunch.

What a pretty way to serve something that is so quick to fix:

MAPLE NUT BISCUIT RING

1/2 cup margarine or butter
3/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
1/4 cup maple flavored syrup
2 (10 ounce) cans refrigerated flaky biscuits

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease 12-cup fluted tube pan.

In medium saucepan, melt margarine and stir in brown sugar, pecans and syrup. Pour 1/4 cup of sugar mixture into prepared pan.

Separate biscuit dough into 20 biscuits. Stand biscuits on edge, slightly overlapping, around pan. Pour remaining sugar mixture over.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 35 minutes, until golden brown. Cool 3 minutes before inverting onto serving plate. Eat right away while warm.

You won't have to frost these brownies - they look frosted when they come out of the oven:

CHOCOLATE CREAM CHEESE BROWNIES

1 package (4 ounces) German sweet chocolate
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Melt chocolate and butter over low heat, stirring frequently. Set aside.

In bowl, beat eggs. Gradually add sugar, beating until thick.

Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Add to egg mixture.

Stir in melted chocolate, vanilla and almond and nuts.

Pour half of the batter into a greased 8 inch square pan. Set aside.

Make filling.

FILLING

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 (3 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Beat butter and cream cheese in bowl until light. Gradually add sugar, beating fluffy.

Blend in egg, flour and vanilla and mix well.

Spread over batter in pan. Dollop remaining batter over filling and cut through batter with a knife to marbleize.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes until brownies test done. Cool and store in refrigerator.

GERMAN CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 (4 ounce) package German sweet chocolate, broken
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt

In a saucepan, melt butter and chocolate, stirring until smooth. Cool slightly.

Add sugar and vanilla and mix. Beat in the eggs. Mix in flour, baking powder and salt.

Pour into greased 9 inch square baking pan.

TOPPING

2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup flaked coconut
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 tablespoons corn syrup
2 tablespoons milk

Combine butter and brown sugar in bowl. Add coconut, pecans, corn syrup and milk and mix well.

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto warm brownies, then spread evenly.

Broil several inches from heat for 2 to 4 minutes until top is brown and bubbly.

WIC to celebrate 20 years

Minnesota WIC is celebrating its 20th anniversary. The event was celebrated locally with an Easter basket contest. Five winners were selected. They are Jennifer Anderson, Dklee WIC; Alisha Spilde, Thief River Falls WIC; Brandon Szklarski, Karlstad WIC; Joshua Casavan, Red Lake Falls WIC; and Kenneth Christensen, Hallock WIC.

The anniversary celebration also included a breastfeeding promotion. For more information on breastfeeding, contact WIC/EPS Quin County which serves Kittson, Marshall, Pennington Red Lake and Roseau counties.

WIC is a nutrition and health program especially for pregnant and breastfeeding mothers, and for babies and children up to age five. It is an opportunity for mothers to learn the latest nutrition information and to provide their children with the foods they need to be healthy. It is designed to improve the overall health of participants by providing specialized nutrition education and counseling during the most critical periods of human growth and development.

WIC provides benefits such as nutrition information on what to eat when you're pregnant; what to feed an infant or child for maximum health and growth; specialized nutrition classes; individualized nutrition counseling; vouchers for healthy foods; referral to other programs; immunizations for children; and breastfeeding help.

New WIC/EPS Income guidelines are now available.

Michalicek is recipient of NDSCS award

Several students at the North Dakota State College of Science earned medals at the North Dakota Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) Skill Olympics held at the NDSCS campus recently. Stuart Michalicek of Thief River Falls was among students receiving the First Place Gold Medal in leadership events in Opening and Closing Ceremony.

Over 400 state high school and college students competed against the clock in 21 technical skill categories and demonstrated leadership abilities in 12 team and individual contests. The event drew over 175 industry representatives who judged the various events. College scholarships in excess of $43,000 and industry assistance were awarded to top winners.

Navy Achievement Medal was presented to Chief Jerry Bjerke (right) from the commanding officer of the USS John Stennes, home ported and under new construction at Newport News, VA. Chief Bjerke was commended for his "professional achievement and for superior performance as a nuclear power instructor in basic electricity and electronics" during the period of September 1990 through October of 1993, while stationed at Basic Nuclear Power School, naval Training Center, Orlando, FL. Chief Bjerke is the son of Duane and Arlene Bjerke of Thief River Falls and married to the former Barbara Helley, daughter of Clare and John Helley Sr. of Plummer. The Bjerkes have three children and currently live at Newport News, VA.

Sports schedules affected by snow

Spring sports programs at Lincoln High School and Northland Community College were hard hit by the snow that fell in the area Tuesday.

Varsity sports events that were called off at Lincoln included:

■ Tuesday softball at Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.
■ Tuesday baseball vs. Moorhead.
■ Tuesday boys and girls track at the East Grand Forks Invitational.
■ Tuesday girls golf at the Moorhead Invitational.
■ Wednesday boys golf at the Red Lake Falls Invitational.
■ Thursday softball at Moorhead.
■ Thursday girls golf at the Crookston/Warren-Alvarado Invitational.

Northland weather losses included:

■ Tuesday softball at Brainerd.
■ Wednesday baseball vs. Fergus Falls.
■ Thursday softball at Fergus Falls (rescheduled for Sunday, May 1).

Trying to find open slots for make-up dates is complicated by an already busy schedule, and of course, the continued unpredictable spring weather. The May 1-7 Thief River Falls sports schedule already features 18 separate varsity events.

Upcoming Thief River Falls sports schedule includes:

Saturday, April 30
■ LHS boys golf at Perham Invitational, 9 a.m.

Fund-raisers continue for TRF Legion squad

Thief River Falls American Legion baseball coach Howard Dalager continues to head fund-raising activities in an effort to keep the summer program alive in 1994.

A drop in Post 117 charitable gaming funds – the primary source of funding for Thief River Falls Legion baseball – put the long-time program in doubt for the upcoming season.

Dalager and others are doing their best to raise the necessary funds to field a team. It's hoped that ongoing sales from a baseball lotto, designed after the successful Blue Line Club hockey lotto, will be the major money-producer. Two Sunday morning breakfasts have helped, with a third breakfast tentatively scheduled for June, preceded by a fish fry supper sometime in May.

Next fund-raising effort will be a Domino's Pizza promotion. Flyers are being distributed by members of the team explaining the program that will donate $1 to Legion baseball for each large pizza purchased.

"We're pretty pleased with our (fund-raising) efforts so far," said Dalager. "We feel pretty good about it."

Contributions from the Eagles Club and Thief River Falls Sports Boosters will be major additions to the efforts to meet the $15,000 baseball budget.

"I'd like to thank all of those who have helped out so far," said Dalager, whose breakfast thank-you list included Grand Forks Grocery, Printing Plus, the City of Thief River Falls, Bridgeman's, and the Legion, along with the players and their parents.

Parks and Recreation summer program sign-up set May 9-13

Thief River Falls Parks and Recreation Department will use the week of May 9-13 to accept registrations for the summer baseball, softball and tennis programs.

The baseball program is designed for boys and girls ages 7-12, softball is for girls ages 7-17 and tennis is for boys and girls ages 7-18.

Office hours will be extended from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. during registration week.

Softball and tennis participation fee is $10 for city residents and $15 for those outside the city limits. Baseball participation fee has been set at $10 for city residents and $15 for those outside the city limits for 7-8-year-olds; $15 and $20 for 9-10-year-olds; $20 and $25 for 11-12-year-olds.

A $5 late fee will be assessed for each activity you register for after May 13.

NFL Chargers signee has TRF connections

Blaine Berger, a defensive tackle from the University of Utah, has signed with the National Football League San Diego Chargers.

His parents, Greg Berger of Kemmerer, WY and Kathy Prior of Idaho Falls, ID, are former Thief River Falls residents. Grandparents are Budd and Jacky Berger of Thief River Falls, and Al Bacon and Iris Bacon.

Tri-County/MCC is shut out by Aaron Chaput on two hits

Five Tri-County/Marshall County Central errors opened the floodgates in a 12-0 Thursday high school baseball loss to Red Lake Falls/Oklee/Plummer in Karlstad.

Aaron Chaput turned in a five-inning two-hit shutout for the winners, giving up only back-to-back third inning singles to Jon Sele and Lee Kuck. Chaput struck out seven and walked just one.

Jason Blomquist was the starting and losing pitcher for Tri-County/Marshall County Central, but only two of the eight runs scored against him were earned. Shawn Leach pitched the final 2 1/3 innings for the 2-5 hosts.

Blaise Larson was 2-for-3 with a double and a home run for the winners. Teammate Dan Swendra also homered.

Broten finishes his career in the USHL

Aaron Broten of Thief River Falls put the finishing touches on his two-year United States Hockey League career with a two-goal effort that sparked the USHL all-stars to an 8-5 win over an all-star team representing several other junior leagues during the USA Hockey Jr. A National Tournament April 22-24 at the Des Moines (IA) Ice Arena.

Aaron Broten

Broten scored both of his goals in the third period, including what proved to be the game-winner at 16:28.

The 5-11, 175-pound Broten played for the Waterloo Black Hawks as a high school senior in 1992-93, and played for the North Iowa Huskies in 1993-94, scoring 39 points and picking up 70 minutes worth of penalties in 40 games.

He has made a verbal commitment to play hockey at Mankato State University next year.

Designed for 17-20-year-olds, the USHL started as the Midwest Junior Hockey League in 1972, then merged with the U.S. Hockey League in 1977.

Other USHL clubs include the Des Moines Buccaneers, Rochester Mustangs, Sioux City Musketeers, Dubuque Fighting Saints, Wisconsin Capitols, Omaha Lancers, St. Paul Vulcans, and Thunder Bay Flyers.

The 48-game regular season USHL schedule stretched from October to May.

Bench press meet kicks off weight room activity

Ninth annual Lincoln High School Bench Press Championships will be held Wednesday, May 11, beginning at 7 p.m. in the LHS auxiliary gym. Weigh-in starts at 6:30.

All Lincoln athletes in grades 9-11 will compete in the event. Trophies will be awarded to the top three lifters in each weight class, who will then represent Thief River Falls in the second annual Rivals of the North Bench Press Championships the following week.

Competition will be held in four weight classes – lightweight (145 pounds and below); middleweight (146-170 pounds); light-heavyweight (171-204 pounds); and heavyweight (205 pounds and over).

There is a $20 entry fee for each lifter.

The Rivals of the North Bench Press Championships, featuring lifters from East Grand Forks, Thief River Falls and Crookston, will be held Thursday, May 19, in the East Grand Forks Senior High School gym. Weigh-in starts at 6:30 p.m. Competition begins at 7.

It was also announced that the Lincoln weight room summer hours will be 7-10 a.m. and 4-7 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 7-10 a.m. and 3-6 p.m. Fridays. The Tuesday and Thursday morning sessions will be set aside for seventh and eighth grade lifters.

Lincoln High School strength coordinator Jeff Mumm said strength training orientation sessions will be held at Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, May 23, 24, and 26. The sessions, which will start at 7 p.m., will cover weight room rules, policies, program structure, proper lifting techniques, and all safety procedures.

Those attending the orientation will receive a strength training pass for the LHS facility. Only those attending the orientation will be allowed to lift in the Lincoln weight room. Even those currently involved in a strength training program must attend the orientation.

Parents of the strength training program participants are urged to attend the orientation.

TRF beaten by Jacks in tennis dual

Bemidji beat Thief River Falls 5-2 in boys high school tennis Thursday, dropping the Prowlers' dual meet mark to 0-5.

The chilly match in Bemidji was the only Thief River Falls sports event to go off as planned since the Tuesday snow fall in the area.

Thief River Falls wins against Bemidji included straight-set decisions for Tony Miramontes at No. 1 singles and for a David Johnson/Keith Anderson combination at No. 2 doubles.

"Tony is hanging in there and doing a nice job," said Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney.

Bear hunting license applications are due May 6 for quota area

Deadline for submitting applications for the 1994 Minnesota bear hunt is May 6. A total of 9,400 permits are available for 11 quota areas, according to the Department of Natural Resources. The 1994 season will run from Sept. 1 through Oct. 16.

Drawings for permits are based on a preference system that gives permits first to those applicants who have applied the longest since last receiving a license. Up to four hunters may apply as a group. There is no application fee.

An unlimited number of bear hunting licenses is also available in the no-quota zone, which lies outside the 11 quota areas. No-quota licenses may be purchased beginning July 1 through the end of the bear season at county auditors offices and at some license vendors in east-central and northwestern Minnesota. No application is necessary. Bear licenses cost $34 for residents and $166 for non-residents.

Last year 8,630 permits were available, and 2,542 bears were taken in quota areas. An additional 435 bears were taken by 1,500 hunters in the no-quota areas.

Minnesota/N.D. fishing openers differ

Minnesota and North Dakota will have two separate fishing openers this year on their border waters – the Bois de Sioux River and Red River of the North.

Due to a mix-up in published opening dates listed in each state's regulations booklet, North Dakota license holders will be able to start fishing the rivers for walleye, sauger, northern pike, largemouth and smallmouth bass May 1, while Minnesota anglers will have to wait until May 7.

Years ago Minnesota and North Dakota agreed on the first Saturday of May as a border-waters opener, to match the statewide North Dakota opener. The Minnesota opener on inland waters is always the Saturday two weeks prior to Memorial Day weekend.

Last year, however, North Dakota changed its regulations to allow for year-round fishing on most inland waters. When the change was made, North Dakota officials agreed to close the Red River and Bois de Sioux on Feb. 28, 1994, to match Minnesota's closed season on walleye, sauger, northern pike and bass.

In 1993, May 1 was the first Saturday of May. This past winter, when both states were preparing their 1994 regulation booklets, North Dakota inadvertently left in the May 1 opener. But this year that first Saturday falls on May 7.

"By the time the error was discovered, the booklets had already been printed, and it was too late to change the opener in either state," explained Bob Strand, Northwest Regional Fisheries Supervisor for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources at Bemidji. "After conferring with officials from the North Dakota Department of Game and Fish, we each decided to let the openers stand as they were printed in the regulations."

Minnesota residents may fish the Red River and Bois De Sioux beginning May 1 if they purchase a non-resident North Dakota license. Anglers may only possess one limit of fish even if they purchase licenses from both states.

"The only thing that's changed for this year is that there will be two separate opening dates," depending on where you buy your license," said Strand. "We realize the confusion that this might cause during that first week, but it seemed to be the best solution under the circumstances."

CA (eighth); Chris Littlejohn, Tulsa, OK (ninth); and Terry Don West, Henryetta, OK (10th).

The list of bull riders also includes the likes of Jim Sharp, not currently in the top 15 but a legend in his own time. The Stephenville, TX cowboy qualified for the National Finals for seven straight years from 1986 to 1992 and won the World Championship in bull riding in 1988 and 1990. He won more than $100,000 in his rookie year in 1986, was the first man to ride all 10 of his bulls at a National Finals Rodeo (in 1988) and has career earnings of $744,711.

Others are J. C. Woodward, a young South Dakota cowboy who is the national college rodeo bull riding champion; Rory Lemmel, who placed at the TRF Stampede in 1993 and won the Wild Thing bull ride at the Fargodome; David Winnings, 1993 Great Lakes Circuit bull riding champion; and 1993 NFR qualifiers Ray Wessel of Cedar Point, KS and Wade Berry of Carter, SD.

The bull riders will find stock equal to their talents. Contractor David Bailey told the Northern Watch Thursday that he will be bringing 30 bulls to Thief River Falls, including several which were selected for the National Finals Rodeo last year or in prior years.

They include "Alligator" and "Copenhagen Wild Red Man" and NFR alternate "Toy Tiger." Others have been selected for circuit finals and include "Skoal Patrol" and "Bar Fly." And making a return appearance will be an active little bull named "Copenhagen Tar Baby Jr.," the bull on which the TRF Stampede winning rider were made in both 1992 and 1993.

Bailey said he is also bringing a number of up-and-coming young bulls which he believes are likely to become NFR selections. About half of his bulls are from the Bailey company's "Born to Buck" breeding program which mates top bucking bulls with female offspring of other exceptional bucking bulls.

In addition to the string of bulls, Bailey will be bringing "Copenhagen Brown Bomber," a bareback bucking horse which was an NFR performer and "Copenhagen High Roller," an NFR alternate and circuit finals bareback horse. Other circuit finals bareback horses are "Skoal's Blowout," "Frosty," "Red Hot" and "Skoal's Mr. T."

Saddle broncs include "Copenhagen Montego Bay" and a highly successful new addition to the Bailey string, "Arapahoe," which he purchased last fall.

"And I'll also be sub-leasing some stock from Don Hight of Dakota West Rodeos of Piedmont, SD," Bailey said.

"Our 1993 top bull of the NFR, "Copenhagen Oun Slinger," is committed for another rodeo that weekend," Bailey said. "We had him up in Thief River Falls last year but no one tried to ride him so all he got was a long truck ride and the fans didn't get to see him perform. Through 1993 he had been ridden only once—by World champion Ty Murray—in two years of PRCA rodeos."

Also among top contestants entered is bareback rider Wayne Herman of Dickinson, ND, who tied for second at the first TRF Stampede in 1992 and went on to win the 1992 World Championship in bareback riding with total earnings of $122,949. Herman is just returning to action after suffering a torn biceps.

Saddle bronc riders will include Red Lemmel of Mud Butte, SD, who currently ranks seventh in the PRCA world standings, and Marty Jandreau, a previous Dakota circuit champion.

Barrel racers scheduled to compete include Mardee Hollenbeck of Pratt, KS, who won the event at the first TRF Stampede and is currently in the top 15 in the world standings and Donna Rankin of Crescent, IA, vice president of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association headquartered in Blanchard, OK. A story about Rankin will be published in the May 4 edition of the Thief River Falls Times.

Rodeo fans are also in for top comedy entertainment from Butch Lehmkuhler of North Platte, NE. He was voted PRCA Clown of the Year an unprecedented three years in a row from 1989 through 1991 and added a fourth title last year. As a barrelman during the bull riding, he is also a two-time recipient of the PRCA Coor's "Man in the Can" award.

"In terms of numbers of quality performers on the entry list, this is the best we have seen in any of the PRCA rodeos we have produced," Randy Jokela said. "We were thrilled with 51 bull riders entered last year...and this year we have 70, including some of the best. This is one rodeo no one who enjoys rodeo will want to miss. It should be a dandy!"

Seventh District DFL convention is being held at Alexandria this weekend, including a 50th anniversary observance for the Minnesota DFL.

The convention is at the technical college in Alexandria and will include election of officers, adoption of resolutions and endorsement of the DFL candidate for U.S. Congress. Incumbent Rep. Collin Peterson is seeking endorsement for reelection.

Banquet speaker Saturday evening will be U.S. Sen. Paul Wellstone.

Area couples in Red River Valley Leadership Program

Graduation ceremonies were held April 15 at the University of Minnesota, Crookston campus for couples completing the Red River Valley Emerging Leadership Programs.

Steve and Roxane Sorvig of Pennington county and Lyle and Joni Anderson of Marshall county were members of the 10th class of Red River Valley leaders to participate in the four-part leadership series.

Educational content for the Red River Valley Emerging Leadership Program is jointly developed by staff of the Minnesota Extension Service and faculty of the University of Minnesota, Crookston. For more information on the program, contact Janelle Klinke at the District Extension Office, Selvig Hall, University of Minnesota, Crookston, MN 56716, telephone 218-281-8683.

Muesing is named as new outreach coordinator at UMC

Barbara Muesing will assume the position of outreach program director at the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC), beginning August 16. The position is a new one, funded jointly by UMC, Minnesota Extension Service (MES), and Twin Cities Continuing Education.

Barbara Muesing

For the past nine years, Muesing served as executive director and corporate secretary for the University of Minnesota Board of Regents. Her roots are in northwestern Minnesota where she graduated from Fosston high school. She has had considerable work experience in the region.

"UMC is an exciting place. Students, faculty and staff are transforming higher education before our very eyes, and I'm thrilled to coordinate the outreach part of that transformation," Muesing said.

Muesing was appointed district director for MES when the office was established at UMC in 1981. While serving in that position, she sought additional linkages between MES and the university community. Throughout the past few years, she was actively informed and on occasion involved in the UMC strategic planning process.

Muesing has a bachelor of science degree in home economics education from Mankato State University, a master of science degree in educational administration from St. Cloud State University, and has taken course work toward a doctorate in educational administration from the University of Minnesota.

"We are pleased to have someone of Barbara Muesing's caliber and understanding both at the university and in the region in this important outreach position," Chancellor Donald Sargeant said.

Individuals are urged to apply for the scholarships as soon as possible since the numbers are limited and applications will be processed in the order received.

To be eligible for the CDA credential, the candidate must meet four requirements:

(1) Be 18 years of age or older;
(2) Hold a high school diploma or equivalent;
(3) Have 120 clock hours of formal child care education within the past five years (all or part of the formal training may be during the candidate's preparation for assessment); and

A $15 fee must accompany a request for application materials, instructions and forms necessary to complete the CDA program. Individuals may write or call the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition, 1341 G Street NW, Suite 400, Washington, DC 20005, phone 1-800-424-4310.

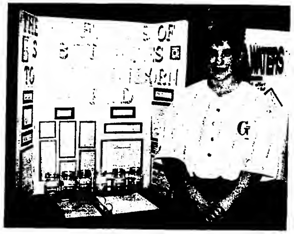
Strong gets Navy award for service

Petty Officer Craig Strong

Petty Officer First Class Craig K. Strong, son of David Strong of Thief River Falls and a former resident and student here, has been named as the U.S. Navy recipient of the 1993 Government Employees Insurance Company (GEICO) Military Service Award.

He will receive his award Monday, May 2, in Washington, DC, with David and Joan Strong attending the ceremonies.

The awards were established in 1988 to pay tribute to the nation's enlisted military members and the contributions they make to the public good in their roles as citizen and soldier or sailor.



Some one million enlisted members in pay grades E-4 through E-9 were eligible for the awards, which are given for achievements in the fields of drug and alcohol abuse prevention, fire safety and fire prevention and traffic safety and accident prevention. Sam Parish, Vice President of Military Services, said that "Petty Officer Strong is a model sailor and a dedicated community leader. He has ensured the safety of hundreds of people and prevented the destruction of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property through his efforts in the field of fire prevention and fire safety.

"When two weeks of torrential rain caused severe flooding and fires throughout Southern California, Petty Officer Strong led the Imperial Beach Disaster Preparedness Team's response efforts. He coordinated disaster control and rescue efforts over a 20-square-mile area, directing over 100 volunteers as they battled the floods and fires. He personally led the team's effort to control two major structural fires started by downed power lines, rescued four people trapped in cars by rising waters and evacuated over 50 horses from low level areas.

"While acting as a leader of a Neighborhood Crime Watch, Petty Officer Strong responded to a fire alarm in a neighboring apartment and discovered a kitchen fire in progress. Taking immediate action, he located a portable extinguisher and returned to put out the fire single-handedly. His actions were commended by the San Diego County Sheriff's Department and credited by the Imperial Beach Fire Department with possibly saving the entire 48-unit apartment complex.

"Petty Officer Strong spotted a brush fire in the outlying area of his community. After reporting it, he began coordinating fire-fighting efforts rather than waiting for the fire department to reach the remote area. His actions in setting a fire line limited the damage, saving over three acres of land including one residence, several stables and over 75 horses.

"His community service mirrors his military service. Petty Officer Strong is a leader among his peers and has demonstrated a personal commitment to maintaining a safe work environment for his shipmates. He was named HSL-45's Sailor of the Year for 1993 and was a finalist for the Commander, Anti-Submarine Warfare Wing, U.S. Pacific Fleet Sailor of the Year Award. Petty Officer Strong is married to the former Mary Jane Ramos of the Philippines.

Goodridge team take first place in Envirothon

A team of five students from Goodridge high school recently won first place in the "Envirothon", an outdoor competition testing students knowledge about the environment and natural resources. The team competed against eight other teams from the northwestern area.

Students on the team were Mandy Brandt, Arlen Eidelbes, David Jones, Troy Paulson and Jerry Sturre. Patti Johnson was their teacher and advisor.

The event took place on Thursday, April 21, at the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge northwest of Thief River Falls. Over 40 students, in teams of four and five, participated in the event. The teams visited five different learning stations covering the topics of wetlands, recycling, forestry, wildlife and soils. At each station presenters asked the team 20 questions using examples in the outdoor environment when possible. Out of a possible total score of 100, Goodridge Team 2 received 75 and one-third points. Greenbush team number one came in second with 72 and five-sixths points and Goodridge team number one came in third with 69 and five-sixth points. All scores were close with only about 15 point separating first and last place.

The event at Agassiz Refuge was one of three "Envirothons" being held in northwestern Minnesota on April 21. At the Nature Center at the University of Minnesota a team from Ada-Borup was the winner and at Itasca State Park a team from Bagley came in first. All three teams will be invited to attend the State Envirothon on May 18 at the Harriet Alexander Nature Center in Roseville.

Several businesses and organizations in northwestern Minnesota helped sponsor the three "Envirothons" in northwestern Minnesota.

April 23-29 was Child Immunization Week

As well as Saturday immunization clinics in Thief River Falls the third Saturday of each month Inter-County provides immunization clinics at Goodridge, Plummer, Red Lake Falls and Oklee. Immunizations are given the third Wednesday of every month in Red Lake Falls, and every other month in Goodridge (first Tuesday), Plummer (third Wednesday), and Oklee (second Tuesday).

Not only Pennington county, but other county agencies also provide immunizations at reduced rates and have the "no refusal" policy. Contact your local county health agencies for dates and times of immunization schedules.

Parents should be looking at getting their children immunizations right now, Cardinal said. "Summes is a good time to get children vaccinated before the upcoming school year." All kindergarten students are required to be fully immunized before they enter school and the Minnesota Department of Health has required that incoming seventh and twelfth graders have their second MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) immunizations.

Another reason for the poor immunization rate is that the schedule to receive immunizations is complicated. It can be difficult for parents to know when their child's next immunization is due and it is easy to forget to schedule appointments for immunizations if they are due in several months.

A new program called Communities Caring for Children aids parents in tracking immunizations, as well as providing other services. The major goals of the program are to encourage pregnant women to receive early (first 12 weeks of pregnancy) and regular prenatal care, to increase the number of children who receive well-child examinations and immunizations at the appropriate ages, and to educate communities about the importance of preventive health measures.

Materials are coordinated by the individual agencies within the 13 county northwestern Minnesota area, and the organization also provides materials to the health services at the Red Lake and White Earth Indian reservations.

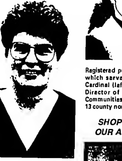
Counties Involved in Communities Caring for Children and the public agencies representing the program are:

- Beltrami — Beltrami County Public Health Nursing Service;
- Clearwater — Clearwater County Nursing Service;
- Pennington and Red Lake — Inter-County Nursing Service;
- Kittson — Kittson Community Health Service;
- Lake of the Woods — LakeWood Nursing Service;
- Marshall — Marshall County Nursing Service;
- Becker, Mahnomen and Norman — Multi-County Nursing Service;
- Polk — Polk County Nursing Service;
- Roseau — Roseau County Home Health Care; and
- Hubbard — St. Joseph's Hospital and Home Care.

LaRue Johnson is the Inter-County Nursing Service coordinator of Communities Caring for Children which handles Pennington and Red Lake counties. The program was started one year ago and Johnson said it is "definitely a success."

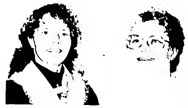
Since 1993, more than 2,500 people have signed up for the program and public health nurses in the 13 counties have made more than 5,100 contacts with families including letters, telephone calls and home visits to aid adults and children in receiving preventative health care.

Johnson said there are 220 families in the two counties served by Inter-County Nursing Communities Caring for Children. It has been very well-received in this first year. "Families have had many questions for the nurses and appreciate the personal attention," she said. "And preliminary data show that children are receiving their immunizations at a higher rate than before the program began."



A part of the program includes newsletters sent to participants each month, beginning with the child's birth. The newsletters also feature articles and information for the various stages of the child's development and address issues such as health care and concerns, nutrition, what to expect from the child at specific ages, constructive play, and care of the mother, as well as an immunization schedule reminder of what immunizations the child should be receiving at a specific age.

Other activities of Communities Caring for Children program include posters in grocery stores, laundromats, video stores, schools and other public areas, radio announcements and monthly newspaper articles, and presentations to intrested groups and businesses to promote the importance of pre- and post-natal care and well child check-ups and immunizations.



President Clinton has issued a Childhood Immunization Initiative with a goal that at least 90 per cent of all two-year-olds in the United States be fully immunized by the year 2000.

Parents are urged to check their records to make sure their children have been properly immunized against dangerous childhood diseases. Outbreaks of vaccine-preventable diseases must not be allowed to continue. Parents are reminded that new vaccines have become available in recent years and recommendations for immunization have changed. Remaining unimmunized for childhood diseases is a risk no child should face.

For more information about immunizations or the Communities Caring for Children program, contact your doctor or local health service agency.

Barbara Coetarier, Director of Marshall County Nursing Service, said that although children begin their immunizations on time, they often fall behind as they get older. Children should ideally be immunized against the whole range of vaccine-preventable diseases by the time they are two years of age.

Registered public health nurses at Inter-County Nursing Service which serves Pennington and Red Lake counties are Anita Cardinal (left) and LaRue Johnson. Cardinal is immunization Director of the agency and Johnson is the coordinator of Communities Caring for Children, a new program that serves a 13 county northwestern Minnesota area.

E. Marshall County Homemakers held Spring Banquet

The East Marshall County Homemakers met April 11 at the Nazareth Lutheran church in Holt for their annual Spring Banquet. The meal was served to 87 people by the Nazareth Ladies Mary circle.

Presidet Ione Tuura led the meeting and gave the welcome. Rev. Floistad gave the blessing and entertained with songs and Nina Halvorson demonstrated how to make boxes from recycled greeting cards.

Cathy Erickson introduced speakes Roman Vales, an exchange student from Czechoslovakia who is attending school in Warren. Vales attended the banquet with his host father, Ron Sherack of Radium.

James and Phyllis Dalager of Thief River Falls spoke and showed slides of their visit to Bratirlava in the Slovakian Republic. He was a high school math teacher in a Lutheran school there.

Sharon Bring requested information about the homemakers' program for the county extension committee and asked for items to be included in a proposed budget.

ICCC has more funds available for residents

Odegaard has top producer in DHIA

Roger Odegaard dairy herd had the top producing cow in the Red Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for March and three other cows that rated placement on the DHIA production list.

The Red Lake association recognizes cows which produce a minimum of 22,000 pounds of milk, 750 pounds of butterfat or 700 pounds of protein. Rankings are based on total dollar value of product.

Odegaard's top cow was a five-year-old in her fourth lactation and produced 26,822 pounds of milk, 1,005 pounds of butterfat and 780 pounds of protein in a 305-day lactation.

Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station at Crookston had the second and third place cows with respective production of 24,782 pounds of milk, 820 pounds of butterfat and 770 pounds of protein and 22,653 pounds of milk, 781 pounds of butterfat and 774 pounds of protein.

Other cows in the top 10 came from the following herds with production of milk, butterfat and protein listed respectively:

Johnston Farms, 23,535, 844 and 715; Don and Karen Konickson, 23,551, 809 and 727; Conrad Zak and Sons, 24,040, 757 and 691; Don and Karen Konickson, 23,499, 742 and 714; Johnston Farms, 22,873, 798 and 707; and Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station, 22,263, 648 and 768 and 22,020, 736 and 715.

Herds with cows meeting the minimum productions standards but not in the top 10 came from the herds of Johnston Farms, Randy and Jo Gast (2), Roger Odegaard, (3), Gerald Visser and Wayne L. Larson.

Miss Rodeo Minn. serious about sport

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Lisa Ann Vinatieri of Eagan isn't just an ornamental addition to rodeos in the state. As Miss Rodeo Minnesota 1994 she is serious about promoting the sport and its participants and representing it professionally to the public.

In fact, she is doing at least double duty this year by fulfilling the role of royalty and organizing the Miss Rodeo Minnesota Pageant which will be held during the Fourth of July weekend in conjunction with the Headwaters of the Mississippi Rodeo at Park Rapids.

Lisa emphasizes the importance of Miss Rodeo Minnesota to "give back to the community what the community gives to rodeo." That is one of the reasons she enjoys being working royalty. She arrived in Thief River Falls Wednesday evening and spent much of Thursday promoting the Thief River Falls Stampede, including part of the morning with youngsters at the Oklee public schools.

She will be involved in all four performances of the Stampede, riding in the grand entry and helping to herd animals out of the arena during the calf roping and steer wrestling events. All are tasks she believes are essential for whoever wears the crowned hat of Miss Rodeo Minnesota.

Lisa said that entries are now being sought for her successor to be crowned in Park Rapids. Candid-

Elementary students at the Oklee public schools brought their rodeo posters to be autographed by Lisa Ann Vinatieri, 1994 Miss Rodeo Minnesota, when she and other rodeo performers associated with the TRF Stampede presented a lyceum program there. Each child received a poster and all of the rodeo representatives signed autographs. With Lisa are (left to right) Mikel Magnell, Kayla Bachand, Britanne Marquis and Dana Lerson.

Cowboys and cowgirls from 20 states were registered to participate in events at the Thief River Falls Stampede as the PRCA sanctioned rodeo scheduled for four performances at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. Rodeos were scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7, with afternoon performances at 1:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 7 and 8.

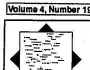
Reduced price general admission ticket sale closed May 5, but tickets remain on sale at gate prices throughout the rodeo at Pennington Square. Those who want to avoid the likelihood of waiting in line to purchase tickets at the rodeo may purchase their tickets in advance at Pennington Square for any of the performances remaining.

Members of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) and the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) have entered the Stampede from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Arkansas, Montana, Texas, Kansas, California, North Carolina, Georgia, Colorado and Arizona.

A highlight of the 1994 TRF Stampede will be the antics of clown and barrelman Butch Lehmkuhler of North Platte, NE, at all four rodeo performances. He is a four-time winner of the PRCA Clown of the Year award and two-time winner of the Coors Man in the Can award as a bullfighting barrelman.

Bullfighter for the rodeo is Todd "Chief" Propson of Chilton, WI. A special guest is Lisa Ann Vinatieri of Eagan, 1994 Miss Rodeo Minnesota. (See feature stories on the "Chief" and Lisa in this issue of the Northern Watch.)

"For people who like bull riding especially, there is an outstanding line-up in both numbers and quality of riders in this year's Stampede," notes Randy Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions, promoter of the event.



Although it is not guaranteed that all who have entered will show up to perform (injuries or other circumstances may make it impossible or impractical to compete), the number of bull riders registered indicates there may be more than the allowable 15 bull riders per performance. As a result, the PRCA has permitted the Stampede to divide the bull riding into two sections each night if the full complement of 17 or 18 riders shows up to ride.

"We are bringing in 35 bulls so we are well covered in numbers," Jokela said. "Under PRCA rules, the bulls may be used only twice during the three-day rodeo."

Normally when there are more than 15 entries per event in a rodeo, a separate competition called "slack" is held for the surplus entries. All entries are judged in the same manner and a rider during "slack" may have the winning ride. By allowing the Stampede to split its bull riding into two sections, the

Rita Hagl and her family will celebrate a very happy Mother's Day Sunday. But that is nothing new, because every day is a celebration for the Hagl family since Rita received a new kidney 12 years ago.

Hagl enjoys life a day at a time

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

If nothing more, Rita Hagl would qualify as a good subject for a Mother's Day story for having had seven children in a less-than-ten-year span. Those of us who are mothers can certainly appreciate what a busy household she must have come home to after she delivered her seventh child, a 10 pound 12 ounce bouncing baby boy, in 1965.

But Rita's story doesn't end there. Despite having seven children before the age of 29, Rita was a hale and healthy young woman. At her six week postnatal exam, everything was fine, but shortly afterward something happened. She said, "I had been feeling fine after the baby was born, but all of a sudden I started to feel sick. I thought it was a flu, but it didn't go away." She noticed that although she was hungry all of the time, she was not gaining weight, and she was drinking a lot of water and made frequent trips to the bathroom.

She went to the doctor and was told that she had diabetes. Even though she had a houseful of children, including a brand new baby, her diabetes was so serious that the doctor placed her in the hospital for tests immediately.

Proper medication and diet controlled the diabetes and Rita was allowed to go home and resume her active life. For 15 years, the diabetes was kept under control and Rita lived a fairly normal life as a housewife and mother. She went to work at a law office and at the Wheat Growers office in Red Lake Falls after her youngest child started school and kept busy with her gardening, church activities and handiwork.

But in 1980, she realized that something was wrong. Even though she felt good, she was retaining liquid and her ankles were swelling. She made an appintment with her doctor.

After a thorough examination, her doctor informed her that her kidneys were failing. Combined with her diabetes, this diagnosis was very bad. Within a short time, Rita and her family were on the way to the Hennepin County Medical Center in Minneapolis where she had both kidneys removed.

She was then placed on a waiting list for a kidney transplant and sent

If one pays attention to the vernacular of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA), Todd "Chief" Propson is a "rookie." This is his first year as a full-fledged professional bullfighter after a year of work as the holder of a PRCA permit card.

But if one pays attention to experience and ability as well as total commitment to the job, the young man who is working the arena during bull riding at the Thief River Falls Stampede is purely professional.

And he is a little nervous.

It's not that Propson doubts his own ability to do his job—which is quite simply to put himself on the line to protect the bull riders. It's just that he is feeling a little extra pressure with a few firsts, such as:

- This is the first time he has worked an arena with a partner of the professional stature of barrelman Butch Lehmkuhler, named Coors Man in the Can award winner as the world's top barrelman in 1989 and 1992 and four-time PRCA Clown of the Year;
- It's the first time the riders he is hired to help include a two-time world champion like Jim Sharp (1988, 1990) of Stephenville, TX, and top 15 riders like Clint Branger of Roscoe, MT; Aaron Semus of Auburn, CA; Scott Breding of Columbus, MT; Terry Don West of Henryetta, OK; and others;
- This is the first rodeo he has worked for Jokela ProWest and the first under the eyes of National Finals Rodeo stock contractor David Bailey of Tahlequah, OK;
- And it's the first time he has met eyeball to eyeball with Bailey's string of bucking bulls which has a national reputation of being as tough and mean and quick and smart—the cowboys call them "rank"—as any group of bulls he can expect to face at any rodeo.

Yes, the "Chief" is a little nervous, but that's what he expects to give him an edge.

"I get nervous before a rodeo," he said in an interview Thursday afternoon, having arrived in Thief River Falls a couple of days early to help make appearances and promote the Stampede. "But when I get out in the arena I don't pay any attention to anything else going on around me. I concentrate on each bull and rider. Everything comes down to protecting the rider."

Propson is 25 years old and a former bull rider himself. He started riding in Little Britches rodeos when 10 years old and got his PRCA card in 1986 at the age of 18.

He was raised by his grandparents at Chilton on the far eastern side of Wisconsin. Todd picked up the nickname "Chief" from cowboys he hung around when he was 12 because he has features of a Native American.

"Maybe I am," he said. "I don't know who my father was. But I don't mind the nickname. I use it on my business card and my make-up is war paint. I put it on to do battle with the bulls." Also on the

As well as Saturday immunization clinics in Thief River Falls the third Saturday of each month, Inter-County provides immunization clinics at Goodridge, Plummer, Red Lake Falls and Oklee. Immunizations are given the third Wednesday of every month in Red Lake Falls, and every other month in Goodridge (first Tuesday), Plummer (third Wednesday) and Oklee (second Tuesday).

Not only Pennington county, but other county agencies also provide immunizations at reduced rates and have the "no refusal" policy. Contact your local county health agencies for dates and times of immunization schedules.

Parents should be looking at getting their children immunizations right now, Cardinal said. "Summer is a good time to get children vaccinated before the upcoming school year." All kindergarten students are required to be fully immunized before they enter school and the Minnesota Department of Health has required that incoming seventh and twelfth graders have their second MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) immunizations.

Another reason for the poor immunization rate is that the schedule to receive immunizations is complicated. It can be difficult for parents to know when their child's next immunization is due and it is easy to forget to schedule appointments for immunizations if they are due in several months.

A new program called Communities Caring for Children aids parents in tracking immunizations, as well as providing other services. The major goals of the program are to encourage pregnant women to receive early (first 12 weeks of pregnancy) and regular prenatal care, to increase the number of children who receive well-child examinations and immunizations at the appropriate ages, and to educate communities about the importance of preventive health measures.

Materials are coordinated by the individual agencies within the 13 county northwestern Minnesota area, and the organization also provides materials to the health services at the Red Lake and White Earth Indian reservations.

Counties involved in Communities Caring for Children and the public agencies representing the program are:

- Beltrami — Beltrami County Public Health Nursing Service;
- Clearwater — Clearwater County Nursing Service;
- Pennington and Red Lake — Inter-County Nursing Service;
- Kittson — Kittson Community Health Service;
- Lake of the Woods — LakeWood Nursing Service;
- Marshall — Marshall County Nursing Service;
- Becker, Mahnomen and Norman — Multi-County Nursing Service;
- Polk — Polk County Nursing Service;
- Roseau — Roseau County Home Health Care; and
- Hubbard — St. Joseph's Hospital and Home Care.

LaRue Johnson is the Inter-County Nursing Service coordinator of Communities Caring for Children which handles Pennington and Red Lake counties. The program was started one year ago and Johnson said it is "definitely a success."

Since 1993, more than 2,500 people have signed up for the program and public health nurses in the 13 counties have made more than 5,100 contacts with families including letters, telephone calls and home visits to aid adults and children in receiving preventative health care.

Johnson said there are 220 families in the two counties served by Inter-County Nursing Communities Caring for Children. It has been very well-received in this first year. "Families have had many questions for the nurses and appreciate the personal attention," she said. "And preliminary data show that children are receiving their immunizations at a higher rate than before the program began."

A part of the program includes newsletters sent to participants each month, beginning with the child's birth. The newsletters also feature articles and information for the various stages of the child's development and address issues such as health care and concerns, nutrition, what to expect from the child at specific ages, constructive play, and care of the mother, as well as an immunization schedule reminder of what immunizations the child should be receiving at a specific age.

Other activities of Communities Caring for Children program include posters in grocery stores, laundromats, video stores, schools and other public areas, radio announcements and monthly newspaper articles, and presentations to interested groups and businesses to promote the importance of pre- and post-natal care and well child check-ups and immunizations.

President Clinton has issued a Childhood Immunization Initiative with a goal that at least 90 per cent of all two-year-olds in the United States be fully immunized by the year 2000.

Parents are urged to check their records to make sure their children have been properly immunized against dangerous childhood diseases. Outbreaks of vaccine-preventable diseases must not be allowed to continue. Parents are reminded that new vaccines have become available in recent years and recommendations for immunization have changed. Remaining unimmunized for childhood diseases is a risk no child should face.

For more information about immunizations or the Communities Caring for Children program, contact your doctor or local health service agency.

Barbara Coeterier, Director of Marshall County Nursing Service, said that although children begin their immunizations on time, they often fall behind as they get older. Children should ideally be immunized against the whole range of vaccine-preventable diseases by the time they are two years of age.

Odegaard has top producer in DHIA

Roger Odegaard dairy herd had the top producing cow in the Red Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for March and three other cows that rated placement in the DHIA production list.

The Red Lake association recognizes cows which produce a minimum of 22,000 pounds of milk, 750 pounds of butterfat or 700 pounds of protein. Rankings are based on total dollar value of product.

Odegaard's top cow was a five-year-old in her fourth lactation and produced 26,822 pounds of milk, 1,005 pounds of butterfat and 780 pounds of protein in a 305-day lactation.

Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station at Crookston had the second and third place cows with respective production of 24,782 pounds of milk, 820 pounds of butterfat and 770 pounds of protein and 22,653 pounds of milk, 781 pounds of butterfat and 774 pounds of protein.

Other cows in the top 10 came from the following herds with production of milk, butterfat and protein listed respectively:

Johnston Farms 23,535, 844 and 715; Don and Karen Knutckson, 23,551, 809 and 727; Conrad Zak and Sons, 24,040, 757 and 691; Don and Karen Knutckson, 23,499, 742 and 714; Johnston Farms, 22,873, 798 and 707; and Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station, 22,263, 648 and 768 and 22,020, 736 and 715.

Herds with cows meeting the minimum productions standards but not in the top 10 came from the herds of Johnston Farms, Randy and Jo Gast (2), Roger Odegaard, (3), Gerald Visser and Wayne L. Larson.

E. Marshall County Homemakers held Spring Banquet

The East Marshall County Homemakers met April 11 at the Nazareth Lutheran church in Holt for their annual Spring Banquet. The meal was served to 87 people by the Nazareth Ladies Mary circle.

President Ione Tuura led the meeting and gave the welcome. Rev. Floistad gave the blessing and entertained with songs and Nina Halvorson demonstrated how to make boxes from recycled greeting cards.

Cathy Erickson introduced speaker Roman Vales, an exchange student from Czechoslovakia who is attending school in Warren. Vales attended the banquet with his host father, Ron Sherack of Radium.

James and Phyllis Dalager of Thief River Falls spoke and showed slides of their visit to Bratislava in the Slovakian Republic. He was a high school math teacher in a Lutheran school there.

Sharon Bring requested information about the homemakers' program for the county extension committee and asked for items to be included in a proposed budget.

Miss Rodeo Minn. serious about sport

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Lisa Ann Vinatieri of Eagan isn't just an ornamental addition to rodeos in the state. As Miss Rodeo Minnesota 1994 she is serious about promoting the sport and its participants and representing it professionally to the public.

In fact, she is doing at least double duty this year by fulfilling the role of royalty and organizing the Miss Rodeo Minnesota Pageant which will be held during the Fourth of July weekend in conjunction with the Headwaters of the Mississippi Rodeo at Park Rapids.

Lisa emphasizes the importance of Miss Rodeo Minnesota to "give back to the community what the community gives to rodeo." That is one of the reasons she enjoys being working royalty. She arrived in Thief River Falls Wednesday evening and spent much of Thursday promoting the Thief River Falls Stampede, including part of the morning with youngsters at the Oklee public schools.

She will be involved in all four performances of the Stampede, riding in the grand entry and helping to herd animals out of the arena during the calf roping and steer wrestling events. All are tasks she believes are essential for whoever wears the crowned hat of Miss Rodeo Minnesota.

Lisa said that entries are now being sought for her successor to be crowned in Park Rapids. Candid-

Rita Hagl and her family will celebrate a very happy Mother's Day Sunday. But that is nothing new, because every day is a celebration for the Hagl family since Rita received a new kidney 12 years ago.

Hagl enjoys life a day at a time

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

If nothing more, Rita Hagl would qualify as a good subject for a Mother's Day story for having had seven children in a less-than-ten-year span. Those of us who are mothers can certainly appreciate what a busy household she must have come home to after she delivered her seventh child, a 10 pound 12 ounce bouncing baby boy, in 1965.

But Rita's story doesn't end there. Despite having seven children before the age of 29, Rita was a hale and healthy young woman. At her six week postnatal exam, everything was fine, but shortly afterward something happened. She said, "I had been feeling fine after the baby was born, but all of a sudden I started to feel sick. I thought it was a flu, but it didn't go away." She noticed that although she was hungry all of the time, she was not gaining weight, and she was drinking a lot of water and made frequent trips to the bathroom.

She went to the doctor and was told that she had diabetes. Even though she had a houseful of children, including a brand new baby, her diabetes was so serious that the doctor placed her in the hospital for tests immediately.

Proper medication and diet controlled the diabetes and Rita was allowed to go home and resume her active life. For 15 years, the diabetes was kept under control and Rita lived a fairly normal life as a housewife and mother. She went to work at a law office and at the Wheat Growers office in Red Lake Falls after her youngest child started school and kept busy with her gardening, church activities and handiwork.

But in 1980, she realized that something was wrong. Even though she felt good, she was retaining liquid and her ankles were swelling. She made an appointment with her doctor.

After a thorough examination, her doctor informed her that her kidneys were failing. Combined with her diabetes, this diagnosis was very bad. Within a short time, Rita and her family were on the way to the Hennepin County Medical Center in Minneapolis where she had both kidneys removed.

She was then placed on a waiting list for a kidney transplant and sent

Cowboys and cowgirls from 20 states were registered to participate in events at the Thief River Falls Stampede as the PRCA sanctioned rodeo scheduled for four performances at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. Rodeos were scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7, with afternoon performances at 1:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 7 and 8.

Reduced price general admission ticket sale closed May 5, but tickets remain on sale at gate prices throughout the rodeo at Pennington Square. Those who want to avoid the likelihood of waiting in line to purchase tickets at the rodeo may purchase their tickets in advance at Pennington Square for any of the performances remaining.

Members of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) and the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) have entered the Stampede from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Arkansas, Montana, Texas, Kansas, California, North Carolina, Georgia, Colorado and Arizona.

A highlight of the 1994 TRF Stampede will be the antics of clown and barrelman Butch Lehmkuhler of North Platte, NE, at all four rodeo performances. He is a four-time winner of the PRCA Clown of the Year award and two-time winner of the Coors Man in the Can award as a bullfighting barrelman.

Bullfighter for the rodeo is Todd "Chief" Propson of Chilton, WI. A special guest is Lisa Ann Vinatieri of Eagan, 1994 Miss Rodeo Minnesota. (See feature stories on the "Chief" and Lisa in this issue of the Northern Watch.)

"For people who like bull riding especially, there is an outstanding line-up in both numbers and quality of riders in this year's Stampede," notes Randy Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions, promoter of the event.

Although it is not guaranteed that all who have entered will show up to perform (injuries or other circumstances may make it impossible or impractical to compete), the number of bull riders registered indicates there may be more than the allowable 15 bull riders per performance. As a result, the PRCA has permitted the Stampede to divide the bull riding into two sections each night if the full complement of 17 or 18 riders shows up to ride.

"We are bringing in 35 bulls so we are well covered in numbers," Jokela said. "Under PRCA rules, the bulls may be used only twice during the three-day rodeo."

Normally when there are more than 15 entries per event in a rodeo, a separate competition called "slack" is held for the surplus entries. All entries are judged in the same manner and a rider during "slack" may have the winning ride. By allowing the Stampede to split its bull riding into two sections, the

"Chief" Propson no beginner in rookie year as bullfighter

Putting on his war paint to do battle with the bulls is Todd "Chief" Propson, the bullfighter for the Thief River Falls Stampede bull riding competition. Propson uses the slogan "Dances with Bulls" on his PRCA bullfighting business cards.

The big bang was bigger than expected

Red Lake Falls — The old dynamite that was found in the trunk of a junked car in Red Lake Falls set off by Air Force explosive experts made a bigger bang that was anticipated. The dynamite was taken to a demolition site west of Red Lake Falls and all 53 sticks were set off at the same time. The blast left a hole about four feet deep and six feet wide. Chief Deputy Arlt with the Red Lake County Sheriff's Department said, "I didn't realize it was going to make such a bang. Standing there, about 200 feet away, it was like a bomb going off. We heard they felt the blast in Dorothy. We also heard rumors that pictures fell off walls and a dead tree fell over in town." The loud blast prompted a letter to the Gazette Editor from Scott K. Hams reprimanding city officials for not warning residents of the controlled detonation in advance. He said, "We have a lot of elderly people and families with children in our community who were panicked needlessly because we weren't informed."

A most likable crab.

Since Melvin Bergeson introduced the Red Splendor Flowering Crab in 1948, it has become a favorite. Unlike most flowering crabs, the Red Splendor hangs onto its berries into the winter until the grosbeaks, grouse, or other birds eat them. Midwest Living magazine recently recommended the Red Splendor as one of the top ten flowering crabs out of hundreds tested in the Chicago area. Hardy. Disease resistant. Beautiful, but tough. This is one crab you won't regret getting to know.

Trying to think of breakfast ideas for summer guests can be a real pain. Maybe some of today's recipes will help.

EASY STICKY BUNS

1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/3 cup chopped pecans
1 (9 1/2 ounces) package refrigerated biscuits

Preheat oven to 425 degrees.

Place butter in 8 inch round cake pan and put in oven to melt butter. Stir in sugar and nuts and spread evenly in pan.

Arrange biscuits over mixture. Bake 12-15 minutes.

Cool in pan on wire rack five minutes, then invert on serving plate.

Make this tasty breakfast dish the night before you need it and breakfast will be a breeze:

CHEDDAR AND SWISS STRATA

8 slices day old white bread
1 1/2 cups (6 ounces) each: shredded Swiss cheese, sharp cheddar cheese
4 beaten eggs
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon each: prepared mustard, salt, nutmeg
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Line bottom of buttered 2 quart shallow baking dish with half of the bread slices. Top with Swiss cheese.

Repeat layer using cheddar cheese.

Beat eggs, milk, mustard and seasonings. Pour over bread and cheese.

Cover and chill several hours or overnight.

Bake at 325 degrees for 55-60 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

BREAKFAST PIZZA

1 package Crescent rolls
1 cup diced ham
1 package Brown and Serve sausages, browned and quartered
2 cups grated Monterey Jack cheese
1/4 cup sliced mushrooms (or more, if desired)
5 eggs
3/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon basil
Dash pepper

Spread rolls in 9x13 inch greased pan. Pinch together and stretch 1/2 inch up side of pan.

In layers, spread ham, sausage, cheese, mushrooms.

Beat eggs, milk, basil and pepper. Pour over ingredients in pan.

(Editor's Note: The following letter was published in part in the Wednesday, May 4 edition of The Times but a portion was inadvertently omitted. It is being reprinted here in its entirety with apologies to the writer and committee he represents.)

To The Editor:

Copies of this letter have been sent to the District 564 school board, Thief River Falls city council and Pennington county board of commissioners. This letter is intended for fellow citizens and taxpayers of School District 564 and Pennington county.

With the scheduled completion of the new Challenger elementary school buildings and the scheduled opening of classes in the new facilities on or about the starting of the new school term, it seems to be imperative that a comprehensive study and evaluation of buildings to be idled should be started and decisions made as to the best use of them for serving the future needs of this community.

A group of concerned citizens has been meeting and after studying the needs and expressed feelings of fellow citizens has suggested that the Northrop school property should be kept and developed as a community center not only for the youth but for all age groups. Many suggestions have been made as possible uses that could be facilitated by using the complex.

Suggested uses include such activities as:

Karate (self defense classes);

Dance (line dancing, ballet, square and basic dance lessons);

Volleyball and Basketball (men, women, co-ed and youth);

Exercise (aerobics, step classes, walking and jogging);

Fine Line Dance (this program needs to be expanded offering elementary and middle school feeder programs);

Stage Area (play practice, musical and drama rehearsals);

Large Community Meeting Spaces;

Disabilities Programs (adult and youth programs—a real need and extremely well attended);

Dog Obedience Classes;

Other (room to provide space for drama, arts, music, science and many other needs of the community);

Outside Grounds (provide space for playground and such activities as skating, soccer, kickball, basketball, volleyball and rollerblade skating, etc.);

Bus Stop (the building can be used for a safe and supervised pick-up point for area students);

County and Community Programs.

The use of existing buildings should be examined for such uses as the city, county and community may need at present and in the future:

Food Shelf;
WIC Program;
Preschool Screening;
Swimming Pool.

In meetings with various local citizens, they indicated they would like to see a community swimming pool developed in this area (indoor if possible). It has been over 30 years since it was first proposed and three drownings have occurred during this period. Money has been donated and some have requested that if nothing is to be done it should be returned to those that have donated it.

With these goals in mind it should be the responsibility of the School District, City and county to act together to insure that a complete and well planned future be assured for this vital community property.

Respectfully submitted by the Committee for the Restoration and Redevelopment of Northrop school.

Rufus S. Dison
Thief River Falls

To The Editor:

I just want to compliment you on your excellent editorials. We not only read them and discuss them, we also send them on to friends.

Surely we have commentaries which are good, but it is this plain, direct writing in local newspapers that stimulates discussion, challenges our thinking—need for a strong military; pop culture Kids of the 60s; dumb global warming; and on and on and on. There is so much that needs change.

Best wishes to you and do continue to expose the weaknesses and dangers to our great country. We need that so badly. Thank you!

We've been subscribers to the Times for years and years—it's our "Home-Town Paper!"

Sincerely,
Viola Loftness O'Day

Nurses attend turberculosis convention

Barbara Cocterier, PHN, director, and Nancy Maurstad, RN, from the Marshall County Nursing Service, were among nearly 400 public health officials who recently took part in a three day state sponsored conference on tuberculosis and childhood immunizations.

The event, which took place April 5 through 7 in the Twin Cities, was the first of several conferences currently planned by the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) dealing with the basic "core functions" of public health. Officials from KMDH and community health agencies throughout Minnesota attended the conference, which included an address by James Curran of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Recent events have raised important issues regarding both childhood immunizations and tuberculosis control activities. Those topics were chosen as the focus of the first conference.

"We've been seeing an increase in the number of tuberculosis cases over the last few years - both nationally and here in Minnesota," said Cocterier. "At the same time, the job of investigating TB cases and managing the treatment of the disease has become more complex. We now have to deal with the issue of drug-resistant TB, and there have also been changes in the social and demographic characteristics of the population at risk for TB. It is important that community health agencies like ours take steps to address these issues as we work to develop an effective TB control program."

Danae Dekkers gets scholarship

Danae Dekkers of Thief River Falls has been awarded a Dordt College honors scholarship; a Dordt College major/program teacher education scholarship, a Dordt College instrumental music activity grant, and a Dordt College vocal music activity grant. She is the daughter of Willard and Beverly Dekkers and a senior at Lincoln high school.

Honors scholarships and merit award scholarships are based on recognition of the students' academic standing, ACT/SAT scores, and extra-curricular involvement. They are renewable for a four-year term of undergraduate study at Dordt College.

Volunteers create magic

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Recently, I wrote a story about volunteers. It included quotes from only a few of the many volunteers who help make Thief River Falls a better place to live, but there is more to the story.

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce recently produced a list of organizations in the community. There were about 120, most of which utilize volunteers. Another local resident who works with the state office on volunteerism estimated that there are 190 organizations in the community who utilize volunteers. With so many organizations, it becomes obvious that there are hundreds of volunteers in this community.

In Minnesota, more than two million volunteers of all ages annually contribute volunteer service valued at $4.7 billion. They make significant contributions to the quality of life in Minnesota and through their efforts help to ensure a brighter future for our state.

There are many reasons why so many have volunteered their time to the betterment of an organization or cause. According to a poll of volunteers in Minnesota, which was taken by the Minnesota Office on Volunteer Services: 69 per cent of volunteers have volunteered before, 67 per cent wanted to make a significant change in society, 66 per cent had belonged to a youth group, 67 per cent saw someone they admired helping another, 61 per cent saw someone in their family helping others, and 60 per cent helped by others in the past.

Of course there are many esoteric reasons why someone decides to become a volunteer. Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "To leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition. To know that even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to have succeeded."

Reasons mentioned by volunteers in Thief River Falls include just wanting to help others, feeling useful, the feeling you get when you help others, and helping others become more effective in their job. But for whatever reason a person decides to become a volunteer, the thousands of hours donated, in one way of the other, make this community a better place to live.

It is entirely appropriate therefore, to recognize volunteer contributions statewide as Governor Arne Carlson has for April 17-23. In his proclamation he stated, "Volunteers are Minnesota's magic, and recognition should be given to our dedicated volunteers who have demonstrated their commitment to the betterment of our communities throughout the year."

Jailhouse blues

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Pennington county commissioners and the Minnesota department of corrections have taken steps that allow the county to solve an expensive problem by permitting the county jail to increase jail capacity from 14 to 22.

People who "look" at the stories about crime and law enforcement incidents in Thief River Falls are probably aware that the few articles typically found there have increased to an entire page of "gloom and doom". Annual statistics have shown much more clearly that more people are being sentenced to jail time for their crimes. Where to put all those people, however, has become a problem.

Occupancy in the jail at the Pennington county law enforcement center was at 99 per cent for the first three months of 1994. Recently, the Monday morning activities at the law enforcement center have included deciding who stays and who goes.

It has resulted in the ridiculous situation of prisoners being excused for a short period of time or being asked to come back in a week or so. Justice should be more responsible.

The message sent to prisoners, and the public in general, is one acknowledging that laws can be broken but there's no room at the Inn for those who do break the law. Essentially, we have lost a deterrent to crime.

We have also lost some of our freedom. When people who should be in jail are walking the streets, the general public loses a certain degree of its freedom.

Shipping prisoners off to other counties for "housing" is an expensive proposition; maybe more so than hiring additional staff, but it's not anywhere near as expensive as building a new jail. The Pennington County board of commissioners wants to find out if hiring additional staff and expanding the jail capacity is a solution that can work in Pennington county.

Northern Watch Policies

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

County approves jail expansion

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Pennington county has received permission from the Minnesota department of corrections to increase the number of beds in the jail from 14 to 22.

Pennington County Commissioners have also approved a motion allowing the jail to increase occupancy by 8, but requested that it be reviewed after 90 days.

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe explained that there has been a backlog of individuals sentenced to serve time in the county jail. Last Friday, he said, there were 14 prisoners in jail. By Saturday there were 19 and by Monday there were 22 people in jail and several people waiting in the lobby of the law enforcement center to serve time.

The Pennington County Law Enforcement Center is a relatively new facility. It was built in 1974 or 1975, but it was licensed to hold only 14 prisoners.

What happened last Monday at the law enforcement center was not necessarily unusual. For the first three months of 1994, occupancy at the law enforcement center jail was at 99 per cent.

When a facility reaches its licensed occupation rate, officials are left with some difficult decisions to make. Housing prisoners at other facilities outside of the county is one of those options.

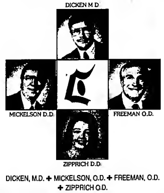
The cost to house male prisoners at facilities outside of Pennington county ranges from $20 per day to $45 per day. In some cases it can reach as high as $60 per day. For female prisoners the average rate is $42 per day. For juveniles, the average daily rate can reach $69. Whenever a prisoner is housed in a different facility, there are also transportation costs to consider.

Another option is to make some decisions about who serves time and who waits to serve time. Such decisions place the jailer and county in the position of being judge. It requires jailers to decide who is more dangerous or less dangerous; and, it raises other issues about liability, as well.

Further, Sheriff Moe pointed out that, if the jail is running at or near capacity there is no room for individuals arrested during incidents recorded during any one day or weekend.

When faced with that type of situation, jailers and law enforcement officers are again forced to make decisions typically made by judges.

With permission granted to expand to allow for eight additional prisoners, the Pennington county sheriff's department plans to turn the law enforcement center's recreation room into a jail cell. They then plan to move the recreation room into the library. Restroom and other facilities meet state requirements, so no change will be required.



The down side to having additional personnel on duty is that most of the prisoners at the law enforcement center are employed — either through Huber law or the Sentence-to-Serve program. That would leave two jailer/dispatchers on duty when the jail cells are all empty. Prisoners serving a sentence under Huber law also pay for the time they spend at the law enforcement center and must provide their own meals and transportation.

The policy change is not without a cost to the county. The law enforcement center will have to have two jailer/dispatchers on duty at all times. Currently, at least one is on duty at all times. The cost to the county could be as much as $700 per week. However, that has to be weighed against the cost of housing prisoners outside of the county.

After 90 days, the Pennington county board of commissioners will review the expansion policy. The board will examine cost figures and other alternatives. Other alternatives could include: housing Huber and Sentence-to-Serve prisoners at a non-secured facility; a new jail; a new regional facility; and other options or combination of options.

home, dependent on a kidney dialysis machine to take the place of the missing kidneys and clean her blood. She traveled back and forth to the Grand Forks hospital three times a week for dialysis sessions that took four hours each. She was placed on a strict diet that did not include salt and was only allowed to drink two ounces of liquid a day.

For a year and a half she traveled back and forth to Grand Forks for dialysis treatments and watched her diet very carefully. Then, in August of 1982, the medical center in Minneapolis called and said they had a kidney for her. Rita said she had not expected to have the transplant so soon. "I was really surprised. I expected it to be a lot longer before they would have a kidney for me, so I was really happy."

"We were all so excited. Two of my daughters were home at the time and they were just jumping around. My husband had just gotten to work so he turned right around and came home. We packed up and got on the road to the cities right away."

Rita had her transplant 12 years ago, on August 11, 1982, and she has been enjoying every minute of every day since. One of the first things she and her family did after she received the kidney was to write thank you notes to the family of the donor. She was not told the name of the donor, but was informed that he was a young man who was killed in an accident.

Later she found out that a woman from the neighboring town of Crookston had received the donor's other kidney, and she was surprised when she met her at one of her check ups to the hospital in Minneapolis.

Although she must still take insulin and watch her diet, Rita is doing so well that she only needs a check up every other year instead of yearly as she did for the first 10 years after the transplant.

She has had some problems with her vision from the diabetes and had eye surgery last year to relieve pressure in her eyes. She still has some trouble seeing, but hopes that this will get better in the future, even though it may mean another surgery.

"Right now, I enjoy spending time with my children and grandchildren," she said. "And I watch television and listen to the radio, and, oh yes, I can still play cards." She also likes to make hairpin lace afghans and has made them for all of her children, as well as for church bazaars and other events. She also babysits her grandchildren as often as possible.

Rita has 10 grandchildren, most of whom live in and around Red Lake Falls Falls. Her son, Dan, works at Homark in Red Lake Falls; Becky Berry (husband, Jim), lives in Thief River Falls and has two boys, Tim, 17 and Brian, 15; son John is building a house in Red Lake Falls and has two children, Seleena, 14, and Tyler, age four.

Son Jim works at Hydra Mac in Plymouth, MN, and has a son, Nathan, 14, and seven month old daughter, Emma, named after Rita's mother.

Daughter Sally McGlynn (husband, Greg) lives in East Grand Forks and has three children, Paul, 12, Tommy, three, and Mariah, two; daughter Patricia Berberina, who is with the U.S. Army in Georgia, is the mother of a baby boy, Joseph, who is a year and a half; and son Marvin works with Ralph Wilde Construction in Red Lake Falls.

Rita's husband, Ken, is semi retired, working part time for the city of Red Lake Falls. He has taken over the gardening chores for Rita and she says now she just "enjoys what he grows."

Rita was born Rita Huot in the little town of Huot, MN, "probably named for a distant relative," she says. Her parents were Ernie and Emma Huot. She has five sisters and two brothers, Lillian Grenier, May Gjerstad, Pat Ruth, Jean Beyer, Delores Glass and Ernie and Tom Huot.

You can bet Mother's Day will be a big celebration at the Hagl house. But then every day for the past 12 years has been a celebration for the Hagl family — a celebration of life and love.

Suggestion for this story was submitted by Jean Beyer. It will be considered for the Story of the Month for May.

Working all four performances of the Thief River Falls Stampede Friday through Sunday, May 6-8, is Lisa Ann Vinatieri of Eagan, 1994 Miss Rodeo Minnesota.

Miss Rodeo Minnesota....

ates must be single, at least 18 years of age by the state pageant and not more than 25 years of age at the Miss Rodeo America pageant in Las Vegas this winter.

Candidates are judged on appearance, poise, personality, knowledge of rodeo and the ability to ride basic patterns in horsemanship. There is no entry fee and no organizational sponsorship that is required. The state pageant at Park Rapids will be a four or five-day event.

Recipient of the Miss Rodeo Minnesota title will be required to appear at the approximately 20 PRCA rodeos and PBR bull rides held in Minnesota annually. She should also be available to make guest appearances when requested in neighboring states. She will receive coaching and training in preparation for competition at the Miss Rodeo America pageant in Las Vegas.

The reigning Miss Rodeo Minnesota just recently took on the title and its responsibilities. The TRF Stampede is her first major event in the royal role, but she is already calling the position "an experience of a lifetime."

Lisa was born in South Dakota but came to Bloomington as a two-week-old infant. Both of her parents taught in the Bloomington school system and she graduated from Bloomington Lincoln high school which has since been closed. She earned an Associate in Arts degree in business from Normandale Community College in Bloomington, then graduated from a program in cosmetology, which she decided not to pursue as a career.

After some professional modeling and work at several other jobs, she has been employed for the past two years at Metropolitan Federal Bank in the Twin Cities.

Lisa has been working with Tim Weyh, a PRCA bull rider from Eagan who is also Minnesota State Delegate to the Miss Rodeo of America Pageant, to secure more sponsorship for the state pageant. Weyh will be bull riding during the Stampede here this weekend.

Any young women interested in the Miss Rodeo Minnesota competition are encouraged to write for an information packet to Miss Rodeo Minnesota, 4726 Beacon Hill Road, Eagan, MN 55122 or call 612-688-9445.

And anyone interested in seeing how Miss Rodeo Minnesota works can attend any performance of the TRF Stampede at 7:30 p.m. May 6 and 7 and 1:30 p.m. May 7 and 8 in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls.

Homes for Aging week in Greenbush

Greenbush Community Nursing Home will celebrate "Homes for the Aging Week" May 8-14.

A number of community activities have been planned, including a carnival on Friday, May 13 from 3 to 6 .m. on the front lawn of the nursing home. The carnival will include many games and prizes, bake sale and craft sale.

Other events include: t-shirt day and kids day on Monday, May 9; Native American Day on Tuesday, May 10; Polish Day on Wednesday, May 11; and All American Day on Thursday, May 12.

Governor Arne Carlson has proclaimed May 8-14 as "Homes for the Aging Week" in Minnesota to honor the state's residents of long-term care and senior housing facilities. The theme for this year's celebration is "Special People, Special Places: A Celebration of Age". The theme highlights the wealth of wisdom, joy and love the elderly have to share with other generations and the special role of the nursing home professional.

New Minnesota Lottery is "Monopoly" game

Beginning May 3, the familiar wheel-and-deal high finance of the popular board game Monopoly comes to lottery players in Minnesota.

Players don't have to pay top dollar for Park Place, they simply scratch off the properties on the coated play area to reveal Rich Uncle Pennybags and game pieces from the original Monopoly game: hotels, cannons, race cars, top hats, shoes and irons. If three symbols match, the player wins. For $1 per play, prizes include $2,500, $500, $50, $10, $5, $2 and $1. If a "Go" symbol appears, the player wins $200 instantly. Overall odds of winning are 1:4.12, with a prize payout of 63 per cent.

Professional rodeo clown Butch Lehmkuhler demonstrated for Oklee elementary students Thursday morning how to—and how not to—ride and get off a bull. Lehmkuhler is a four-time selection as PRCA Clown of the Year and will be working all four performances of the TRF Stampede Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

With a little help from Randy Jokela of Jokela ProWest Productions, this elementary student from the Oklee public schools makes a successful attempt to rope a "steer". While a number of students volunteered to try, only a couple were able to toss the loop over the horns of their target.

Foresters had potluck supper at April meeting

The National Catholic Society of Foresters (NCSF) held a potluck supper April 19. Several members and guests attended the event.

The evening began with prayer and prizes were awarded by Jarvis Kuznia and Linda Hageman. After the dinner, a meeting was held with installation of new officers. The new officers are president — Linda Hageman, vice president — Virginia Carriere, secretary — Theresa Vanyo, and treasurer — Ursula Dahl. Trustees installed were Mary Thompson and Doris Eisbrener.

Barbara Holthusen was honored for her 14 years of service as secretary of the organization and she was presented with a card and a long-stemmed rose. Shirley Knoff and Ursula Dahl gave reports on finance and the meeting ended with prayer.

NCSF also met Sunday, May 1, for the annual breakfast at the Best Western.

Next meeting will be held May 17.

The public is also being asked to stay away from the Challenger elementary school construction site.

Area students named to fraternity

Lore Wagner of Thief River Falls and Sheila Sebenaler of Oklee have been named a member of the Bemidji State University scholastic fraternity Alpha Phi Sigma.

Wagner, a senior at BSU, majors in life science. Sebenaler, a senior also, is enrolled in the nursing program.

Students in Alpha Phi Sigma must have at least 96 credit hours, a cumulative grade point average of 3.25 or above, and an exhibited drive for learning.

Alpha Phi Sigma was founded in 1930 to recognize high standards of scholarship in university students. Members of the fraternity receive official recognition of membership for use on vita, resumes and graduate school applications.

Deb Zak named to extension field faculty liaison position

Deb Matero Zak of St. Hilaire, Pennington county extension educator specializing in community resources, has been appointed to a two-year term as a field faculty liaison on the Minnesota Extension Citizen's Advisory committee, according to Patrick Borich, dean and director of the Minnesota Extension Service (MES). The advisory committee provides informal counsel to Borich and informs public decision-makers about the impact of MES programs on Minnesota citizens.

Zak is Pennington county extension leader and MES cluster program leader for the six counties of extreme northwestern Minnesota. She has been on the MES faculty since 1979 and is active in the American Association of University Women, the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, the Community Education Advisory council, Minnesota Agri-Women and several other community organizations.

Zak's membership on the citizen's advisory committee began with a trip to Washington D.C., in mid-March to participate in the 18th annual extension lay leaders' seminar. Members met with their senators and representatives while in the capitol. Also that month, they participated in an advisory committee meeting in St. Paul and visited their legislators at the state capitol.

Committee members are selected yearly for either two- or three-year terms. The committee meets twice a year to discuss extension program objectives and priorities.

TRF out-scores Warroad 17-7

Moving a scheduled home game to Warroad because of wet grounds did not prove to be a problem for Thief River Falls Thursday as the Prowlers surprised highly-regarded Warroad 17-7 in high school baseball.

Thief River Falls, a Class AA team struggling to pick up wins, pounded out 14 hits against the No. 2-rated club in Class A baseball. Andy Peterson led the attack with three hits in four at-bats, while Adam Henney, Chane Keefe, and Eric Bjorgaard were all 2-for-4. Keefe drove in three runs; Bjorgaard, Looker and Chris Vanyo had two RBI each.

At 3-4, Thief River Falls has yet to reach .500 for the year, but in two trips north this week the Prowlers scored 17 runs, duplicating a one-sided 17-3 Monday rout at Roseau with the romp at Warroad.

Thief River Falls gained control with a six-run second inning that included singles by Keefe, Nathan Anderson, Looker, Peterson, Henney, and Nick Chlodo.

The Prowlers hit double figures with a four-run fourth that featured singles by Peterson, Vanyo, Keefe, and Bjorgaard, along with a double by Henney.

After scoring twice in the sixth, Thief River Falls capped the offensive show with a five-run seventh that included a lead-off single by Peterson, followed by six walks and an error.

Bjorgaard turned in a complete-game pitching effort for the win, scattering six hits while striking out seven and walking five. Rocky Rybolt, the first of three Warroad pitchers, went four innings and took the loss.

"We didn't see their ace, but we still went nose-to-nose with their hitters, and with the No. 2 ranking and all, you have to be happy with the results," said Thief River Falls coach Lee Alger. "We hit the ball pretty well, we bunted well and we did a better job running the bases."

Wyatt Smith had a pair of doubles and two RBI in four at-bats for Warroad.

"There are still some things we have to work on," noted Alger, "but if you can score 34 runs in two games against the two teams who are the traditionally strong teams in the north, you must be doing something right."

Track teams back on schedule

Monday, Steve Burslie drove in six runs to help lead Thief River Falls past Roseau 17-3 in a high school baseball game. Tuesday, Burslie was a winner in the 200 meters and a second place finisher in the 400 meters as a member of the Prowlers' track team in the Crookston VFW invitational at the University of North Dakota Memorial Stadium.

Doubling up in spring sports continues an around-the-clock athletic schedule for Burslie, a 1993-94 Lincoln High School junior, who is also a football and wrestling letterman and a member of the Thief River Falls American Legion summer baseball program.

Marshall County South boys and Park Rapids Area girls won team titles. The 14-team field included a sixth place showing by the Thief River Falls boys and a seventh place finish by the Prowlers' girls.

Weathered out of two meets the previous week, Thief River Falls coach Tim Olson was happy just to get his team back on the track, although rain and wind produced less-than-ideal conditions. "The weather was lousy," acknowledged Olson, "but at least we got a meet in. We're pleased with a number of things, but right now we need to develop some consistency."

Highlighting the efforts by the Thief River Falls girls was a third place in the discus by Carly Dee, who bettered her previous personal-best by 10 feet with a toss of 109-10.

Olson said he was also pleased with time drops by the boys' 1600 meter relay team (Jason Brelland, Dan Bjerknes, John Davis, Burslie) and the girls' 800 meter relay unit (Kelly Skeim, Allison Myers, Jessica Bugge, Kamie Twomey).

Fosston claims TRF Invitational girls golf crown

Fosston won the Thief River Falls Invitational girls high school golf tournament Monday. Nothing surprising there, since Fosston is the odds-on favorite to win a third straight Class A state title this spring.

However, the Greyhounds triumphed on the Thief River Golf Club course without using their top four golfers. The second unit did just fine, turning in a 388 and beating runner-up Roseau by four strokes.

The host Prowlers were fifth in the 10-team field with a 439.

Meet medalist was Jenny Bruun of Crookston with an 87.

Seth Martell of Thief River Falls will be part of Team Minnesota Hockey, Inc. out of Bloomington that will be be playing tournaments in Winnipeg and the Twin Cities this summer.

A Franklin Middle School eighth grader, the 14-year-old Martell was a goalie on the 1993-94 Thief River Falls VFW Bantam A hockey team.

He was invited to participate in the ninth annual Team Minnesota Hockey Mini-Series try-outs April 15-17 at the Burnsville Ice Arena and Bloomington Ice Garden that featured 60-to-75 players in six different age groups.

The selection process then produced two 17-member teams at each age level that will take part in the fourth annual Team Minnesota Summer Hockey Festival July 30-August 6 at the Burnsville Ice Area, Braemer Arena in Edina and the Eden Prairie Community Center.

That group was narrowed down even further to single 17-member team at each age level to represent Team Minnesota Hockey, Inc. at a June 30-July 3 tournament in Winnipeg.

Seth Martell

Martell will be part of the Team Minnesota Hockey, Inc. Major Pee-Wee group for players born in 1980. Other age levels include Minor Bantam (1979), Minor Pee-Wee (1981), Major Atom (1982), Minor Atom (1983), and Major Novice (1984).

Tri-County/MCC loses final-inning ball game

Kittson Central scored twice in the bottom of the seventh inning to pull out a 7-6 high school baseball win over Tri-County/Marshall County Central Tuesday at Hallock.

Rain and strong winds produced less-than-ideal weather conditions.

Tri-County/Marshall County Central overcame a 5-2 deficit on a two-run fifth inning single by Trever Magner and a two-out Nathan Anderson RBI single in the sixth. The visitors then tied it in the top of the seventh on a lead-off double by Tollef Olson, a walk, a bases-loading single by Barret Germundson and a passed ball.

But a walk, an error and two singles in the bottom of the inning gave the Wolfpack the come-from-behind win.

Magner and Olson were both 2-for-4 at the plate.

The loss dropped Tri-County/Marshall County Central to 2-7.

Strong pitching lifts NCC over Vermilion

Solid pitching performances by Greg Lein, Jeremy Olson and Mitch Bernstein carried Northland to a 6-1, 4-1 Minnesota Community College Conference baseball doubleheader sweep over Vermilion Thursday in Ely.

By sweeping the make-up twin-bill from an April 30 postponement, the Pioneers improved to 14-4 overall, 13-3 in the MCCC, where they are getting close to nailing down a state tournament berth to go along with an NJCAA Region 13 playoff spot they clinched earlier.

Lein, a freshman from Warroad, gave us just three hits in Game 1 against the Ironmen, striking out seven and walking only one.

"Greg Lein continues to amaze us and the opposition," said Northland coach Terry Wiseth. "He doesn't throw hard, but he has a lot of stuff on the ball and people just can't seem to figure him out. It was a super performance on his part. Vermilion is a good-hitting team."

Olson, a freshmen from Thief River Falls, carried a five-hit shutout into the sixth inning of Game 2 before running into trouble. Bernstein, a sophomore from Grygla, came on to pick up a save.

"Jeremy did a nice job," said Wiseth. "It was cold, and Jeremy usually pitches better when it's warmer. He didn't have his best stuff, but he still got them to hit ground balls and pop-ups."

Olson struck out one and walked one.

Northland plays doubleheaders at Hibbing today (Saturday) and at Brainerd Wednesday before taking part in the May 13-14 six-team Region 13 event at Brooklyn Center High School, where the Pioneers meet Bismarck Junior College in a 10 a.m. first round game.

Mitch Bernstein broke open a close game with a two-run fifth inning home run as Northland beat Vermilion 6-1 in the doubleheader opener.

The games were switched to Brainerd from Thief River Falls because of wet grounds.

Northland had just two errors in Game 1, but one of them led to a pair of unearned runs in a four-run Brainerd third inning as the Raiders beat the Pioneers 4-2.

Celeste Cormican was a tough-luck losing pitcher, giving up just three hits.

Northland beats weather, UMC

Renee Pomplun and Lisa Verbout combined for four hits and eight RBI Tuesday as Northland Community College beat the University of Minnesota-Crookston 12-7 in Northern Division softball.

Originally scheduled as doubleheader in Thief River Falls, the contests were switched to Crookston because of wet grounds here. But the weather wasn't real cooperative in Crookston, either, where rain and lightning stopped Game 1 after six innings and forced the teams to call off the second contest.

Pomplun was 2-for-3 and drove in five runs, while Verbout was 2-for-4 with three RBI.

Celeste Cormican was the winning pitcher.

Plummer students accept seatbelt challenge

Pershing high school's driver education class at Plummer has been participating in a statewide seatbelt challenge to emphasize the importance of wearing seatbelts whenever driving or riding in a motor vehicle.

The challenge involves 10 schools in Minnesota, and the Minnesota Passenger Protection Program notes that the Plummer team is one of the most active groups in this year's event which runs from March 1 to May 10.

Winning team in the contest sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Public Safety and Minnesota Passenger Protection Program will attend a Minnesota Twins game on June 30 and have a picnic celebration at Boom Island Park in Minneapolis.

"Rival schools have completed activities similar to the Plummer team, but the team's chances for a good finish look promising," stated Ann Tressel, project director for the Minnesota Passenger Protection Program.

"Each activity in the contest is point-valued," Tressel added. "At the end of the contest, the points are tallied and winners announced. Mark Lee, drivers' education teacher, has reported several activities the group has completed."

Lee noted that the group has:

- Organized a seatbelt-themed poster contest for elementary and junior high school students;
- Conducted the "Belted or Busted" safety belt presentation which is designed for and given by high school students;
- Announced Challenge activities and seat belt safety messages over the school's public address system;
- Hung banners around the school reminding other students to buckle their seatbelts;
- Conducted Vince and Larry (the official crash test dummies) presentations around the community; and
- Handed out yellow ribbons to teachers and students asking them to tie the ribbons to their cars as reminders to buckle up.
- Placed seatbelt reminders in car windows;
- Conducted a seatbelt safety lyceum for the students;
- Obtained signatures from students and others promising to buckle up for safety;
- Worked with Plummer State Bank to have buckle up slogans printed on bank statements;
- Interviewed several people who have been involved in traffic accidents; and
- Will be participating in a ride-along with law enforcement officers.

"The students have really taken an active interest in this project and run with it," Lee said. "They have developed many ideas on their own and I give them a lot of credit for their interest in safety and their competitive spirit."

The students noted that one of their more interesting projects involved appearances by Vince and Larry, crash test dummies created by the National Ad council, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Vince and Larry attended the sixth annual carnival sponsored by the Pershing high school Students Against Driving Drunk chapter in late March, "coming to life" to tell everyone there that using seatbelts saves lives.

Vince is portrayed as a veteran of the crash test business who is about to give up because he believes that no one is listening to him tell what he has learned. Larry is new in the business but says he has already lost three arms and six legs.

Presently the students are in the process of making a video tape for the Minnesota Passenger Protection Program. It is a story about a college student from Bemidji State University who was in a vehicle accident last May about three miles east of Warroad.

In the accident, a Ford Ranger collided with a fuel tanker, crushing the pickup and breaking the axle off the tanker truck, which overturned on its side. The driver and passenger in the pickup were wearing their seatbelts, as was the tanker truck driver. The only injury sustained by any of those involved was the loss of three front teeth by the pickup driver whose face hit the steering wheel.

The video tape along with the smashed vehicle will be displayed at county fairs in the area this summer to illustrate how seatbelts can save lives.

To illustrate how seatbelts can help save lives, this vehicle will be displayed at various county fairs this summer by the driver education department of the Plummer school. It will be part of a contest the department is competing in on a statewide basis to emphasize seatbelt safety. The driver of this Ford Ranger pickup which collided with a fuel tanker truck near Warroad last May received only minor injuries. The passenger, who was also wearing his seatbelt, returned later in the day to retrieve some of his fishing equipment and go fishing. The Plummer school presentation will also include a video tape made by the students.

Blood drive at Grygla-Gatzke set for May 23

United Blood Services will conduct a blood drive at Grygla from 12 to 5:30 p.m. Monday, May 23, at the Community Center in Grygla.

"As many as 90 per cent of all people who live to age 72 will need blood or blood products during their lives," said Jan Falk, director of Community Relations for United Blood Services of Fargo.

Blood is needed for many surgeries, for patients being treated for leukemia or other cancers, or for a mother experiencing a difficult delivery.

While most of us will receive blood, only a few donate it. Less than 10 per cent of this area's population donates blood.

According to Falk, more people would donate if only they knew the importance of blood.

United Blood Services collects blood every day so that it is available every day to meet patient's needs. Before a donation is usable for a patient, it must be fully tested, which takes more than six hours.

The goal for the blood drive in Grygla is 76. Anyone interested in making an appointment to donate blood may contact Ralph Rundell at 294-6177; Mildred Klamar at 459-3436; Loren Lusignan at 294-6294 or 6155; or Ione Aune at 294-6323.

1994 officers elected at Retired Educators mtg.

Northland Retired Educators met at the Goodridge Senior Center April 20. Guest speaker was Mrs. Richard Heinrichs, who discussed the various objectives of the Minnesota 2000 Program for Thief River Falls.

Officers for the coming year were elected:

- President — David Brown;
- Vice President — Clance Galliher;
- Secretary — Polly Reed;
- Treasurer — Dorothy Lawrence.

Luncheon was served by the Goodridge Senior Citizens.

Present at the meeting were Polly and Carl Reed, Dorothy Lawrence, Elaine and Ward Votava, Rosella Schlofer, Alma Peterson, Mildred Wick, Donna Poole, Helen Tri, June Scholin and Clarice Galliher, all of Thief River Falls; Phyllis and Jim Dalager of St. Hilaire; Helga Lambert and Grace McManus of Oklee; DeLoris Engevick of Gatzke; and David Brown, Lillette Anderson Doris and Esther Rindahl and Elva Fiedler of Goodridge.

Flags remain at half mast

Several people have noticed that the flags are still at half mast and have wondered about proper flag etiquette.

According to Title 36, U.S.C., Chapter 10, Section 174, (m), "The flag shall be flown at half-staff 30 days from the death of the President or a former President. . ."

There are a few locations in the city where flags of two or more nations are being flown from separate staffs. According to Title 36, U.S.C., Chapter 10, Section 174 (g), "When flags of two or more nations are displayed, they are to be flown from separate staffs of the same height. The flags should be of approximately equal size. International usage forbids the display of the flag of one nation above that of another nation in time of peace."

With bullfighter Todd "Chief" Propson looking on, bull rider Tim Weyh of Eagan gives Okiee first grader Matthew Verbout a lively eight-second ride on a bucking bull.....er, baiei.

business card proclaiming him to be a PRCA bullfighter is the slogan, "Dances with Bulls."

To become a PRCA bullfighter you don't just walk into the PRCA office in Colorado Springs, CO, and ask to go to work. To get your first year permit card you have to have two PRCA bullfighters attest that you are capable, a PRCA stock contractor sign for you, and be contracted for at least five PRCA rodeos that year.

Propson was entered in the bull riding at one rodeo in 1987 when the bullfighter was injured during the first performance. He agreed to help out. "I got beat up pretty bad," he said about that first effort, but it changed his perspective—from on top of the bulls to in front of them.

He continued to ride bulls but also worked as a bullfighter in the Little Britches rodeos where the stock consisted of calves and steers. In 1991 he quit bull riding and concentrated on bullfighting. Although there are instructional programs in bullfighting available, Todd says he is self-taught. Some might say he is bull-taught. He learned his trade by studying countless hours of video tape and survival in the arena.

Then Jim Sutton of Onida, SD, a PRCA stock contractor, hired him for two Indian rodeos held last year in conjunction with PRCA rodeos in Rapid City, SD and Bismarck, ND. Working the regular rodeos were Lloyd Ketchum, NFR bullfighter in 1992 and 1993, and Ryan Byrne, the first Canadian bullfighter to work the NFR in 1986. They liked his work and agreed to sign his PRCA application.

Bob Barnes, who has been a stock contractor for 40 years—more than any other contractor, hired him for 35 of his rodeos and signed his application as well. Todd put in a full schedule working those rodeos in the last half of last year.

He had reached the first of his goals—to get a PRCA bullfighting card. Last winter he went to Las Vegas for the National Finals Rodeo and participated in the bullfighting during the bucking horse and bucking bull sale. He doesn't like the competitive type of bullfighting, but won the first place trophy buckle—about half the size of a dinner plate. That was another goal reached.

His next goal is to get some more PRCA work this year and in the near future be selected for a circuit finals. And his top goal is to be selected to work the NFR in Las Vegas, NV, at some point in his career.

Propson is genuinely quiet and modest. He doesn't like the competitive type of bullfighting because he says it's like "showing off." That isn't his nature or his style. He doesn't see a whole lot of sense in risking his life simply for show and a check.

But putting his life and limbs on the line to save a bull rider is another matter. The Chief sees a purpose in that and he doesn't hesitate to do it. His greatest reward is when a bull rider tells him he has done a good job.

"I'm not quick and I'm not fast," he said. "I just seem to be able to stay about that much (forefinger and thumb held a quarter inch apart) ahead of the bull. And that's far enough."

"Chief" Propson dances with bulls at all four performances of the TRF Stampede May 6, 7 and 8.

DARE graduation set in Goodridge

Graduation ceremonies for students in the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program in Goodridge will be held 7 p.m. May 10 in the new gymnasium. Twenty students are expected to graduate.

Rodeo draws top entries

PRCA is allowing local rodeo fans to see all rides during regular rodeo competition.

Among the entries is Jim Sharp, a Texas cowboy who has qualified for the National Finals Rodeo seven times in the bull riding event and won the world championship twice. Other entries include several currently in the top 15, including the second and third place riders behind the 1993 world bull riding champion and five-time world champion all-around cowboy Ty Murray.

In the first two years of the Stampede, three performances were held and each competitor competed at only one performance. This year there are four performances and under PRCA rules the timed events —calf roping and steer wrestling—will be conducted on average.

Those who compete Friday night will also compete Sunday afternoon, and those competing Saturday afternoon will also compete Saturday night with their total average time at the two performances determining the winner.

A similar procedure will take place in the saddle bronc riding with Friday night riders also competing Sunday afternoon and Saturday afternoon riders competing again Saturday evening. A new draw will be held for the second performance so that no rider makes two rides on the same horse.

Only in the bareback bronc riding are the entries a little light, and there are expected to be five or fewer bareback rides per rodeo performance. Again the quality will be high, with former Stampede contestant, eight time NFR qualifier and 1992 world champion Wayne Herman of Dickinson, ND, among the entries. Herman is just returning to action after suffering a torn biceps during the 1993 season.

Also registered is Ken Lensegrav of Rapid City, SD, who has qualified for the National Finals six consecutive times from 1988 through 1993. He has drawn Copenhagen Brown Bomber, a National Finals bareback horse from the David Bailey string, which should provide a top notch match-up and possible winning ride.

Cowgirls barrel racing will also be featured with 1992 Stampede champion Mardee Hollenbeck of Pratt, KS and 1993 champion Renee Kenney of Onawa, IA, both entered this year.

Names on warrants will be published in The Times June 1st

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Mor has received permission from the Pennington County Board of Commissioners to release the names of individuals named on warrants to the public. The Times has agreed to print the names in the June 1 edition of The Times.

Individuals who know they are wanted on warrants or commitments have until Monday, May 30, to clear up the warrants or commitments. On June 1, the names remaining on the list will be printed in The Times.

The decision to release the names of individuals wanted on warrants marks a policy change at the sheriff's department. In the past, warrants and commitments were allowed to pile up unless there was a pressing need to find the individual or the individual was stopped for a traffic violation or other violation. This was allowed to continue because of very little room in the jail and not enough personnel to transport individuals from other counties to the law enforcement center. Additional room at the jail has been created and the policy is now to actively pursue all warrants. Currently, the county has a list of about 400 individuals who are wanted on warrants or commitments.

The Wednesday, June 1, edition of The Times will list the names of individuals wanted on the warrants, their birth dates and address if known.

Individuals picked up on warrants will be allowed to contact their attorney and if a judge is on duty, to appear before the judge. Individuals can also post bond on warrants. They can either post the bond or contact a bondsman who will post the bond. Bonds are promises to appear in court.

If an individual is picked up on a commitment the individual will serve the jail time. Some commitments, however, allow the individual to serve time or pay a fine.

For the year ended March 31, 1994, net sales increased 45 per cent to $268,057,000, from $184,720,000 for the same period last year. Net earnings were up 53 per cent to $27,506,000, or $1.41 per share, for fiscal 1994, compared to $18,011,000, or $0.93 per share, earned during fiscal 1993.

Greenbush race track to open on May 21

Ready and waiting for the roar of the engines and cheering crowds, the Greenbush Race Park will open Saturday, May 21. Located one-half mile north of Greenbush on County Road Seven, the race park will have races every Saturday night until September. "Going to the races" is a reasonably-priced evening of entertainment for the whole family.

by Sherry LaCoursiere
Northern Watch Reporter

Want to do something exciting on Saturday night? Want someplace where the whole family will have a good time and be able to watch something they can cheer about, where they can have a bite to eat, dress casually and be outdoors, something that doesn't cost an arm and a leg?

How about the flag waving, roaring engine, crowd pleasing, smell of exhaust excitement of the car races?

The Greenbush race track, located a half mile north of Greenbush on County Road 7, will present the first races of the season next week, Saturday, May 21, so the whole family can plan to pack up and "go to the races" in Greenbush on Saturday night.

The Greenbush Race Park opened in June of 1991. Since that time, people from as far away as Canada, Grand Forks and Fargo have come to enjoy and take part in the Saturday night races. Oren Lund, president of the corporation that owns the Greenbush Race Park, says the park came about to meet a need. "The race park was built because there were a lot of people who were interested in racing in this area and they were traveling to Grand Forks and other areas just to see racing. We figured we could accommodate them here just as well."

The Greenbush race track is the only racing facility in northwestern Minnesota. The next closest track is in Grand Forks, 100 miles from Greenbush and a considerable distance away from many other northern Minnesota towns.

The idea of the park is to provide an evening of reasonably-priced entertainment for everyone in the family from the kids up to grandma and grandpa. "A movie and dinner for the family would cost much more," said Lund.

Lund and five other men make up the Greenbush Race Park corporation. Lund, David and Durmont Wahl and Paul Everson are all from Greenbush, Ray Paulson is from Milaca, and Joe Greenleaf is from Bergenfield, New Jersey. Last winter the corporation swapped another piece of land with the city to buy the race track, which had previously been leased from the city.

The track has drawn people to Greenbush from all around the area, helping to promote tourism and encourage people to come and appreciate what Greenbush has to offer. Lund says the track has been a real asset to businesses in the area

Wingar — The Union Lake Free Lutheran church has a bell in its steeple after 98 years. The church building was dedicated January 18, 1896. At first the church did not have a steeple, but one was built and added to the church in the 1930's. It was decided that the new steeple could not have a bell because the roof would not support the weight. Plans were made to strengthen the roof, but the work never got done. this year Mark Polley bought and installed a new bell as a memorial to his mother, along with assistance from his father, John F., and brother, John S.

College choir to travel to Europe

Jamestown College concert choir department for Europe on Wednesday, May 11, for a 22-day tour during which they will travel through six countries and present concerts at nine locations. Two students from Thief River Falls will be with the choir.

Jonathan and Vanessa Anderson, son and daughter of Cecil and Maryel Anderson, will add their voices to the choir conducted by Dr. Richard H. Smith, professor of music and academic dean.

This year's trip marks the choir's seventh European tour. The travel itinerary includes visits throughout the Netherlands, France, Germany, Italy, Austria and Switzerland.

Add new groups to All Nations Festival

Additional groups are being added to the All Nations Cultural Festival to be presented July 9 and 10 at St. Hilaire, according to Ed Leeper of L.G. Promotions in Thief River Falls which is organizing the event.

The Killingberg Family Orchestra from Leksvik, North Trondelag, Norway, is a four-piece old-time orchestral group which is the second generation of a group which began performing in the 1930s. They compete annually and Grete Killingberg is a three-time national champion in Norway on the small accordion.

The Killingberg Family from Norway will perform July 9 and 10 at the All Nations Cultural Festival in St. Hilaire. Group member Grete Killingberg is a three time Norwegian national champion on the small accordion.

Also among the groups to perform will be the Licanantay group of six singers and musicians, formed in 1985 in Winnipeg when a few friends from Chile gathered to retain and share a part of their culture through music. They began by performing on Winnipeg streets and in local restaurants and cafes.

Licanantay—"People of the Highlands"—brings together the traditional music and sounds from the Andes mountains featuring such unique instruments as the Charango and Pan Flutes. With the addition of more Western instruments such as the electric bass and acoustic guitars, a powerful blend of sound is created. This Latin American group has now become known throughout Canada.

Los Catrines de Texas, a four-piece hispanic group, will also be in attendance. This band has performed on several public radio shows and toured throughout the Midwest.

These groups join the 32-piece Musikverein Rutesheim orchestra from Germany, Fialka Ukrainian Dance Ensemble from Selkirk, Manitoba, Canada, and a number of Minnesota groups and individuals in making up the performance program for the festival.

Host families are still needed in this area for members of the German orchestra and additional homes will be needed for the four-member Killingberg family and the six-member Latin American Licanantay group and their spouses. For information contact the city clerk's office in St. Hilaire at 964-5257.

Also participating in the festival on July 9 only will be the Arctic Lites Gymnastics Team from Thief River Falls under the direction of Dan Huber.

Advance tickets for the festival will go on sale May 14 at Budget Electronics in Thief River Falls, Kruse In at St. Hilaire, Frank's TV at Roseau, NAPA Auto Parts in Warroad, Bruun's for Men in Crookston, Upstairs Gallery in Bemidji and Lazy 0 Western Wear in Grand Forks, ND.

Sponsors of the cultural festival include KTRF-KSNR, KYCK, St. Hilaire Community Club, City of St. Hilaire, WDAZ-TV, Westside Motors, Hartz Foods, Inc., St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator and River Road Casino.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

On April 20 the Heritage Center held an appreciation banquet for the volunteers that help out at the center and with the Lutheran Social Service nutrition program. I asked Linda Goulet, who is with the Key Club and Honor Society at Lincoln, if she had any students available who would be able to help out with our banquet.

Ten students arrived to help and I can't thank or compliment them enough for the wonderful job they did. These kids were an example of what many of your youth today are. It seems that all we hear about are the negative things that kids are involved in these days. Isn't it about time we start to focus more on the good things and less on the bad? A little praise can go a long way.

Once again I offer my sincere thanks to these kids for a job well done and for showing people the positive side of what our youth are all about.

Sincerely,
Shannon Olson, director
Heritage Community Center

To The Editor:

I would like to thank Independent School District 564 for playing a key role in shaping my future. As I am now nearly completing my senior year at Lincoln high school, I can look back at my high school years and see what an important role my school has played in helping me decide on a career.

My ultimate goal in life is to become a doctor. Looking ahead at the many years of post-high school education, I decided that there is no better place to start my education than in high school. I carefully examined my options for classes and decided to enroll in the Medical Careers class. The Medical Careers class gave me great direction in my life and added a sense of security for my future.

The value of this class is immeasurable to anyone who has an interest in entering a health profession. The Medical Careers Class includes many different learning areas, such as anatomy and physiology, medical terminology, exploring medical careers, first aid, CPR, and shadowing a medical career professional of the student's interest. Each student who successfully completes the CPR class is certified by the American Heart Association to perform CPR in an emergency situation.

Students receive very thorough in-class instruction and there are many valuable out-of-class experiences. For example: Each student is given the opportunity to shadow a health care worker. I was granted the opportunity to spend three wonderful weeks with Dr. Bray. Spending time with Dr. Bray both in the clinic and in the operating room are experiences that are indescribable and unforgettable.

The shadowing program provides hands-on training which proves to be a very valuable tool for learning. Confidentiality of information regarding patients, and people in general, is emphasized through the shadowing program.

After completing the Medical Careers Class at Lincoln high school, all juniors are eligible to apply for a Summer Health Intern job at Northwest Medical Center. I took advantage of this opportunity and was hired to work in the x-ray department. I spent time with Dr. Grindley and all of the other doctors who stopped down to follow up on patients. This was the best summer of my life and it made me want to work a little bit harder at reaching my goals.

The Medical Careers Class has played a big part in shaping my future. I had a wonderful experience with this class and wish it could be shared with every student at Lincoln high school.

I want to thank Lincoln high school for providing me with the opportunity to take the Medical Careers class, and Northwest Medical Center for working with the class to provide students with a unique experience in the hospital.

Thank you to everyone who has helped shape my future!

Sincerely,
Michelle Stevenson
Lincoln high school senior

Property Rights May Get Congressional Review

Increasing intrusion by governmental agencies into the lives and livelihoods of private citizens has finally reached the stage where even Congress may be moved to act to curtail at least some of these practices. A "Private Property Owners Bill of Rights" has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Billy Tauzin of Louisiana and in the U.S. Senate by Sen. Richard Shelby of Alabama.

It is a governmental case of the mad scientist attempting to chain the Frankenstein it created and that grew out of control. Even if successful in gaining passage of the proposed legislation, the lawmakers may not have gone far enough in their attempt at restoring the rights of property owners.

The proposed legislation would require the government to compensate property owners who lose 50 per cent or more of the value of their property because of regulatory restrictions. It would further prohibit federal agencies from gathering information on private property without permission of the owner and require the government to share the information it collects with the owner.

The legislation infers that it is acceptable for government agencies to regulate use of privately owned property up to 49 per cent of its value. We would quarrel with that premise. Any loss of property value from excessive regulation is unacceptable.

Dr. Richard Lesher, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, quotes one of the nation's Founding Fathers, John Adams, as stating: "The moment the idea is admitted into society that property is not as sacred as the laws of God, anarchy and tyranny commence."

"Adams and the other Founding Fathers understood the vital role of property rights in promoting social and economic stability," Dr. Lesher writes, "and incorporated that wisdom into our Constitution. The Fifth Amendment states clearly that the government can never take private property for public use 'without just compensation.' Unfortunately, modern bureaucrats have devised innovative ways of abridging property rights without actually seizing the land of citizens."

An example is made in the case of Californian Anna Klimko. During last autumn's brush fires in that coastal state, Klimko and her neighbors were forbidden by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to plow firebreaks around their homes because it might compromise the habitat of an endangered species of rat. When fire reached the area the house and its contents were destroyed in minutes.

In nearby Riverside county, Cindy and Andy Domenigoni were required to idle 800 acres of cropland which could have provided thousands of dollars in annual income, to preserve habitat for the same species of rat.

Of primary concern in this area has been the many facets of "wetlands" legislation which have severely restricted the utilization of privately owned property for agriculture, construction and other uses. A number of counties in this area have refused to sign into the most recently passed wetlands program on the state level, primarily because it leaves too many unanswered questions and too much room for additional restrictive acts.

We have contended for some time that the governmental agencies' interpretations of wetlands applied to private lands effectively constitutes a "taking" by the government and as such requires just compensation. If wetlands have legitimate value to the general public—and we agree that they do if they are of any reasonable size—then compensation for that value should be made by the general public through its government to the person or persons on whose land the wetlands are located.

There is no doubt any attempt at such compensation would be tremendously costly, but no more so to the general public than the restriction of use is to the individual property owners.

"If people can not farm their land, or build a house on it, or cut down the trees, or mine the minerals, or even slash a firebreak to protect themselves from a raging brush fire, it is fair to ask whether they actually own the land as the concept of ownership is traditionally understood," Dr. Lesher writes. "If not, the government has effectively 'taken' the land and owes them appropriate compensation."

"Federal regulators, especially those enforcing environmental laws, have increasingly encroached upon basic property rights that underpin our social and economic system in recent years," he adds. "The Bill of rights sponsored by Rep. Tauzin and Sen. Shelby would be a clear, well-balanced response to that threat that deserves prompt consideration by Congress."

The Tauzin-Shelby proposal may well be a good start in attempting to restore property owner rights, but we don't believe it goes far enough in that regard. A return to the fundamental safeguards established in the Constitution is the only fully acceptable solution and must be actively pursued until it is accomplished.

Prov. 13:7 There is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing: There is that maketh himself poor, yet hath great riches.

True success is not what you have materially. "Spiritual" riches are what bring true success in this life and in the life to come.

Prov. 10:22 Says, The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and He addeth no sorrow with it.

If you are looking for true success, seek the Lord. Ask Him what direction you should go, or which path to follow. Then you will have fulfillment in this life and for eternity.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

With graduation and other celebrations coming up, how about some salad recipes that you can make ahead of the big event and just pull out of the fridge at serving time.

This is an easy salad to make, but very tasty:

WILD RICE WALDORF SALAD

- 2 cups chilled cooked wild rice
- 2-3 diced unpeeled apples, mixed with:
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 (11 ounce) can mandarin oranges, drained
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt (or less)
- 3/4 cup cream, whipped
- 1/3 cup salad dressing or 3/4 cup sour cream

Toss rice, apples and lemon juice, celery, salt, sugar and oranges, saving a few oranges for garnish.

Another simple salad that looks elegant:

ORANGE SALAD

- 1 box orange Jello
- 1 box vanilla instant pudding
- 1 box tapioca pudding
- 3 cups water
- 8 ounces Cool Whip
- 1 large can mandarin oranges, drained

Mix Jello and puddings with water in pan and bring to a boil. Boil for 2 minutes. Cool thoroughly.

Mix in Cool Whip and oranges. Refrigerate.

This is a very festive fruit salad, just right for a celebration:

FRUIT COCKTAIL SALAD

- 1 (16 ounce) can fruit cocktail
- 1 (16 ounce) can pineapple tidbits
- 1 (11 ounce) can mandarin oranges
- 1 pint strawberries
- 2 bananas
- 1 box vanilla instant pudding
- 1 large Cool Whip
- 2 cups colored miniature marshmallows

Drain all fruit, saving 1 1/2 cups juice. Add juice to pudding and beat until thick.

Add Cool Whip and whip mixture. Fold in fruit and marshmallows. Add bananas just before serving.

This salad will make a perfect luncheon served with sandwiches:

BROCCOLI SALAD

- 1 1/2 bunches broccoli, cut into florets
- 1 pound bacon, cooked and crumbled
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1 cup sunflower seeds
- 1 small onion, chopped fine

Mix together at least 2 hours before serving.

This one dish meal is good enough for company:

HOT DISH ROLL UP

- 1 pound hamburger
- 1 package crescent dinner rolls
- 1 can cheddar cheese soup
- 1/2 green pepper
- 1 onion
- 4 ounces mozzarella cheese

Brown hamburger. Drain.

Unroll crescent rolls to form a long rectangle and place on ungreased cookie sheet, pinching holes together.

Add soup, green pepper and onion to hamburger. Place in middle of dough and form a cylinder, saving some mixture for later.

Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes until brown. Remove from oven and put rest of mixture over top. Sprinkle with cheese and bake 5 minutes more.

HARDWARE HANK Helping Hand
Care About Your Lawn? HANK'S For Sharing That.

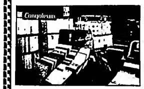
Lawn care is important to Hardware Hank so we'd like to share a few thoughts with you about it.

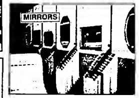
1. FEEDING. A healthy lawn is a fed lawn...and fed often. Hank's lawn products are the ones to use. In early spring, feed your lawn and use a pre-emergence weed killer, such as Hank's Crabgrass Preventer Plus. Then, in late spring, use Hank's Turf Food. At mid-summer, Hank's Weed & Feed Plus does the job. Finally, before winter, apply Hank's Lawn Starter & Winterizer to keep your lawn root system fed until the spring.

2. WATERING. The rule to remember here is that a lawn needs one inch of water per week. Water after the sun goes down but before it's dark. Watering in the bright sunshine and when temperature is high has two potential problems. Most of the water evaporates. What does remain behind can actually burn your lawn because the water droplets magnify the effect of the sun's rays.

3. CUTTING. Avoid the temptation to cut your lawn as short as possible. That allows the food and water to nurture only the leaves of the grass plant but does little to encourage strong root growth. Cut so that your lawn is two to three inches high. It gives you a thicker lawn and a strong root system that blocks weed growth.

When it comes to lawn care, nobody relates to your concerns better than Hardware Hank. Talk to us today!





Reg. $10 — $6.88 Hank's Crabgrass Preventer Plus. For early spring.
Reg. $6 — $4.97 Hank's Weed & Feed Plus. For late spring.
Reg. $5 — $3.97 Hank's Turf Food. Greens lawn up to six weeks. For summer.
Reg. $6 — $4.97 Hank's Lawn Starter & Winterizer helps fortify grass for winter.

Omission made in Plummer honor roll story

An oversight in writing the story of the Pershing high school honor roll resulted in the omission of one student from the honors list at Plummer.

Laurel Hagge, an eighth grader, was the only student in the school to have a straight A average for the third quarter and was listed alone on the information provided by the Plummer school to The Times and Northern Watch. The name was overlooked in writing the list of honor students. The Times and Northern Watch regret the omission and congratulate Laurel on the scholastic achievement.

NCC students inducted into honor society

Sixteen students were recently honored at an induction ceremony into Phi Theta Kappa at Northland Community College.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national honor society for two-year colleges. Students who have a grade point average of 3.5 or better for two consecutive quarters with a minimum of 12 credits per quarter are eligible to join.

Students inducted include: Darla Ayers, Anndrea Johnson, Heather Kluenenberg, Michelle Stoltman, Joshua Stromlund, and Jill Torfin, all of Thief River Falls; David Blazek of Middle River, Anita Clay of Guthrie, Shannon Henrickson of Argyle, Susan Lindberg of Fertile, Connie Pietruszewski of Stephen, Cheryl Schaubhut of Bemidji, Pamela Solberg of Viking, Michael Steen of Lancaster, Micah Strom of McIntosh, and Jennifer Twalt of Wannaska.

Celebrate Northrop to take place May 16-19

"Celebrate Northrop," a four-day program in observance of the closing of Northrop elementary school at the end of the 1993-94 school year, has been scheduled for May 16-19.

Part of the school dates back to 1917. Northrop is one of four elementary schools to be closed as elementary facilities when all elementary students begin attending the new Challenger elementary school this fall. Northrop and Knox schools are proposed to be abandoned with Washington and Mark Twain schools to be converted to other school district uses.

An activity schedule for the Northrop observance includes the following:

Monday, May 16—Northrop Students Fun Day, a program of games and contests arranged by physical education instructor Howard Thorson, will be held on the school playground.

Tuesday, May 17—Program day will be observed with a reception for students and their parents during the day. An evening reception will be held at 7 p.m. with alumni of the school and other members of the community invited. Speakers will include Principal Glen Espe, Superintendent Bob Duncan, former principal Bill Desrocher and former student Pauline Hanson.

Wednesday, May 18—Student of the Week program will be held with former employees and others involved with Northrop having been invited to attend as honored guests.

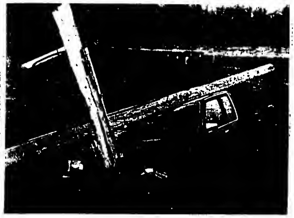
Thursday, May 19—Fifth grade graduation program will be held and volunteer breakfast conducted to recognize the people who have served Northrop as volunteers during this school year.

"Tuesday night should be the big event," stated Northrop teacher Al Buhl who has been working with a committee on planning and organizing the event. "That is when we hope as many former students and faculty as possible will attend to take a final look at the building as it is being operated as an elementary school."

The program is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. in the gymnasium. At the conclusion of the program, visitors will be encouraged to visit the various classrooms where trophies, pictures, yearbooks and other memorabilia will be on display. An information sheet relating to the displays will be available at the program in the gymnasium. Persons who have such items they would be willing to share for the evening may call the school at 681-7101 to make arrangements.

Custodian Kenny Beauchane was able to find the original plans for the Northrop building as well as plans for the 1951 addition. These are expected to be among the items on display Tuesday evening.

A drawing of the school has been done by Nathan Blomker, a former student at Northrop who is now completing his second year at Northland Community College. Prints of the drawing as well as souvenir pins will be for sale at the school at $1 each to assist in financing the celebration.



Following the room visitation coffee and cake will be served in the gymnasium/cafeteria.

"Northrop school has had an impact on many people over the years and we hope a number of them will be able to join in this celebration of its history," Buhl said.
